Tadpoles Swinging

A killing duel set the stage for a full schedule of Belleville Minor Baseball games Wednesday night as four divisions saw action.

The duel occurred during Crawford Metals' 11-8 victory over Bob's Sports in tadpole action as 36 strikeouts were recorded. Howie Dell, Stu Emerson, and Jay Bochnek fanned 21 batters on the Crawford mound while Steve Malaski and Kevin Jones combined to kill 15.

Two home runs each from Bochnek and Larry Mavety paced the winners at the plate. Joe Bradshaw and Malaski both had solo shots in a losing effort.

In a 5 - 4 division game Mulroney's Sunoco edged Universal Centre 11-10. A triple, single and double by Greg McEachern and a homer by Paul Marineau were the big blasts for Mulroney's. Steve Bennett's three base hits were the best for Universal.

A total of four pitchers failed to thwart a 15-7 victory for the GNR Yardmen over Canadian Legion 99 in a peewee game. Mike Burke; Chris Masterson, Bill Whalen and Tony Meagher all tried in vain to squelch the Yardmen Peter Hall and Dennis Greer fired the win.

Whalen's three home runs were the big blasts for the Legion while Rob McBrien and Tom Belch each had a homer for the winners.

In a Bay of Quinte bantam league game Deseronto whipped the Trenton Rotary Pioneers 22-8. S. Kemp was the big gun at the plate for the winning team collecting a homer, two doubles and a single. S. Coles, four singles paced a losing effort for the Pioneers.

YOU NEED ONE WHEN YOU'RE LOST !

One of the handiest tools for hikers and campers is the compass. The earliest ones were invented around 1,000 A.D. and floated in a bowl of liquid. The "dry" compass we use today was invented around 1878 by an Englishman, Lord Kelvin. Take the right direction when you need to sell some no long-er used things . . . dial 962-9171 to place an Intelligencer Want Ad . . . It's the handiest tool you can use!

Higher Benefits Will Await Those Losing Jobs Next Week

OTTAWA (CP) — There are 5.5 million workers in a position to benefit from new unemployment insurance legislation given royal assent in a Senate ceremony Wednesday.

Those now unemployed will continue to receive maximum benefits of no more than $38 a week.

But anyone who becomes unemployed after June 27, and who now is paying unemployment insurance contributions will be eligible for benefits equaling two-thirds of his average insured earnings.

If the worker has been earning $50 a week or less and is supporting a dependent, benefits will be paid at a rate of 75 per cent of his or her average income. The minimum benefit will be $20.

By Aug. 22, the ceiling on insurable income will have reached $150 a week and the maximum weekly benefit will be $100.

Until the end of the year, the increased benefits are to be paid for by a boost in unemployment insurance premiums to a maximum of $1.65 a week.

After Jan. 2, 1972, however, an additional 1.5-million Canadian workers—anyone not self-employed—will be included in the plan and the weekly contribution rate is expected to decline.

The newly-covered workers—including teachers, hospital workers, salaried employees now earning more than $7,800 a year, perhaps some provincial government employees—will in first pay only 40 per cent of the full rate and the contributions are to be tax-deductible.

Increased benefits and extended coverage are by no means the only features of the new plan which in general follows the blueprint set out last June by Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey in a white paper entitled 'Unemployment Insurance for the 1970s.

One of the major effects will be felt by the government, itself which now will have to pay the full cost of extra benefits when unemployment exceeds a national rate of four per cent of the work force. The rate in May was 6.3 per cent.

In effect, the government will be required to put more money into the hands of those most likely to spend it in periods of recession.

STOP KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Stop Killing Yourself indeed en

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: There is so much suffering from rheumatism in the world (including my own) that I wonder whether doctors will ever be able to prevent it — or at least treat it more effectively. Do you think there is any hope? — Mrs. F.

* * *

COMMENT: You have to be an optomist in the constant fight against disease and discomfort. I truly believe that some day thre will be a way keep millions from suffering so much from arthritis and other rheumatic diseases.

Who would have thought some years ago that we might do so much for many heart attack victims and early cancer patients? These are still problems but are not so hopeless as they were in the past.

When we find a way to diagnose cancer early it will be licked. When we discover the real cause of atherosclerosis (the forerunner of coronary heart disease, stroke, kidney failure) we will prokong life.

Pessimists about what medicine may accomplish for rheumatism should remind themselves of how hopeless smallpox was until we developed vaccination to prevent it; how liver extract and vitamins now save the lives of formerly hopeless patients stricken with pernicious anemia; how insulin has saved millions of diabetic patients; how penicillin has put a wall of defence against all kinds of infections.

In rheumatic conditions aspirin is still the focal point of our attack. But consider how much of an ally it has in cortisone drugs. Think of how the newer medicines control attacks of gouty arthritis.

* * *

Yes, we have come a long way. But as you say, Mrs. F., there is still room for improvement. The road is long and tortuous. But if you measure the future by medicine's past accomplishments in overcoming apparently fatal and disabling diseases, you just have to be optimistic.

Perhaps not in our time. But after all, some great medical discovery may be announced tomorrow or next week. A cure for "rheumatism" impossible? Scientists don't know what the word "impossible" means. It's not in their dictionary.

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am interested in having silicone injection treatments for my breasts. Is it a simple treatment? Are there any complications? — Miss M.

COMMENT: At this time silicone injections are not a recognized treatment for breast enlargement. Perhaps you are thinking of a silicone "gel" implant or probably called augmentation mammoplasty in which the silicone material is in a special container and inserted under the breasts. I suggest you do not take any kind of silicone treatment until you have consulted a reputable plastic surgeon recommended by your own doctor or your local medical society.

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I've heard that coffee is very good for a person with acne, if it is caused by nerves. I've been drinking at least five cups a day, but it doesn't help me. I'm 15. — Miss M.

COMMENT: Someone has given you fanciful advice.

Drinking coffee will not help acne; perhaps it will make you more nervous. Ask your parents to call in your family doctor for advice. Perhaps they do not know you are so concerned about yourself.

Sydney J. Harris Says

Love Is Really Hard Work

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Money and the affections differ in numerous respects, not the least of which is that we give money to those who impportune us and seem to need it most, but resist bestowing our affections upon those who demand it most.

* * *

When we have "second thoughts" about something our first thoughts don't seem like thoughts at all — just feelings.

* * *

Much of the mischief in the world is created by perpetuating the illusion — in fiction and elsewhere — that love is a "pleasure", and ignoring the other half of this truth, that love is also hard work; many people who imagine they are "looking for love" are at the same time unconsciously committed to escaping its laborious consequences.

* * *

For honest statements of Realpolitik, we have to forsake our cotiemporary statesmen and go back to someone as brutally candid as Napoleon, who observed that, "Diplomacy is the police in grand costume."

* * *

Beauty exacts its own price in the end, for when it has fled with time, what remains in the face indicates whether or not its possessor had deserved its gift and treated it wisely.

* * *

There's no such thing as a "bare fact"—the moment it's started, it begins to take on a different gloss for different people.

* * *

Now that men's and women's colleges are sensibly integrating, as they should be, isn't it time to adopt the opposite procedure at the lower school levels and segregate the boys and girls under grade six, which would speed up the learning process for both genders?

* * *

There is always one sin waiting for us at the bottom of the stairs; the person who can resist all temptations usually cannot resist the temptation to feel smug about this — and thus succumbs to the deadliest of sins, which is pride, and lurks in wait for all "virtuous" folk.

* * *

Many readers have asked me to explain "existentialism" and I am preparing a column on the subject; meanwhile, the best place to start understanding it is with Ortega's brief comment: "This is the simple truth — that to live is to feel oneself lost — he who accepts it has already begun to find himself, to be on firm ground."

* * *

It is the invariable flaw of all established societies that those who exercise the greatest social power are those who are already a generation out of touch with present realities; and even more so in the swiftly changing high-energy societies of our time.

* * *

Sad how the word "venereal," which originally applied to sexual desire, is now used only as an adjective for a disease.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For June 25

Your birthday today: The line of least resistance this year leads to moderate success in nearly all areas where you do a reasonably good job. The temptation is to settle so firmly and definitely that it is difficult to make major changes later. This is a good year for savings, long-term investments. Today's natives usually prefer the company of older people. Many are noted for a very keen ear for specific sounds, musical pitch, and related phenoena.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Wind up your work week as expeditiously as possible; leave yourself settled issues. Get health maintenance check-ups, advice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Pressing personal interests should come first, but give yourself space to work them out by not advertising them. There's no point in talking yourself into a corner.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Instead of going ahead with things as they have been, take the time to look around and think what you are doing. Consider potential changes.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Impatience with the pace of your progress is normal, once you see where routines lead. Get to the core of any question and seek a direct answer.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 21): Real short cuts are not available — what looks like a time-saver merely creates special problems later. There is no convenient stopping point in any venture of importance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Report and explanation seem to be in order. Bear witness to your virtures as well as your lapses in seeking a balance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Fresh information confirms a long held opinion, forces revision of your plans, and a return to your original approach. There promises much detail to pick through.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Get a second opinion on what you are doing; emotional orientation may be hiding practical judgment. If you have to back up and undo something, the sooner attended to the better.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Let somebody else take care of activities you are not wholly resolved on doing, or let them go undone for the moment. Your tendency is to replace indecision with misguided effort.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Theory needs filling out with definite performance. An early start and persistent application are essential.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Your creative abilities make the difference today as you pull forces with family and communities to get something done that will benefit all.

Quebec Veto May Be Solved

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau indicated in the Commons today that he does not regard Quebec's veto of proposed constitutional changes as final.

He said that if Quebec can rephrase the proposed change to which it objects and then remove uncertainty about it the federal government would try to work out a solution with the other provinces.

At one point in his statement, Mr. Trudeau used the phrase "if the charter is not accepted." The charter comprises the proposed constitutional amendments.

The prime minister said that apparently Quebec objects to only one suggested amendment which would give the provinces joint jurisdiction with the federal authority in the field of family, youth and manpower training allowances.

Premier Robert Bourassa has said, there is "uncertainty" about joint jurisdiction and that Quebec wants full jurisdiction in the field of social security.

Mixing of Housing Types Is Opposed

By IAN ROBERTSON
Staff Reporter

Indiscriminate spotting of apartments throughout Belleville could end in the near future if the residential chapter of the urban renewal plan proposed last night is eventually accepted by city council.

In a comprehensive report tabled by planning director Bert Keeney, planning board members were advised apartment construction should be restricted to specific areas, mixing of housing types should be discontinued and redevelopment should be considered for entire blocks rather than by putting together two or three lots.

The planning board, after a three-hour meeting, decided to accept the report in principle, conduct an extensive series of public meetings, and then produce a recommendation for city council.

The report, based on a projection of 75,000 people by the year 2,000, outlined a series of principles and criteria for extensively built up areas of the city and rural areas covered by the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board. They included:

- Indiscriminate mixing of the major housing which is occurring in the old portion of the city is to be discontinued in order to protect the stability of the majority of the built-up area.
- Redevelopment in the old city should be restricted to specific blocks in close proximity to the central business district with blocks designated for development of 50 to 100 units per acre.
- Redevelopment should be considered for entire blocks to assure housing will not be mixed indiscriminately.
- Newly assigned density ranges — four acres (50-100 units per acre) will only be considered for redevelopment if underground engineering services are adequate.
- Built up areas in the urban, suburban and transition areas where uses are changing from residential to small commercial should generally be designated for single and semi-detached dwellings except where criteria for development of 15 to 25 units per acre, (multiple family) and 25 to 50 units (suburban apartments) apply within estimates of future land need.
- In sparsely built up and vacant areas there should be mixing of housing types in neighborhoods. The mix should be arranged in a manner which will avoid conflict between housing types.
- The Hillcrest and Foster Ward areas should be designated for single family and semi-detached development until the urban renewal conceptual plan is completed in the Foster Ward area and until a further detailed study of the Hillcrest area is undertaken.
- Preservation of the rural area from the effects of urban sprawl and the preservation of good agricultural land for agricultural purposes.
- Urban sprawl should be discontinued with the majority of the rural development areas designated for rural expansion.
- Urban development in the rural development areas should occur only in the villages areas with expansion within existing boundaries or small extensions. These would be designated village residential. Outside this area, development should occur only in cases residential areas.
- The inherent right of a farmer to convey land to his children should be recognized but with safeguards against possible urban sprawl.
- Seasonal residences, tourist travel trailer and related resort commercial development should be designated as resort residential and any permanent occupancy should be discouraged.

Brain Harnessed To Turn Switch

VANCOUVER (CP) — The power of the brain to perform actual physical tasks is being investigated by 37 international neurologists at a conference on "contingent negative variation," the name given of the special brain wave by its discoverer.

Dr. W. Grey Walter, 61, the British researcher who first discovered that the brain had this power seven years ago, said in an interview Thursday he has harnessed his brain, linked with a computer, to turn a switch.

The way he did it was to build up a state of mind like that of a meditative trance. A "charge" is built up in the brain and if the message in it is recognized by the computer, the computer sends out the proper order to turn the switch.

No-fault Car Insurance Is Planned For Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — No-fault automobile insurance may be mandatory in all Ontario automobile policies next year and indications are it will not cost the policy-holder more money for at least 12 months.

Arthur Wishart, minister of financial and commercial affairs, introduced legislation Thursday in the Ontario legislature which would make the no-fault feature a mandatory component of all automobile policies written in the province after Jan. 1.

No-fault coverage pays benefits in cases of death or disability regardless of who is at fault in an automobile mishap. A person could seek additional damages through civil court action as the scheme does not include damage to property.

Norman Manning, president of the Canadian Underwriters Association, said Thursday the body plans no increase in automobile accident benefit premiums for one year after the proposed legislation becomes effective.

Mr. Wishart told the legislature the proposed legislation would "give the people of Ontario automobile insurance coverage that is second to none anywhere on this continent."

Major provisions of the bill include:

—Disability benefits of 80 per cent of total earnings of employed persons with maximum weekly benefit of $70, up from $35 now. Payments would commence on date of the disability. The minister said the new rate would exceed maximum benefits in British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

—Disability payments of $35 a week to the spouse or principal unpaid housekeeper residing in household of an accident victim providing the spouse or housekeeper is not a wage earner.

—Payment of $5,000 to the principal dependent and $1,000 to each additional dependent in the event of the death of the head of the household.

Benefits are paid if death occurs within 180 days of the accident or within two years if the disability has been continuous.

Mr. Wishart told the house that one of the primary features of the proposed legislation is that disability benefits are paid from the first day of injury.

In the proposed legislation, the present waiting period of seven days or more has been eliminated.

Time limitation now in force on existing disability benefits is

Sidewalk Blockade Is Lifted But City May Face Suits

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

The Victoria Ave. sidewalk running east on the north side of the street from Farley Ave. to Haig Blvd will go through as planned but city council members face possible court action as the result of claimed property devaluation.

This was the latest development today on the controversial east end sidewalk project which Thursday was threatened with stoppage as the result of action on the part of one of the objecting residents.

Cecil Merton, living at 553 Victoria Ave., parked his own and two visitors' vehicles in his driveway, blocking the path of the contractor's bulldozer, and defied anyone to have them moved.

"The cars won't be moved short of a court order," the adamant ratepayer yesterday told the job foreman and a representative from the city engineering department.

And he refused to back down even for a city police officer, the request to move the cars.

Despite the warning by police that one of the cars was on city property, Mr. Merton repeated they would be moved only on a court order.

This morning, however, city Engineer Wilbur Purcell convinced Mr. Merton that the car blocking the construction works would be towed from city property and, with a lowtruck standing ready for action, the car was moved voluntarily.

"You may have won the battle, but you haven't won the war," the city engineer was told by Mr. Merton after he had moved the car.

Another Victoria Ave. resident who will lose the use of a large chunk of the city street allowance as a result of the sidewalk construction told the city engineer that he was "a dictator" and that he controlled city council.

"I don't feel I have won anything," calmly returned Mr. Purcell. I don't consider I'm in a battle".

Friday, Mr. Merton said he would sue the city for devaluation of property, claiming the loss of a large section of his landscaped road allowance would cut 20 per cent from the value of his house and lot which he purchased only six months ago.

Since then he said he had spent $7,000 on improvements, including the construction of a backyard swimming pool.

Another neighbor set his property devaluation "at least" $2,000.

The controversy over the Victoria Ave. sidewalk erupted last year after a petition was taken up for a sidewalk to run east on Victoria Ave. from Farley Ave. — but on the south side of the street.

Urban Renewal Plan Unveiled

Accepted in principle by the planning board, these recommendations will be publicly aired within the next few weeks. Board chairman Zdenek Kvarda told board members and 35 public onlookers, there will be public meetings scheduled for discussion. Some time next week, copies of the report will be available in limited quantities to public groups".

The chairman refused any attempt to hold public discussion last night.

"This will not be a public discussion meeting. You will not be allowed to enter into discussion," he said.

Because of strong public demands for rezoning portions of the city to prevent undesirable development in residential neighborhoods, the planning board, acting on a recommendation from city council, instructed the staff in May to prepare a land use and residential chapter of the official plan before proceeding with any other portion of the study.

Bert Kenny, planning director, told the board present bylaws based on the 1963 official plan and 1968 amendments when land was annexed from Sidney and Thurlow Townships are "inadequate".

"In 1963 the authors zoned what they saw which was developed at that time. There was no such thing as apartment designations and it's only in the past five to six years that demand for apartments became heavy," he said.

MORE

Private redevelopment in the older areas of the city is occurring without consideration for the stability of the residential neighborhood in which it is located and without consideration for the ultimate effect on the city's ground servicing system. With a broad list of uses permitted in most zones of the older portions of the city, the adequacy of public amenities related to these areas of private redevelopment are being almost completely ignored, the report states.

Newer developments outside of this core have been primarily of a single family unit type. The report says little consideration has been given to the housing type required by all sectors of the population or to the needs of residential amenities such as parks and convenience shopping.

Although there are oversupplies of land zoned for multiple family housing in the older section of the city, most is fully developed and the staff points out that, for many reasons, they are unlikely to be redeveloped. Conversely, there is a undersupply of properly zoned land for multiple housing in the newer vacant areas of the city where proper planning for this type of dwelling is feasible.

With this in mind the planning staff has suggested four land use designations for the future land use plan. These are:

Density Range One for up to 11 units per acre, single and semi-detached dwellings.

Density Range Two for between 15 and 25 units per acre, designated multiple family units.

Density Range Three for between 25 and 50 units per acre known as suburban apartments.

Density Range Four with between 50 and 100 units per acre as redevelopment apartments.

Density range one will apply to areas of the extensively built up area with generally well-structured residential development. This range has been defined to conserve these areas and rehabilitate isolated pockets within those areas where necessary.

Density ranges one and two will be assigned to sparsely built up and vacant areas which are close or have access to planned community facilities such as schools, community centres, shopping private or public recreation facilities public open space and major transportation networks.

Mr. Kenny said, in an interview following the meeting, "we're suggesting apartments be located on sites with good access to roads. In the built up areas of the old city, we are recommending they be within one block of the downtown business district.

"At the present time there is no control over residential development except for existing bylaws which are too unrestrictive, particularly for developments."

The planning director said with the plan, we are attempting to do some order into the development of apartments housing in the city. Rather than do this on an ad hoc basis, we have attempted to do it from a preplanned approach as related to expected population.

He said apartment development had taken place indiscriminately and because of the B-laws zoning in the older portions of the city, spotted development has taken place.

The report consultant said the old portion of the city, lack of pattern in age and condition of public buildings, uniformity of the area and extensive land and housing for redevelopment in the district. It has contributed to the lack of pattern and order in the redevelopment for apartment buildings.

Suburban areas although mainly single family good quality housing, lack over-all planning in the east end which has resulted in very little structure and order.

The report suggests that Belleville, although progressive, is not prepared from the standpoint of municipal planning to cope with the problems that lead to growth, particularly residential growth.

The plan suggests urban sprawl in the townships is increasing and its continuation could result in serious economic, environmental, and aesthetic problems which could be extremely difficult if not impossible to solve.

The problems result from a lack of development guidelines in the form of a plan or statement of policy and the lack of agreement between the responsible municipal councils on the basic goals on which to build those development guidelines and on which to base a plan.

Because of the absence of such a plan, Horace Knight, board member from Sidney Township said "plans for expansion have been turned down by the Ontario Municipal Board as premature.

He also suggested that the recommendations for estate lot development "is out of reach of most people".

Reeve Jack Bush of Sidney Township, chairman of the Quinte Area Planning Board, in considering the forthcoming public hearings and discussions on the residential chapter of the proposed official plan said, "the economics of servicing is going to rule this more than any bylaws we may pass."

Mr. Kenny said if the plan is accepted by the people, city council and the department of municipal affairs, "existing bylaws will have to be amended and you can't pass a bylaw until the area has been defined."

Mayor J. Russell Scott asked if more rapid expansion than predicted occurred, would future amendments have to take place "block by block."

Mr. Kenny agreed that "you'd run into the same problem again," and suggested revisions and amendments should take place every five years. In discussing this plan following the meeting, Mr. Kenny commented such revisions to the old plan could possibly have done away with the need for the new report.

The planning director had envisioned the problems but they weren't apparent until recently. With proper reviews of the plan, if accepted, could be kept up to date.

Mayor Scott stated it is "most important this be dealt with as soon as possible to alleviate the distress of the citizens. I don't want it pushed off into the fall.

"A lot of people are coming in to this area and they won't have homes. The demand is here."

Mr. Kenny advised the board that staff members not on vacation in July will help schedule a series of meetings with the populace and municipalities involved. Notices of these meetings are to be advertised in The Intelligencer and over CJBQ radio.

PUC, Parks Dedicate Joint Venture

The name of a long-time member and former chairman of the Belleville Public Utilities Commission was honored yesterday as official opening ceremonies were held at the new Duff Park at the corner of Dundas and Sidney streets.

The park, a co-operative effort on the part of the public utilities and the Belleville Parks Board is named in honor of the late Morley P. Duff, utilities commission member for many years.

Officially opening the park, Mayor J. Russell Scott said establishment of the Duff Park was another step in a continuing program on the part of the city parks board to improve the entrances to the city.

The city's southern approach from Prince Edward County had been greatly improved by Zwick's Centennial Park, while the Riverside Park on Dundas Street Road was one of the finest improvements of park property anywhere in Canada.

The Duff Park, he said was an example of the excellent co-operation of the utilities commission in city park development noting that it was fitting it should be named after a former chairman.

The Duff Park property, comprising approximately one acre, is owned by the public utilities and was developed by the parks board.

Also taking part in the brief dedication ceremony were parks vice - chairman Robert Phillips, who acted as chairman.

Meanwhile, the Job Goes On

And while the argument over the blocked driveway was under way in the background, the construction contractor's crewmen were busy on the next property ripping up the paved driveway.

Second picture shows formwork under way and how lawns will be cut back in re-instatement process.

Victoria Ave. Sidewalk Blockade Ends

During discussions at city hall however it was argued that the walk might serve a more useful purpose if it was constructed on the north side of the street.

The suggestion was that more school children would use a northside walk, as both the Moira Secondary School and the Harry J. Clarke school were on the north side of the street.

In the end, on Ontario Municipal Board hearing was held, the result being direction to construct the walk on the north side.

But many of the north-side residents claim they don't want the sidewalk — especially when they are to be charged under local improvements for its cost.

Also they claim the original petition for the walk was never properly signed in the first place.

Monday afternoon of this week a delegation of area residents appeared before city council asking that the walk be moved closer to the street, so as to save more of their lawns.

On Victoria Ave., as in many other parts of the city, the city property line extends considerably on the lawns of householders, who, for appearance sake, maintain the city property.

The Victoria Ave. walk is being constructed inside the hydro poles, while residents asked that it be moved outside to save their lawns.

But Victoria Ave. is designated as an eventual collector street leading from the east end into the downtown area and plans call for it to be eventually widened to four lanes.

The city engineer told council Monday that placing the sidewalk as requested by the residents would all but eliminate boulevards when the street was widened to four lanes.

Boulevards, he said, were a safety factor for pedestrians and also were of value for piling snow during the winter months.

The result was that council took no action on the residents' request to change the walk location and a day later the contractor moved onto the job.

While greatly dissatisfied with council's refusal to accede to their request, many of the area residents took the philosophical view that there was no point in continuing their protest.

But not so Mr. Merton, who decided to personally defy city hall and blocked his driveway with cars, all of which he said were "legitimately" parked.

He said they wouldn't be moved without a court order and threatened to sue Mayor J. Russell Scott, the city engineer and members of council personally for any damages and for devaluation of property.

"I fought dictatorship for four years during the last war," said Mr. Merton, now retired from the armed forces, "and now we have it right here in Belleville."

Several other area residents had the same sentiments. One said: "We elected city council to look after our interest, yet they won't listen to us, they just laugh at us."

One area housewife resigned to watching the bulldozers rip up her front lawn and paved driveway, said the city "damned well" better keep the snow plowed on the new walk.

"And they'll also cut the grass on the boulevard," chimed in her neighbor. "I'll never cut it."

City officials say they have repeatedly assured residents that even though residents lose city property now used as part of their front lawns, all properties will be properly re-instated.

Most residents have accepted this, noting, however that it was going to be a costly program, as many of the lawns are already sloped sharply up from the street to the houses.

Construction of the walk cutting off 10 to 15 feet from the lawns will result in the slope either being sharply increased or, in some instances, will necessitate construction of a retaining wall.

Most of the trees on city property outside the property line will be saved.

But at least four of the trees will have to go.

Nearly 10 years ago, when the trees were planted opposite the Farrar Drive intersection, city employees goofed and put them too close to the street. The flowering crabs are now right in the path of the sidewalk construction and will have to go.

Most north-side Victoria Ave. residents feel they have to accept the sidewalk construction, but that doesn't mean they won't remember refusal of city council to accede to their request.

Girl Dies When Pony Hits Car

CARRYING PLACE (Staff)— A bolting pony carried a 12-year-old girl to her death Wednesday — into the path of a passing car on Highway 33 near Carrying Place.

Brenda Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of Roseland Acres, 2 miles north of here, died after the three-year-old pinto on which she rode broke toward the road to be struck by the vehicle of John McDonnell, 46, of RR 3, Carrying Place.

She sustained severe head injuries when hit by the car and was pronounced dead on arrival at Trenton Memorial Hospital.

The horse was shot by a local veterinarian.

The child had been playing at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Anderson near Roseland Acres and took one of their horses out for a ride along the highway. The accident occurred shortly after 6 p.m. a few feet north of the entrance to the housing development in which she lived.

Brenda was an experienced horsewoman, who had broken in the horse on which she was riding last night.

Her father, Jack Smith, a civilian employee at CFB Trenton keeps a stable of riding horses and the family is used to handling them.

Boat Hits Deadhead

The grim warning comes from Bernard Redner of Rednerville who is lucky he was only badly shaken when his boat ran into one of the hidden objects in the channel off the Ameliasburg village's waterfront earlier this week.

The log of hardwood recovered afterward measured 16 feet long and 24 inches across the one end. It was moving vertically in the channel when picked up.

The incident cost Mr. Redner $150 in damages to the motor and hull of his 14-foot fiberglass outboard.

Brief Asks For Aid For School

Representatives of 50 Christian schools presented a petition of 12,000 names to Premier William Bennett and minister of Education Robert Welch yesterday asking for equality in grants made available to Ontario's public school system.

Within a brief submitted with the petition it was stated: "There are 50,000 children in the province attending private schools which receive no public financial support. Of these, 8,000 attend the 45 schools affiliated with the Ontario Alliance Christian Schools.

There are two such schools in the Quinte area located in Trenton and Belleville involving 11 classes of students.

Deseronto Youngster Drowns
DESERONTO (Staff) — Ontario Provincial Police divers, shortly after 3 p.m. yesterday recovered the body of eight-year-old Gregory Carleton from the waters of Mill Pond at Centennial Park here.
The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Carleton, 364 Main Street, Deseronto, was playing in a boat he and two friends found at the park when he apparently fell overboard at 11:15 a.m.
A spokesman for the Deseronto Police Department said "the two friends ran home to their mother half wet and pretty shaken up and told her Greg had fallen in and hadn't come up."
Acting with Deseronto police Constable Gary Owens, OPP divers Const. James McCormack of Madoc and Garnett Brown of Belleville, began the underwater search for the boy. His body was recovered 40 feet from the shore in six feet of water.
Coroner Dr. D. C. McVicker has not announced if an inquest will be held but police said it is quite possible.
Gregory, a student at Ontario School for the Deaf, is survived by his parents and seven brothers and sisters.

Britain Moves Closer

Never was it so clear that the days of Empire in Britain are long since departed than in the current Common Market discussions which observers believe are about to seal — finally — the United Kingdom's entry into the European economic community.

For years now Britain has been talking, cap in hand, with the western European nations, with a view to joining the community, each time to be rebuffed, principally at the behest of France in the days of President de Gaulle.

Since then things have improved to the point that Britain is on the brink of membership, but the whole idea is not going down well with people across the land. It means also the partial abandonment of long - standing trade arrangements with New Zealand, for example, with regard to dairy products.

Hitherto Britain took large quantities of duty - free New Zealand butter and cheese, but under terms for entering the European community these will be gradually scaled down until they are only 71 per cent of the present levels by 1978.

Initially, the figure was 86 per cent and while a British spokesman said this was "not entirely satisfactory," French foreign minister Maurice Schumann noted it had been approved unanimously "and it is our last word." Now the French appear to have backed down.

October apparently is the moment of final consummation of Britain's prolonged efforts to get into the ECM and the government of Edward Heath, faced with widespread dissatisfaction over the prospect, is faced with convincing the public that the move is in the country's interests.

Compounding this situation are still further forecasts with regard to Britain's general economic health. It seems whichever government is in power Britain remains hamstrung by a sluggish work force, union skulduggery, and the ancient rivalries of the class system, leading to uneven economic performance, and aggravated into the bargain by the competition of the relentlessly progressive Germans and sprightly Japanese.

One thing is sure, with ECM membership in the offing Britons are going to have to swallow yet more pride as they are finally wedded to those awful, ungrateful, Europeans whom a quarter of a century ago they helped save from tyranny.

Civilized

For all Britain's reduced circumstances who can imagine it as anything else but essentially stable, like the endless panorama of Civilization itself, as in Sir Kenneth Clark's continuing BBC television series now being seen in Canada as well.

Some ancient ruin could be crumbling around Sir Kenneth as he speaks, yet the cool, cultured tones and the broad sweep of history inherent in his narrative somehow would still come through.

What a refreshing contrast to the daily banalities the eye and ear are heir to. Here, in the space of an hour, we are afforded a glimpse of a great past, of all that went into the creation of great works of art, architecture and cultures. It represents a balance that is missing in much of the education of our day.

Like Yesterday

A fellow knows he is getting older when he reads the names of the leaders in the British senior professional golf championship like Norman von Nida, that wiry and irascible little Australian who did a lot of winning on both the British and U.S. circuits in the immediate postwar years. Now 57, he is right in there again with players like fellow Aussie Kel Nagle, Scot John Panton and former British Ryder Cup captain and big hitter Harry Weetman. You can have some idea of Weetman's age when it is considered that Bobby Locke, events included the likes of Snead, Mangrum and Middlecoff. As the Latin teacher would say, tempus fugit.

By Air

The Government is being a little arbitrary in ruling that after July 1 all mail for overseas will go by air, at commensurate rates. Surface mail is out, since it evidently has been averaging 36 days; admittedly this is a long time, although we cannot understand why it should be thus except on very long journeys. In any event it is just another of those edicts, along with raising the rates for internal mail, which is going to make life more expensive for everyone. The 10-cent air letter though presumably will remain.

Pentagon War Revelations A 'Confessional' of Sorts

By KEN FRITCHARD

NEW YORK (CP) — The publication of extracts from a secret defence department history of how top-level decisions were made which accounted the Tonkin Gulf war has been the top news story in the United States for more than a week.

The disclosures, printed in three issues of the New York Times and two of the Washington Post, here been analysed and commented upon at length, particularly for their implications that U.S. decision-makers were less than candid with Congress and the public.

When publication was brought to a crashing halt by a government application for an injunction, the prime debate turned to censorship.

Eventually, it is believed, the Supreme Court will have to decide the issues between the public's right to information under freedom-of-speech legislation and the government's right to prevent dissemination of data it contends could result in irreparable injury to national security.

Ancillary issues have been the legitimacy of the "top secret" stamp on data which The Times argues is of historical interest, and how the documents reached the newspapers.

Of interest, too, is the very fact that a history of top-level internal debate, behind the story up to 1968, came to be in existence such a relatively short time after the decisions were made. The writing of history often is left to another era, after the person actors have passed from the scene. Until then, the original memoranda remain in their cubbyholes.

Leslie H. Gelb, who submitted the Vietnam study early in 1969, says it was ordered by Robert S. McNamara, then defence secretary, in June, 1967.

Max Frankel, writing in The Times, says that McNamara, "privately disillusioned and guilt-ridden about the war, but still publicly stalwart, was persuaded to commission a wide-ranging history of decision-making about Indochina. He said he wanted to leave a record of what went wrong, although he knew it would also be a record of how many other governments and officials had been wrong before his time."

McNamara is central to the drama, having served a record seven years, one month and 12 days as defence secretary before leaving officially Feb. 29, 1968, to become president of the World Bank.

In 1968 it was reported that there had been an open policy split between McNamara and the U.S. military chiefs over the value of the bombing of North Vietnam, and McNamara associates said openly that they believed President Lyndon Johnson had eased McNamara out so that he no longer could exert influence on the Indochina war or even talk about it.

It is interesting to speculate upon the psychological urges that put up to 40 civilian and military officials to work among the documents of the state and defence departments and the Central Intelligence Agency. They produced what turned out to be an unusually cold-blooded study of the decision-making process under four U.S. administrations.

With so many minds engaged and with at least 15 people of like history in existence, it was almost inevitable that somehow or other the document should become a part of the great debate in a country whose citizens are rent by disagreement over the fundamental principles of the Vietnam war.

The Times, which became the instrument for dissemination, signalled at length before starting publication. The information revealed received prompt and wide distribution all across the land.

The Nixon Republican administration, although it stood to gain politically from these self-confessions of Democratic administrations that preceded it, acted after three days to stop publication.

The courts eventually will rule, but the revelations so far made could already be acting as a catharsis to the collective American soul.

Confession has been regarded by most religious groups within the Jewish - Christian tradition as a necessary condition for divine forgiveness. In many areas and eras such confessions have been made publicly. The secular Communist nations also believe implicitly in public confession, as has been seen over and over again at Communist-style trials and purges.

The Vietnam revelations—admittedly still far from complete —might well be an important psychological force in helping the American people to get the Indochina war monster off its back.

The Power of the 'Mandarins'

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The group of so called civil servants at Ottawa who are actually calling the shots are the full flower and fruition of the "Peter Principle". When a mediocre man attains a position of authority, he will rigidly exclude anyone who has more brains or ability than himself, thereby eliminating all competition.

How does it come about that practically every contract that the federal department e. rs into, generally ends up costing twice as much as the original estimate? If some of these VIPs had the brains and functional flexibility to put on a hard hat, and grab some tools on a construction site, they would soon find out that if you want an "extra" on the job, you have to have an unassailable reason for it.

Mr. Benson, in his press interview, said that he considered the 11 per cent tax on building material a bad thing. The obvious question is, why did he not repeal it? This tax was originally implemented by Walter Gordon. Everything else that Mr. Gordon did was wrong. So why did the 11 per cent remain. With the 3 per cent provincial tax, this puts a cost on all building material of 16 per cent. Is it any wonder there is a housing shortage? How much of this is the work of the Mandarins?

The federal government, like all other levels of government, are exploiting every source of tax revenue, but our officials are no corner out of the country than they are spending money like a drunken sailor. I was always taught that the virtue of charity began at home.

The problem of how to restore the power to our elected representatives is a problem that would tax Solomon. Come to think of it, he was not so smart, since he is reputed to have had 1,000 wives and 1,000 concubines. Who needs all that?

W. E. BENNETT.
Wellington, Ont.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The power of the "mandarins" as the senior bureaucrats of the civil service are dubbed, has been exposed time and again, yet they remain omnipotent, all-powerful. Like the poor, as they say, they are always with us — and when all is said and done, necessary.

Tobacco Company Chief Looks at the Issue Of Smoking and Health Today

The following statement on smoking and health was made at the annual meeting in London, England, of the Imperial Tobacco Group Ltd. by company chairman John Partridge.

"There has been much continuing publicity concerning this subject both here and overseas. In this country it has been intensified by the publication in January last of a further report by the Royal College of Physicians. I want, if I may, briefly to define the attitude of your company towards the conclusions of the report and to some of its consequences for the tobacco industry.

Many highly reputable studies have associated cigarette smoking with the development of certain diseases. We recognize the dependent on the interpretation of these associations is a matter for medical authorities, not for us. What we have done, and continue to do, is to take full account of their judgement in the conduct of our business.

Our first obligation — and I have stressed this frequently both in statements to shareholders and in a wider context — is to back the research effort in which we have been engaged and to place its results in the hands of those competent to judge their relevance for public health. We therefore wholeheartedly and strongly support the far-sighted and constructive proposal recently made by the Secretary of State for Social Services to set up a Scientific Advisory Committee comprising scientists and doctors nominated by the Government together with tobacco industry scientists.

This Committee, I believe, has a task of great responsibility before it. The report of the Royal College of Physicians in 1962 recommended publication of information concerning cigarette brand 'tar' and nicotine delivery on the assumption that this might be in the interests of public health.

The latest report of the College refers to the evidence now becoming available in the United States which offers further grounds for judging 'tar' and nicotine yield reduction to be desirable. A substantial reduction in 'tar' yield of cigarettes manufactured in this country, amounting on average to some 30 per cent over the past six years, has in fact already been achieved. There is also the possible production of new smoking materials; and, although I must not leave shareholders with the impression that the development of such materials to the point of commercial use will come about easily or quickly, it is certainly a field for further endeavor. We are engaged with ICI in the development of one such material.

The joint evaluation by the new Committee of these and other matters, and the consequent pooling of medical knowledge and industry experience, must be a step forward.

Our second obligation must be to maintain a responsible attitude towards our commercial activities. We and the industry have, I believe, afforded good evidence of such an attitude in the voluntary agreement affecting labelling and advertising that is a record reached with H.M. Government. This particular matter has occasioned considerable debate both in Parliament and in public. I think it best simply to say this now, that we shall make such agreements we keep them.

Lastly, and by way of general comment which is not intended in the least to belittle the gravity of the public health issues highlighted again by the Royal College, it remains true that very many people all over the world find both pleasure and relief of tension in smoking —, and that most people can apparently smoke without significant harm to themselves.

Our task, as I see it, is to do our utmost in co-operation with medical authorities to press forward with every conceivable line of research that may lead to the reduction of identifiable hazards to health. I am in no doubt that valuable progress has already been made, but equally I am sure that there are many possibilities yet to be explored. Meanwhile, I can again give no better advice to the many millions of people who smoke our products than that moderation in smoking, as in so many other things, is not only good sense — it also improves enjoyment."

Unprotesting Canadians Accept Role Of Mass Consumers of U.S. Culture

TORONTO (CP) — The establishment of a truly Canadian identity has been greatly hampered by the ethnic diversity of the population, the French and English languages and the high degree of influence of the United States, a leader in the arts said Thursday.

Dr. Pauline McGibbon, chancellor-elect of the University of Toronto, said: "Canadians are mass consumers of the American culture, and most Canadians don't oppose this influence.

"Our constant exposure to the American way subtly and substantially moulds our values, our view of the world, our careers, leisure time and homes," she told the Ontario conference on economic and cultural nationalism.

Ontario Premier William Davis, announcing the conference March 30, said the object was to hear a wide range of viewpoints and put into perspective the diverse problems inherent in foreign participation in Canada's economy and society.

Dr. McGibbon, vice-chairman of the Ontario Youth Theatre and vice-president of the Canadian Conference of the Arts, said one obstacle to the development of a national character is the language barrier.

"Canada must face the world without its cultural inhibition of distinctive language. We share with other countries . . . two of the most widely-spoken languages in the world today, particularly English."

This fact "is enormously smoothes our transactions with allies, friends and even antagonists; but also facilitates the easy transplantation to our cultural soil of other men's flowers, and a good crop of their weeds."

She told about 100 delegates the inundation of U.S. culture and the influence of other countries' cultures on the growing number of citizens "constitute serious impediments, perhaps even threats to the development of a thriving and distinctive Canadian culture."

Louis Applebaum, executive director of the Ontario Council for the Arts, suggestde that governments and the people put more money into creative artists and their ideas and how they see Canada's future.

He said artists can be valuable leaders, serving as "weathervanes or barometers showing where society should go."

At an earlier panel discussion, Robert W. Boostell, former British Columbia attorney-general and now vice-chairman of MacMillan-Bloedel Ltd., said Canada has not the potential capital sources to create the number of jobs that will be needed during this decade.

Canada needs a free flow of cash to create jobs, he said.

Edwin A. Goodman, a Toronto lawyer and former national campaign chairman for the Progressive Conservative party, said the United States economy during 1965-66 led to inflation and policies to combat inflation created unemployment.

L. R. Wilson, economic research director for John Labatt Ltd., argued that foreign investment has been more prominent in the growth of the "have" regions of Canada and this has increased regional disparities.

Senator Eugene Forsey of Ontario said if Canada decided to go it alone economically, and foreign investment, if we so blocked foreign investment and eliminated foreign control already established, Canadians would pay highly for it.

"We can have all freedom from multinational corporations choose, but if we are going to promote Canadian economic independence we need a strong federal government, perhaps even stronger than the one now in power," the Liberal senator said.

Culture: Plaything of Elite

TORONTO (CP) — Culture is the plaything of the elite in Canada, a professor of political economy said Thursday night.

Abraham Rotstein of the University of Toronto said priorities in the field of culture are out of balance when there are three national ballet companies in Canada but no national weekly news magazine.

Governments in Canada must create a new cultural policy to benefit a broader spectrum of people and to help ensure Canada's cultural survival, Mr. Rotstein said.

He was speaking to 400 persons at the Ontario New Democratic Party's counter-conference on Ontario and Canadian independence.

Mr. Rotstein, a member of the Committee for an Independent Canada, said more money should be going to the "area of ideas" for books and other literature which is important in the struggle to keep Canada independent.

Donald MacDonald, former Ontario NDP leader, told the conference it was a "cultural disaster" that only five per cent of the books sold in Canada are written and published in Canada.

"No other literate country faces that predicament."

Walter Pitman, Ontario NDP deputy leader, said he was not opposed to increased financial aid to symphony orchestras and opera and ballet companies if one-third of the tickets for their performances were given to the poor.

Mr. Rotstein said multinational corporations create a threat of unknown proportions around the world and Canada is "the country least prepared to meet the challenge." He said the Canadian business community is participating in its own takeover, trade unions can't act and at the universities, 50 per cent of professors are foreign.

Mr. MacDonald said sports provides one of the best examples to show Canada is merely a branchplant society of the United States.

He called the National Hockey League "a foreign business trust" and added those involved are more and more a part of that trust.

Youth Told by Judge to Seek Aid

A 16 - year - old Belleville youth was told by provincial court Judge T. Y. Wills Thursday morning, "I don't care if you get legal aid or not. You have had three weeks to do something about it and you waited until the last minute."

Judge Wills then established a date for trial on July 22 when the youth will appear to face five charges of breaking and enter at Centennial Secondary school, Prince Charles School, Trinity Church and Centennial Secondary on two further counts.

Judge Wills expressed disgust at the playing of the legal aid game in which defendents waste the court's time by having trials put off.

A charge of obtaining goods by false pretences, laid against a Picton man, was dismissed when a witness told the court the man had put up collateral to cover the $35 cheque issued for purchase of a 1958 car.

"You didn't tell the police that, did you", demanded Crown Attorney John Pringle.

When the witness confirmed his statement, the charge was dismissed. "I'm sorry to waste the court's time your honor," Mr. Pringle said.

Charges of careless driving laid against Vernon David Brant of Shannonville, were dismissed. Also a second charge of operating an unsafe vehicle April 3 brought a fine of $25 and $8 costs.

Brant came into collision with a pedestrian on Dundas Street east April 3 but the charges were dismissed when the pedestrian testified he had been drinking. A second witness testified the injured man was "not looking where he was going."

At the scene, Constable Sam Morgan of city police told the court Brant's 1953 automobile had holes in the floor boards, faulty holding brakes, loose fenders and a poorly closing front door. Brant informed the court the car has been junked.

Gary A. Palmer, 28, of Black Diamond Road in Canifton, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident with intent to avoid civil liability and was fined $100, $4 court costs and had his licence suspended for three months.

Mrs. Olive Hansen, 232a Pine Street, and Mrs. Marie Diemart of 232c Pine Street were told by Judge T. Y. Wills the further apart they kept themselves, the better.

Both brought charges of common assault against the other following incidents in which one of the Hansen children threw a firecracker at Mrs. Diemart. An argument ensued and the two women fought.

When the court was informed the charges had been mutually withdrawn, Judge Wills told the women "you are bringing up children and harboring them. They will be taken away from you. It's up to you to control your children and that's the ultimatum.

"I don't want to see you back here."

Mrs. Diemart immediately stood up in the courtroom and demanded an apology from the Hansen boy.

When the judge intervened, Mrs. Hansen replied, "I'm sorry sir, my son will not apologize."

Judge Wills called an abrupt end to the argument. "The less communication you have with your neighbor, the better," he told the two mothers.

Pleading guilty to charges of possessing and trafficking in Lenry Edward Pope, 22, whose last known address was the Belvedere Hotel, was fined $150 and $3 court costs and given one month to pay.

Pope was arrested as a Trenton agent by Trenton Police April 6 at 11:40 p.m. and found in possession of 21 grams of green leaf and seeds.

A second youth, Gregory Edmond Knight, 21, whose last known address was 105 Sidney Street, Trenton, was found guilty of possession of 0.1 grams of hashish and was fined $100 and court costs.

A third man, William Kenneth Naylor, 21, 14 Hunnewood Drive, pleaded guilty to possession of a total of 44 grams of marihuana and hashish.

An investigation with search warrant was conducted on his parent's residence at 14 Hunnewood Drive on April 21 at which time the hashish and marijuana were discovered in a bedroom.

Judge T. Y. Wills ordered a pre-sentence report with sentence to be handed down July 15.

A 19 - year - old Hamilton man, Allan Thomas Masters, surrey st., pleaded guilty to fraud in provincial court Thursday and when asked by Judge T. Y. Wills if he shouldn't plead not guilty, the defendent replied: "I live in Hamilton, serving my apprenticeship and it's may keep travelling back and forth."

Arrested April 25 for fraudulently obtaining $55.58 in food and lodgings at the Sun Valley Motor Inn on North Front Street, the defendant told the court his company manager said the bill would be paid by the company.

It was at this point that the judge asked him if he shouldn't plead not guilty.

Because of the confusion of the case, the judge enlarged the case to June 27 to give the defendant time to seek legal advice.

For assaulting a police officer, Larry Keith McKee, 21, of Belleville, was fined $200 and 12 court costs in provincial court Thursday. On June 10, he also pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than a residence.

Charges of carrying an offensive weapon and being drunk in a public place were dropped earlier.

Trenton Alters Housing Act

TRENTON (Staff) — The Trenton and Suburban Planning Board meeting here Thursday agreed to a total revision of its 1968 zoning bylaw.

New definitions were drawn for various zones and in the next few weeks these will be applied to the town.

Two basic changes have been made to the structure of residential first, second and third density (R1, R2, and R3) zones.

The minimum floor areas for dwellings have been changed by last night's action so that a single storey building in R1 must now have a floor area of 1,200 sq. ft. instead of the former 1,100. A 1½-storey structure requires a 1,400 sq. ft. floor area instead of 1,250 and a two-storey 1,600 instead of 1,400.

Under R2, a one storey building will require a floor area of 1,000 sq. ft. against the present 900, a 1½-storey 1,200 against 1,050 and a two-storey 1,400 against 1,200.

The single storey structure in R3 now requires a floor area of 800 sq. ft. up from 800, a 1½-storey 1,100 up from 950 and a two-storey 1,300 up from 1,100.

Besides floor areas, each of the three zones will have different requirements for the size of side yards. In R1, one side of a single storey house must be six feet from the lot line, a 1½-storey 8 ft. and a two-storey 10 ft. with the other side being a basic 6 ft. from the line.

A basic 10 feet is also required to one side in all buildings in R3 and R3 now and in the side lot necessary is the same — four feet for a single storey residence, six for a 1½ and eight for a two-storey.

In R2 and R3, the minimum depth of rear yard lots has been extended from 20 to 25 feet.

The types of building permitted under first, second and third density residential remain unchanged but important alterations have been made in other residential areas.

No longer will construction of double duplexes, triplexes, double triplexes and staplexes be permitted in the residential fourth density zone.

Single family dwellings and duplexes may no longer be built in R3, R6 or R7 zones.

Residential fifth density will be restricted to the construction of only duplexes, triplexes and staplexes, while residential sixth will be a zone for only townhouses, mainstreets, garden court developments and townhouses.

All major apartment building will be limited to R7 zones. Preliminary plans call for R7 zoning on Highway 2 at the north end of Dufferin Developments, the old Fraser property on which Stan Kiemencic proposes a seven-storey building, the property southwest of Trenton Cold Storage where the James family proposes another apartment tower. A strip on Dixon Drive that is R7 now is expected to remain in this zone.

Only one R6 zone is envisaged now — property at the end of Gould Street where Dufferin Heights Corporation has a large development.

For each housing unit in a duplex, 3,300 sq. ft. of lot area will be the new minimum. In a double duplex, it will be 2,100 sq. ft., in a triplex 2,300 and a six-plex 2,000.

The minimum size of a duplex housing unit has been increased to 800 sq. ft. from 500.

Apartments being built on the hand ful of R7 sites must be built on a lot with at least 150 feet of roadway frontage.

Such apartment towers must be 25 feet from the property line on each side (or half the height of the building.) Thirty per cent of the lot area must be landscaped as a minimum requirement.

Property on which the apartment building is constructed must have 1,500 sq. ft. of lot area for each unit. The requirement under the 1968 bylaw was 2,000 sq. ft. of lot area for the first four units plus 500 sq. ft. for each additional unit.

By the new bylaw minimum size of dwelling units in R7 zones has been increased. A one-bedroom unit must now have 450 sq. ft. up from 400, a two-bedroom 600 sq. ft. from 500 and a three-bedroom 750 sq. ft. from 600.

Tentative plans call for the bulk of west Trenton residential areas to be zoned R3 with the only R1 section of the town to be a portion south of Highway 2 west of a point just east of Fairview Crescent. Most of Dufferin Developments is slated to be zoned R2 except for the extreme southern portion which will be residential first density.

The minister told a news conference that actuarial studying that the plan concluded that insurance companies could afford to keep accident-benefit rates at the current level because they would avoid legal costs and delays under the no-fault scheme.

F. J. Pilgrem, deputy minister of financial and commercial affairs, said more than 70 per cent of Ontario motorists now have no-fault coverage, which costs $9 a year.

The new legislation would require the remaining 30 per cent or 900,000 motorists in the province to buy no-fault coverage, but they would not have to pay for it until their 1972 policies expire.

The bill covers all - insured motor vehicles including motorcycles, scooters, snowmobiles, trucks and buses.

Passengers, pedestrians struck by an insured vehicle, or members of the family of the owner of the insured vehicle, while still living at home, are be eligible for benefits if involved a motor vehicle accident.

Sky-High Fashion Show Stresses Indian Motifs

NEW YORK (CP) — The ethnic or peasant look has been the important one this season. A new development comes from India in beautiful chiffons, silks, organzas and hand-woven cottons with Indian motifs.

A fashion show of cocktail and evening gowns by two Indian sisters was held high in the sky in Air-India's first Boeing 747 circling New York.

Even hot pants were included—rather a shock to anyone thinking in terms of graceful Indian saris.

Naturally the hot pants were elegant, in hand-painted silk chiffon with a gold scroll tie entire pant leg. They were worn under a shirtwaist-style top and an ankle-length skirt in a swirling 24-carat gold design. The skirt was split and banded up the sides to the waist.

Another elegant ensemble featured a long coat in gold brocade that simulated a hand carving of the Taj Mahal. The dress, in midnight blue chiffon, was a mid-calf length. A separate narrow stole was edged in gold sea-horse motif.

The two designer-sisters, Sarjit and Adarsh Gill, each alternate three months in New York and three in India. Adarsh was on the Air-India flight.

"I used to design my own clothes in India," she said. "I came to New York three years ago and attended a fashion and designing school."

They also create their own individual jewelry, massive bibs and pendants as well as huge intricate gold rings.

Canada will have a chance to see some of the modernized traditional Indian clothes at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto in August. There is to be a fashion show every day from various fashion houses and boutiques in India, including costumes from the Gill sisters.

All the Gill clothes are hand-done in India and range in price from $180. to $1,000. For the fall they are projecting red, blue, green and purple as their top colors.

Flounces have been popular this season, too, and one floor-length organza was double flounced, in three skirt tiers and three handkerchief-pointed tiers for the sleeves. The waistband and hemline were heavily embroidered and inlaid with pearls. A nude organza-over-silk was just below the knees. Gold embroidery, sequins and pearls provided a rich oriental feeling. A deep front plunge and a slit back added a sexy look.

One floor gown combined a crinkle cerise skirt overlaid with gold sequins with a mauve Empire top that ran down into short tight sleeves with a cerise sleeve falling full to the wrist below.

The Air-India stewardesses continue to wear the traditional six-yard sari, in vibrant pink and deep purple or in turquoise and royal blue—color combinations that should be added to your summer wardrobe.

NANCY GRAHAM, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Graham, Windsor, formerly of Carrying Place, graduated recently from the Metropolitan School of Nursing, Windsor. She has accepted a position at the Metropolitan General Hospital. Miss Graham is a graduate of BCI and VS, Belleville.

INDIAN FASHIONS FOR INDIAN AIRLINE — Air India's air hostesses model new uniforms for use on the air line's Boeing 747 jets. Ann Landers

Gifts No Substitute For Real Conversation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I started a letter to you a couple of years ago. I left it on my desk after writing only a few lines. My dad walked by and saw it. He said in a half-joking way, "I see you are writing to Ann Landers. I can't imagine what you have to complain about." I didn't answer. At the dinner table he started again — "Don't forget when you criticize your parents to Ann Landers, be sure to tell her you have your own telephone, that we remodeled your bedroom and put in a stereo. Be sure to mention that we promised you a trip to Europe next summer after graduation."

It's funny, I was going to mention all those things — in a different context. My whole life seems to be things, things, things — and more things. I'd gladly give up all the things if my parents would only treat me like an adult. I can't recall ever having had a real conversation with either of them. I guess this is my problem, Ann Landers. What's the solution? — TOO MUCH AND TOO LITTLE.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR TOO: I gather you are about 17 — and this is pretty late to try to initiate your first real conversation with your parents. From your father's remarks, I assume you two are operating on different wavelengths.

Parents who believe a stereo and a trip to Europe are where it's at are a sad lot. Unfortunately, they become sadder as time goes on and they realize they have no relationship with their children.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Should I continue to remain friendly with a person who is in desperate need of professional help — even though the relationship is threatening my own emotional balance? This persons keeps me on the phone for hours and the conversations usually end with her screaming and hanging up on me.

I feel sorry for her, but I fear for my own mental health. Sometimes, after a particularly stormy session, it takes days before I am able to regain my sense of balance. If in, your opinion, I should discontinue the relationship, please tell me how to show this person I feel that way. — A.T.H.

DEAR A.T.H.: You can best help your friend by suggesting the names of two or three doctors who have helped others.

Only an extremely stable person can tolerate the abuse of a sick person without feeling hurt or resentful. You obviously cannot handle it, and you should not try.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me what is wrong with people who do not answer letters. I have called friends long distance after extended periods of silence just to see if they are all right. On the phone they say, "I'll put a letter in the mail today!" — but they don't.

This has happened to me so many times I have just about lost my faith in people. I enjoy writing letters. To me, it's the next best thing to conversation. I can't understand why, at this very moment, at least 15 people owe me letters. Why are so many people aloof? — A MYSTERY WRAPPED IN AN ENIGMA.

* * *

DEAR WRAPPED: Not all dereliect correspondents are aloof. Some are rather nice folk who are unsure of their spelling, their penmanship, or grammar — or they re-read a letter after having written it, and it sounds dumb, or illiterate, so they decide no letter at all would be better than what they've written. Reserve judgment honey, because you never know why people don't write.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in regard to the 11-year-old who had problems with his musical interests.

When I was nine I started to play the clarinet on a three-month trial basis. After the three months were up the teacher told my folks I had talent and they were advised to buy the clarinet. They dished out the $150, which was a lot of money in those days. A week later I decided I wanted to play the flute. My parents said "no." I was pretty mad and said I wouldn't play any instrument if I couldn't play the flute. My dad said, "We bought you the clarinet and you'll play it or nothing." After you are good at it we'll consider a second instrument."

I sulked for two years then decided they weren't going to give in. I realized what a fool I'd been. All the kids in the band had been enjoying themselves, taking trips, etc. and I had missed out. So I decided to go back to the clarinet.

It's eight years later and I am right at the top. My dad kept his bargain and next week I start with the flute. My dad

So tell those kids out there to stay with one instrument until they can play it well. They will be glad they did. — FUTURE MUSIC TEACHER.

DEAR TEACH: You struck a sweet chord with me. Thanks for the harmony.

Deserted Mother Lost in Carrying on Alone

Dear Doris: Since my husband left me and my three small boys I don't know where to turn. It is hard to get a place, and the idiotic boy get up so early to go to the wash-room that I get in trouble for that. The landlady even called Sun. at us, animals.

I am receiving public assistance and I know people look down upon you. These kids haven't much future and as for me I can't even face the outside world without feeling I am a lost soul.

Was it right for a father to leave his children? If people only knew what lay ahead for them! — Degraded

Dear Degraded: Hang on! Some day your three boys will be your pride and joy. What landlady could be so thick headed as to criticize a three-year-old for being toilet trained? Many little fellows are still wetting their beds at three.

You are not being punished for anything you have done wrong. Your husband is the weak one to have walked out on you.

If you need help visit future plans, with finding suitable living quarters or making the money stretch, or if what you need right now is an understanding listener, seek one in your own family agency.

* * *

Dear Doris: As president of our chamber of commerce I am being asked to make speeches of all kinds. At our high school graduation I will be asked to participate, and Doris, I am wondering if you would please give me some highlights or maybe write me a speech?

I am very impressed with your work and judgment and thought you would certainly be the person to turn to for advice. — More or Less Now Canadian

Dear Canadian: The speech has to have your personality in it — but perhaps it could do with a few of my ideas.

Every young person dreams a dream: imagines himself or herself as astronaut, a model, a journalist, a politician, a doctor, a stewardess, a frogman or teacher. For the graduating class these wonderful dreams are about to come true!

In the years ahead they will think back to the class of '71 and wish the dreams were a reality.

These are great years, full of zest for life and promise for the future. Whatever path your young people choose, the keynote is enthusiasm. If they live each day with fervor, it will be worth while.

Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote in one of his famous essays that "Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm." Tell them that. And good luck!

* * *

Dear Doris: This woman wrote to you about how to forget a guy. Why does she run after the married man?

She should run after her husband and fall in love with him. not with us guys. We're not interested in her love.

So get lost, middle-aged woman! Leave us guys alone. — Minding My Own

Dear Minding: It is pretty easy to stand in judgment on somebody else, when the same kind of temptation has never been presented to you. Could it be that some middle-aged woman is putting you in an embarrassing position, right now?

Meat Pies From Leftovers

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: With beef prices the way they are we are buying more pork and chicken and fish but we do get hungry for a roast of beef. We are a small family and do not use it all at one meal. Now for my question. Could you give me a way to use this leftover beef that doesn't taste leftover? I want to be able to make it nice enough for guests. Any help you can give me would be appreciated. — Bessie G.

ANSWER: Your problem is a common one so I bought a largish roast and served it to three people. I wrapped the leftover cold roast and refrigerated it. Two days later I invited relatives for a dinner for six people and made

ENGLISH MEAT PIES
(six individual)
PASTRY
2 cups unsifted cake and pastry flour
2 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 cup shortening (divided — see below)
½ cup boiling water
1 large egg yolk
2 tsps. lemon juice

FILLING:
3 thsps., margarine
2 med. onions chopped finely
1 cup shredded carrot
2 thsps. flour
1 cup rich beef gravy (see note below)
1¼ cups water
3 or 4 cups lean cooked beef cut in ¼" to ¾" cubes

To make pastry mix flour, baking powder and salt in bowl and cut in half cup shortening with pastry blender. In another bowl pour boiling water over remaining half cup shortening and add lemon juice and stir to melt shortening. Stir this liquid into flour mixture then stir in egg yolk. Chill dough.

To make filling saute onion and carrot in melted margarine until limp — not brown. Stir in flour then stir in gravy (see note), water and beef. (NOTE: If you do not have gravy substitute with 2 tsps. beef bouillon cordial in 1 cup hot water.)

Apportion meat mixture into six large individual pottery baking dishes.

Roll out chilled dough to ¼" thickness and cut out rounds a little larger than tops of dishes. Slash each round at centre and place over meat filling and seal to rim as well as you can. Brush tops with milk. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 40 min. or until gravy bubbles through gashes and top is golden. Serve on bread and butter plates at top of each place setting. Guests will empty contents onto their warmed dinner plates.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

BY MARY BRYSON

One of the nicest things that has staged a comeback in recent years is the rocking chair. There should be one in every nursery. Sit in it to feed the baby and you'll relax yourself. Sooth a fussy baby or are sibling toddler with the cuddling and gentle motion that a rocker inspires. If your budget is tight, check grandmother's attic. If not, consider the Salvation Army store. Rockers often are the lowest-priced furniture item you'll find there.

Annual Music Recitals Presented by Pupils

Women's Institute

SIDNEY SOUTH WI

The June meeting of the Sidney South WI was held at the home of Mrs. R. Hamilton with a good attendance.

The first vice - president Mrs. Ted Aikens presided over the business portion of the meeting and welcomed the guests.

It was decided that the Sidney South WI would not enter a display in the Quinte Exhibition this year.

Mrs. A. W. Smith and Mrs. G. Grills gave a brief report from their standing committees and Mrs. K. Bush reported that a new WI has been formed, bearing the name Maple View.

The program was then turned over to Mrs. C. Dafoe, PRO who introduced the guest speaker Mrs. Leavens who showed coloured slides of New Zealand. Upon leaving Vancouver by boat, she travelled to San Francisco, Hawaii and the Fiji Islands.

Native costumes and a Buddhist shrine were colorful and also the lush, tropical landscape of the Fiji Islands. In Auckland, New Zealand, she toured underground caves, race tracks, municipal parks, sulphur hot springs and a Maori village.

Mrs. Leavens pointed out that not only was New Zealand a sub tropical country in some areas, but was much like Canada in other parts. She also visited the Southern Alps, considered to be the most beautiful part of New Zealand with its waterfalls, fiords, and glacial mountain ranges.

After leaving New Zealand she flew to Australia for a brief stay and visited Sidney and Melbourne. She also saw Captain Cook's cottage.

Mrs. G. Waite thanked Mrs. Leavens and presented her with a gift on behalf of the Institute.

Lunch was served by the hostess with Mrs. J. Ray and Mrs. G. Grills assisting.

QUEENSBORO WI

Miss Diane Gunning, the Ontario dairy princess was guest speaker at the June meeting of the Queensboro WI. She spoke of her trip to the British Isles and also showed pictures of the places of interest she had visited.

Mrs. Frank O'Rourke was hostess for the meeting with Mrs. Roy Rollins presiding. There were guests present from the Madoc and Cooper branches of the WI.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Recent Drama Festival Still Drawing Operation Plaudits

By SUSAN KORAH
Staff Reporter

The curtain fell months ago on this year's Eastern Ontario Drama festival but the glory with which the Belleville Theatre Guild and the community as a whole covered itself has not yet dimmed. The regional planning committee of the recently - held Ontario Theatre Conference made a special request for a copy of the report of the 1971 festival, also for a display showing how the whole community was involved in the regional festival.

"Apparently Belleville did a magnificent job of involving the community in the festival (no mean achievement)" wrote Margaret Bassett, conference secretary and added that the report and display would be of great interest to the other delegates.

The Ontario Theatre Conference was held at Geneva Park and was a working conference of people actively involved in all aspects of amateur and professional theatre in Ontario.

Its main purpose was to draw up a plan of action for a new Ontario Theatre Association to organize the administration of theatre in Ontario.

Dr. Joan Bronskill of Belleville attended as the representative of the Eastern Ontario drama league. The display also prepared for the conference showed how groups and individuals in the community such as the Hastings County board of education, the chamber of commerce, the festival committee members, City Hall and the Quinte Arts Council worked together to involve the whole community in the project. She also submitted a report of the festival compiled by Mrs. Russell Scott, Mrs. Frank Seemungal, Mrs. P. Anderson and Dr. Joan Bronskill.

The report acknowledged the contribution of every individual and group who worked to make the drama festival a cultural and financial success. The conference was attended by representatives from all over Ontario including people involved in community theatre professional and youth theatre, in television and all performing arts in Ontario.

There were actors, directors, writers, theatre arts teachers and representatives of the Dominion Drama Festival. Dr. Bronskill reports that they were utterly delighted to see so much community involvement in theatre and that it was an ideal opportunity to project the Belleville Theatre Guild's image as an active, community - supported group.

In addition to the display and report Dr. Bronskill also submitted an information basket requirld of all the delegates, which consisted of press clipping, programs and other material giving information about the activities of the group each one represented.

Dr. Bronskill emphasized that everyone's contribution was acknowledged — from those who helped with hospitality during the festival to the public who came to see the plays.

She said that a wide range of topics was discussed at the conference including community theatre in Ontario, community theatre and education and theatre administration and leadership. Robert Welch, minister of education attended part of the proceedings. Another delegate from Belleville was Mrs. Marion Wilson.

Dr. Bronskill remarked that one result of the publicity Belleville got at the conference is the number of applications being received for the post of artistic director of the Guild. This, she remarked is a new development because in the past, the Guild had to go in search of suitable people for this position.

F. Charles New Head Of Guild

The members of the newly elected executive of the Quinte Arts Council are: president, Fred Charles; 1st. vice-president, Mrs. Robert Aitken; 2nd. vice-president, Mrs. Charles Young; secretary, Mrs. Dave Davey; treasurer, Manfred Koechlin; members of the board of directors, Paul Bernard, Mrs. Murray Thompson and Murray Irwin.

Mr. Charles is actively interested in the arts and his hobby is restoring antiques. Recently he bought the old restored cobblestone church, Kirkabed, north of Belleville and is turning it into a showplace to encourage young talent in arts and crafts.

A Community Project

Mrs. P. Anderson, Dr. Joan Bronskill and Mrs. Frank Seemungal examine the display prepared by Dr. Bronskill for the recently held Ontario Theatre conference which she attended as the EODL representative. The display shows how the whole community was involved in the Eastern Ontario drama festival held earlier this year in Belleville.

Admission and Membership Part of Package Deal

From now on, members of the Belleville Theatre Guild will have an annual "package deal". Payment of a membership fee of $7.50 per year ($3.50 for students) will entitle a person to see the four plays produced by the Guild, as well as a membership to the guild. This change in the constitution of the Guild was made at the annual general meeting held on Wednesday night at the Pinnacle Playhouse.

Until now members had to pay a membership fee and in addition, pay for each play attended.

The slate of officers elected at the meeting was: president, Frank Seemungal; vice - president, none at present; treasurer, Grant Maidment; recording secretary, Doreen Robertson; corresponding secretary, Doreen Kilcher; programm, Erma Patterson; youth representative, Stewart Arnott; theatre manager, Ken Rose; EODL representative, Margaret Anderson; Quinte Arts Council representative, Ray Cunningham; member - at - large, Mrs. A. Warres; archives, Beverley Shaw; hostess, Olga Allen; publicity, Ted Schwab.

Earlier, president Frank Seemungal spoke of a proposed link - up between the Guild and Loyalist College. The proposal is for the artistic director of the Guild to teach theatre arts to students of the college during the day and to conduct a night course at least once a week for any member of the general public who wishes to join.

In his presidential report, Mr. Seemungal also referred to the excellent relationship the guild had with the general public, with the City of Belleville and the recreation - arena committee. He mentioned the advisory board comprised of representatives of the recreation - arena committee and the guild which had been set up to look after the administration of the playhouse.

He said that several well qualified people are being interviewed for the post of artistic director for next year and that the results would be announced soon.

The treasurer's report showed that a profit of over $3,000 had been netted at the Eastern Ontario drama festival held in March. This profit, however, were not so successful financially.

In the EODL report given by Dr. Joan Bronskill she pointed out that from the EODL meetings she had attended, she gathered that the Belleville Theatre Guild was well thought of in those circles and that delegates to the Ontario Theatre Conference were impressed by the extent of community involvement in the drama festival.

Theatre Group Organizes

An experimental theatre group returning to Belleville this summer is holding auditions for local actors and writers who would like to contribute to their summer performances.

Under the direction of a Queen's University graduate student Steve Hunter, company will have two large productions and summer including three plays a night for three nights and a production featuring local writing and excerpts of plays brought into a central theme by the student writing crew.

The three one act plays to be directed by students will include Augustus Does His Bit directed by Paul Bellemare, Adaptation by Elaine May and directed by Steve Hunter and The Cyclop Society written by Ken McCrystal and to be directed by a Queen's University student Chris Stock.

"In past summers we have used the St. Thomas Parish Hall for our productions but this summer we hope we will be able to hold our productions in the Pinnacle Playhouse," said Mr. Hunter.

When the experimental youth theatre acquired about the playhouse facilities they were urged to join with the existing programs rather than start a separate company.

"We don't feel that we would have the freedom needed for an experimental company if we merged," said Mr. Hunter.

"Co-operation between the two companies is important," said Mr. Hunter. "We have invited Mr. Evashen (director of the Pinnacle Playhouse) to our meetings in an attempt to let him have a better idea of what we plan for the summer. We invite members of his company to join with us and our members are free to join and contribute to his company as long as we can keep our identity as a separate, distinct group."

The next meeting, for anyone interested in the company, will be held Monday, June 28 at 8 p.m. in the St. Thomas Parish Hall.

Joint Committee to Bring in Proposal To Reorganize Adult Education Courses

A co-ordinating committee will soon be set up to oversee planning of all adult education courses in the county.

The committee was formed yesterday during a meeting at county board of education offices of 25 educators and recreation leaders.

They decided that the board of education would continue to give high school credit courses at night school and Loyalist College would continue to offer retraining and post secondary school courses, as is required by law.

But the school board will no longer offer athletic, creative, leisure and hobby courses. The board will, however, continue to offer accommodation in its schools to groups running such courses.

The meeting was the second called to consider overlapping of courses in the adult education field. At present, several groups; the board, Loyalist, the Y, recreation committees and the community school program, all offer non - credit courses in various municipalities throughout the county.

"When we give a course like typing for a hobby or for upgrading," said superintendent L. F. Reid, of Hastings county board of education, "we are penalizing our day students by taking money out of the regular expenditure budget to subsidize night school.

We should get out of athletic, creative, leisure and hobby courses which we can't afford and turn them over to someone else."

"If you drop it, we'll pick it up, if there is a need, in cooperation with others," said Loyalist's director of extension, H. J. Butterill.

He said that Loyalist sponsored courses could be offered anywhere in the county, not just at the college. Cost to students will average $15 a student for about 30 hours of instruction.

By co-ordinating course offerings, the committee hopes to effect savings on advertising costs. Mr. Reid told the group Halton county saved 40 per cent in its advertising costs by co-ordinating of efforts of its board of education, Sheridan College and two municipal recreation departments.

A meeting has been called for Aug. 9, when each group offering adult education courses will present lists of courses, outline of content and indications of the levels at which they are offered.

A brochure of course offerings will be drawn up for publication following he meeting.

Joint registration will be conducted this fall when night schools get under way.

Principal L. D. Read of Bayside Secondary School asked that regular high school teachers be offered first refusal at teaching a night course offered in their classrooms.

"There is a real problem of night school teachers using regular teachers' rooms after hours," he said.

Members of the co-ordinating committee are representatives of the school board, community school program, youth and recreation branch of the department of education, all municipal recreation committees in the county, the Y, Loyalist, and the separate school board.

The committee will elect a chairman at its Aug. 9 meeting.

Division Of Duties Questioned

TRENTON (Staff) — Some confusion developed at last night's meeting of the parks Board as to who should administer tennis courts in the town's parks.

A request to hold a tennis tournament at the Hanna Park courts prompted a discussion on the subject.

The recreation commission had approved the organized matches scheduled for July 7, 11 and, concern arose in parks board whether they should become involved.

John Tripp, a member of the board, suggested adoption of a policy that the recreation commission handle all administration of the courts without consultation of the board.

However, Chairman William Ireland hesitated in shifting authority so completely, advising that the "board should give its blessing to the tournament", in effect giving the tournament its approval along with the recreation commission.

Parks board is expected to deal with the whole question of division of authorities at a special meeting next week.

The board is concerned that the local tennis clubs is expanding its use of the town's courts at the expense of the general public. In view of this, it may not readily give up what control it has.

Greek Dancers Appear Here

Highlight of the Greek Night to be held in Odd Fellow's Hall here Sunday evening is the Greek planning group of Toronto, formed in 1957 by Harry Gregory. For 14 years they have devoted their time to enlightening fellow Canadians on the songs and dances of Greece, giving performances representative of Macedonia, Thessalia, Sparta, Tnrace and the Greek islands. Two of the 30-member group execute a step from the dance Karagouna.

Parks Get More Land In Trenton

TRENTON (Staff) — The Town of Trenton is expected to turn over parcels of land to three sections of the town in the parks board here next week.

Civil servants worked with the parks board meeting here last night to draft a list of unused town lands that have been proposed for parks' use. Included are five lots on Front Street between Bond Head and Frederick Streets. These are considered ideal park lots along the river now owned by the board.

Also to be acquired are four lots on Bay Street purchased by the town last year for an extension of a centennial Park.

Parks Board will be receiving a third tract of land on Prospect Hill adjacent to V. P. Carswell School.

Land on the river currently administered by the board is being developed. Fill is being dumped on the lots by various contractors and it is being leveled and seeded.

However, parks' development is expected to be slow this year as the board's budget is only $55,000, ah out $25,000 less than requested.

Essay Winner

Thirteen-year-old Judy Burgess of East Moira Street in the city was pleasantly surprised with notice she had placed fifth in the national essay contest sponsored by the Department of Indian Affairs and National Parks. The subject students were invited to write about was Litter and Its Problems. She was one of the Grade 8 entries from St. Michael's Academy who participated.

Swim Pool To Be Opened

More than two dozen dignitaries have been invited to attend the official opening of the swimming pool operated by the Kinsmen Club in the city.

The facility, however, is not open to the public until the following Wednesday when children are out of school for the summer.

Riders' Gotta One Nice Guy Who Doesn't Plan Being Last

But in calling Ottawa Rough Riders to make the Eastern Football League playoffs in 1971, Gotta won't say which of the other three EFC clubs he thinks can be had.

"I think it's going to be a fight race in the east, just like last year," he said in an interview Thursday.

Riders weren't that far away from a playoff position last year: Gotta, then in his first year as head coach, blames injuries to four or five of his starting Canadians for failing to make them.

Cassata, who couldn't win the starting position,'at either Regina or Winnipeg, "is finally developing into the quarterback a lot of people thought he could," said Gotta.

But Cassata has been working out for almost two weeks now while Wood and other veterans have been in camp for less than a week.

With one year of Canadian football behind him, Wood is expected to improve over last season.

Dennis Duncan, the fullback Riders got in a trade with Alouettes, is expected—to inject some needed life in the Ottawa running attack.

Hugh Oldham, who had a fine rookie year in 1970, caught a touchdown pass Wednesday and indicated he'll be a scoring threat again this season.

Billy Cooper and Terry Wellesley are other back from the starting backfield. Threats to their jobs include holdover Greg Thompson, Skip Eamon of Queen's, Carl Bartles from Lenoir Rhyne and import Charlie Brown.

With the return of Ken Lehman after a neck injury last year, Riders appear set at linebacking. Wayne Smith of Halifax is expected to have a good year at defensive end, Gotta says.

Gerry Organ, a Guelph University graduate, is making a bid for a job as flanker and place kicker.

Organ hit for three field goals Wednesday and also caught three passes for 11 yards.

That led to speculation that he could replace 20-year-old Ivan MacMillan of the Ottawa Valley as the Rider kicker. MacMillan, at about 160 pounds, rides the bench until called upon to kick.

Gotta says, however, that six or seven CFL clubs would be after MacMillan if Riders were to let him go.

Aussies Best 'Bet At Wimbledon Classic

LONDON (CP) — A prophet from Gum Spring, Va., has predicted that either Rod Laver or John Newcombe will win the All-England men's tennis championship as the biggest tournament of them all began the survival countdown today.

Arthur Ashe, himself knocked out of contention by fellow American Marty Riessen Thursday, wasn't going out on any limb with his pick of the two Australians, however.

Laver is the No. 1 seed with All-England victories in 1961, 1962, 1968 and 1969, and second-seeded Newcombe is the defending champion. His 1970 triumph was his second.

"Laver and Newcombe . . . must be favorites to win," said fifth-seeded Ashe, dumped 6-1, 9-8, 8-9, 6-4 by Riessen in the third round and falling again to become the first black to capture the Wimbledon classic.

"But Stan Smith is right there behind them," Ashe added. "Stan has a good chance because he's playing better than he has ever done before.

As the battle for quarter-final berths in both the men's and women's singles got under way today, here's how Ashe's favorites in the men's competition fared Thursday and what's in store in the fourth round:

—Laver, now 32 and his service so far in this tourney lacking some of its usual left-handed steam, started moving into high gear by handily disposing of American Clark Graebner in straight sets, 9-8, 6-2, 7-5. Laver goes against always-tough Tom Okker of The Netherlands today.

—Newcombe, who meets Alex Metreveli of the Soviet Union in today's round, trounced Gerald Battick of Britain 6-4, 6-4.

—Smith, an American who is the No. 4 seed, whipped Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia 6-3, 6-4, 7-5. His next match will be tough —against veteran Aussie Roy Emerson.

—Australian Rosewall, the No. 3 seed, swept to his fourth-round match against countryman Fred Stolle by overwhelming Jaime Fillol of Chile 6-3, 6-1, 6-4.

MacNeil Didn't 'Press the Issue'

HALIFAX (CP) — Al MacNeil, former coach of the 1971 Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens, said Thursday he could have stayed on as coach but he pressed the issue."

MacNeil took over as coach last December and led the Canadiens to the National Hockey League championship. But when Montreal Voyageurs, the Canadiens' American Hockey League franchise, was shifted to Halifax for the 1971 season, MacNeil was appointed coach and general manager of the team.

He was replaced in Montreal by Scotty Bowman, former St. Louis Blues coach and general manager.

MacNeil was the target of criticism by some players and French writers for his coaching moves during the final series.

"I'm happy to be here with the Nova Scotia Voyageurs," MacNeil said in a brief interview before a news conference where plans for the club's 1971 operations in Halifax were unveiled. "This is a good organization and I'll be getting in on the ground floor."

TORONTO (CP) — Bill Hanley, secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, said Thursday night a meeting of club owners approved putting their league's statistics in the hands of a computer next year.

"I think it's a first for junior hockey," said Hanley. "At least I've never heard of any others doing their statistics by computer."

Hanley said the league will use the computer facilities of a Toronto community college that, when completely programmed, will make available weekly statistic sheets on all players, not just the top 20.

Hanley also said nine of 11 junior players moved directly to the NHL last year from the OHA. For each player making the move, playing in at least 25 NHL games the year after graduation, the junior club receives a $4,000 bonus.

OHA players to make the grade were Dale Tallon and Fred Barrett, Toronto Marlboros; Serge Lajeunesse and Gil Perreault, Montreal Junior Canadiens; Darryl Sittler and Dan Maloney, London Knights; Buster Harvey, Hamilton Red Wings; Bob Kelly, Oshawa Generals and Rick MacLeish, Peterborough Petes.

Esposito Pick of Players

TORONTO (CP) — Phil Esposito, record-breaking scoring centre with Boston Bruins, has been named the first winner of the Lester B. Pearson Trophy, awarded to the most valuable player in the National Hockey League selected by the players.

Pearson, former Canadian prime minister, made the presentation himself Thursday at a dinner attended by 60 NHL players who will take part in their annual golf tournament which starts here today.

"It must be a great honor to be chosen by your peers," Pearson told Esposito as he presented the trophy. The rangy Bruins star last year scored a record 76 goals and 152 points in regular season play.

Soccer Star Swapped For Ball!

KITCHENER (CP) — Istvan Gaal, 21-year-old Hungarian soccer player whose signing by Kitchener Concordia Kickers of the National Soccer League was considered a coup two months ago, has been traded to Toronto Hungaria—for a soccer ball.

Kicker president John Fischer, in announcing the deal, said:

"Well, we weren't going to release him for nothing."

Gaal arrived in Toronto from Italy two months ago. He was reported to have turned down $2,500 a month to play for Bologna.

"He had a few moves," Fischer said. "But he looked bad. At first, we thought he was holding back. He had only arrived in a new country and couldn't speak the language. We thought he'd be okay once he adjusted. But he never improved."

Fischer said. But Gaal didn't he had scored 3) goals in 44 games with Spartacus in Hungary, a top second-division team, before sneaking out of Hungary in July, 1970.

Gray Lowers Boom

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Clyde Gray, Canadian welterweight boxing champion, stopped an outclassed Gene Herrick of Boston Thursday night by decking him three times in the second round.

Referee Yvon Durelle signalled the end of the fight at 2:55 of the second as Herrick took his third eight-count in the round, going down under a flurry of punches.

Gray, 148, of Toronto won the first round but had it taken away by the referee for a low blow. Herrick weighed 154.

It was the 17th straight knockout for Gray whose only loss in 24 professional fights was to veteran Eddie Perkins of Chicago.

D'Arcy Lawson takes her four-year-old mare, "Mother" over a jump in practice for the Highlands of Hastings Pony Club competition to be held this Saturday. Teams from the Oshawa, Port Hope and Peterborough clubs will be on hand to provide competition for the 15 Belleville-area riders entered in the event. The opening event is slated for 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Stirling-area farm of district commissioner Henry Vanden Bosch.

Hastings Club Host to Horses

By ERIC EMERSON
Staff Sportswriter

The Highlands of Hastings Pony Club hopes to have the horses for a strong showing when it plays host to three other clubs in a schooling show Saturday.

"Actually, the name pony club is a bit misleading since most of the members ride horses rather than ponies," explained assistant district commissioner Bill Lawson. "The term was originated in England and has since spread to connected clubs throughout the world."

The schooling show will be open to members of the Oshawa, Port Hope, Peterborough and Belleville clubs with the chief purpose being to provide experience in competition for the young members of each branch.

Each club will arrange one such meet this summer with competition in dressage (control of the horse, smoothness in changing gaits etc.), cross country jumping and stadium jumping.

The first such show was held two weeks ago in Port Hope with the Hastings Club picking up a highly respectable total of four first-place finishes.

Riders in the pony clubs are grouped into "A", "B" and "C" categories according to their proficiency. Written and practical tests are given to the members who hope to qualify for one of the ratings with adjudicators being brought in to judge the riding performance.

Eight members of the local club passed their "C" tests this season, and while the club currently has no "A" or "B" class riders, they hope to boast some in the future. "A" certificates are extremely hard to come by, with no more than a handful of riders in the province currently eligible for that class.

Each of the 20 active members in the Belleville group learns the fundamentals of stable management and riding safety in addition to the actual riding instruction provided.

"The kids put a tremendous amount of work into the club with things like building jumps and cleaning equipment in addition to the actual riding," notes Lawson.

A total of close to 40 entries is expected for the show Saturday, to be held at the farm of district commissioner Henry Vanden Bosch, located 3½ miles south of Stirling off Highway 14. The Hastings club will have a total of 15 riders entered in the 10 classes which get under way at 10 A.M.

Admission is free to the general public and a refreshment booth will be available. The club hopes to use the proceeds from the sale of sandwiches, and soft drinks to help defray the costs of competing in future meets.

Ron Handy, Jim Gannon and Cec Dominey are taking dead aim at their second consecutive Canadian Armed Forces Skeet Championship this weekend. The threesome were part of the five-man team that captured the Canadian crown in Manitoba last year and will be hoping for a successful defence when teams from across the country converge on the CFB Trenton skeet range for the competition this Saturday and Sunday.

Defenders Marked Men

By ERIC EMERSON
Staff Sportswriter

TRENTON — When you're the top gun, you become a target for anybody looking to make a name for himself — in skeet shooting at least.

For this reason, the CFB Trenton team will be marked men when they take the firing line Saturday for the Canadian Armed Forces Skeet Championship.

The five-man team, consisting of captain Jack Bell, Jim Gannon, Ron Handy, Cec Dominey and Keith Stetson, captured the Canadian title at Portage La Prairie in the initial competition last summer and will be defending it on their home range this weekend.

Teams from Canadian Forces Bases all across Canada will be making the trek to Trenton in hopes of wresting the title away from the home town shooters in the second annual championship competition.

Trenton managed to win the 1970 title despite the fact that many of the competing entries had far more skeet shooting experience. Jim Gannon is the veteran of the team with four years of experience while Stetson and Handy each have two and Bell and Dominey only one year each.

The local club is hoping that the Canadian championship will help focus attention on the organization itself, thereby aiding in recruiting new members.

The Trenton range was constructed in 1959, but until three years ago there was very little organization connected with the sport. The club has been active for the past couple of summers, however, currently sporting a membership of about 50, with half of that total comprised of civilians. They hold regular inter-club competitions Wednesday evenings and Saturday mornings.

The Canadian championships will commence at 8.30 Saturday morning and continue through until 8.30 p.m. Sunday.

Coughlan Stingy With Stellite

A three-hitter by Bernie Coughlan moved the Unemployment Insurance to a 4-3 victory over Deloro Stellite and into a second place tie with CNR '8 the Industrial League standings Thursday night.

Coughlan gave up just three singles in clinching the victory. He struck out six batters and walked one over the seven-inning route. Three singles by Bill Smith and a double and single by Bill Healy paced the winners at the plate.

Dave Horwood and Gary Mather pitched for Deloro giving up 12 hits between them while fanning three and walking one. Dennis Lane had Coughlan's number as he connected for two singles to lead the losers at bat.

In another game, Brooke Bond Foods upset AOCO 5-3. Bob Chambers fired the win by fanning three and walking only one. Walsh punched a double and single and Chambers two singles for the victors.

Dennis Genereaux was tagged with the loss for AOCO, giving up seven hits and five walks. He fanned five batters. Waite, with two singles, was the best at the plate for the losers.

Peewees Only Lose One Worry For Annual Softball Tourney

By RANDY DERRY
Sports Staff

The Belleville Rollin's Shell Peewee softball team has one worry when they play host to eight visiting teams in Saturday's annual peewee softball tournament here. Last year's Markham champions have decided to pass up this year's tournament.

Although Markham is gone, many an old nemesis will still haunt the Alemite and Queen Victoria diamonds. The defending "B" champs from North Bendale are returning along with teams from Weston, Port Perry and Etobicoke, Napanee, Stirling and Shannonville make up the district contingent in this year's event.

Coaches Al Eros and Ken Trice are fairly confident in this year's Belleville team which is 3-0 in OASA league action and 3-3 in the Belleville bantam house league. "We have as good a chance as anybody! Our hitting is much improved over last year which was our weak spot and the pitching seems to be much livelier," observed Eros.

"The boys have more assurance and it's coming with the key hits. Our infield is pretty good but the outfield could use a little work," added Trice.

The Rollin peewees have a good blend of youth and experience. Six second - year players have returned to this year's squad, including pitchers Rob Chase and Tom Shattuck.

Last year's OASA semi-finalists are looking forward to tournaments this year and are planning trips to Lindsay July 10 and North York July 17. "We got to meet all the big teams in tournaments—especially the ones we'll meet in the playdowns," said Trice.

"For example, last year we met both Oshawa and Ottawa, in the North York tournament and these are the teams we met in the playdowns."

One team Belleville has already met this year will provide the opening round opposition for the locals. Napanee will be out to avenge an earlier 21-0 blanking at the hands of the Belleville team. But Rollins will be after their own measure of revenge. Napanee proved to be the stumbling block for Belleville in last year's tournament.

Coach Eros isn't really too worried with his first - round opponents but rather one team in particular, "North Bendale is the team to beat. If their squirt teams are good then their peewee teams are good and last year I think their squirts won the tournament here."

The opening round game will be at the Alemite at 8:30 with games continuing all day. The finals will be held at the Alemite late Saturday afternoon.

Rich Richer

Rollins Construction and Point Anne continued their mastery of Commercial Softball League opponents Thursday night as their race for the pennant goes on; but both needed last inning rallies to maintain their winning ways.

A four - run outburst in the top of the seventh gave Rollins a 6-4 come - from - behind victory over Howard and Roberts Printing while Point Anne scored one in their half of the seventh to edge Quinte Hotel 3-2.

Howard and Roberts had their own four run inning in the third to take a two run lead. Singles by Ken Genereaux and Pug Keller followed by double from Paul Zakes and Moe Hunter chased across the four runs for the Printers. Two errors and Ralph Plane's home run to the right field fence rallied the Construction men to victory in the seventh.

Scott Reid blazed a five-hitter and recorded 13 strikeouts in picking up his fourth win against one defeat.

Larry Marshall went the distance for Howard and Roberts giving up eight hits.

Pitcher Jamie Hunter of Point Anne helped his own cause with a game - winning RBI single in the top of the seventh to keep the Cementmen within one game of league - leading Rollins.

A triple by Bob Parsons chased home Dale Doral to give Quinte a 1-0 lead in the second inning. It was shortlived, however, as singles by Dennis Maher and Bruce Sickle and Jim Horwood's triple scored two runs to give Point Anne the lead. Back-to-back singles by Parsons and Harold Werkhoven tied the game setting the stage for Hunter's game winner.

Hunter was touched for five hits on the Point Anne mound. He fanned three batters and walked one. Doug Olsen had a double and single. Bruce Sickle two singles and Larry Fraser and Eric Maher one each to round out the hitting for the pointers.

Block That Ball

Short-stop Martin Lowry blocks a hard grounder with his chest in a practice before Saturday's annual peewee softball tournament. Martin and his Rollin's Shell team-mates are hoping to avenge a loss to Napanee last year as they open the eight-team tournament Saturday morning against the same Napanee team. Games will be played at the Alemite and Queen Victoria School diamonds.

Albacore Championships Sailing Along at Snail's Pace

TORONTO (CP) — The small's pace running of the World Albacore championships Thursday was cited by one of the wives whose husband appeared to be lost at sea as being "less exciting than watching grass grow."

Racing officials Thursday morning played a game of nautical chess against the unyielding weather, hoping to raise a little wind a propel he 90 racing sloops around the seven mile triangular course off Point Gibraltar.

When all tactics failed, the experts moved the starting line seven miles out into the calm waters of Lake Ontario.

Nine and a half hours later the last boat pushed its way into the harbor and there Mrs. Ed McGrath of Hamilton went to meet her sailor husband.

"I think I'll find another disgruntled wife and start my own crew," said Mrs. McGrath. "If Ed can place 86th in a fleet of 90 boats, I shouldn't be too far behind him."

The Poyuts brothers of Toronto, current leaders in the struggle for the world title, drifted to an easy victory in the first race Thursday in a boat which they bought as a Royal Canadian Yacht Club castoff.

"They're good boys," said their father who heads the publicity department of the Canadian Albacore Association.

"Harry is only 19 years old and a damn good skipper. His brother Gary, 17, doesn't need to be told what to do. He does it automatically.

"Their boat weighed a ton when they bought it," he added. "They dried it out, sanded her down, splashed on a couple of gallons of paint and came up with a winner."

David Wallerstein of Washington, D.C., president of the United States Albacore Association, took first gun in the second race Thursday to put him in third place in the over-all standings after four races.

However, the younger generation appears to be giving the elders a run for their wind, with the Poyuts out front and the Kidds from Brantford, Ont., running second.

Jamie Kidd, 17, took his 15-year-old brother Hugh as crew to a first-place finish in Wednesday's second race and scored well on the others.

Under Olympic rules each crew can drop one and count the remaining six.

McNally Has Imitator

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dave McNally and Jim Slaton have little in common.

McNally has been pitching for Baltimore Orioles for 16 seasons while Slaton wasn't even in the major leagues when this one began.

But they both had the opposition in the palms of their hands Thursday as they tossed four-hitters, McNally stopping Washington Senators 6-1 at night and Slaton carrying Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-0 win over California Angels in a day game.

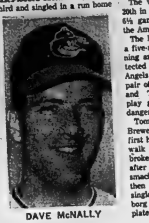
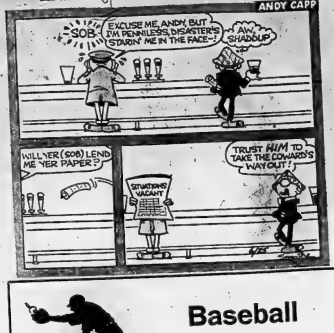
McNally's 12th triumph of the year against four setbacks put him second only to Oakland's 13-game winner Vida Blue in major-league victories.



The Baltimore left-hander got all the runs he needed in the first inning as Don Buford crashed a leadoff homer and Brooks Robinson followed walks to Boog Powell and Frank Robinson with a single for the first of his three runs batted in.

Brooks Robinson also belted a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the third and singled in a run home in the fifth, then took second on a walk and scored himself when Andy Etchebarren, grounding into a force out, kept the Senators busy on a rundown play between first-and second.



The victory was the Orioles' 20th in 25 games and kept them 6½ games ahead of Detroit in the American League East.

The Brewers staked Slaton to a five-run lead in the fourth inning and the young hurler protected with a two-hitter until the Angels opened the eighth with a pair of singles. But a force out and Tony Gonzales' doubles play grounder got him out of danger.

Tommy Harper ignited the Brewers' outburst with their first hit off Clyde Wright, 7-7. A walk and Andy Kosco's single broke the scoreless duel and, after another walk, Dave May smacked a three-run double then scored on Slaton's infield single when catcher Jeff Torborg dropped the throw to the plate.

Seaver Rarity Sinks Expos

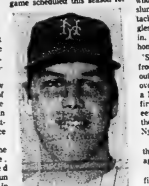
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What is so rare as a day in June?

Any weekday when the Dodgers play baseball in Los Angeles.

Or a Tom Seaver home run.



The Dodgers made the most of an infrequent matinee Thursday, trouncing St. Louis Cardinals 11-4 with a sunburst of 14 hits.

Then, in a night game, New York Mets made the most of Seaver's second major league homer—a tie-breaking shot in the eighth inning—to nip Montreal Expos 2-1 behind their ace right-hander's five-hitter.

In the only other game on the National League schedule, Philadelphia Phillies shaded Cincinnati Reds 2-1 on a two-run single by rookie Roger Freed in the 10th inning.

The Dodgers, beaten twice by the Cardinals under the lights, bounced back to take the finale of the three-game set before an afternoon crowd of 19,282.

It was the only midweek day game scheduled this season for Los Angeles, where the Dodgers played exclusively at night last year except on weekends.

TOM SEAVER

"I like it," said Jim Lefebvre, who broke out of a two-week slump to pace the Dodgers' attack with a homer and two singles, good for four runs batted in. "Now I can have dinner at home and relax."

Seaver jumped on a 1-1 pitch from Bill Stoneman with two out in the eighth and drove it over the left field fence to break a 1-1 deadlock at Montreal. The first homer of his five-year career also came at the expense of the Expos last season with Rick Nye the victim.

He struck out nine Expos on the way to his ninth victory against three setbacks.

Stoneman, 9-6, also gave up five hits before giving way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth and struck out eight, bringing his league-leading total to 134.

Kuhn Helps Clete

Braves Owe Boyer Refund

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Thursday he has ordered Atlanta Braves to return a $10,000 cheque to Clete Boyer, the National League baseball team's former third baseman.

Boyer, now with Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League, had demanded his release from the Braves after a dispute with Braves vice-president Paul Richards late last month.

Richards agreed to give Boyer his release providing Boyer paid $10,000 to cover the forfeiture of 60 days' termination pay due him at the time of his release.

Kuhn ruled the cheque be returned to Boyer because the move was a violation of the player contract. Kuhn said he took the action late last week.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Buffalo Sabres of the National Hockey League and Charlotte Checkers of the Easter League announced Thursday they have signed a working agreement for the 1971-72 season.

CLEVELAND (AP) — South African golfer Gary Player said Thursday Lee Elder, a black U.S. player, has accepted an invitation to play in the South African Professional Golfers Association championship Nov. 24-27.

Player said Elder was invited as the current leading money winner among the black players on the U.S. tour. Elder ranks 35th with $34,463.

Player said Elder's appearance will not be a first for a black athlete in South Africa. He said a large number of boxers have fought there.

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Joanne Carner and Donna Caponi, who is bidding for an unprecedented third consecutive United States Women's Open golf championship, both fired two-under par 70s Thursday to share the first-round open lead at the Kahkwa Golf Club course.

Pan-Am Trials Damp Affair

VANCOUVER (CP) — If the rain lets up, they won't have to duck the spray at Minoru Park in suburban Richmond. And a recently-installed tartan turf track will help contestants in the Pan Am Games track and field trials.

More than 200 have turned up to vie for 49 positions on the national team—for the Cali, Colombia games—including a contingent of 75 from British Columbia, 56 from Ontario and 25 from Quebec.

The Vancouver area has had record rainfalls for the months and one of the worst days of rain Thursday. Outlook for today was showery.

The big events figure to be the women's long jump, men's and women's high jump and the women's 400 metres.

Brenda Eisler of North Vancouver looked the favorite in the long jump until the Canadian pentathlon championships in Toronto last week.

Miss Eisler's distance of 20 feet, 8½ inches was the best in the country until Penny May of Victoria leaped 21 feet, 2¼ in Toronto.

And Debby Van Kleekeeft of Toronto and Joan Hendry of Montreal also pose threats.

"I don't know where they all came from," said Miss Eisler, 19, a student at the University of British Columbia. "I suppose I always knew it would be hard when it came right down to it, but I didn't plan on this.

"I'm more confident than they are over 20 feet but not over 21, and it only takes one jump."

No Indication Seen in Ottawa Constitutional Review Over

OTTAWA (CP) — Although federal officials are disappointed that Quebec did not accept the charter for a new Canadian constitution, there is no indication here that the constitutional review process is coming to an end.

"In all likelihood," said one official, "there will be more activity than ever." But this time, he added, there will be more behind-the-scenes agreements before further full-scale constitutional conferences are held.

There were many raised eyebrows in Ottawa over the national excitement, and dismay, caused by Quebec's rejection of the so-called Victoria charter. Many federal officials feel what is being called the constitutional crisis was blown out of all proportions.

"What everyone seems to forget," said an official, "is that the rejected charter didn't even exist seven days earlier. Yet, all the excitement would indicate that Quebec had just turned down the British North America Act."

Nothing has changed from two weeks ago."

The charter was developed on the last day of a three-day constitutional conference in Victoria after the heads of governments failed to reach agreement on individual constitutional changes.

Prime Minister Trudeau, and the premiers, dismissed their officials and drafted the charter on various slips of paper which were finally agreed upon after a 14-hour meeting which ended at midnight.

All government representatives agreed to take the charter home for discussion and announce their decisions by June 28. No commitments were given to the closed meeting.

Some officials said the charter was badly drafted. With more time, said one official, the entire charter could have been "much more clearly defined."

In announcing Quebec's rejection of the charter, Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa referred to the uncertainty of the section dealing with social security.

At the moment, the federal government is awaiting further explanation from Quebec regarding this uncertainty.

But some officials here feel that the need for further discussions on the alleged uncertainty could easily justify further meetings and thus keep the constitutional review process in operation. Under these circumstances, the next meeting would be a continuation of the Victoria conference.

Prime Minister Trudeau told the opening session of the Victoria meeting that unless agreement was reached on a method to amend the constitution within Canada it might be a long time before another attempt was made.

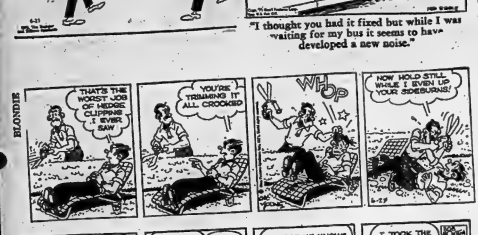
"The object now," said an official, "is to keep the Victoria conference alive."

Meanwhile, he added, "I don't think we should get too excited about the rejection of a charter which was rather hurriedly developed in one day."

Albertan Indians Want 84 Years' Back Money

CALGARY (CP) — Leaders from five Alberta Indian bands are to meet today to formulate plans for getting 84 back years of bullet money from the federal government and settling other claims.

The ammunition money was promised by Treaty No. 7 in 1877 but has never been paid, the Indians say, with the bill totalling $33,200.



The Blackfoot, Blood, Peigan, Sarcee and Stoney bands plan to present their representations to the Indian claims commissioner, Dr. Lloyd Barber.

Also to be discussed is the possibility of forming a Canada-United States arbitration commission to deal with claims by the Blackfoot tribe.

At Confederation, the Blackfoot nation was split by the international border and recent payments by the U.S. government to Blackfoot bands there have encouraged those in Alberta to seek benefits from a 1855 treaty signed with the U.S.

Four Alberta Blackfoot chiefs signed the Lame Bull Treaty in Nebraska Territory after a U.S. diplomat travelled as far north as Red Deer to negotiate with them.

Doctors Sometimes Use Teasing Terms

Often we doctors come up with terms that are teasers. They mean much to us but only confuse our patients. For example, one is "essential" hypertension. Does that mean one had to have it? No. All it means is that it is high blood pressure in which the cause is unknown.

Another example is "silent" disease. What do we mean by that? Simply that illness may be present without any of the usual symptoms that warn us of trouble.

* * *

Here is a man who comes to his doctor for a complete study. He has had no complaints, but would like an "overhaul" to make certain that he's in good shape before he leaves for a world tour.

He is more than surprised when an X-ray report reveals that he has a "silent" stone in his gallbladder. It has been there for years. Nevertheless, he has not suffered the usual symptoms of gas, flatulence, nausea, vomiting, pain between the shoulders or under the right rib cage.

So he won't be caught somewhere in the wilds of some foreign land with a sudden gallbladder attack, he undergoes surgery. The gallbladder and stone are removed, and the "silent" stone is no more.

Of course, some similar patients will say, "It's not bothering me. Why should I have an operation when I feel well?" And some doctors agree. Some feel well enough alone, they say.

But the majority of the profession believe that it's better to have a bad gallbladder out (even though there are no symptoms) than chance an emergency operation later. (A stone may become stuck in a bile duct causing severe complications that endanger life.)

* * *

As I said, there are many "silent" diseases. For example, a woman in her 60s visits her doctor because "it's time I had a checkup. I've never had one because I've never been real sick, except for a bad attack of indigestion about a year ago."

She is surprised when an electrocardiogram indicates that she has been walking around with "silent" coronary disease. (The attack of indigestion which she had was probably an unrecognized attack of coronary thrombosis.)

* * *

In like manner, tuberculosis may be silent and unsuspected. So may syphilis, hypertension, gout, cancer or diabetes and many others. If there's a moral it's this: It would be better for us if the threats of disease invariably began with pain and discomfort to warn us.

* * *

Unfortunately, too often disease is "silent" — and therefore more dangerous because it is overlooked. Periodic checkups are one way to forestall attacks against our good health.

* * *

For Mr. U.: It's not invariably true, but the following beverages can stimulate the overproduction of acid in the gastric juices: grape juices, carbonated drinks, alcohol, coffee, vinegar. As you have an ulcer, experimentation with your diet will offer the answer if I can't give. Consider coffee, for example. Some can take a dozen cups a day without complaining. Others suffer discomfort after a "teaspoonful."

* * *

For Mrs. E.: Only dry statistics will give you an estimate of medical care for over 200 million Americans: about 300,000 physicians, 90,000 dentists, 650,000 nurses and a quarter of a million office aides. The ratio is about one physician for each 680 people.

Political Tags Outdated

Suppose doctors still discussed medicine in terms of the "four humors." Suppose the theologians still argued whether "witches" should be burned or ducked?" Suppose physicists still referred to the "ether" in the atmosphere?

Every body of knowledge, every discipline, has changed its vocabulary in the last few hundred years, so that the terms they use would correspond with the new facts they embraced. The old words simply didn't apply any more, and were just getting in the way of communication.

Not so in political science. The words from the French Revolution, like "right" and "left". We continue to designate persons or positions as "radical" or "conservative," when these appelations are no longer meaningful in terms of their original context. Our political dialogue will get absolutely nowhere so long as we do this.

I was reading a lecture the other day, made by a famous economist before a law society. Here are some of the statements the speaker made:

— The majority of the people of the U.S. are (racially) predominantly white.

— Our tax reform bill ended up as a measure for the relief of lawyers and accountants, rather than of taxpayers.

— Once a law is passed, supposedly by the general interest, to set up a governmental agency, that agency is soon taken over by the special interests it is supposed to control.

— The U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission promoted the monopoly of the railroads; the Federal Communications Commission has been subject to the control of the networks; the Securities and Exchange Commission works for the brokerage industry; the Civil Aeronautics Board has kept airline tickets double what they might be.

— Banking is a monopoly.

Are these remarks "radical" or "conservative," as each word is commonly understood? I think most people would designate them as "radical" (or at least as "liberal" sentiments. Yet they were expressed by Prof. Milton Friedman, the University of Chicago economist, who is commonly regarded as belonging to the "far right," in the political and economic spectrum, and perhaps the nation's most respectable spokesman for genuine conservatism.

The words we continue to use in politics only obscure the ideas. We desperately need a new lexicon, just to agree on what we disagree about.

Lawrence Out to End 'Nonsense of Double Billing' by Doctors

TORONTO (CP) — An act to eliminate what Health Minister A. B. R. Lawrence described as the "nonsense of double billing" of patients under the medical-care program was introduced Thursday in the Ontario legislature.

The legislation, promised a week ago by Mr. Lawrence, also establishes a claims board to hear appeals from both doctors and patients for overcharging or other abuses.

It provides that doctors must notify patients a month ahead of time in writing as to whether they intend to bill the plan or the patient. But it prohibits doctors from doing both. Currently, many doctors bill the plan for 80 per cent of their fee and the patient for the extra 10 per cent, resulting in many cases of patients being charged as little as five cents for a medical service.

Mr. Lawrence told a news conference the legislation is aimed at encouraging doctors to join in a direct billing system provided through the Ontario Health Services Insurance Plan as a means of simplifying procedures.

OHSIP pays only 90 per cent of doctor bills.

The act comes into effect Sept. 1.

Mr. Lawrence told reporters most of the difficulties had come from medical secretaries who had made errors in filling out OHSIP forms.

"The plan pays out $580 million a year and, setting aside, you can't have over half a billion dollars a year being paid out without total audit powers."

Mr. Lawrence was referring to amendments in the new bill giving the OHSIP director full power to audit financial and medical accounts of doctors, a major provision in the bill.

The penalty for offences under the act is a fine of not more than $2,000.

The act gives OHSIP the option to classify for purposes of the plan special categories of doctors, such as those attached to a clinic which bills for all its doctors, or who moonlights after clinic hours.

"In other words, this type of doctor will have to fit himself into the plan," a health spokesman said.

The OHSIP director can reduce a payment he thinks might be excessive, and the doctor has the right to appeal this decision to the five-member claims board.

If the board upholds the director's action, the doctor can appeal to the courts. A patient has the same rights to appeal.

Benson Gives Tax Experts Report on Reforms

NEW YORK (CP) — Finance Minister E. J. Benson gave 500 foreign tax experts virtually a clause-by-clause report Thursday night on the tax-reform package he put before the Canadian Parliament last week.

"Most features of our present system affecting the Canadian income of United States residents will continue," he told the Waldorf-Astoria dinner.

Earlier, the Canadian minister told a press conference that tax bill, which for the first time taxes capital gains, was designed to increase the incentives for Canadians to invest in their own country, but not to discourage foreign investors.

To the taxation experts, who came from as far as California and the Bahamas, Benson pledged continued efforts to negotiate tax treaties which will equitably eliminate international double taxation—a problem which he said cannot be resolved by domestic legislation but which has "long been an area of friction and will undoubtedly continue for some time to plague taxpayers."

The dinner was one in a series sponsored by the foreign advisory board of Tax Management, a division of the Bureau of National Affairs Inc., publishers in legal, economic, patents, labor and other fields.

"I think the tax package was designed so there is no particular disincentive for investors in Canada," Benson said at the press conference.

"There are certain incentives for Canadians to invest in Canada, but they are not disincentives compared with the present tax system, except if one looks at the extractive (mining) industries.

"They won't be quite so attractive an investment because we are changing the basis of depletion. We are wiping out the three-year tab holiday, but on the other hand we are putting in some things such as faster write-offs and earned depletion.

* * *

"It will mean in the long run that successful petroleum and mining ventures will be paying tax—but their earned depletion will go on for a long time."

Benson emphasized the international confidence in Canada's political system, mentioning a series of Japanese investments in coal and iron mining.

After the tax bill is passed—( the minister mentioned October —Canada would begin work on renegotiating international tax treaties, which he said are overdue for modernization. The treaty with the U.S. now is 30 years old.

Benson said he does not foresee any major exodus of foreign capital from Canada, despite the closing of a loophole in tax rules which had allowed "about 70" individuals and companies to avoid the withholding tax.

Fire Safety Rules For Hotels Tightened

TORONTO (CP) — a bill tightening safety regulations for hotels and giving sweeping new powers to inspectors and fire marshals received first reading Thursday in the Ontario legislature.

The amendments to the Hotel Fire Safety Act, introduced by Attorney-General Allan Lawrence, provides strict controls over the construction of hotels, fire-alarm systems and even what types of drapes or displays will be permitted.

It provides for fines of up to $1,000 to hotel owners found guilty of violations. Inspectors and fire marshals are given joint authority to enter any hotel and order the owner to correct any situation they deem to be "especially liable to fire."

The amendments provide for the erection of exit signs and smoke-proof barriers in hotels made of non-combustible materials.

A hotel owner has 10 days to appeal to a county or district court judge any ruling he feels unjustified.

A judge can order a hotel closed until provisions of the act are met.

Drawings or specifications for hotel construction must be approved by the fire marshal. Controls are placed on the kinds of material to be used, appliances or devices, and "any item for sale in a hotel."

Gordie Howe, Chief Dan George Get Medals

OTTAWA (CP) — Hockey player Gordie Howe harness driver Herve Filion and Chief Dan George are among 35 persons awarded the medal of service of the Order of Canada today.

A maximum of 50 persons a year may be awarded the medal, which is for "merit of a high degree in many different areas of service to Canada or to humanity at large."

Howe, 43, a 25-year-veteran of the National Hockey League, plays for Detroit Red Wings. Filion, a 21-year-old resident of Lachute, Que., holds the world record for harness racer won in one year—486 in 1970. Chief Dan George, 72, of the Burrard Reserve in North Vancouver, B.C., has won international praise as an actor.

Government House also announced the appointment of two former provincial premiers, Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick and Stuart Garson of Manitoba, to be Companions of the Order of Canada. Nine other Companions were named.

Appointments rank above medal-holders, are limited in number to 150 at any one time.

The award is for "outstanding merit of the highest degree, especially service to Canada or to humanity at large."

Mr. Robichaud, 45, premier of New Brunswick from 1960 to 1970, now is chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission. Mr. Garson, 73, Manitoba premier from 1943 to 1948, was federal justice minister from 1948 to 1957.

Three former members of the Royal Commission on the Status of Women, which reported earlier this year, were honored. Mrs. John Bird Anne Francis of Ottawa, chairman, became a Companion of the Order of Canada. She is a free-lance journalist and broadcaster.

Suspended Guards Reinstated

KINGSTON (CP) — Two prison guards suspended without pay since May 21 in connection with charges laid after the April rebellion at Kingston penitentiary have been cleared by a board of inquiry and will return to work this week.

Dale Dupre of Napanee and Nelson Kilner of Kingston were suspended by penitentiary officials on suspicion that they had allowed prisoners under their supervision to enter cellblocks and steal items belonging other prisoners. It had been charged the thefts occurred during the period of the four-day rebellion.

A spokesman for the solicitor-general's office said the two guards "were found completely innocent by the inquiry board and were reinstated without prejudice."

He said the two men will receive retroactive pay for the period of their suspensions.

Fate of One Liberal Minister Is in Doubt in Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP) — With the fate of one cabinet minister still in doubt after the New Democratic Party's devastating upset victory in Wednesday's Saskatchewan election, Liberal Premier Ross Thatcher has announced he will hand over the reins of government next Wednesday.

The announcement was made by Mr. Thatcher in a terse statement after a cabinet meeting Thursday followed by a talk with Allan Blakeney, the 45-year-old lawyer who led the NDP uprising.

Mr. Blakeney, more subdued than after his party had swept to a shattered Liberals, said he had no plans for a new budget until next spring and he was reconsidering a statement that he would call for a summer session of the legislature.

The doubtful riding was Athabasca in the province's remote northwest corner where most communication is by radio telephone. This was held by Allan Guy, minister of municipal affairs in the Thatcher government. With only five of 31 polls left to report, Mr. Guy trailed NDP challenger Robert Dalby by 72 votes.

The NDP victory marked the province's return to the fold of socialism after a seven-year absence.

Doctors' Accounting Procedures Regulated

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario doctors have been warned they may face disciplinary action if they make deals such as reduced bills for prompt payments from patients or if they charge interest on late accounts.

The warning was announced Thursday in a supplement to the annual report of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, overseeing and disciplining body of the profession in the province.

Doctors are further warned they cannot sell their accounts to a third party, such as a finance company or a collecting agency, although they retain the right to hire collection agencies.

They cannot accept credit card payments and another new regulation for doctors stipulates that neither an individual practitioner nor a clinic can lease space to a pharmacy if the rental basis is on a percentage of the pharmacy's sales.

The college also strengthened its stand against physicians and surgeons using the news media for enhancement of their professional reputations by releasing new or allegedly-new procedures to the public press before having professional critique.

Queen's Motel Becomes Year-round Convalescent Hospital

Extended Care To Get Trial

By DONALD M. SOUTTER

A pilot project to provide extended medical care facilities in the Belleville area has been approved by the province of Ontario and will be in operation by September of this year.

Announcement of the step taken by the Honorable A. R. B. Lawrence, Ontario minister of health was made in Belleville last night at a dinner meeting of the Belleville medical association by the Hon. Richard Potter, minister without portfolio.

"Approval of this step towards a total health care program has been the culmination of my time in politics," Dr. Potter told the doctors assembled to hear his explanation of the project. "It is the first of its kind in Ontario and I, think, Canada," the MPP for Quinte said.

In relaying the outline of the project, Dr. Potter said he considered the action of the health minister another indication that the provincial health department was moving vigorously to develop the most efficient and economical method of providing health care in all stages of illness.

Key to the Belleville project is a decision by the provincial government to lease the entire Queen's Motor Hotel on Dundas Street near the Belleville General Hospital as a convalescent hospital.

Backing the move is the appointment by the province of Dr. Reginald Anderson, formerly of Belleville and now on the staff at Queen's University, as medical director of the project, which will utilize facilities now available at the Belleville General Hospital, the 90-rooms at the Queen's motel and will incorporate the home care program as well as involving area nursing homes.

"What we are trying here is to see how such a program will work in a small community and to try out a new concept of utilizing private enterprise as far as possible. There is a somewhat similar project in Hamilton but it covers a larger regional planning council and uses the facilities of a number of hospitals," said Dr. Potter.

"In Belleville in leasing the accommodation we are leasing it serviced. What the program is providing is the care for the patient in a leased facility.

"The hotel will continue to be operated by the present owner, David Kerr, but on behalf of the Ontario Hospital Services Commission. The rooms will remain furnished as is and the dining room will remain. Cafeteria service for patients may be instituted if needed."

Dr. Potter said the project — which may take three years or longer to evaluate — has been undertaken to explore both the economic and medical aspects of total health care.

"One of the reasons is to try and concentrate on improving the living conditions generally for patients requiring this care and at the same time get away from the in-

Soviet Expert Still Hidden

LONDON (Reuter) — The riddle of a Soviet scientist who disappeared in Paris a month ago and turned up in Britain appeared today to be more baffling than ever.

One London newspaper, The Evening Standard, said he was a Jew, a distinguished space engineer, a member of the Soviet Space Academy and one of the most decorated of Soviet scientists in the last decade.

The Daily Telegraph said he was a leading expert on Soviet anti-ballistic missiles and that reports he was Jewish were not confirmed.

Both agreed that he was not Anatol Fedossiev, the name by which he had been known since his disappearance, that he spoke fluent English and that he was born in Leningrad in 1910, making him 61. First reports had given his age as 52.

The Daily Telegraph said the Russian wanted to stay in Britain. The Evening Standard said he was in transit to the United States.

The British government remained silent on these conflicting reports, but informed sources said:

1. So far as they knew, his real name was indeed Fedossiev.

2. He was not Jewish.

3. He had been a member of the Soviet Space Academy, though he had a "tangential" connection with it;

4. He was a prominent electronics engineer;

5. He was No. 2 in the technicians' section of the large Soviet delegation for last month's International air show at Le Bourget Airport in Paris.

Reports from Paris after Fedossiev's disappearance last month described him as a top Soviet space scientist and a vice-minister. But after it was revealed last Sunday that he was in Britain, informed sources said he was not a vice-minister and had no direct connection with the Soviet space program.

Official statements have said Fedossiev was in Britain and had been allowed to stay. The Soviet engineer was believed still at a secret hideout somewhere in the Greater London area.

Daniel Ellsberg Sought By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Prof. Daniel Ellsberg for unauthorized possession of top-secret documents and failure to return them, the justice department announced today.

The warrant was signed just before midnight Friday night by U.S. Magistrate Vennetia S. Tassapulos in Los Angeles, where a grand jury has been investigating the leak of secret Pentagon documents pertaining to U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Articles said to have been based on the documents have been published, then barred by the courts, in the Washington Post, the New York Times and the Boston Globe.

The Times and Post are due in Supreme Court today to argue their cases in a pair of justice department suits seeking to prevent further publication from the documents.

In an announcement early today, the justice department said:

"The material was described as separately bound sets of 47 and 18 volumes respectively of Xerox copies of a study of United States-Vietnam relations for the period 1945-67."

The complaint described information in the volumes as "descriptive text, cablegrams, memoranda, decision papers and other internal Executive Branch documents, all but one of which was classified 'Top Secret,' the remaining document being classified 'Confidential.'"

Ellsberg, 40, a senior research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Centre for International Studies, served as a consultant to the Rand Corp., which developed the Vietnam study for former defence secretary Robert S. McNamara.

A 1952 graduate of Harvard, he went to work as an aide to Assistant Defence Secretary John T. McNaughton Aug. 4, 1964, the date of the Gulf of Tonkin incident in Vietnam.

The next year he went to Vietnam for the state department as assistant to the deputy ambassador.

Ellsberg has told interviewers he has read the entire 7,000-page study and wrote one part of it.

The justice department announcement said Ellsberg's first wife, Carol, was one of four persons whose sworn affidavits accompanied the complaint and warrant.

She said in the deposition, the department announced, that she learned in October, 1969, that her husband made Xerox copies "of a large number of documents, some of which bore the classification 'Top Secret.'"

"After Xeroxing, he cut the classification off."

She further stated she told Ellsberg what he was doing was "a criminal act and he could go to jail for it."

"Daniel Ellsberg told me he had done nothing illegal and there was no Official Secrets Act in this country," the woman said.

Soyuz, Skylab May Join

HOUSTON (AP) — United States and Soviet space experts have completed a series of conferences which seek the start of the first serious study of possible joint American-Russian space flights.

The 19 Soviet experts met with a group of U.S. space officials for five days of discussions on a compatible docking system.

They announced Friday that a serious study was under way toward the possibility of Americans and Russians linking up in space.

In a joint statement, they said a study on how to test a common docking system "would be based on the premise that the first such experiment might be the docking of an Apollo space craft with an unmanned orbital scientific station of the Salyut type."

Topic, Dates the Same

Conferences Were A Contrast

TORONTO (CP) — Two conferences on economic and cultural nationalism concluded here Friday but the topic and the dates were about the only things the conferences had in common.

The purpose of the conference sponsored by the Ontario Conservative government was to hear a wide range of viewpoints on foreign investment in Canada while the counter conference of the Ontario New Democratic Party accepted the premise that the extent of foreign ownership is harmful.

Other differences between the three-day conferences:

Government conference:

—More than 600 persons from all walks of life invited to attend.

—Opening night of conference included dinner paid for by government which also operated a hospitality suite for delegates.

—Two luncheons for delegates were held at government's expense with a bus providing service to and from the dining room.

—Coffee was supplied at every recess.

—All delegates received conference kits.

—Sessions were closed to the public.

—Auditorium where conference held seats 500 but only about 150 delegates in attendance at any one time.

—General tone of the speeches was one of caution. There was studious deliberation and no radical solutions presented.

NDP conference:

—All sessions were open to the public.

—Party officials said expenses for the conference totalled $1,000 and were mainly for rental of the auditorium and publicity.

—A collection was taken each night and a total of $900 raised.

—Auditorium where conference held seats 550. There was an overflow crowd of 800 the first night and 400 each of the next two nights.

—There were no refreshments served.

—Those attending received a one-page program.

—Audience had a chance to question all speakers during open discussion periods each evening.

Police Brutality Charged

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Saulnier, Montreal police director, refused Friday to comment on accusations of police brutality during a wild melee at the end of the St. Jean Baptiste Day celebrations early Friday.

Mr. Saulnier said only that "decision had been made" to break up the crowd, estimated by police at 15,000, after an explosion behind the courthouse in Old Montreal and the ensuing outbreak of window-smashing and bottle-thawing. Police arrested 42 persons.

He said a news conference would be held Monday to deal with the charges of police brutality.

Francois-Albert Angers, president of the Montreal branch of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, had accused the police of brutality earlier in the day.

"Police were brutally clubbing people down as they swept Place Jacques Cartier clear of St. Jean Baptiste celebrators," he said.

"Why was it necessary to pounce down on a crowd of some 15,000 jubilant people who were doing nothing more than enjoying themselves?" he asked.

The festivities, which began in the late afternoon, had gone peacefully until the police action.

No one was hurt by the explosion, but 12 policeman and nine demonstrators were injured in the ensuing street fights.

"The hotel will continue to be operated by the present owner, David Kerr, but on behalf of the Ontario Hospital Services Commission. The rooms will remain furnished as is and the dining room will remain. Cafeteria service for patients may be instituted if needed."

Dr. Potter said the project — which may take three years or longer to evaluate — has been undertaken to explore both the economic and medical aspects of total health care.

Soviet Expert Still Hidden

LONDON (Reuter) — The riddle of a Soviet scientist who disappeared in Paris a month ago and turned up in Britain appeared today to be more baffling than ever.

One London newspaper, The Evening Standard, said he was a Jew, a distinguished space engineer, a member of the Soviet Space Academy and one of the most decorated of Soviet scientists in the last decade.

The Daily Telegraph said he was a leading expert on Soviet anti-ballistic missiles and that reports he was Jewish were not confirmed.

Both agreed that he was not Andrei Fedosseiev, the name by which he had been known since his disappearance, that he spoke fluent English and that he was born in Leningrad in 1910, making him 61. First reports had given his age as 52.

The Daily Telegraph said the Russian wanted to stay in Britain. The Evening Standard said he was in transit to the United States.

The British government remained silent on these conflicting reports, but informed sources said:

1. So far as they knew, his real name was indeed Fedosseiev.

2. He was not Jewish;

3. He had never been a member of the Soviet Space Academy, though he had a "targetted" connection with it;

4. He was a prominent electronics engineer;

5. He was No. 2 in the technicians' section of the large Soviet delegation that month's international air show at Le Bourget Airport in Paris.

Reports from Paris after Fedosseiev's disappearance last month described him as a top Soviet space scientist and a vice-minister. But after it was revealed last Sunday that he was in Britain, informed sources said he was not a vice-minister and had no direct connection with the Soviet space program.

Official statements have said Fedosseiev was in Britain and had been allowed to stay. The Soviet engineer was believed still at a secret hideout somewhere in the Greater London area.

Daniel Ellsberg Sought By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Prof. Daniel Ellsberg for unauthorized possession of top-secret documents and failure to return them, the justice department announced today.

The warrant was signed just before midnight Friday night by U.S. Magistrate Vensetia S. Tassapulos in Los Angeles, where a grand jury has been investigating the leak of secret Pentagon documents pertaining to U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Articles said to have been based on the documents have been published, then barred by the courts, in the Washington Post, the New York Times and the Boston Globe.

The Times and Post are due in Supreme Court today to argue their cases in a pair of justice department suits seeking to prevent further publication from the documents.

In an announcement early today, the justice department said:

"The material was described as separately bound sets of 47 and 18 volumes respectively of Xerox copies of a study of United States Vietnam relations for the period 1945-67."

The complaint described information in the volumes as "descriptive text, cablegrams, memoranda, decision papers and other internal Executive Branch documents, all but one of which was classified 'Top Secret,' the remaining document being classified 'Confidential.'"

Ellsberg, 40, a senior research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Centre for International Studies, served as a consultant to the Rand Corp., which developed the Vietnam study for former defence secretary Robert S. McNamara.

A 1952 graduate of Harvard, he went to work as an aide to Assistant Defence Secretary John T. McNaughton Aug. 4, 1964, the date of the Gulf of Tonkin incident in Vietnam.

The next year he went to Vietnam for the state department as assistant to the deputy ambassador.

Ellsberg has told interviewers he has read the entire 7,000-page study and wrote one part of it.

The justice department announcement said Ellsberg's first wife, Carol, was one of four persons whose sworn affidavits accompanied the complaint and warrant.

She said in the deposition, the department announced, that she learned in October, 1969, that her husband made Xerox copies "of a large number of documents, some of which bore the classification 'Top Secret.'"

"After Xeroxing, he cut the classification off."

She further stated she told Ellsberg what he was doing was "a criminal act and he could go to jail for it."

"Daniel Ellsberg told me he had done nothing illegal and there was no Official Secrets Act in this country," the woman said.

Soyuz, Skylab May Join

HOUSTON (AP) — United States and Soviet space experts have completed a series of conferences which seek the start of the first serious study of possible joint American-Russian space flights.

The 19 Soviet experts met with a group of U.S. space officials for five days of discussions on a compatible docking system.

They announced Friday that a serious study was under way toward the possibility of Americans and Russians linking up in space.

In a joint statement, they said a study on how to test a common docking system "would be based on the premise that the first such experiment might be the docking of an Apollo space craft with an unmanned orbital scientific station of the Salyut type."

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — Tricia and Ed Cox, who disappeared after their June 12 White House wedding and kept almost everyone guessing about the site of the honeymoon, have been at this secluded presidential retreat all the time. ## Police Brutality Charged

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Saulnier, Montreal police director, refused comment Friday on accusations of police brutality during a wild melee at the end of the St. Jean Baptiste Day celebrations early Friday.

Mr. Saulnier said only that "decision had been made" to break up the crowd, estimated by police at 15,000, after an explosion behind the courthouse in Old Montreal and the ensuing outbreak of window-smashing and looting-throwing. Police arrested 42 persons.

He said a news conference would be held Monday to deal with the charges of police brutality.

Francois-Albert Angers, president of the Montreal branch of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, had accused the police of brutality earlier in the day.

"Police were brutally clubbing people down as they swept Place Jacques Cartier clear of St. Jean Baptiste celebrators," he said.

"Why was it necessary to pounce down on a crowd of some 15,000 jubilant people who were doing nothing more than enjoying themselves?" he asked.

The festivities, which began in the late afternoon, had gone peacefully until the police action.

No one was hurt by the explosion, but 11 policeman and nine demonstrators were injured in the ensuing street fights.

Topic, Dates the Same

Conferences Were A Contrast

TORONTO (CP) — Two conferences on economic and cultural nationalism concluded here Friday but the topic and the dates were about the only things the conferences had in common.

The purpose of the conference sponsored by the Ontario Conservative government was to hear a wide range of viewpoints on foreign investment in Canada while the counter conference of the Ontario New Democratic Party accepted the premise that the extent of foreign ownership is harmful.

Other differences between the three-day conferences:

Government conference:

—More than 400 persons from all walks of life invited to attend.

—Opening night of conference included dinner paid for by government which also operated a hospitality suite for delegates.

—Two luncheons for delegates were held at government's expense with a bus providing service to and from the dining room.

—Coffee was supplied at every recess.

—All delegates received conference kits.

—Sessions were closed to the public.

—Auditorium where conference held seats 500 but only about 150 delegates in attendance at any one time.

—General tone of the speeches was one of caution. There was studious deliberation and no radical solutions presented.

NDP conference:

—All sessions were open to the public.

—Party officials said expenses for the conference totalled $1,800 and were mainly for rental of the auditorium and publicity.

—A collection was taken each night and a total of $900 raised.

—Auditorium where conference was an overflow crowd of 800 the first night and 400 each of the next two nights.

—There were no refreshments served.

—Those attending received a complete program.

—Audience had a chance to question all speakers during open discussion periods each evening.

City Program Needs People

By SUSAN KORAH
Staff Reporter

Children under 16 who wish to take part in a unique, creative drama workshop this summer are invited to register their names at the Pinnacle playhouse or at the recreation centre. Sponsored by the recreation - arena committee, this program called Cothurnus will be held from July 5 to Aug. 21 under the direction of Lawrence Evashen.

The program consists of three parts and will involve the participation of three categories of people.

First, a group of 25 theatre-oriented young people between the ages of 16 and 25 selected after interviewing by Lawrence Evashen will participate in the project as the key personnel. Every morning from Monday to Friday between 10 and 12 o'clock, this group of 25, who will form the backbone of the project, will receive instruction in all aspects of drama from Mr. Evashen. Some applicants have already been selected but there is room for a few more.

Each afternoon between 1 and 5 p.m. the 25 full timers will take turns to conduct the creative drama workshops for youngsters under 16 in groups of 16. This will leave the core workers with many free afternoons. The younger group can take the choice of attending the workshops for one hour, two hours or more and for a week or more up to 7 weeks. Each of those under 16 can make up his own schedule but he must let Mr. Evashen know beforehand and stick to it. The program is free for the under 16 - year - olds.

The third part of the program will be held in the evenings. This will be the rehearsals for the series of plays which will be presented at the end of summer. The program of plays will start in the last week of July. Participating in the production of these plays will be the 25 full timers, some of the under 16 group and any other volunteers who wish to contribute in any capacity. The rehearsals will be roughly between 7 and 11 p.m. This will be of interest to those who work during the day to participate in this project.

The presentation of the plays will begin on July 28. The first show will be a children's show and will be an open air presentation. It will tour Zwick's Island, East Hill and Parkdale park. The play called "The Curse of the Shadow Mountain Ogre" was written by a local writer, Ted Ross.

The following week, there will be a musical revue at the playhouse. The program will consist of poetry, folk and rock music and piano bar music. The playhouse manages to acquire a piano by then.

The third week there will be a presentation of three one-act plays, one by Chekov, one by another author and the last one with an original script to encourage local talent if possible. The plays will be written in a one-act play is invited to submit his script to Mr. Evashen.

The final week of the program will see the presentation of Everyman, an old morality play, at the Pinnacle playhouse.

Gas Tank Exploded by Acetylene Torch

Firemen were called to Green's Auto Wreckers on Haig Road yesterday and spent 50 minutes curbing the fire in this burning wreck. James Green, owner of the yard, told The Intelligencer one of his workers was using an acetylene torch when the gas tank burst into flames. "The tank went first, but it was pretty nearly empty." Here fireman Larry Fritz escapes from the intense heat of the burning car. There was little danger of the flames spreading to other wrecks; the vehicle was isolated to a certain extent.

Hospital Part of Pilot Project

stitutional complex associated with the more formal hospital.

"Under the extended care concept all types of care that doesn't fall into the acute category (which would continue to be offered at the BGH) will be considered by the project. This would involve convalescence, chronic care, home care and nursing homes."

In pointing out the anticipated related advantages, Dr. Pollitt claimed that the project should go a long way to alleviating some of the conditions mentioned by Dr. Peter Scott, chief of medical staff in the annual report of the BGH.

"In starting this project we will make more active hospital beds available for those who need them and before many months we anticipate that we will have available any type of accommodation required from convalescent, to chronic to active beds. In addition, this should go a long way to dispensing with hospital waiting lists."

One of the benefits the program could produce would be the forestalling or postponing of capital expenditures to provide for more expensive active treatment beds. Phase III of the BGH building program calls for just such a move after the completion of the present stage II construction.

Economically, Dr. Potter said the program "will reduce the per diem rate of providing care but should not be looked upon as a program designed to save money at this time. Rather, while the inclusion of extra services which are not available in the community at this time, it could put more people under medical care at one time until a backlog is cleared up and in doing so provide more complete and efficient services more suited to the individual needs of the patient.

Rough estimates of the cost of the convalescent aspect were set by Dr. Potter at $25 a day — "about half of the per diem rate in active treatment hospital. In addition this figure includes the lease arrangement with the hotel and all other costs.

"If we take out the cost of the facilities it reduces the per diem rate per patient to about $15 a day and when we realize we do not require the tremendous capital expenses for additional active treatment beds this becomes quite a saving."

Dr. Potter made it clear that the program in no way interferes with the doctor's care of his patient. "It is strictly an effort to provide the type of facility as prescribed by the patient's doctor when it is needed.

"The function and responsibility of the medical director will be to work closely with the doctor to ensure that the required beds are available when needed and at the same time to receive from the doctors, advice and recommendations which may be tried out to assist in determining what can be done to improve the program.

This flexibility in the program was pointed up as one of its prime assets.

"Now that the facilities are available we hope that those patients who do not require the concentrated treatment of the active hospital will get this care in the convalescent hospital. Those who require home care will get it there and those who require nursing home care will get it there.

"The chronically ill patient — in this instance the patient who is ambulatory — will be able to receive care at the new facility and still be able to get outside and relax in a pleasant environment. Those who require more continuous care will be housed in what is now described as the extended care wing of the BGH."

Post Office Developer Running Into Land Snag

TRENTON (Staff) — The proposed post office development for Dundas Street West has run into a series of snags and its developer, David K. Linden, is giving serious consideration as to whether he should proceed with it.

Town council has received a letter from Mr. Linden, outlining problems he is facing with the project but it has not formally discussed the situation. Copies of the letter have been made and the obstacles will be dealt with Monday either at the regular council meeting or in a closed-door committee of the whole session.

One of the major complications facing the developer is acquisition of all needed properties. He has made offers to all land holders involved but has failed thus far in his attempts to come to terms with some of them.

There is considerable variance among councillors today whether they should become directly involved in the situation.

Mr. Linden will be coming to Trenton next Wednesday or Thursday to discuss his position with council.

Plans had called for the post office - mall to be the new home for Trenton's municipal offices and, by referendum last December, the town electorate voted to contribute $251,000 toward the scheme on a condominium basis.

Sunny Skies Bring Antiques To Show

MOUNTAINVIEW — Warm summer sunshine beamed on the International Antique Flyin and Airshow for the first time this morning

Rain throughout yesterday curtailed ground activities with buffs flying their old models in from points in the U.S. and Canada forced to set down at airports along the way and wait for better weather.

Clearing skies this morning sent personnel here into high gear action. By 10 a.m. 10 antiquers registered in at the hangar line and 30 more aircraft en route were in the circuit, show chairman Ron Bailey reported. Fly-in visitors will continue to arrive all day, and tomorrow if the weather holds, he said.

On Sunday, non - denominational church ceremonies from 9 to 10 a.m. will take place outside in the antique area the public has been invited. Padres from CFB Trenton will officiate.

At 3 p.m. Sunday, the grand champions' award, which goes to the owner of the antique aircraft selected as the best in the show, will be presented.

Farm Slogan Proved To Visitor

PICTON (Staff) — Desiree Snider, a 14-year-old student at Loyalist Collegiate, Kingston, yesterday realized the importance of "making hay while the sun shines." One of five teenagers visiting Prince Edward through a rural - urban exchange program Desiree recalled working in the hay fields last Thursday at the Scoharie farm of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Laundry. As she questioned the hay dust, the heat and the farm machinery, rain beat against the windows of the Laundry's farm kitchen. The hay crop had been baled just in time to miss yesterday's afternoon downpour.

Desiree, who will return home next Tuesday, is enjoying her farm vacation and observes "its friendlier here than in the city." The vivacious teen has quickly made friends with her hosts Mr. and Mrs. Ted Laundry and their children Penny 16, Linda, 19, Kathy 11, Cindy 10 and Terry, 14.

With the Laundry youngsters, Desiree has helped with the haying, gone daily for the cows and helped strawberries for freezing. An animal lover who hopes to study veterinary medicine she has spent her spare time riding the family's pony and playing with Sparky, a collie farm puppy.

Desiree explains she first learned of the rural - urban exchange program through her school's guidance office. She applied to participate and was interviewed and accepted by program co - ordinator for this district, Monica Alyea. The Grade 10 student asserts the program is a "very good idea" and provides opportunities for learning many facets about farming. Desiree is primarily impressed by what she learned while haying at the Laundry's 90 acre farm. She uses terms such as "crimper," "baler" and "stooker" with the ease of an experienced farm hand.

Although she rises at 7.30 to take the cows to pasture Desiree has contended herself with "just watching" as the herd is milked. To celebrate her arrival at the Laundry farm last Monday evening Desiree visited the County Centre in Picton with her hostess Penny, to listen to the music of Canada's own group The Stampeders. It was Desiree's first dance and she enjoyed the night immensely.

A trip to Oullet Provincial Park was Thursday's reward following a hard day's work in the hay fields. Desiree has visited the beach before with her family during the holiday season and still enjoys swimming there.

"Things don't seem quite so rushed here", reflects Desiree as she compares country living with life in a city. There is a chance to go trail riding there occasionally during the summer but it isn't quite the same as discovering a barn complete with pony right in your own backyard.

PROCLAMATION
"CANADA WEEK"

Canada is the homeland of all Canadians, nourished by its two cultures, enriched by still other races of men, drawing its strength from its people, building together a nation that will be a reflection of its high ideals.

Canada is a vast land where 22,300,000 Canadians live in liberty, proudly, with respect for the individual and his fundamental rights.

Canada is a land of peace and prosperity with a future few other counties can equal.

Canada is a colorful and picturesque country whose complexion changes with every season which is never the same, yet never so different.

This land, Canada, is mine. A land I love and whose name I am proud to bear as a Canadian. And I hereby proclaim this week of June 27th until July 4th, 1971 as CANADA WEEK.

Furthermore, I invite all my fellow citizens to celebrate this week together — to better acquaint themselves with our country — to value our national symbol: our flag — and to proudly bear the name: Canadian, the name this is rightfully ours.

A Move to the Left

Malcolm Lowry in his last novel, October Ferry to Gabriola, opened one chapter with the words Saskatchewan . . . Saskatchewan . . . Saskatchewan as a description of the vast prairie scene viewed from a railcar.

Could the same play be made with the word socialism in terms of the provincial election upset? The NDP are back in power in Saskatchewan with a vengeance, having toppled the Liberal government of Premier Ross Thatcher.

Now it is the NDP in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Social Credit in Alberta and British Columbia. Of course, to what extent Social Credit theories are put into practice in the latter provinces is a moot point, for sometimes those administrations are almost indistinguisable from Conservative-style governments.

English engineer C. H. Douglas first conceived Social Credit as the theory that the profits of industry are not true earnings and should be returned to the community as a whole, together with all interest, in the form of dividends to consumers.

But to return to Saskatchewan, is this a sign of the times, a leftist turn which may reflect even in the next Ontario election not far distant? We shall see.

Still Suspect

Tweed reeve Barbara Allen may have a point when she says people are over-reacting to the renewed possibility of a rock festival being held in Madoc township in August.

Still, there is understandable concern as to the ramifications and consequences of such an event. It is idle to pretend as the Reeve does, that a rock festival with all its potential for drug abuse and, for want of more delicate phrasing, sleeping around, is no different than say the three - day air show at Mountain View this weekend.

There are among rock festival devotees a sufficient number of young people who view drugs and illicit sex as the norm and who for that reason make this type of entertainment suspect. And not to mention the fact that such festivities are alien to the way of life of many rural citizens.

At the same time, and we have said this before, it is a pity facilities for such an event, of proper size and affording easy control by police, whether outdoors or indoors, cannot be provided. But the whole trouble is that the reputation of Woodstock and other festivals still hangs over the rock festival thing. Hence the opposition the Madoc organizers are encountering at this time.

Sport Makes Headway

Archery and tennis. These are only two of the sports gaining in popularity in Belleville. The courts at Zwick's Island are in use from early morning and it is clear that young people are taking up the game with an interest and verve unknown a few years ago.

Archery too is part of a summer program in the schools and both sports have the added benefit of qualified instructors. Indeed, a whole range of sport is available, at the Recreation - Arena Committee's advertised program shows.

The program is a credit to the committee and to all those participating in it. It has taken time, but there is a very definite trend among young people in favor of sport in Belleville. We hope it will be maintained.

Beau Geste

The city of Welland on the Niagara peninsula has a population of 45,000 of whom 10,000 are French - Canadian. It was a nice gesture then when the city recently named a street - Laporte boulevard. On hand for the ceremony was the late Quebec Minister Pierre Laporte's daughter, Claire, and it was the occasion also for welcoming 60 residents of Sorel, Quebec, in a renewal of contacts between the two cities. In the wider sense it is the kind of meeting between citizens of our two founding peoples which helps keep this country together, and which should be fostered in like fashion by other communities.

Initiative

We admire initiative of the young people behind the day care centre and summer school which has been established in a trailer at Mobile Village, Bayside. Helped along by a federal government grant this enterprise will provide satisfying activity for the teenage supervisors as well as a stimulating and creative program for the little people.

Transport Department's Plush Move

Is Ottawa Still Living Grandly Beyond Its Means?

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The economy is not exactly in high gear, unemployment is up, and so are national welfare costs, and the official word from the Government for all of us is still "restraint."

Remember how R has been for the last year or so.

With everyone from Prime Minister Trudeau through Finance Minister Benson, Consumer Affairs Minister Ran Basford to Prices and Incomes Commission Chairman Dr. John Young urging the nation to take it easy on spending?

While preaching, the Government, with becoming piety, pointed out that in the virtues of "restraint," it was leading the way in practising the arts of economy.

So far so good, that is, if you buy everything the Government says.

And then what happens just the other day?

Out comes the information — official, filed with the House of Commons by Privy Council President Allan MacEachen—that the Transport Department is moving into new headquarters offices here in the National Capital which will cost $26,564,727 in rental over the next 10 years.

The rent in soaring Tower "C" at Ottawa's sky - scraping Place de Ville — three high-rise office structures two hotels, a pair of "podium" buildings, as they are called, all with underground parking, theatres, boutiques and the lot — runs an annual $2,656,472.70.

The lease is for 10 years with a five-year option.

But that is not all.

Additionally, there is $1,000,000 being spent to furnish these offices.

The Department of Transport is an empire in itself with 20,111 on the payroll and a budget currently totalling $331,200,000.

Four years ago, it cost $308,000,000.

But then there was no Canadian Transport Commission.

And there is now — a kingdom created by and as it has turned out for CTC Chairman Jack Pickersgill when, conveniently, he was Transport Minister and it currently costs $118,200,000 and takes a staff of 605 to operate.

So Transport, the Department plus the Commission, costs a grand $447,500,000 a year.

But only the Department is involved in the $26,564,727 move to the new offices, plus, of course that extra $1,000,000 for furniture. The Commission is in a neighboring tower.

And how do you know that all this is true, and supposedly fitting into the approved framework of federal Governzne nt restraint?"

Because Privy Council President MacEachen says it is.

And since it is his Government involved, he would scarcely exaggerate the costs, would he?

He filed his report in the Commons — he had no choice but to comply — in response to an Order of the House that series of questions, asked by Maritime Conservative MP Robert Coates about Transport's moving expenses, be answered.

Where was the Department going, into how much space in which office building, at what cost, why; and was Transport taking along its office furniture, or re-equipping. Mr. Coates had asked.

A good Opposition MP never asks a question unless he knows the answer — and Bob Coates, being an excellent Member well knew many millions of dollars were involved, but the figure is not as easy to come by as in Ottawa, and insisting on the departmental listing with $ all the old furniture that was still "reasonably serviceable."

The idea," says Don Jamieson, "is maximum efficiency with minimum cost. And when we cannot have the staff sitting on biscuit boxes, they will not be in any luxury suites. A million for furniture sounds pretty fancy, but you have to remember, we are running an operation requiring a staff of nearly 21,000, with a $331,200,000 budget, not exactly a peanut stand, eh?"

But still, he allows, betraying a trace of concern, $26,500,000 in rent and $1,000,000 for furniture is not peanuts, either

Nor is it.

$1.75 Is 'Package Deal'

A 'Y' Swim Still Costs 50c

Editor,

The Intelligencer.

As a participant in YMCA affairs for the past four years, and a frequent critic of some aspects of its operation, may I be permitted to correct a very misleading statement by Mr. John McLauchlan Jr.

It costs 50 cents for non members to swim and not a penny more. What your correspondent is referring to is a "package deal". For $1.75 he could have taken part in any activity the adult members were partaking in at the time of his visit. This could have included Judo, volleyball, fitness classes, swimming, the use of the sauna bath or any other of the many activities that do go on there. I understand this was the case when this young man was there, with the exception that there was no swimming scheduled for June 5.

Membership for young men is $36 per annum, or 75 cents a week. For this sum, under the present programming he could swim as much as 13½ hours every week, plus participation in any of the membership programs. Even the "Y's" severest critic would have to allow that this is as good a buy as anyone can get anywhere. So let's be fair and give the facts as they are.

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 26, 1971

Governor John P. Altgeld pardoned three suspected anarchists 78 years ago today — in 1893 — who had been imprisoned seven years before, following a bomb-throwing incident in which seven policemen in Chicago were killed. Altgeld did so because he was convinced their trial had been rigged and their jury packed, and wrote an 18,000-word brief explaining why. However popular feeling against the radicals was against his decision and the pardon ruined his political career.

1945 — The UN charter was signed in San Francisco.

1941 — Ottawa announced formation of the CWAC.

1854 — The Russian manifesto to Turkey was delivered.

1721 — The first small-pox vaccination in America was performed.

1604 — The French founded Acadia colony.

An End to Junk Yards

Regional Centres For Disposal of Automobiles Are Planned by Quebec

Montreal Gazette

There are few more ugly examples of man and his waste than the automobile graveyards along our highways. With its decision that this blight on the landscape must be removed, the Quebec government is showing both good taste and good sense. Visitors to La Belle Province have for years been pointing out that these junkheaps of rusting metal do nothing to enhance Quebec's reputation as a scenic tourist area. Some idea of the degree of this particular type of pollution comes with the realization that today there are more than 5,000 such graveyards across the province.

The roads department has gone a step beyond simply ordering a clean-up. Automobiles obviously cannot be discarded with the household garbage. The plan is to establish half a dozen government - controlled transforestation centres and have a crown corporation such as SIDBEC examine whatever can be saved from abandoned cars and put to some other use.

Legislation must also be introduced to provide wider judicial powers for government inspectors. At present, this is limited to areas lying alongside highways maintained by the roads department. Under the terms of a law passed in 1965, a 10 - year moratorium was granted to allow owners of car graveyards situated at less than 500 feet from the roadway to move them. The law stipulates that those located at more than 500 feet away need also be surrounded by a fence not lower than eight feet.

The new plan to create five or six regional centres for disposal, however, is more imaginative than simply hiding the problem from view while it is perpetuated.

Questionable is the government's parallel intention of obliging the purchasers of a new automobile to pay a deposit of $150 as some sort of guarantee that he will actually see that his vehicle is finally taken to one of these centres and not simply discarded. With annual insurance and licensing costs, to say nothing of sales and hidden taxes, the car owner pays government more than enough for the privilege of making his purchase.

It would be unfair to ask the vast majority of owners to pay for the sins of others and to have to wait perhaps seven or 10 years for a refund of this money when a vehicle is finally discarded. The deposit scheme would undoubtedly make large amounts of liquid cash available to government; but this is hardly the purpose of the plan. Enforcement of legislation making it an offence to abandon any vehicle in a public place should be adequate.

A Judge Opts For Freedom of Speech

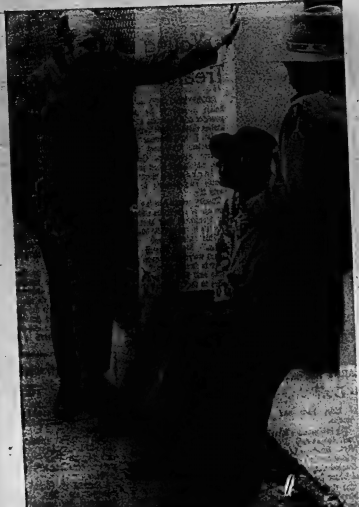
Windsor Star

From the revelations of mistaken and dishonest leadership made public in the United States last week has come one event to prove that all is not lost.



The one great feature of the case lies in the words of Judge Murray L. Gurfein of the U.S. Court of Appeals of New York, in his ruling against a request to bar the publication of material used by the U.S. government to be a threat to national security.

Here are Judge Gurfein's words:

"The security of the nation is not at the Tamparis alone. Security also lies in the value of our free institutions. A contankerous press, an obstinate press, a ubiquitous press, must be suffered by those in authority in order to preserve the even greater values of freedom of expression and the right of the people to know . . ."

They are not the words of a politician making a Fourth of July speech. They are the words of a judge making a decision in a case which brought the government of the United States, with all its power, to challenge the right of a newspaper to print facts.

There will still be appeals, and the newspapers concerned are very properly awaiting the final appeal. But they have won their case in the eyes of public opinion, and many of the idealistic hopes and actions of the U.S. in the past have been vindicated.

Church of The Streets

Brian Ferguson, 31-year-old ex-convict, is called upon to do many things not expected of the average clergyman: give Bible studies to Yippies, council runaways and their parents, investigate alleged cases of police brutality and help drug users on bad trips. Services are held in youth centres, parks or wherever space is available. Mr. Ferguson, ordained in the Calvary Grace Christian Church, talks with youth at an Edmonton teen centre.

Faith Heals Crippled Priest

TORONTO (CP) — A former Anglican priest who had to quit the active ministry when he became crippled with osteoarthritis says he now is making a recovery, thanks to the Christian ministry of healing.

Rev. Walter Johnson, 52, who now is living in Port Sydney, Ont., said in an interview that he gives the medical profession its due, but attributes most of his healing to the spiritual approach.

Mr. Johnson, one of 300 registrants, was here for the third all-Candian conference on the church's ministry of the Order of Saint Luke the Physician.

Mr. Johnson was only 41 years old when he was stricken with the crippling disease. From the deanery of Scarborough he moved to Caledon East, a rural area. But his condition became worse and he was finally taken to Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto.

He spent four months in hospital and was confined to a wheel chair. The church, after reviewing the case, made it possible for Mr. Johnson to retire in 1965.

An attack of fibrositis that year aggravated Mr. Johnson's health problems, giving the symptoms of a heart attack.

For three more years his health continued to get worse and once again he was taken to hospital in Toronto. Doctors told him only to lose weight.

In desperation he called Rev. Lloyd Hoover, a friend, who was active in the church's ministry of the laying on of hands.

His wife drove him to Mr Hoover's church in Sundridge, Ont., despite Mr. Johnson's opinion that he was not well enough to make the 65-mile trip from his home in Port Sydney.

After receiving the laying on of hands, Mr. Johnson said he enjoyed his first full night's sleep in years without resorting to aspirin or other drugs.

"The miraculous thing: It began a whole chain of events which led me to the Order of St. Luke and coming to Toronto for the first Canadian conference on healing conducted by Dr. Alfred Price, the former warden of the OSL, held in 1965."

Mr. Johnson recalled that he was feeling very ill when he arrived at the church. His attitude when he went to the altar with other people was: "Lord, you've got to heal me. Do something for me. Other people have been healed. Why can't You do something for me"

But nothing happened. On the third night he took a different approach and said: "Lord, I'm in Your hands. I'm going to leave it right there.

"Then suddenly something very strange happened to me. . . . It was as though something was flowing through me."

The sensation was as though he were in a trance, but he recalled "terrific pain" in his shoulders. "My mind went numb . . . They carried me out and laid me on the couch."

From that time, he said, he has been making progress. And he has become active in the Order of St. Luke and interested in the church's healing ministry.

"As a parish priest, I feel this has been one of the ministries which has been neglected in the church—and I'm one of those who caused its neglect."

As a minister he always inspired to inquiring parishioners that the laying on of hands ceremony was sort of a "crackpot" rite.

Now enjoying life and thinking he will be well enough to return to work as a parish priest one day, Mr. Johnson said: "The Lord has me on His welfare."

Pope Asked To End Ban On Luther

WORMS, West Germany (Reuter) — Pope Paul has been asked to rehabilitate Martin Luther—450 years after the leader of the Protestant Reformation was banished from the Roman Catholic Church.

The appeal came from Roman Catholics in this historic city where Luther's refusal to retract criticisms of the church led to a split in Christendom.

The Worms Catholics sent a nine-page letter to the Pope, arguing that the ban on Luther still has far-reaching implications and causes much heartache.

A prominent theologian said one example was that many Roman Catholics cannot feel in harmony with their church if married to Lutheran Protestants. For their part, Lutherans feel discriminated against as an entire faith.

Worms was the scene of an Imperial assembly of the Holy Roman Empire (the Diet of Worms) in April, 1521, where Emperor Charles V—fearing that temporal division might follow the religious one—hardened the church's condemnation of Luther into a ban that allowed anyone to kill him.

Four years earlier Luther, a monk, had nailed his theses to a church door in Wittenburg, criticizing the organized church for such practices as selling indulgences to forgive sins.He formulated what many others had felt, and his reformation fell on fertile ground.

Not only did Luther find patrons to protect him. The issues he raised led later to one of the greatest upheavals of the 17th century—the Thirty Years War from 1618 to 1648.

A Roman Catholic bishop told a joint congregation in the Reformation Memorial (Lutheran) Church at one of the recent ecumenical services: "Reform of the church was necessary. Not to have carried it out would have been a blasphemthy omission."

FRIENDSHIP CIRCLE

DEMORESTVILLE — On Tuesday the Friendship Circle treated its members and friends to a surprise bus trip. The party ended up in Peterborough after much speculation. They visited the Zoo park with its variety of animals, drove around Trent University and spent an hour shopping. Supper was at Port Hope. They arrived home declaring it was a day well spent and that they would like to do it again.

Young Age Group Treated for Alcoholism

EDMONTON (CP) — Alcoholics appear to be getting younger and younger, and this makes Joan Howell happy.

Mrs. Howell is supervisor of out-patient treatment at the Alberta Alcoholism Commission, which has been treating an increased number of youths and persons in their early 30s.

Twenty years ago the average age of alcoholics undergoing treatment was about 45; now it's in the middle 30s.

"This makes me really happy," Mrs. Howell said. "What we're doing even more today is saving lives."

She said that although alcoholics in their 50s and 60s can be rehabilitated successfully, just like younger persons, it's almost impossible to get them new jobs in industry which generally doesn't like to hire older people, no matter how stable they are.

Older alcoholics may have squandered much of their lives on liquor but a young alcoholic has his life ahead of him and can be helped more readily "because he has so much more to live for."

"So if we can't reach a person before they have really hurt themselves physically and vocationally and family-wise, we've made a real saving."

Mrs. Howell said she is not sure why the average age of alcoholics is getting younger. Alcoholics may be merely recognizing their problem and seeking treatment at a younger age, or there now may be a higher proportion of younger alcoholics than there was 20 years ago.

The commission, which operates on a $1.2 million budget from the Alberta government, works in Edmonton, Calgary and Red Deer and is now opening a new branch in Lethbridge.

It provides medical treatment, therapy and counselling to alcoholics and to some people with drug problems. Much of the drug treatment work comes through community-operated information centres in Calgary and Edmonton. The commission has been providing $10,000 to both, with another $10,000 each coming directly from the provincial government.

Most alcoholics are treated as out-patients and undergo treatment in an air-conditioned mansion overlooking the North Saskatchewan River in Edmonton that was owned by the government before the commission started in 1962.

A total of 883 persons were treated there in March, compared with 394 in March, 1970.

"We don't think this is very bad," Mrs. Howell said.

She added, however, that the stereotype of the alcoholic as the skid road derelict has had a bad effect on people's attitudes.

"They see that as alcoholism, not as the functioning businessman. But although we should treat the derelict too, the businessman is the person we most want to get to—because once you've lost everything, it's very hard to invest you."

Club Activities

SENIOR CITIZENS CLUB

MR. AND MRS. LARRY RUPERT

Rupert – Duff

Westminster United Church was the scene of the June 5 wedding when Linda Ann Duff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Duff exchanged vows with Larry Donald Rupert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Rupert. Rev. John Bovver was the officiating clergyman while Miss Linda Johnson at the organ provided music for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Elizabethan style gown of nylon organza over silk bengaline. Venetian lace flowers and leaves were embossed on the bodice, front of the dress and short puff sleeves. Venetian lace also adorned the stand up collar, sleeves, empire waistline and the attached train. Pink satin ribbon further enhanced the neck, cuffs, waist, front and back of the gown as well as the bottom of the train. Her headpiece consisting of three satin roses edged with matching pink ribbon and white satin leaves held in place a four nylon illusion veil. A message of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations completed the bridal ensemble.

The maid of honor Miss Carol Lane was dressed in blue georgette over taffeta. The dress featured long sleeves and a trimming of lace which a matching cascade of flowers adorned her hair. She carried a nosegay of blue, pink and white mums.

The bridesmaids Miss Susan Duff, the bride's sister and Miss Bonnie Rupert, the bridegroom's sister were dressed similarly to the maid of honor but in pink.

The flower girl Miss Tracy Marshall wore a dress of powder blue sheer crepe over taffeta with a trimming of pink and white chinies. She carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations.

The best man was Barry Marshall while the ushers were Robert Jubry and Dennis Bruyea.

The reception was held at the Orange Lodge Hall. Wedding Guests were greeted by the bride's mother who was in a dress and coat ensemble of blue with beige accessories and a corsage of beige lilies.

Assisting her was the bridegroom's mother whose dress and coat ensemble of turquoise lace was set off by white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

The newly married couple left on a wedding trip to the United States. The bride's going away outfit was a hot pant suit with multi-colored trim, while leather accessories and a corsage of red roses. Upon return they will live in RR 3, Belleville.

A-Camping We Will Go!

Girl Guide Companies 8 and 12 held their special outdoor ceremonies recently to conclude the year's activities and to honor one of last year's winner and three gold cord Guides. In preparation for summer camping Mary Pope, gold cord winner, packs frying pan into knapsack of fellow Guide and gold cord winner Patti Flanagan both of St. Michael's Company 8. Gold cord winner Holly Fraser and all round cord award winner Shirley Buchanan (right) of Company 12, Harry J. Clarke, assist.

Special Ceremonies Conclude Girl Guide Year's Activities

Two Guide Companies concluded their season's activities with special outdoor sessions and at the same time honoring three gold cord winners as well as one all round cord winner.

Company 8 Girl Guides held their closing ceremonies by having a weiner roast at the campfire site at Riverside Park.

The highlight of the day was when Patti Flanagan and Mary Pope received their gold cords.

A mock trial was held with Lieut. Mary Flunder as judge presiding. Patti and Mary were defended by their lawyers Susanne Peoples and Susanne Couture. Captain Arlene Campbell was the prosecuting attorney and read the charges against these girls. Witnesses were called to the stand and questioned.

Finally Patti was called to the stand and read a signed confession regarding her experiences at the Camper weekend. Mary read her confession "The True Confessions of a Girl Guide."

Badges and requirements were listed for the Gold Cord to show the other girls the work involved in meeting the requirements for this coveted award.

After the fun of the event was over Captain Campbell presented Patti with her camper's and camp leader badge. Mary received her camper and conservation badge and a formal presentation of their Gold Cords was held. Kim Lloyd presented Patti and Mary with their Guide rings as a gift from the Company.

Girl Guide Company 12 also had special closing ceremonies when they met for an outdoor program. This too was highlighted with the presentation of a gold cord award presented to Holly Frazer and an all round cord to Shirley Buchanan.

The award winners were honored by the Guides with whom they will be camping this summer and a tie pin holding test pegs was formed while Holly and Shirley walked the "red" carpet.

THE SECRET RELATIONSHIP

"How do you know that the planet Mars isn't carried around by an angel?" — J. B. S. Haldane.

* *

When asked which were among the most important books that can be published the librarian answered:

"Children's books."

"Just why?"

"Because among many, one problem of education is: we wish to learn but do not like being taught. We like to feel we are educating ourselves — and literature enables us to do so — an enduring joy.

"How can this be?"

"Are some books more lasting than others?"

"Of course. The classics, written with depth and wisdom they educate - but artlessly. The children read them with hospitality - as books should be. Young meeting old, innocence meeting wisdom, with lasting impressions. Said one 10-year old lad, after reading the myth of Icarus, 'The Greeks thought up this good fable to help me.' Such books carry wonderful messages from generation to generation."

The librarian paused, then asked: "By the way, do you know of a simple fairy story, you read as a child, which is now a classic?"

"Now that you ask - no. What is it?"

"None other than Lyman Frank Baum's" "The Wizard of Oz".

"But why?"

"The children have said it it. Since first published in 1900 by George M. Hill, it has outsold all juvenile books. What is more - if you happen to have a copy with a Hill imprint, you may be richer by a thousand dollars."

"This is amazing."

"Yes, the book has never been out of print and has been translated into every language including Chinese, Japanese, Polish, Persian, Bengali, Yugoslavian, Turkish, Armenian and Letish.

"There is even an International Wizard of Oz Club." It was founded in 1957, at New York. There were 20 members when they are around 400. All kinds of questions arise and are discussed. Indeed the club has fine colored issues of Oz - which one day may be more lasting than Kansas, and this author one English literature student, by name, Michael Hearn, is writing scholarly footnotes for a volume, "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz" to be published in a well-known series of annotated classics.

"Thus, you see, because none can prepare children for -any specific experience they will have, there is a kind of reading which enables him to find his heart and courage to meet such experiences. These books 'unsettle and stabilize' as children's books (in fact all good books) should. Was it not, after all, J.B.S. Haldane, the scientist who asked: How do you know that the planet Mars isn't carried around by an angel?"

Some Things That May Surprise You About the Church of Christ

1. It may come as a surprise to you that every one in the assembly is invited to participate in the worship in song. No choirs, special groups or solos are featured. All music is a cappella (as the New Testament church was in apostolic days Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16). Contrary to what you may have heard, there is singing in good singing, soul-stirring and uplifting.

2. The size of the regular weekly contribution may surprise you. This is done without any demands in the form of "dues" or "assessments." Free-will giving on the basis of other New Testament principles is impressed as the plan of scriptural giving. No pie-suppers, raffles, cake walks or the like supplement the members' giving (1 Cor. 16:1-2; 2 Cor. 9:6-7). We do not beg from those outside the Lord's own family. All contributions of the Lord's Will's people are freely given.

3. No hyper-emotional appeal is made. You will not be urged to act or move in response to the invitation of the Lord until you have sufficient knowledge of the truth to serve as a basis for your faith (Jno. 20:30,31; Act 16:32).

4. You may stay be surprised at the high percentage of Christians who attend every assembly of the church and who do it because they want to. It does not have to be because they recognize this is a vital means to their spiritual growth and development (Acts 2:42; Heb. 10:25).

5. You may be surprised to learn that we have no ready-made prayer-book, no church-authorized discipline or creed, no ritualistic worship (2 Tim. 4:1-4; 2 Tim. 3: 16-17).

6. The manner in which services are conducted may come as somewhat of a surprise to you. You will hear no shouting, screaming of unintelligible utterances, or deliberated emotions. No one will fall away in a faint, roll on the floor, froth at the mouth, or walk on the backs of others in aisles. No one will act in an unscriptural manner in violation of Paul that all things should "be done decently and in order" (1 Cor. 14:40) in sincerity observed.

7. That the service is not conducted by a man claiming to be a priest or special priesthood may come as a surprise to you. But since the Lord is our High Priest and all Christians are considered a special priesthood and can themselves approach God and offer their prayers and sacrifices, it should be evident that no specially ordained priesthood is now necessary (1 Pet. 2:5, 9; Heb. 4: 14-16).

8. With reference to all denominations having an earthly headquarters, it may be a bit difficult, at first, for you to accept the fact that the church of Christ has neither earthly headquarters nor an earthly head. Christ alone is head of His body-church (Col. 1:18; Eph. 1:22,23) and the church's headquarters is in heaven where Christ now sits and rules in supreme authority (Phil. 3:20-21).

9. Contrary to what you may have heard, it may surprise you to learn that the church of Christ is not intent on sending everybody to Hell, but invites all to come to our Lord in obedient faith, in faithful service and worship and in godly living, that they may enjoy His grace (Tit. 2:11,12).

10. It may surprise you to learn that the Lord's church is neither Catholic nor Protestant. It is neither sectarian nor denominational. The Lord's church in the beginning was quite obviously none of these. If we are correct in our claim that we follow His Word alone (admitting that not all churches calling themselves "churches of Christ" can honestly make this claim) and in every way seek to be alone, New Testament Christians, then the church is the same as it was 1900 years ago. Being the same in leadership, doctrine, and practice, it must be found the same in membership, doctrine and spirit (Act 20:28; Matt. the same body the Lord purchased at Calvary (Act 20:28; Matt. 16:18) and therefore auto-dates both Catholicism and modern protestant denominationalism.

We very much desire unity, even as the Lord prayed (Jno. 17:20,21), but we believe that unity is to be found only in Christ, both Catholicism and denominational-sectarianism stand as obstacles to this unity. We must stand upon the Word of our Lord alone, respecting His authority, and speaking only as He directs us. (Matt. 28:18; I Pet. 4:11) If we would "all be one" in Christ as He so fervently prayed.

YOUR ANTIQUES
by Jack Jamieson

Cameo One of Earliest Forms of Jewellery

(Picture Credit: Wedgwood)

A cameo is defined as a gem or shell carved in relief. Most cameos are of two colors, usually with the figure in one and the background in another. The value of cameos is often determined by artistic merit and the virtuosity of the artist who made it. Th os e which use the natural translucence of the gem or shell to enhance the three-dimensional quality of the design are considered the best.

Cameos have been known since antiquity and are among the earliest forms of jewellery. The Greeks and Romans developed cameos to a high art and the majority of modern pieces are copied from them.

In the 18th century there was a revival of archeological research and renewed interest in cameos. The Portland vase is an outstanding example of cameo technique. It ' inspired Wedgwood to make cameos and with him a host of imitators.

The pieces illustrated are mounted in cut steel made about 1790. In addition to jewellery, Wedgwood advertised cameos as plaques for furniture, drawer pulls, knife handles, scent bottles, applied decoration on chandeliers, buttons, lockets, bracelets an d rings.

In the period that these were made Wedgwood had a choice of almost 1800 designs under the headings of: Egyptian History; Sacrifices; Philosophers, Poets and Orators; Kings of Macedonia; Fabulous Age of The Greeks; The War of Troy; Roman History; Masks, Chymeras; Illustrious Men; and a miscellany grouped as Appendix.

In addition to cameos, Wedgwood made intaglios, in which the design is cut into the gem or shell. Intaglios were often used as seals with a personal crest and were mounted in rings, or with handles as seals. Many ended as watch fobs. They were also used as jewellery and although Wedgwood advertised about 400 stock designs, they were mainly made to order to individual designs. Wedgwood was prepared to make cameos from a wax model for three guineas and intaglio copies for five shillings apiece.

He endeavored to sell intaglios and cameos in quantity, were disappointed by the public's friends and relatives.

Almost every material that could be carved or take a polish was used to make cameos. Glass, marble, onyx, lapis, jasper, agate, lapis, lazuli, ivory, bone, lava, shell, porphyry, jade and coral were all used.

The fashion for cameos returned at intervals in the 19th century. It is still possible to buy Greek and Roman cameos dug up and remounted in the 18th century. Wedgwood cameos are still being made in large quantities in France and Italy.

Value depends on mounting, material used and the quality of the work. Cameos should be examined with a magnifying glass because depth and clarity of detail are important and determine price. Cheap imitations with blurred detail are worthless. The best place to look for cameos is at household auctions where older, more valuable cameos are likely to turn up.

Tension Disturbs Child's Training Habits

By DORIS CLARE

Dear Doris: My seven-year-old daughter is a bed-wetter. She developed this habit just before she started school. I had her toilet trained at the age of 18 months and by the time she was two years old she stayed dry at night as well. Then when she was 5½ years old she started wetting the bed.

Have you any suggestions as to how I can help her overcome this habit? What caused her to start at this age and when will she outgrow it? She has a happy home environment, gets high marks at school and gets along very well with other children. I just can't understand it! - Worried

Dear Worried: This is not something you diagnose at long distance. Too many questions occur to me: (1) Has she brothers or sisters she competes with? (2) What happened at age 5½? A new baby, or an illness, or the beginning of school? (3) Have you ruled out a physical defect as infection?

There are tensions we may not dream of in a little girl's first taste of regulated school life, with its social and mental demands and her new, unsuspected treatment in other circumstances.

I'm sending you my 10 cent leaflet, "Bed-Wetting Dilemma", which may have a helpful idea or two in it for you.

* * *

Dear Doris: For four years this guy I go out with was thoughtful and never missed a birthday. Sometimes he bought expensive gifts and put himself out and I told him I didn't think he should.

This year he never even bought me a card and it's just not like him. When I told him he said I behaved like a child.

He doesn't want to take me out any more. I have four kids and am not working. I'm separated and feel cooped up a lot. It is as if he was selfconscious of being seen with me. — Cooped Up

Dear Cooped Up: Separation is not divorce. Busy-bodies may have clued him in on what people are thinking, when he takes a married woman.

What future is there in it for you? If your religion won't permit divorce, I'd suggest clearing the air with him on the whole matter. If he is ashamed of you, or taking you for granted, it is time for a show-down.

* * *

Dear Doris: My husband an I are planning a trip to Eng- land next year. My problem is no birth certificate. This is required for a passport.

My parents are both dead. I was born in the back woods of B.C. My father told me my birth was never registered.

I have lived in or near this city over 40 years. — A Faithful Reader

Dear Faithful: Start by writing to the clerk of the village or town nearest to where you first saw the light of day. It is just possible there was some record made by the doctor who delivered you. And if you got your schooling there ask for any school record as well.

Next — are all the uncles and aunts gone? What about an older sister or brother? Such a person could testify before a notary that to the best of his knowledge you were born at a certain place at a certain time. And this document would be an acceptable substitute.

Failing either of above, your marriage certificate and your husband's birth certificate to the regional office of the Secretary of State, Dept. of Canadian Citizenship, and they will process a document verifying your birth in Canada.

Glazed Strawberry Pie Excellent

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I take it for granted that you will give your new famous strawberry pie with red glaze on top. I want to make it for a Dominion Day party but thought I should write now to be sure. My kids got into my recipe drawer and I cannot find my clipping. Audrey O.

ANSWER: I knew it! Every year I wonder if I should repeat it but frankly I am flattered to have you ask.

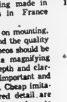
GLAZED STRAWBERRY PIE
3 pints berries (1½ qts.)
1 cup boiling water
¾ cup sugar (¼ cup plus 2 tbsps.)
2 tbsps. corn starch (or arrowroot flour for a clearer glaze)
2 tbsps. lemon juice
Shake of salt
Pastry for 10" pie plate

Make Pastry first. I used ½ cup shortening, 3 tbsps. butter, 1½ cups sifted all - purpose flour, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tbsps. cold water. When the pastry is rolled out, line pie plate, making a high fluted edge and chill it. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 12 min. At this high temperature you have to watch this like a hawk but it produces lovely tender pastry.

FILLING: Wash berries and hull them. Mash 1 pint in flat-bottomed saucepan. Mix sugar, corn starch (or arrowroot flour) and salt well, and stir into mashed berries, then stir cook, stirring until thick. Reduce heat to very low and cook, stirring, for 5 min. Remove from heat and force through strainer. Discard seedy pulp. Add lemon juice. (Do not add lemon juice ahead of this stage or it may cause the mixture to go thin.) Cut remaining 2 pints of berries in big perfect ones for the top. Fill baked pie shell with sliced berries, sprinkling an additional 2 tbsps. sugar through and over them. Arrange the big perfect berries in a circle on top and slowly and carefully pour the hot strained glaze over, being sure it flows into all crevices between berries and covers the entire surface. Cool at room temperature. Garnish around whipped cream piped through icing tube if desired. Serve same day as made.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

BY MARY BRYSON



Don't let your exasperation get out of hand if junior seems to tip over his glass of milk at almost every meal. Remember spilled milk is an accident—not mischief. Tell the child courteously to get a cloth and help wipe up the spills, but refrain from recriminations. Another point that may help: Use short, squatty glasses for children, rather than tall easy-to-tip tumblers or goblets.

Ann Landers

Ann Gives Answers To Familiar Queries

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was jilted twice in four years and I turned to my boss for comfort. He was married but no longer in love with his wife. We saw each other secretely for seven years.

Now it appears his wife has known about us all along — even the gifts he gave me — yet she said nothing. Last week she offered him a divorce. He didn't want one. Instead he has called off our romance. The following questions are keeping me up nights. Please supply some answers:

1. Why would a wife sit by and let her husband carry on an affair for seven years?

2. Why did he tell me he loved me and that he didn't love his wife, yet when he was faced with the choice he chose her?

3. Do you think if I went to his wife and told her everything he said about her that she might change her mind and kick him out?

4. What should I say to the rat for taking seven of the best years of my life? — STEADY READER WHO IS DYING INSIDE.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR DY: If you are a steady reader you have seen your letter in this column a hundred times. Only the signatures are different.

The answers to your questions are as follows:

1. She had nothing to gain by throwing him out and everything to gain by riding out the storm.

2. This is the classic pattern for cheating husbands — you could have predicted it.

3. Don't bore her with the details. She's not interested. If she was going to kick him out she would have done so by now.

4. Don't bore him with a farewell speech. He's not interested either.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please rescue at least a million Mid-westerners who are hopelessly trapped by a larceny gimmick called "bridal showers"?

The moment an engagement is announced the mothers start booking these ghastly parties. Some women find themselves on three or four lists. A turndown does not nullify the obligation to buy a gift. If you are unable to attend the shower, you are expected to send a gift anyway. These days it is impossible to buy anything decent for less than $10. And please be aware that a shower gift has nothing whatever to do with the wedding gift. That's separate.

The record for grabby mothers was set by a woman in our group who is considered well bred by all standards. She boasted that her daughter's shower loot amounted to well over $2,000 in usable goods. The wedding gifts, she estimated, will come to at least three times that amount. Help! — PARTY POOPED AND BROKE.

* * *

DEAR P. P. AND B.: What makes you think bridal showers are optional? It's a Coast-to-Coast affliction.

Here are Ann Landers' ground rules based strictly on common sense:

Only one shower should be given — preferably a jointly sponsored luncheon by all the bridesmaids. It should be a kitchen shower or a bathroom shower — with a limit on what can be spent for a gift. Tops — $3.

Prenuptial parties are usually a bore, and a waste of time, money and energy. The wise bride nixes them.

Bourassa Receptive to Reopening Charter Talks

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa said Friday he will telephone Prime Minister Trudeau "next week" to discuss ways of renewing discussions over the Victoria charter agreement.

The premier told reporters in an impromptu news conference following a luncheon here for visiting Empress Farah of Iran that he is interested in discussing the reasons for Quebec's rejection Wednesday of the constitutional package deal drawn up at the federal-provincial conference in the British Columbia capital last week.

He also re-iterated previous statements that a prime contributor to the constitutional deadlock was a laziness in the charter when dealing with what fiscal compensation the federal government would be willing to make in turning over some social affairs powers to the province.

Mr. Bourassa's comments appeared in line with Prime Minister Trudeau's plans announced Friday in the Commons to listen "with an open mind" if Quebec wishes to clarify its position concerning the charter.

The prime minister said that following the Quebec veto, the ball remained in the province's court regarding constitutional revision, but he indicated that there would still be a compromise if Quebec would have to come up with the ideas. Ottawa, he said, has no intention of insisting a new round of constitutional talks.

The current series of talks began in 1968 and appeared, for a time, to climax in Victoria last week when the federal and provincial governments produced a charter that would be the basis for a new Canadian constitution.

The prime minister, making the statement as he announced the federal government's acceptance of the charter, said Quebec had said "no" to three years of work.

New Democratic Leader David Lewis said he had sympathy for Quebec's requests and the clause on social security was couched in "deliberately confusing uncertain and ambiguous language."

Mr. Lewis joined Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield in saying the constitutional talks should be continued. Mr. Stanfield said it would be a pity to drop the matter now since important progress had been made at the Victoria meeting.

Mr. Trudeau said that no government got exactly what it wanted from the charter, but Canada would be better served with it than without it. There was "some hope" because Quebec had objected to only one area of the charter.

He added, however, that acceptance of the charter could not be delayed indefinitely. And he told reporters he was not suggesting that the Monday deadline be extended.

Mr. Bourassa was welcome to rephrase the clauses he finds "uncertain" and see whether the other 10 governments would accept his proposals.

There could still be a compromise but Quebec would have to come up with the news ideas to reach an agreement.

Commenting Friday on the Quebec decision to reject the agreement, Mr. Bourassa said the charter did not specify what financial considerations would be included in an agreement over joint jurisdiction of social affairs so that the province could "earmark sums to meet its own priorities."

"The amendment in the proposed charter is far from clear on that.

"It's all a question of interpretation that did not satisfy us."

Budget Criticisms Continue by MPs

OTTAWA (CP) — It was more of the same in the Commons Friday as the budget debate went through its third day.

Liberals again said the budget, brought down by Finance Minister Edgar Benson last week, would ensure prosperity and lessen the tax load on the poor.

New Democrats, for the third day, denied that the taxation proposals are true reforms. Conservatives continued to say the budget's benefits are either exaggerated, minimal or nonexistent.

The debate continues until Wednesday, after which the Commons recesses for the summer.

Pat Mahoney, parliamentary secretary to the finance minister, said one Conservative gave the government "about the highest compliment that can be paid a budget."

He was referring to George Hees (PC—Prince Edward-Hastings), who predicts that the Liberals will call a full election on the basis of the budget.

"We can't solve poverty through the tax system," Mr. Mahoney said, but the tax burden on low-income groups had been eased.

David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) condemned the tax proposals, saying they "mean that an inequitable, regressive and inefficient tax system in Canada with unjust special privileges existing in many areas will continue . . ."

The proposals fail to shift the basic burden of taxation from those of the lower incomes more proportionately to those at the higher income levels."

He criticized elimination of federal estate taxes. It was a basic principle that when people die is a good time to try to redistribute some of their wealth.

Mr. Mahoney said the new tax on capital gains includes a provision to tax estates.

Robert Thompson (PC—Red Deer) said there are many good measures in the budget but it is not as beneficial as it appears.

The increase in exemptions—to $1,500 from $1,000 for a single person and to $2,850 from $2,000 for a couple—"has been long overdue and is a good step forward," but there should have been more relief for the poor.

He feared the capital gains tax would increase the hardships of farmers.

Gerard Laprise (SC—Abitibi) said the budget offers tax relief only in a very small way. The 11-per-cent sales tax on building materials should have been removed to allow every Canadian the chance to have his own home.

Derek Blackburn (NDP—Brant) and Elmer MacKay (PC—Central Nova) made their first Commons speeches after being elected in May 31 byelections.

Mr. Blackburn said the government's limited tax relief came too late to help in his constituency. Westinghouse was closing its Brantford, Ont., plant and that would not be changed by abolition of the 15-per-cent excise tax on televisions and other electronic consumer goods.

Mr. MacKay called for removal of the tax on building materials and a greater provincial share of revenue from offshore mineral rights.

Prosper Boulanger (L—Mercier) said the budget represents a balance between justice and enterprise, while Maurice Dupras (L—Labelle) said it "will ensure, prosperity for Canada."

Ambrose H. Peddle (PC—Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador) said taxes should have been cut last December. The budget offers something for everybody but "it's spread pretty darn thin."

Borowski Ready To Go to Jail

WINNIPEG (CP) — Joe Borowski was putting his files in order Friday, expressing confidence he will be going to jail next week and resigning his job as highways minister in the Manitoba government.

Under court order to apologize for contemptuous remarks about a Dauphin magistrate by today, he reiterated that he has no intention of doing so.

"To uphold the dignity of the court," the minister said, Mr. Justice Israel Nitikman of court of Queen's bench "must put me in jail and I must be prepared for it."

Mr. Borowski was cited for contempt April 28 for accusing a Dauphin magistrate hearing a charge against him of acting through evil motives and threatening to have him removed from the bench.

Mr. Justice Nitikman suspended sentence for one year on condition the minister go to court in the west Manitoba town and make an unreserved apology to Magistrate F. M. Mayworm.

In an open letter to Mr. Justice Nitikman June 4 Mr. Borowski said he would not appeal the conviction and would go to jail "rather than apologize to the real culprit."

Although the 60-day deadline expires today, legal circles indicated the earliest any action could be expected was Monday.

It could take the form of a summons calling Mr. Borowski back to court to answer for his actions.

Trudeau's B.C. Tour Busy One

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau will have few free moments next week when he goes to British Columbia with other members of his cabinet to help celebrate the province's centennial.

He leaves here at 3 p.m. Wednesday, arriving in Victoria in time for a reception and dinner with the provincial cabinet, which will be followed with a fireworks display.

The following morning, the federal cabinet will go to the legislative grounds for a meeting to authorize the B.C. centennial proclamation.

There will be a ceremony on the grounds, during which Mr. Trudeau will speak, and then he and Premier W. A. C. Bennett will telephone London officially to start the London-to-Victoria air race. A concert by massed choirs will precede the start of an Indian war canoe race in Victoria harbor.

Following the race, Mr. Trudeau will fly to Kelowna where he will take part in a bicycle tour of two parks and then attend an outdoor dinner, given by Bruce Howard, Liberal MP for Okanagan-Boundary. Later that night he flies to Kimberley where there will be a morning "town hall meeting" at McKim High School.

From there he will drive to Cranbrook to open officially a new swimming pool, and attend a service club luncheon before returning to Vancouver at 4 p.m.

Advertising Claims Said Not Substantiated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader charged Friday that the United States advertising industry's self-regulation program would work only under government pressure, and warned that the White House appears to be resisting a federal requirement that advertisers substantiate their claims.

At the same time, White House consumer advisor Virginia Knauer had harsh words for some current television ads and said the advertising industry's self-regulation proposal should be shortened to eliminate "several drawbacks."

"I think we're all a little tired of seeing glories and cougars sliding on cars in advertisements that really don't tell us much about the cars," Mrs. Knauer said.

And she said some current advertising is insulting to women, not only talking down to them but showing women who "appear to have a first-grade intellect."

Nader and Mrs. Knauer testified at House of Representatives select small business committee hearings on advertising regulation, including the National Advertising Advisory Committee's proposal for self-regulation.

Nader cited what he called a dozen examples of deceptive advertising, emphasizing the Ford Motor Co.'s advertising campaign against the air-bag crash cushion, to support his contention that advertising self-regulation policies going back to 1910 don't work.

Nader contended Ford tried to discredit the air cushion to keep its seat belt and shoulder harness system in cars longer.

Haystack Earns Wrestling Meal Ticket

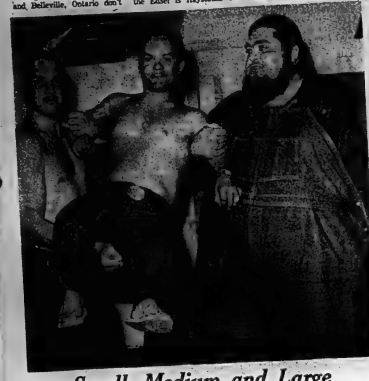
By RANDY DERRY
Staff Sportswriter

Morgan's Corner, Arkansas and Belleville, Ontario don't have much in common except that both have superglazed the biggest thing in years.

The biggest attraction since the Edsel is Haystacks Calhoun 640 pounds of country farm boy. Born in Morgan's Corner, Haystacks was the main drawing card of Friday nights professional wrestling matches at the arena.

"People like me because I'm just an old country boy and people identify me with plain ordinary folk," says Haystacks. He may be a country boy but he's no ordinary folk at six foot three, 600 pounds. "Sometimes it does get you down 'cause everyone knows me all the time. Other athletes can put on a suit and escape into the crowd but not me," reflects Haystacks.



Although being in the limelight all the time does prove nerve wrecking Haystack lover the sport. "I used to scuffle when I was younger and then I found I could get paid for it so it made it all the better. The only bother, some part of the game is the travelling. It keeps me away from my wife a lot but she doesn't let it bother her. One good thing about the travel is that I get to meet a lot of people so everytime I come into a different town the people treat me good so it feels like I'm home."

Home for Haystacks is a farm in Texas but most of the year his profession takes him to the far corners of the world. Honshiu, Okinawa, Peurto Rico and across North America are a few of his many travels.

A man of Haystacks size requires special treatment to solve his many problems which average man takes for granted. "Everything in my house is especially made including the furniture. When I'm on tour I often get invited to stay at a fellow wrester's home and it always worries me because their furniture although of best quality just isn't strong enough to support a man of my size. Clothes are another problem requiring special attention and sizes."

How does a 4-pound steak sound or a dozen eggs? Haystacks high protein diet includes extra large portions of everything. "I got to make good money just to eat."

But being the universal favorite in all of his bouts assures Haystacks' meal tickets for a long time to come.

Small, Medium and Large

The three sizes of man are revealed here when 640-pound Haystacks Calhoun posed with Whipper Billy Watson Junior and midget Joey Russel. The trio made up three-fifths of the crowd's favorites at Friday night's return of professional wrestling.

Belleville Batters Can Take Cuts In Cricket

By ERIC EMERSON
Staff Sportswriter

All of those .190 hitters currently toiling away in softball or baseball can now take heart. There's a new game in town which promises to give everyone a little more offensive punch — cricket.

Considering the fact that some individuals have scored as many as 300 times in a regulation two - inning match, and that an average score between two top teams would be about 200-250, there just HAS to be more offensive fireworks in baseball's forerunner.

However, It may take Canadians a while to get acquainted with the offensive intricacies of the game. As Quinte Cricket Club president Bhavin Oza points out: "the strong point of Canadian beginners is that they field and throw well because of their baseball training."

The Quinte club is in the fledgling stage and is seeking new members to augment the 24 who already participate in the Thursday night and Sunday afternoon sessions at Albert College. Newcomers to the sport are welcome.

In a regulation cricket match there are 11 players per team and an inning is completed when ten outs have been recorded.

Rather than bases, the players must run back and forth between two sets of pegs (wickets) placed about 22 yards apart. A potout is recorded when the fielders are able to knock down a wicket before the batter can reach it, if a ball is caught on the fly, or if the batter is hit by a pitched ball in front of the wicket.

"Pitchers" in the sport are known as bowlers and they must fling the ball overhand from a distance of 22 yards without bending their elbow. Each team has three or four bowlers and they are required to rotate after six pitches.

As in baseball or softball pitching, the bowlers have a number of tricky deliveries chief of which are the fast delivery, the spin delivery and the curl (curved) delivery.

A game usually consists of two innings, but unlike baseball, a time limit is placed on each contest. In Canada it is usually set at four hours, but in some international matches the limit can be as long as six days.

Games that are not completed because of the time limit are known as "draws" and the score stands despite the fact that one team may have batted more times than the other.

Cricket enjoys its greatest success in England, Australia, India and the West Indies, but is nevertheless catching on here. There are for instance 28 clubs operating in Toronto, 22 in Ottawa, two in Kingston and so on down the line for a total of about 200 in Canada.

Veteran enthusiasts or newcomers looking for the chance to lace into the fire - and - a - ball ounce ball can get their chance Thursdays at 6.00 p.m. and Sundays at 1.30 p.m. when the Quinte club meets at Albert College.

'Cricket, Anyone?'

Wrestling Returns To Belleville

Professional wrestling made a spectacular return to the Belleville Arena Friday night as a full card of big name wrestling entertained a roaring packed house.

The main bout of the evening almost brought the house down as popular favorites Haystacks Calhoun and Whipper Billy Watson were disqualified during the third and deciding fall with the Love Brothers. Whipper had restored his honor with his famous Brothers. Whipper had restored his honor with his famous commando hold in the second fall of the match when he put Hartford Love to sleep. Whipper had been pinned in the first fall of the match. The third and deciding fall saw a seesaw battle of good and evil forces with the Love Brothers using every dirty trick in the book. But it was Haystacks Calhoun's moment of anger which cost them the match. A solid smash with his steel boreshoe platform couldn't finish him off before the 20 minute limit ended.

Bout two saw Dewey Robertson vs. Doctor X in the best two of three falls. Doctor X's early pin of Dewey forced the favorite to win the next two falls for the victory. Arm bars and neck pinchers weakened Dewey during the first fall but a rest between rounds gave Robertson new life and strength to easily subdues the masked opponent the next two falls.

The third bout of the night matched two of the ever popular midgets in a two of three fall match. Joey Russell and Frenchy Lamonte put on a display of kicks, tumbling, punching and referee harassing to keep the crowd in stitches. Joey Russell proved to be the winner winning the first and third pins although their demonstration of wrestling was more important to the fans than who won.

Next card of professional wrestling will be in two weeks time at the arena with Big Tex McKenzie scheduled to team up with Haystacks Calhoun in a tag team bout.

Brand X Beaten Again

Favorite Dewey Robertson complies to the wishes of the fans as he smashes Doctor X's head into the corner turnbuckle. Dewey went on to win the bout of the first fall after a first fall defeat, in this the second of two bout of an all-star card of professional wrestling at the Belleville Arena.

Tracksters Able to Beat Heat

On way to avoid the swelling heat of mid-day and the hot blazing sun is to wait until evening. The Youth and Recreation Branch of the Ontario Department of Education has taken up the idea and has thus sponsored a Twilight Track and Field meet at Stirling.

The open meet will be held at the Stirling Senior Public School beginning at 7 p.m. The date for the event is Monday June 28. Four teams will be competing although all are welcome. Bancroft, Napance, Stirling and Tweed have entered teams.

This first of a series of such meets in the area will offer the 100, 400, and 880 yard dashes, the open mile, long jump and high jump and the shot put to the track and field enthusiasts. Five age classes will comprise the entries ranging from under 11 to the open (17 and over).

Hulme Top Contender For Can-Am Sports Car Race Sunday

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP) — Denis Hulme and Jackie Oliver, tow of the top four contenders for Sunday's Canadian-American Challenge cup sports car race, missed their turn Friday in qualifying sessions for the event began at Le Circuit Mont Tremblant.

Only 30 of the 34 entries made it on to the track as morning rain, an oily surface and a new line-up system slowed proceedings. Qualifying on the twisty, 2.65-mile road course continues today.

Scotland's Jackie Stewart, winner of the pole position in the first event at Mosport, Ont., June 13, was fastest Friday with a time of one minute, 35.5 second in his factory Lola T260.

It was well off the Group 7 qualifying lap record of 1:31.2 set by the late Bruce McLaren at 104.03 miles an hour in June, 1969.

Stewart, who had to drop out of the Mosport race with a broken differential while holding a seven-second lead, was not happy with his car.

Oversteer, despite a rebuilt front suspension since Mosport, continues to be the major problem and would take a full week's practice on one course to correct, he said. And the Scot's Grand Prix schedule won't allow him to do this until much later in the season.

Oliver, in the revamped Shadow, blew a 494-cubic inch Chaparral Chevrolet engine in practice Thursday and missed Friday's qualifying runs as the chassis installed a new 524-cu. inch unit.

A new 494 engine was due this morning but the Englishman still posted an unofficial 1:36 time with the old engine, which would have been good for fifth starting position.

The Shadow, plagued with mechanical and financial troubles last year, has always proved very quick when it runs. Oliver will also be facing the memory of a 150-mile-an-hour somersault in last year's Le Circuit Can-Am. He narrowly escaped injury when his Autocoast flipped on a bump in the middle of the back straight while trailing the leader on the first lap.

Oliver warned recently there would be another incident in the same place this year because turbulence lifts speeding cars off the track.

Hulme, winner of the first race in his McLaren M8F, also had difficulties Thursday when he blew a transmission.

The mishap in turn forced him to miss Friday's qualifying and the New Zealander was also happy with the qualifying system.

Previously, all practice runs over two days were timed and starting positions were determined by the best times of the drivers. This year, drivers have to line up and take turns on a clear track.

"Waste of a whole afternoon's good practice," commented Hulme as he watched the others. "If we hadn't been here a day early on Wednesday we would have accomplished nothing by now."

Still, in official practice, the orange McLaren equalled Stewart's time of 1:35.5.

Hulme's team-mate Peter Revson was also caught in the tire mixup, but was third fastest Friday at 1:37.7, tied with John Cordts of Toronto in an older McLaren M6C.

However, Revson does not get another chance to improve his mark because he is in Mount Pocono, Pa., today qualifying another McLaren car for a speedway race next weekend.

Team McLaren cars have won 30 of the 40 races in the Can-Am series since it began in 1966.

Following Revson and Cordts were Bob Bondurant of Ontario, Calif., at 1:38.8 in a McLaren M6E, his team-mate Lobar Motschenbacher of Beverly Hills, Calif., at 1:39.1 in a McLaren M6D, and Jim Adams of Beverly Hills at 1:39.2 in a Ferrari 512.

The 75-lap race over 198.75 miles starts at 2:15 p.m. EDT Sunday.

Dennis Swings For Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Three members of the Ottawa Rough Riders, a leading newly-acquired fullback Dennis Duncan, have been fined for taking part in a nightclub fracas Thursday night and staying out later than the club-imposed 11 p.m. curfew.

Fined in addition to Duncan were flanker Billy Cooper and defensive halfback Barry Ardern.

Coach Jack Gotta, announcing the fines after a closed team meeting, said Duncan especially should have known better since he came to Ottawa "with a couple of strikes on him already."

Duncan was suspended and later traded by Montreal Alouettes in playoff time last year for a similar offence.

Former Rough Rider Gilles Archambault, who hurt slightly playing the part of peace-maker in the fracas.

Gotta said he believed the fines would end the incident.

The coach also revealed that centre Doug Speckl, suspended for not turning out for pre-season workouts, rejoined Riders Friday. However, he has yet to sign a contract.

Hockey Tourney Washed Out

TORONTO (CP) — The American Airlines golf tournament was cut to a 36-hole affair Friday when cloudbursts washed out play.

The tournament, normally a 54-hole meet featuring National Hockey League stars, was scheduled to continue today.

Even before the day's play was wiped out with eight foursomes on the course, there had been tragic overtones when Gordie Howe left hurriedly early in the morning, following the sudden death of his mother, Mrs. Albert Howe, 76.

The Detroit Red Wing veteran was the second star to quit the tournament because of death in the family. Bobby Orr of Boston Bruins was attending the funeral of his grandmother in Owen Sound.

WBA Suffers Setback

MEXICO CITY (Reuter) — The World Boxing Council, the major international control body of the sport, suffered a major setback Friday when the powerful Oriental Boxing Federation pulled out of the organization.

The federation, which groups Japan, Thailand, the Philippines and South Korea, decided to quit after the council refused to accept a proposal that its president and vice-president be elected by rotation from the various continents represented in the WBC.

The council, meeting on the third and final day of a plenary session, stripped Scot. Ken Buchanan of his WBC world light-weight title, and elected Ramon Velazquez of Mexico as its new president.

Sports on All Fronts

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The Jim Plunkett-led West is rated a touchdown favorite over the East in tonight's 11th annual Coaches All-America football game — the early season opener of the 1971 gridiron campaign. Plunkett, the strong-armed Heisman Trophy winner from Stanford, was the No. 1 draft choice of New England Patriots of the National Football League. He will be backed by Chuck Nix, son of Southern Methodist, a drafter of Kansas City Chiefs who holds a number of NCAA passing records. The main ground threats for the East include Mike Adamle of Northwestern, Mickey Zofko of Auburn and Dave Brungard of Alabama. The top East receivers are Jim Livesay of Richmond, Wes Chesson of Duke and Paji Statzva of Pennsylvania. Rex Kern, Ohio State's quarterback for three years, will be stationed at defensive back for the East in an effort to harness Plunkett and Nixon.

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP) — Pete Revson and Mario Donohue, the hottest qualifiers at Indianapolis a month ago, renew their battle for pole honors today when time trials open for the July 3 Schaefer 500-mile race. A field of 33 starters will be decided in two days of qualifying. The pole spot for the $450,000 race will go to the driver having the fastest four-lap 10 miles speed on the first day. He also stands to collect about $6,000 in cash and awards. Donohue, the 32-year-old engineer-driver from Media, Pa., coincidentally has been the fastest driver in a week of shakedown runs over the 2.5-mile, triangle - shaped Pocono International Raceway, though Revson was the first to break the 170-mile barrier. Revson was the surprise winner of the Indianapolis pole, clocking a record 178.696 miles an hour. Donohue, who had turned the fastest laps, had to settle for the No. 2 spot at 177.087.

REGINA (CP) — Doctors removed Wednesday the left eye of Saskatchewan Roughriders' all-star Ed McQuarters. The eye was injured a few weeks ago during an accident at McQuarter's home here. The Western Football Conference defensive tackle was pounding a nail into a piece of hard board when the nail flew up and hit him in the eye. Rider general-manager Ben Preston asked if McQuarters could play football again, said: "I wouldn't like to speculate on that at this time." In 1966 the St. Louis Cardinal reject won the Schenley Award, the greatest honor a Canadian Football League player can receive. McQuarters, then 24, was the league's top lineman and was named to the all-Canadian team. The Tulsa, Okla., resident was a star in track and field, wrestling and football at the University of Oklahoma before joining the Cardinals who gave him up in 1966 after retaining him on the reserve squad in 1965. McQuarters then joined the Roughriders.

W. J. (Buddy) Hirsch, trainer for Kleberg, made the announcement at Belmont Park on behalf of Kleberg, master of the King Ranch in Texas. The horse was bought from Pedro Baptista of Caracas. Hirsch said Canonero had been removed to his barn at Belmont where he will continue to be treated for an infection in his right hind foot. Canonero II finished fourth in the Belmont Stakes on June 5 and failed to sweep the Triple Crown.

Smith, Rosewall Square Off In Top Wimbledon Match-up

LONDON (Reuter) — American pace-hitter Stan Smith, 24, and Ken Rosewall, 36, the 36-year-old Australian master of touch, will attract most attention at Wimbledon today when they play for their quarter-final places.

Smith, the No. 4 seed, will meet 36-year-old Australian Roy Emerson, champion at the All-England tennis championships in 1964 and 1965.

Emerson is a fluid mover, but it would be the biggest upset at Wimbledon's first week if he tamed lanky Smith's big serve-volley game and won.

The South American was given special leave from the U.S. Army to play on the European tennis circuit this season. Last weekend he won the London title by beating reigning W i m b l e d o n champion John Newcombe of Australia in the final at Queen's Club.

Little Rosewall, one of Wimbledon's most popular performers, plays giant Fred Stolle, 32, in an all-Australian professional clash. Rosewall and Stolle share the runner-up "title" in past Wimbledons, and both have been losing finalists three times.

Rosewall, now seeded No. 3, was beaten by Newcombe in last year's all-Australian final here, and this is probably his last chance to seize the world's premier tennis title.

The two favorites for the men's crown, No. 1 seed Rod Laver and Newcombe, the second seed, gained their berths among the last eight Friday, as did American Tom Gorman, the first-round conqueror of South African Cliff Drysdale. Gorman appears in the quarter-finals for the first time.

The red-haired Australian disposed of the speedy Dutchman 7-5, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5, indicating that four matches in five days have put him in top form.

Laver had too little grass-court practice before the tournament and his opening match against Bob Howe of Australia was too short to help much.

But since then, as his draws got tougher, his play improved. There was nothing comfortable with Laver playing Friday—Laver was just better.

Newcombe had trouble with the top Soviet player, Alex Metreveli, but won 9-8, 6-3, 4-6, 9-7 in a service duel. Both players had delivery problems early, and neither was returning well.

Gorman took it comparatively easy in defeating 19-year-old Australian Ross Case 6-3, 8-6, 6-4. Laver is Gorman's next opponent.

The only other survivor of the original eight seeds is American Cliff Richey, who seeded sixth. The Texan should emulate Gorman's feat by breaking through to the last eight at the expense of Jeff Borowiak of the United States.

In another fourth-round play today Colin Dibley, Australia's No. 1 Davis Cup man, will oppose Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico, who has been one of the surprises of the current championships.

A record in the event with a time of 8:42.2 in Hamilton last week.

Canadian Track Star Breaks Hurdles Mark

VANCOUVER (CP) — Penny May of Victoria broke the Canadian open record in the 100-metre hurdles Friday in the first day of the Canadian Pan-American games track and field trials in suburban Richmond.

Miss May, 19, covered the distance in 13.5 seconds, clipping half a second off the old mark set by Gun Olsson of Sweden in Edmonton in 1970.

The third-year education student at the University of Victoria also placed second in the women's long jump, one of 18 events staged in the opening day of the two-day camp to reject 49 athletes to go to Cali, Colombia, July 31-Aug. 12.

Miss May posted an identical time in the 100-metre hurdles last week in Toronto, but the record was not counted because of wind assistance.

"I was fairly happy with the results, considering how cold it was," she said after the race.

Two other Canadian native records were equalled on the artificial asphalt and rubber track which was unaffected by the weather.

Patty Loverock of Vancouver equalled the native and open record of 11.3 seconds in the women's 100 metres. Stephanie Berto of West Vancouver was on her heels at 11.4.

The mark was set by Irene Piotrowski of Vancouver in 1968 at Mexico.

Another British Columbia girl, Joyce Sadowick of Burnaby, led the B.C. open and Canadian native record in the 400 metres. Miss Sadowick finished with a mark of 60.4 six other sprinters with a time of 54.3 seconds.

Brenda Eisler, 20, of North Vancouver won the long jump with a lap of 4.29 metres or 20 feet, 7½ inches. Miss May's best jump of the night was 6.34 metres or 20 feet, 3¼ inches.

Linda Wilson of Toronto leapt to third placed with 5.84 metres or-19 feet, 1¼ inches.

Competitors from Ontario dominated the men's events.

Bob Legee of Oakville breezed to victory in the 10,000 metres with a time of 30:47.4. Brian Hutchinson of Toronto was second, 4.8 seconds behind him.

Canadian native record-holder Grant McLaren of Guelph crossed the line well ahead of the field in the 1,500-metre steeplechase, in 8:49.2. He set the

Down Senators 12-2

Swoboda Helps Yankee Batting Revival

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Yankees lived up to their old nickname, the Bronx Bombers, Friday night with a couple of new faces in the field. The Yanks bombed Washington 12-2, devastating the Senators' newest weapon in the process.

The biggest blast was by Ron Blomberg, who unloaded his first major league home run in his first game since being recalled from the minors.

And although a few of the veterans, Felipe Alou, Bobby Murcer and Jake Gibbs, led the assault, it was an "old recruit" who got most of the attention.

Ron Swoboda, donned a new New York uniform only hours after Montreal Expos dealt him to the Yanks.

The former New York Met was loudly cheered as he stepped into the batter's box in the first inning and responded with a single that drove in the third and final run of the frame.

The Yanks added four more in the third to chase rookie starter Pete Brobert.

In other league action, Oakland Athletics' amazing rookie, Vida Blue, notched victory No. 16 with a five-hit 12-strikeout 7-0 triumph over Kansas City Royals. Bill Gilbreth fired a five-hitter in his first major league game as Detroit Tigers ripped Cleveland Indians 6-1, Baltimore Orioles trimmed Boston Red Sox 7-3, Milwaukee Brewers topped Minnesota Twins 3-1 and Chicago White Sox silenced California Angels 2-0.

Swoboda, who finished with one hit in four at-bats, said he felt "still numb" from the day's hectic events-making the plane to New York by a scant five minutes only to find the airline had lost all his baseball equipment-and added his enthusiasm over the trade was "tempered by fatigue."

Also drove in four runs with a triple and a double. Murcer smacked two triples and Gibbs clipped a two-run homer to back Yankee pitcher Steve Kline.

Blue breezed to his sixth shutout and 16th complete game of the year as the Athletics widened their West lead over the Royals to 12 games.

Al Kaline and Willie Horton homered for the Tigers and Mickey Stanley provided always-timely single as Detroit snapped a 1-1 tie with three in the seventh. Baltimore retained its 6½-game lead in the East as Paul Blair walloped a two-run, tie-breaking triple in the ninth.

Bucky Dent, Rick Peterson, Reggie Smith and Rico Petrocelli for the Red Sox.

Tommy Harper was Milwaukee's big gun with a two-run homer in the eighth.

The White Sox, winning their fifth in a row for their longest victory skein in two years, got run-scoring singles in the first from Carlos May and Tom Egan. Tommy John and Bart Johnson made them stand up, teaming for a six-hitter.

Cubs Dream Rally Helps Stymy St. Louis Hopes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago Cubs had the kind of two-out rally baseball teams dream about against St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

They didn't stop until they had 10 runs in the seventh—tying the biggest inning in the majors this season.

And all of them were scored with the Cardinals needing only one more out to get out of the inning.

Chicago's 16-run explosion highlighted a 12-8 National League victory. But even with that kind of run-production, the Cubs were only third best in scoring in the National League Friday night.

Pittsburgh's slugging Pirates walloped five home runs and belted Philadelphia Phillies 14-4 while Atlanta Braves exploded for 10 runs in a doubleheader, taking both ends from Cincinnati Reds, 8-6 and 10-3.

Elsewhere, New York Mets swept a doubleheader from Montreal Expos 4-1 and 4-2, Houston Astros edged San Francisco Giants 5-4 and San Diego Padres edged Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4.

Pitcher Bill Bonham, who had never had a major league hit before, singled twice in Chicago's big seventh inning. Glenn Beckert also had two hits as the Cubs bunched eight of their 20 hits, sending 1 men to bat in their big inning.

The Pirates used a barrage of five homers including two each by Jackie Hernandez and Richie Hebner to rip Philadelphia.

Willie Stargell also homered for Pittsburgh, and, for the third time in the last five games, the Pirate slugger drove in four runs.

Earl Williams and Darrell Evans poked three-run homers in each game, leading Atlanta to twin victories over Cincinnati.

Williams drove in four runs in the nightcap as the Braves exploded to score all of their runs in the first two innings.

In the opener, Ralph Garr doubled home Atlanta's tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and then scored on Oscar Brown's pinch single to clinch that victory.

Buddy Harrelson drove in three runs and Dan Frisella fired 4 1-3 innings of scoreless relief as New York completed its doubleheader sweep against Montreal.

Pinch-hitter Jack Hiatt drilled a ninth inning single that drove in Houstons winning run and climaxed an Astro comeback to beat San Francisco.

San Diego rallied for two runs in the ninth on Dave Campbell's bases-loaded single, and nipped Los Angeles.

Bob Barton started the winning rally with a single and Larry Stahl doubled him to third. After Angel Bravo was walked intentionally, Campbell delivered his winning hit.

Belleville Golfers Down the Drain

TORONTO (CP) — Severe rain storms knocked out play Friday in three zone qualifying rounds for play in the Ontario amateur golf championship July 14-18.

But of those that did get off the tee, and there were 250 of them at four other locations, Dave Bogdon of Kitchener didn't let the threat of a downpour dampen his game.

The Kitchener Westmount member, playing over Orvord golf club's par-70 layout at Woodstock, shot a 69, the only sub-par round of the day over four courses.

Bogdon led 27 qualifiers at Woodstock with a two-stroke margin on Ian Davidson of Egremont. Ted Talbot of Sarnia had a 74 while grouped at 73 were John Ervasti, Earl Hunter Jr. and Ian Thomas, all of London. and Bob Skura and Warren Rehkoph, both of Dundee.

Heading the field at Ashburn's Thunderbird golf course were Bruce Brewer and Bob Kennedy, both of Toronto, with one-over par 71s.

The nine set to try to qualify at Bay of Quinte in Belleville have been re-scheduled for Sunday while 66 qualifiers at Fonthill's Lookout, Point club will tee off next Friday.

Mays Paces Vote-getters

NEW YORK (AP) — There have been three changes in voting since Willie Mays was selected to the National League all-star team from past performances.

But not this time.

Mays, at age 40, has put it all together again this season, hitting .306 with 13 homers and 37 runs batted in. The figures were enough to make the San Francisco Giants centrefielder the leading vote-getter for the National League all-star team with less than a week remaining in the balloting.

In the latest tally, Mays replaced catcher Johnny Bench of Cincinnati at the top of the ballot by the fans with 540,390. Bench had 527,852, with Hank Aaron of Atlanta third 43, 538,398.

The other leaders by positions were Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh at the other outfield position, Willie McCovey of San Francisco at first base, Glenn Beckert of Chicago at second, Bud Harrelson of New York at shortstop and Joe Torre of St. Louis at third.

The game against the American League stars will be played July 13, in Detroit.

Randachio was remanded in custody for a week.

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — Competitors in the British Columbia Centennial '71 car rally completed one-third of the 4,800-mile endurance run from Ottawa to Victoria early this morning when they arrived in this northwestern Ontario city. Thirty-one of the original 37 starters remained, with no casualties on the Sault Ste. Marie-to-Thunder Bay section of the route—and with no change in penalty points against the leaders. The London, Ont., team of Hayden Gozzard and Dave Grundy, in a Renault R8 Gordini, remained in first place with fewest penalty points — 139. Next, with 209, were Paul McLennan of King City, Ont., and Dave Phippen of Kingston in a Fiat 124. Brent and Betty Schenck of Tavistock, also in a Fiat 124, had 208 points against them while Stan and Suzanne Crews of Fayetteville, N.C., were running in fourth position in their Opel GT.2 with a penalty-point total of 235. From Thunder Bay it was on to Kenora for breakfast then to Winnipeg for an overnight stop.

TORONTO (CP) — Don Marshall, veteran National Hockey League scorer, said Friday he would definitely show at Toronto Maple Leafs' training camp later this year. Marshall, picked up in the recent draft from Buffalo Sabres, was here to attend the NHL Players' Association annual team golf tournament. He said he met with Leafs' general manager Jim Gregory and talked contract terms in addition to other personal problems. "Part of my problem concerned the education of my youngsters, but I think we've solved that," said Marshall. He said his three youngest will accompany the Marshalls to Toronto during the hockey season while the oldest, Susan, will continue her education at home in Montreal.

Racing Officials 'Pig-Headed'

TORONTO (CP) — A drenched and disgusted British sailor entered in the World Albacore sailing championship here bluntly described the racing committee as "pig-headed" in their decision to cancel Friday's racing because of rain.

The race committee sent 90 sloops out into the pouring rain Friday morning despite harbor police warnings that a gale was developing, then called them in.

"It's bloody ridiculous," said the 22-year-old Barry Pickthall of Essex, England. "They (the committee) sent us out there to hang on to the sea wall for an hour while our boats fill with water and then, when all appears to be easing up, they yank us back in to drydock.

"Talk about being pigheaded!"

Pickthall, who ranks 10th in the over-all standings after four races, said he didn't travel 13,000 miles to the colonies to be entered in a type of social-event regatta where no one wants to race unless the sun is shining and the wind is slight."

Pickthall and the other British entries in the World Albacore running have filed previous formal complaints to the race committee.

"In our first race," said Pickthall, "we had just passed the first marker when we realized the second one was nowhere in sight.

"The racing committee, in search of wind, had not placed it and we were stuck for our next move."

"We approached the committee, but found that one does not question their antics," said Pickthall.

"They became quite belligerent and rude, but nevertheless our protest worked. The next day the markers were placed superbly.

"Today is another story. Rain and heavy sea is what we are accustomed to back home and this would have given us the edge. If all the weather was like this, we'd walk away with this event."

The Poyntz brothers of Toronto, who currently lead the standings, were also disappointed Friday's card was cancelled.

"It's probably better though," said their father, Dan, assistant commodore at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. "The boys (Barry and Garry) are pretty light and they would have a tough time keeping their boat under control out there."

"Let's face it," he added. "We wouldn't want to lose someone because of hasty judgment."

The racing committee has scheduled three races today, half-length springs over the seven-mile triangular course to bring the seven-race card to completion.

Starting time is 11 a.m. EDT.

Jacklin Leads Tourney

Cleveland (AP) — Tony Jacklin admitted that relief from weight of the United States open golf crown could have a major bearing on his suddenly improved game.

"Now I feel like I can just go out and play again," the handsome young Englishman said Friday after bolting into contention in the $150,000 Cleveland Open with a remarkable, course-record-matching 63.

His eight-under-par effort on the 6,543-yard Beechmont Country Club course put him 10 strokes under par for the two rounds and gave him a 36-hole total of 138.

That was two strokes back of second-round leader Bobby Mitchell, a balding 28-year-old who has yet to win in six years on the pro tour.

Mitchell fired a second round 64 for 130, 12 under par. Dan

Swoboda Swapped to Yankees

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Expos announced Friday the club has traded outfielder Ron Swoboda to the American League New York Yankees in exchange for outfielder Ron Woods and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The National League club said Woods will be assigned to its International League farm club Winnipeg Whips.

Swoboda's spot on the Expos active 25-man roster will be taken by right-handed pitcher Ernie McAnally who is being recalled from the Whips.

Nobody has the horde of inspectors. The 16,000 individual inspections. Or the grinding tests.

Nobody builds in what we do. An extra heater.

Provincial Budgets

Canadian provinces project a combined deficit of nearly $1.000 million for the 1971-72 fiscal year in seeking the expansion necessary to reduce unemployment. Six provincial governments plan deficits while the other four forecast small surpluses. Ontario, with a projected $415 million deficit, leads the list of deficit spenders; Quebec projects a deficit of $270.7 million, and Alberta plans to spend $166 million more than it receives in revenue.

Springboks Play, Spectators Fight

PERTH, Australia (CP) — The South African Springbok rugby team trounced West Australia 44-18 in the opening match of their Australian tour today despite a second-half clash between rival factions of spectators inside the Perry Lakes stadium.

Fists flew on several different occasions when anti-apartheid supporters and those in favor of the Springbok tour met face to face at the southern end of the ground. The game was not interrupted.

Police moved in to separate the fighters and made eight arrests.

One arrested man was semi-conscious, another had blood streaming from his nose and a third resisted police for several minutes before he could be placed in the back of a police van.

The trouble started when a splinter group of anti-apartheid supporters moved into the stadium against the wishes of the Campaign for the Abolition of Racism in Sport.

They filed in and sat at the fence. Pro-Springbok supporters among the crowd of 8,000 moved in behind them and started chanting in favor of the game.

The anti-apartheid demonstrators joined in and tempers flared.

The trouble was initiated by a Springbok supporter seizing a banner that read: "Support freedom, boycott the tours.

The owner of the banner pursued the Springbok supporter and after a scuffle the two were separated by police and returned to their seats.

But it was not long before another fight broke out and it took about six police to subdue that scrap. Two other skirmishes followed before the game was over.

The Springboks left the ground on a bus after filing through protective ranks of about 25 policemen.

Police said those involved most likely be charged with disorderly conduct.

Before the game started about 300 demonstrators lined the entrance to the stadium, chanting "Out, out, racist sport." The Springboks arrived at a little-used entrance to the ground to avoid the demonstrators.

Among the demonstrators was a West Australian University rugby star Geoff Hedstrom, who refused to play against the Springboks after being chosen for the West Australian team.

Earlier today, about 200 demonstrators protesting South Africa's policy of racial separation chanted and blew whistles in front of the hotel where the Springbok team was trying to sleep.

Edward Karkheck President Of 418 Wing Association

With an exception of three changes the Belleville 418 Wing RCAF Association officers were re-elected to serve another term of office, at the June meting.

Those remaining on the executive are Edward Karkheck, president; James Lynch, past-president; Wilfred Lewis, first vice - president; Billie Kirby, secretary; Stewart Hoard, treasurer and directors: Kenny Chambers, Thomas Riley and Robert Cairns. Newcomers elected are: Derek Roberts, second vice - president and Donald Groves and John MacLennan as directors.

Mr. Karkheck outlined the program for the antique airplane fly-in and airshow scheduled for Mountain View airport June 25-27. Friday will be a re-acquaintance day for those flying in. Open flying periods and photo hops are planned, with announcer Dusty Rhodes on hand at noon.

A full day of activity is organized for Saturday, starting at 8 a.m. to include open flying periods with practice for afternoon events. An aerial display will start a 2 p.m. continuing to 5:30 with a service aircraft fly-past, as finale. Open flying periods will resume and the aircraft will be displayed to the public. In the evening the best class trophies will be presented at an awards meeting.

On Sunday the public is invited to a non-denominational Church service at 9 a.m. to be followed by open flying all days and the announcement of the grand champion and trophy at 3 p.m. The field will be closed at 8 p.m.

The president stressed a need for volunteer help with the parking and staffing a marquee from which memorial coffee spoons, model aircraft and Commonwealth Air Training booklets will be sold to aid the memorial building fund.

Mr. Karkheck explained that Air Cadets from both Belleville and Trenton would be working as closely as possible to the aircraft.

A committee headed by Mr. O'Bryan was appointed to update the 418 Wing constitution, which was originally approved in 1949. Mr. O'Bryan noted that the Belleville club was the first in Canada to present a constitution and that it had not been revised since that time.

The government of Canada donated a retired RCAF flag, which measured 8' by 12' as a historic memento to be displayed in the Belleville 418 Wing Clubrooms. A radar party of four marched on the huge banner for the opening ceremonies of the meeting.

Mazinaw Residents Fighting Pollution

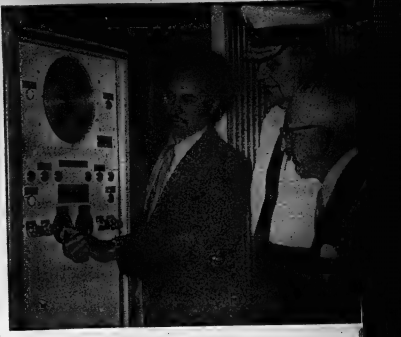
The progrty owners aim to prevent deterioration of lakes and streams in the six townships of Lennox and Addington that lie north of Highway 7 and the township of Barrie in Frontenac.

They have invited all concerned citizens to a meeting at North Addington Education Centre in Cloyne July 3 at 1:30 p.m.

Representatives from Ontario Water Resources Commission and other government agencies will be on hand to discuss the problem of pollution in cottage areas.

"Each of us, whether longtime resident, part time cottage or transient sportsman, is making increased demands upon our north country," says the association's invitation.



"And because of the rather precarious balance of nature, each of us must use great caution in the way we treat the countryside."

The use of waterways is no longer a right, but a privilege and streams and lakes can no longer be the recipient of wastes, says David Harcourt, chairman of the Association's Pollution Committee.

The property owners believe the biggest pollution problem in the Mazinaw area is the flow of untreated sewage into lakes and streams.

"Remedial actions have to be taken on unsatisfactory waste disposal systems at both cottage and municipal levels, Mr. Harcourt added.

The July 3 meeting will also consider the proper use of fertilizers, herbicides and insecticides and the selection and maintenance of township waste disposal sites.

Drain to Be Installed At Deloro Mine Site

MADOC — A second source of highly contaminated ground water has been located on the former Deloro mining site as a result of a ground water survey conducted by James F. MacLaren Limited, consulting engineers, who also reported that the control facilities installed in November, 1970, appear to be operating satisfactorily.

The report recommended that a tile drain be installed along the line of the old railroad to collect the contaminated ground water from the second source for conveyance to the waste treatment facilities for removal of the arsenic. The report requested that the tile drain be installed before June 30, 1971.

As the ground water table along the old railroad was found in most locations to be quite close to the bedrock, it will be necessary to take special precautions during the installation of the tile drain to minimize the passage of contaminated ground water from the drain to the river. Survey work for location of the tile drain must be completed before construction can proceed.

Diversion of the New Sesterly creek has been recommended also and a drawing showing the proposed diversion has been received by the OWRC, which concurs with the method of diversion — to be completed at the earliest possible date.

During an inspection of the Deloro property on April 20, this year, further leaks were noted in the concrete dam on the east side of the red mud tailings. It was recommended that these be repaired immediately.

M. J. O'Brien Limited of Toronto will be making the collection of the contaminated ground water in the area of the packing shed.

TRENTON (Staff) — A yacht, with engine broken down and adrift in Lake Ontario, was found yesterday morning by a Search and Rescue Dakota from 424 Squadron here.

The boat, owned and operated by Victor Bert of St. Catharines, had been missing since 4 a.m. Friday on a westward trip from Cobourg on the foggy lake.

The Dakota left CFB Trenton about 10 a.m., spotting the lost craft within 40 minutes.

Mr. Bert and his two sons were taken to Oshawa in the early afternoon when a rescue boat arrived.

Help your son get ahead.

This boy knows that courtesy is good business

Newspaper route management can be a boy's first step forward

A BOY with a newspaper route truly is in business for himself. With an assist from our people who are experienced in working with boys.

He buys his newspapers from us and retails them to you.

He sells, he delivers, and he collects. Like any good businessman, he keeps records (you can see how valuable this is in applying the lessons he learns in the classroom in a practical way).

And like any good businessman, he shows a profit. A boy with a newspaper route earns money that can help him build a sizable bank account of his own. Useful for the things he wants. Even for a college education.

Not only does a newspaper route sharpen a young boy's business sense (which will be helpful to him throughout life no matter what career he chooses). It also offers him some important extras — the ability to deal with people, and the lessons of promptness, of care, of self-reliance, and of good manners.

In these ways, a newspaperboy manages to keep a step ahead of other boys in preparing for life.

If your son wants to handle a route, put him in touch with us. One may be available for him in your neighborhood. It will be an unusual opportunity for the self-advancement you want him to have.

Province Looks For Jobs

Sable Island Gas Find Is Promising

HALIFAX (CP) — An exploration well on notorious Sable Island has yielded natural gas and condensates and Premier Gerald Regan hopes it will also produce jobs for Nova Scotians.

Premier Regan said Friday after the gas find was reported that his government will intensify efforts to place Nova Scotians in offshore exploration, expected to increase sharply as a result of the find.

Sable Island, known as the Graveyard of the Atlantic because of the ships claimed by its shifting sands, is 176 miles east of here. The well that raised the hopes of the premier was brought in by a rig of Mobil Oil (Canada) Ltd.

Mr. Regan spoke with Mobil President A.-R. Neilson by telephone shortly before telling a news conference that natural gas and gas condensate, the liquid form of the substance flowing to the surface, was coursing through the 5,900-foot hole at a rate of 12 to 14 million cubic feet a day.

Mr. Regan said he was told two to three weeks of testing was required to evaluate the commercial viability of the well, located at the western tip of the island. Exploration by Mobil in 1967 found non-commercial amounts of gas in several formations beneath the island.

The premier said he would take steps "as soon as possible" to continue discussions with Ottawa about jurisdiction over offshore mineral rights.

Both governments have claimed jurisdiction but Mr. Regan said he planned no showdown because he thought an agreement could be worked out.

His government took steps in April to strengthen its hand in any future battle over Sable Island when the legislature passed a bill granting voting rights to its residents. There were nine eligible voters at that time.

The bill made the island part of the Halifax Cornwallis constituency. At the time, Mr. Regan said the island was an integral part of the province.

"We intend to enforce any provincial statutes" which apply to the island, he told the legislature. The premier also said he was confident the province could win any battle over its jurisdiction in the supreme court.

The find lies in the western portion of a 12.1-million-acre tract which Mobil has leased in the vicinity of Sable Island. The company has interests in a total of 21 million acres off Canada's east coast.

Its site is bordered north and south by acreage leased by Shell Canada Ltd. A Shell spokesman said the initial report was "inconclusive" and "small by Alberta standards". However, the finding of oil on the island was "encouraging for sure."

Investors showed lukewarm interest in both companies Friday following the announcement. On the New York Stock Exchange, Mobil closed at 45¾, up ½ while on the Toronto Stock Exchange Schell closed at 58¾, up 1¼.

The Premier said the government would soon send a representative to the island to check on pollution control to allay the fears of conservation groups who fear the island's ecology may be damaged. The island is the only nesting place of the Ipswich sparrow, a rare bird.

Tunnel Catastrophe

Sensing Devices Failed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A spokesman for the builder of a giant tunnel inawhich a natural gas explosion trapped 18 workmen says sophisticated electronic sensing devices never detected potentially dangerous conditions.

Only one worker survived the searing explosion and fire that roared through the Metropolitan Water District tunnel Thursday.

The tunnel construction 250 feet underground runs 5.5 miles through an area of earthquake faults and petroleum fields 25 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

A spokesman for Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Co., builder of the tunnel to help transport water from Northern to Southern California, said Friday continuous use of sensing equipment did not indicate unsafe conditions before the blast occurred.

He said the state set a maximum allowable level of two per cent methane gas in the tunnel after a smaller explosion injured four workmen a day earlier.

"Lockheed arbitrarily set its own maximum limit at one per cent to provide a 100-per-cent safety factor" over the state directive, he said.

"Work was stopped a number of times during the shift when the blast occurred when the level approached one percent, but it never exceeded one per cent," the spokesman added.

Harold Rasmussen, a miner who took gas readings, said the level reached one per cent at least 10 times.

"We can only theorize—and this is only speculative—that the problem must have been a pocket of gas," the Lockheed spokesman said.

Your birthday today: Experiments with new habits and by midyear you should be well-advanced in career improvements. Home life stabilizes one as few other factors can. Emotional expressions gives way to a generally steady mood. Today's natives have a shrewd sense of material values, are often collectors.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): There's no point in trying to stay with familiar customs. Grasp the chance to get up and out onto a better level of activity.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Courtesy is its own reward. Letter you see you've set a pattern by good example. Don't contemplate solely on a single project.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Volunteer your word and prestence toward the good of the community this morning, but expect no immediate reaction. Self-confidence grows as you work with others.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Let go of a few old ideas and habits; enjoy your freedom. You have some lost time to recover.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Those susceptible to doubt may focus on you and your program. Keep everything very simple a above board and all goes well once the early morning confusion is resolved.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Events in your community offer new outlets for your talents this Sunday. Seek perspective, the broad view, then select the most individual, experimental opportunity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): On any matter of principle, stand up for your rights and your views, gracefully, so that those who disagree must still accord respect. You are sure to be some requests from readers who are concerned about their hearts. Not a day goes by that heart-anxiety doesn't plague fearful readers who write for advice and reassurance.

This is not unusual when you consider that at least 15 million Americans suffer from imaginary heart trouble. In my experience, many of them agonize more than those with actual heart disease. Here is one example of such a frustrated, anxious individual:

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am now 49. I have had heart palpitation occasionally since I was 20. But now I have become older my heart not only beats irregularly, but often stalls. Then I feel as if I'm going to black out.

Other symptoms which cause me concern are fullness and pressure in the chest, a feeling as if the heart is rubbing against my chest wall, also sound of a squeak or squidge as it beats. When it pounds it creates an awful fear.

I think it's possible that I had unrecognized rheumatic fever when a child, as I remember I was often in bed with aches. I've been worried about heart damage.

I had an EKG reading about six weeks ago taken at rest, with no exercise. My doctor said it was normal and to forget the whole thing. However, my symptoms are still with me. Shall I "forget the whole thing"? — Mrs. E.

* * *

COMMENT: Forget? Easier said than done. However, I do have one question. Did you have a complete cardiac workup? Let me tell you what it should consist of.

First, it should be performed by one specially trained in cardiology. Either by an internist, or by one who devotes himself entirely to the diagnosis and treatment of cardiac problems. Many specialists in fields of general practitioners are also able to do the job.

The doctor you decide on must take his time to get a complete history. He will also do a complete physical examination. X-rays of the chest for heart measurement are important. So fire electrocardiograms. If there is any question about the heart, most doctors believe that EKGs are worthless unless they are also taken after measured exercise (i.e. the "two-step" test of Masters). The doctor will order necessary laboratory tests.

Let's assume that all examinations are negative. If your doctor says "Not guilty. Your heart's okay" — then you have a difficult job to do, too! forget it.

But as I said, it's easier said than done. That's why so many millions of people with strong hearts live in heart-anxiety and suffer needlessly with worry. They drag through life instead of skipping through it. Unhappy and anxious, they live like cardiac invalids even though they have healthy hearts.

* * *

For Mr. K.: I know of no reason why eating a handful of sunflower seeds every day will reduce the size of an enlarged prostate gland. Besides, it is possible they may irritate the lower bowel in some people.

* * *

For Mrs. F.: An "extra set" of nipples causes no harm. They are usually small and underdeveloped and are called accessory nipples. If you doctor says there's nothing to do about them, better take his advice.

Young Know What It Means to Be Canadian, Conference Told

TORONTO (CP) — "What are we, what is it to be Canadian and what is our national identity" is still an elusive question, Dr. James M. Gillies, dean of administrative studies at York University, said Friday.

He was attempting to summarize proceedings during the past three days of the Ontario Conference on Economic and Cultural Nationalism, which featured speakers representing finance, business, education and the arts.

"I liked the comment from one chap speaking from the floor who quoted the old song "We're here because we're here because we're here, and let's not spend the rest of our lives examining our navels to find out why."

Dr. Gillies said that "to be Canadian means something different, depending on where we live."

"The young people know what it means to be Canadian, although they aren't articulate in presenting their views.

"They presented a petition asking a reduction in the provincial age of majority, and they were listened to. They can say anything they want about anything in the province, which I think is a real tribute to living in the province of Ontario.

"I despise censorship. What we need is a free flow of ideas from artists, writers and students so we can all know what has gone on before and what is going on today.

"We must all learn how to live together and understand the problems of each different area."

Premier William Davis, who called the conference in his first throne speech March 30 shortly after he became Progressive Conservative premier, said the country needs optimism to resolve economic and cultural problems.

The conference has been extremely valuable in that it provided a forum where different viewpoints could be aired on economic and cultural problems, and will, after further study, help formulate government policy," he said.

Earlier, a labor leader and a business official suggested ways of freeing Canada of foreign control and acquiring a greater degree of control over natural resources.

William Dodge, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Labor Congress, called for nationalizing certain industries and establishing federal and provincial development corporations.

J. H. Gordon, president of the Sicel Co. of Canada Ltd., suggested increasing the processing of natural resources in Canada and threatening to withhold natural resource exports in order to gain access to larger markets for manufactured goods.

Mr. Dodge said foreign ownership is a problem for Canada.

"Canada should resolutely refuse to permit certain types of business to fall under foreign ownership," he said. "I refer to banks, the press, radio and television, book publishing, transportation and communications."

Publicly-controlled development corporations at federal and provincial levels should be established to fill the gaps in Canadian enterprise now being exploited by foreigners, he said.

"I would not hesitate, for example, 'to nationalize the CPR or Bell Canada to prevent foreign takeovers of these vital links in our transportation and communications systems.

"It is a respectable tool, used often in the past when private enterprise has failed in its responsibilities, and should be used to whatever extent necessary as a means of maintaining the economic and cultural sovereignty of this nation."

Mr. Gordon said the major advantage of removing tax incentives from the resource industries are a faster rate of development growth, a greater measure of equity in the tax system and a reduction in foreign control of natural resources industries.

Incentives to encourage more processing of minerals in Canada "have already led Canadian steel producers to invest heavily in ore mining . . . and has brought about a situation where large tonnages of Canadian iron ore are being processed into finished steel products to be sold in both domestic and export markets," Mr. Gordon said.

He said the proposal of use Canada's raw material exports to gain access to larger markets has merit if the plan is extended to a large number of countries, such as the U. S., Japan, the European Common Market, the Soviet Union and even China.

But he warned that "until our knowledge concerning Canada's prospective mineral, water and energy requirements is properly documented, I think it would be premature to commit a significant proportion of our natural resources in exchange for special access to any foreign market."

Foreign Control Urged as Election Issue

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario New Democratic Party was urged Friday night to make foreign domination of Canada the number one issue in the next Ontario election

Melville Watkins, one of the leaders of the party's nationalistic Waffle faction, made the suggestion but Ontario NDP leader Stephen Lewis did not fully endorse it.

Mr. Lewis did promise that if foreign control is not the overriding issue, "it will be one of the most compelling themes."

Both were speaking at the windup of an NDP conference on Ontario and Canadian independence held to counter a provincial government conference on foreign investment which also ended here Friday.

Mr. Lewis said in an interview that it is too early to decide what will be the key issue in the election. The election does not have to be held until the fall of 1972 although it is expected to be this fall.

Mr. Lewis said if unemployment is still extremely high then the NDP will fight the election on that issue. If pollution problems worsen then environmental control could be the major theme.

Mr. Watkins told about 400 persons it would be an "extreme disservice to the public" if foreign control is not the major issue

He charged the provincial Conservative government showed its total ignorance of the situation of foreign control when it called a conference to examine the subject.

He said most Canadians are already committed to the need for a more independent Canada and the question now is whether the country will be capitalist or socialist.

'You must come. We're having a Waffle for supper!'

Mr. Watkins urged the NDP to support more militant action by workers to fight shutdowns and layoffs by branches of U.S.-owned corporations in Canada.

He said a direct link between constituencies and union locals is lacking.

When a large layoff occurs, he suggested "workers should first seize the plant and then we will negotiate terms."

Stephen Hymer, a professor of economics, told the conference Friday multi-national corporations are free of political control because governments do not have enough information about them.

He said their head offices, where all major decisions are made, are isolated from the countries where they operate.

Canadian governments, he said, can only deal with middle-management in large multinational corporations. Candidians in these organizations, regardless of their titles, are only at the mid-level in the corporate structure and are not given full details of the operation

Multi-national corporations are not necessary, he said, because they do not manufacture essential items but instead produce "branded products for the middle and upper-middle class."

Mr. Hymer, a Canadian employed at the New School of Social Research in New York, switched from the government conference to the NDP one because he said he was the only economic nationalist invited to the government affair.

Pakistan Economy Crushed

Its economy has been sucked dry by the four-month civil war and the deadly cyclone that raked the East last November, taking an estimated 400,000 lives. Diplomats say 200,000 persons have died in the civil strife.

These disasters have widened the gap between the people of West and East Pakistan to what probably are unbridgeable lengths, leaving politics in disarray.

The Pakistan army from the West is waging an undeclared war against Bengali secessionists along the border with India.

The outside world, meanwhile, is mobilizing to combat problems of millions of refugees who are seen as the tinder on which one spark could ignite war between the two subcontinent countries.

Ninety days after the Awami League was outlawed, Sheik Mujibur Rahman, its leader, arrested and the army embarked on crushing the secessionists, resistance continues with border incursions, bombings and sabotage.

Party leader Sheik Mujib, as he is popularly known, remains in jail in West Pakistan where he is soon expected to stand trial.

In the East, Bengalis believe he could still become leadership even if he were released. Many complain his indership did not prepare them for the devastating blow delivered in March by the army.

World reaction against the army offensive here has resulted in postponement of a World Bank consortium's annual pledging meeting on aid to Pakistan. This may mean the country will lose about $400 million in economic assistance, and a $300 million market in the East for West Pakistan goods also has disappeared.

Screening Foiling Hijacks

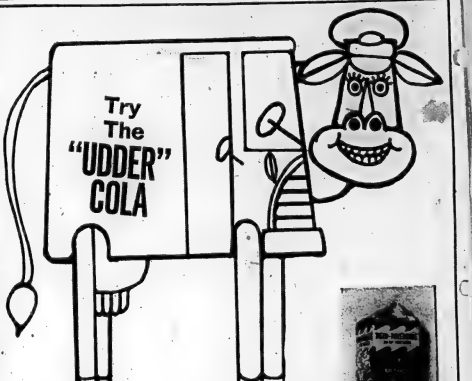
WASHINGTON (AP) — A new report on 17 months of airport screening shows five airline hijacking attempts foiled in the act, $1.5 million worth of narcotics confiscated and some surprises among the potted palms in airport lobbies.

In all, the Federal Aviation Administration says, 100 deputy United States marshals looked over 50 million domestic passengers between October, 1969, and May of this year.

The results were disclosed Friday in previously unreleased testimony by the FAA before a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee.

Among the more spectacular catches made by the marshals, said FAA associate administrator Clark Harper:

Atlanta—Two men, one dressed as a woman, were found to be carrying two loaded pistols, stolen credit cards and narcotics.



Kennedy International Airport in New York—A man and woman attempted to board an international flight. The man carried concealed weapons and the woman had taped a hand grenade to her leg.

Los Angeles International and Kennedy—A male passenger carrying a sawed-off shotgun. In each case with the avowed purpose of hijacking.

Harper said the airport screening system also has led to the arrests of narcotics smugglers, fugitive felons, escaped mental patients and military deserters. There were 408 arrests mad, along with the confiscation of 110 pistols, knives, sawed-off shotguns and grenades, plus $1.5 million worth of narcotics and $130,000 in cash.

In addition, he said, U.S. customs officers, screening international flights, made 80 arrests for concealed weapons or explosives and 17 for possession of illegal drugs or gambling paraphernalia.

Co-operating local police made several hundred arrests of their own, Harper said.

Provinces May Have to Adjust

OTTAWA (CP) — Some provinces will have to lower their provincial corporation taxes if the federal increase of tax advantages for Canadian corporations over foreign rivals is to be borne out.

Federal corporation taxes now are basically 21.4 per cent of the first $35,000 of corporation profits, and $1.5 per cent of everything in excess of $35,000 Removal of the three-per-cent anti-inflation surtax on July 1 reduces the rates to 21 and 50.41 per cent respectively.

The revised income tax law tabled in the Commons last week by Finance Minister Edgar Benson proposes that the top rate of tax should be 50 per cent. He said in his budget speech this would later be scaled down in four years to 46 per cent, though this promise is not specifically written into the proposed law.

A new incentive for Canadian-controlled private corporations would allow them a 25-per-cent rate on up to $50,000 of company profits each year until they had claimed a cmulative total of $400,000 at the special low rate.

Mr. Benson said the lowering of the general rate ultimately to 46 per cent would put Canadian business in a better competitive position with foreign corporations—particularly, those in the United States.

U.S. federal corporation taxes now are 52 per cent of the first $25,000 and 48 per cent of the excess. There are also local taxes in most states, but they are generally at low or nominal rates.

As is the case under current Canadian corporation taxes, the new law proposed by Mr Benson would make some room available for provincial taxes.

Ottawa now abates 10 per cent of the taxes on federal corporation profits, and provinces that do not charge more than 10 per cent leave their corporations no worse off. But some provinces charge more, running up to 12 per cent in Newfoundland or Manitoba.

Under the new income tax law, therefore, a corporation would pay $40,000 on every $100,000 of pre-tax profits in provinces that do not charge more than 10 per cent. In Newfoundland and Manitoba the tax would be $49,000.

Provinces charging more than the standard 10-per-cent federal abatement would therefore remove some of the competitive advantages proposed by Mr. Benson. West German firms making large profit distributions to their shareholders would still have an advantage.

Rock Festival Toll Three Dead

McCREA, La. (AP) — Thousands of sun-parched rock fans are streaming out of this rural area where a rock festival folded prematurely after drawing a crowd of 50,000.

The closing was announced after the Internal Revenue Service filed tax liens of more than $700,000 on the ticket-sale cash and police cracked down on drug violations.

Three persons died during the event and police said about 100 persons have been arrested on drug charges.

Thousands of fans began leaving the 700-acre meadowland even before the announcement boomed over loudspeakers Sunday night that the four-day-old festival would end after a night-long show, authorities said.

The Celebration of Life festival had been scheduled to last a week.

Randy Runkle, 20, of Elyria, Ohio, died Sunday at the festival hospital less of an overdose of drugs, Dr. Eugene Durell, a coroner, said.

Two youths drowned Saturday as rock fans moved into the Atchafalaya River to combat temperatures that rose to 100 degrees. They were Edwin Hardy Jr., 20, of Atlanta, Ga., and Wayne Green, 19, of New Orleans.

The Internal Revenue Service impounded gate receipts after filing more than $700,000 in tax liens against promoters. The state of Louisiana, which will get almost $1 a ticket in taxes, has had agents stationed at the gates, counting heads.

Festival-goers had paid $28 for advance tickets, $30 at the gate for the length of the festival, or $20 for three nights.

Police said the only major incident of violence occurred Saturday when five disguised agents were bringing out two persons on drug charges and a crowd gathered.

Warning shots were fired over the crowd, but one agent, struck by flying bottles and sticks hurled by the crowd, fell and fired a low shot, police said. The shot hit a youth in the thigh.

The wounded youth and two other persons were arrested on charges including attempted murder and inciting to riot.

Car Jams Between Box Cars

ST. JUSTIN, Que. (CP) — Claude Lefebvre went for an unexpected 37-mile-side trip Saturday night with his car lodged between two box cars of a moving CNR freight train.

The 26-year-old auto mechanic was approaching an unmarked level crossing near this city 30 miles northwest of Montreal when his car lights picked up the train.

When Mr. Lefebvre realized he could not stop in time, he jumped into the back seat of his 1966 convertible just before it lodged itself between the 18th and 19th cars of the train.

Mr. Lefebvre said later he does not remember much as he was knocked out by the impact. He suffered a broken nose and minor face cuts.

Police, alerted by motorists who reported the strange sight were preparing to stop the train when the car dislodged itself as the train rounded a curve.

Smythe Loses Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada, in a judgment today, dismissed an appeal by Blafford Smythe of Toronto against trial by indictment for tax evasion.

Mr. Smythe, 51, president of Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd., had appealed the Crown's procedure by indictment on the grounds that it was a violation of the Bill of Rights.

His lawyer, J. J. Robinette, argued that the procedure violates the Bill of Rights because, at the whim of the justice minister, it places the accused in jeopardy of a jail sentence.

Procedure by indictment means a minimum of two months in jail on conviction, while summary procedure provides the judge with the option of jail or fine.

Mr. Robinette argued and won the Smythe case last November before county court Judge Joseph Kelly. In December Chief Justice Dalton Wells of the Ontario Supreme Court over-ruled Judge Kelly and ordered Mr. Smythe to stand trial as charged.

Mr. Robinette went in the Ontario Court of Appeal, which upheld the Wells ruling, and then to the Supreme Court of Canada, which today did the same.

Acted Too Late Accused States

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Daniel Ellsberg surrendered to federal authorities today and told about 150 persons that he provided the New York Times with secret Pentagon papers on the Vietnam war and said "I am prepared for all consequences."

Ellsberg is charged in federal warrants with unauthorized possession of top-secret United States government documents and failure to return them.

Ellsberg told a group of cheering well wishers outside federal court building here that in the fall of 1969 he presented to the Senate foreign relations committee "information contained in the so-called Pentagon papers."

Arm-in-arm with his attractive wife and carrying a briefcase, Ellsberg said:

"After 3,000 more Americans had died, I could only regret that I had not at that same time released that information to the American public.

"I have done so now.

"I took the action on my own initiative. I felt as an American citizen—as a responsible citizen —I could no longer co-operate with concealing this information from the American people. I am prepared for all consequences."

Ellsberg, 40, a former Pentagon researcher and currently a research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, had been sought unsuccessfully by the FBI during the weekend.

His lawyer promised Saturday that Ellsberg would surrender today.

The warrant for Ellsberg was issued late Friday night in Los Angeles where a grand jury investigated the leak of the documents.

Ellsberg was not charged with giving the papers to The Times, and the newspaper has not disclosed the source.

The United States Supreme Court did not rule on the Pentagon Vietnam papers case today but extended its term in order to decide it.

The court was to have adjourned today until the fall term. But Chief Justice Warren Burger announced from the bench that it would continue sitting to hand down further orders.

Until the court reaches a decision the newspapers will continue to be banned from printing material from the history which the government says is too sensitive.

Queen Ignores Threats

YORK, England (AP) — The Queen and her daughter Princess Anne ignored death threats today and set out on royal visits to two ancient cities in northern England.

Police checked the rooftops in York for snipers who threatened to shoot the Queen as she drove in an open carriage surrounded by cavalry swordsmen.

Two mystery telephone callers warned that a bomb would blow up Durham Cathedral 60 miles away where Anne was praying at a charity service.

No trace of trouble was found on the Queen's route, and a search of Durham Cathedral disclosed no bombs.

As the Queen's plane landed at York, a second written threat was received, warning that she would be shot at a garden party in the grounds of the city museum. The messages, signed "The Angry Brigade," were delivered to a York newspaper.

Pakistan Villages Burned

DACCA (AP) — The Pakistani army has attacked at least five villages within 30 miles of this East Pakistan capital in the last four days, killing Hindu men and burning homes and markets in raids before dawn, reliable sources said today.

Arriving at one village, Boliadi, this correspondent passed an army column leaving the place and saw dead Hindu men and the bazaar and houses burning.

From nearby villages, rifle fire could be heard and columns of smoke were rising.

Residents of Boliadi said the raids started Friday, the day after the arrival in Decca of four members of the British Parliament investigating conditions in East Pakistan and refugee camps in India.

The people of Boliadi said the soldiers attacked the Hindu section of their village at 4 a.m. Sunday.

A Hindu woman held her husband in her arms. He had been shot in the neck. Another woman moaned over the body of her husband.

Across a small creek in a tiny corrugated iron house lay the body of a white-haired man with a bullet wound in his back.

Residents said at least five or six other corpses were in the village.

One villager said the troops looted houses and market stalls before setting them ablaze.

As they spoke, flames shot up from tin shacks.

Divers Swept Into Intake Of Power Plant

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Two youths watched helplessly from a boat while their fathers were sucked into state power authority intake pipes Sunday while scuba diving in the Upper Niagara River.

The drowned men were identified as David Funk, 36, and Irving Robin, 51, both of Grand Island.

Sheriff's deputies said safety lines became detached from the divers, and they were swept into one or both of the 45-by-55-foot intake tunnels.

Weather Grounds Show Visitors

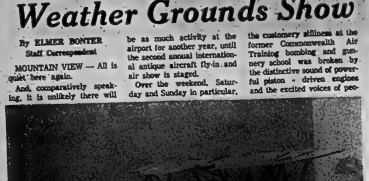
By ELMER BONTER
Staff Correspondent

MOUNTAIN VIEW — All is quiet here again.

And, comparatively speaking, it is unlikely there will be as much activity at the airport for another year, until the second annual international antique aircraft fly-in and air show is staged.

Over the weekend, Saturday and Sunday in particular, the customery silliness at the former Commonwealth Air Training bombing and gunnery school was broken by the distinctive sound of powerful piston - driven engines and the excited voices of people watching the aerial performances.

Sponsors of the show, although disappointed the Friday activities had to be cancelled due to rain, were satisfied with the result, reported show producer Ron Bailey.



Mr. Bailey said everyone involved agreed Mountain View airport was a natural site for the event. "We're even more enthusiastic now and look for improvement, the weather permitting, when we try it again in 1972."

Once the skies had cleared Saturday morning, antique aircraft flown and owned by Canadians and Americans started arriving. But, the weather front which delayed arrivals Friday moved south across the border keeping U.S. buffs on the ground another day. While a smattering of old types from the U.S. managed to complete the flight, the members that turned back compelled sponsors to rearrange the program and delete parts of it.

One of the most colorful visitors among the crowds on Sunday was Lindley Colman, publisher of the Picton Gazette dressed in World War I uniform of the Naval Air Services of the British Navy. He served as a balloon officer aboard the super dreadnought HMS Ajax with the rank of Flight Sub-Lieutenant.

Out of the highlights of Sunday's program was the election and presentation of the queen in the grand champion antique owners Fred DeVeaux and Ralph Allen of Lake Ontario, P.Q. They qualified with a beautifully maintained Fleet Finch.

Wing Walker with Antique

About 75 of the antique and classic aircraft at the air show at Mountain View airport over the weekend are the treasured possessions of vintage collectors. Some of them would cost $50,000 to buy if the owner could be persuaded to part with his prize. Like the well maintained older model Steerman pictured rolling along the tarmac, all fly and provide transportation to and from flying events.

Two Said Lucky to Live

TRENTON (Staff) — The OPP Constable who investigated the car-train crash west of Brighton Saturday night wondered how the occupants of the car escaped with their lives.

The driver John Blyth, 18, and passenger Roy Chapman, about the same age, were admitted to the hospital at Cobourg suffering back injuries, bruises, lacerations and shock. The condition of both youths, who live at Colborne, was listed as critical on admittance to hospital. Last night the hospital reported both had improved and were apparently out of danger.

Scene of the accident was at Making's sideroad crossing six miles west of Brighton.

The 1964 model car involved was a total wreck according to the police. CNR passenger train No. 54 westbound with 16 cars on a scheduled run was delayed by the collision.

Kinsmen Pool Opens Wednesday

With a fresh coat of paint and upgraded facilities, the Kinsmen pool on Dundas Street East was officially opened this weekend, with swimming scheduled to begin Wednesday.

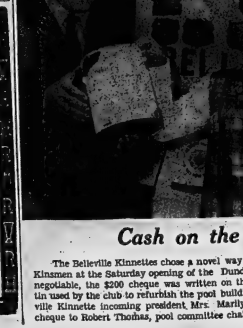
"We are quite fortunate in this area that we have quite a multitude of lakes and rivers we can utilize for recreation," said pool committee chairman Robert Thomas.

"Water sports such as boating, water skiing and scuba diving are becoming ever more popular in the area.

"It is imperative that we utilize fully, our existing pools and strive to increase the facilities for instructing our fellow citizens in swimming drills and water safety."

The pool committee chairman suggested to the guests at the opening ceremonies Saturday afternoon at the pool, "to those of you who cannot swim or have children who cannot swim, I encourage you to make every effort this summer to gain some knowledge of swimming. One never knows when an emergency on the water will arise and your swimming ability could save your life or that of another party in distress."

Mayor J. Russell Scott congratulated the Kinsmen and their Kinnette auxiliary on their "contribution to the community."



He referred to the club as a "good, active, operating, service club."

Mr. Thomas, in accepting a $200 cheque from Kinsmette Kinnette president Mrs. Marilyn Elsner, said "our biggest expense was paint," to brighten the 11-year-old pool.

The Kinnettes appropriately presented the cheque written on the surface of a paint can used to refurbish the pool and baby facilities.

A full staff has been employed to man the pool, with free swimming available from 9 to 11 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, and instructional swims booked for every half hour between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. weekdays and special public swims, 25 cents children, 50 cents adults and students between 1.30 and 4.30 p.m., 7 and 9 p.m.

Kinsmen club president William McLeod predicted approximately 35,000 children will be swimming in here this summer.

Cash on the Can

The Belleville Kinnettes chose a novel way to present a cheque to the Kinsmen at the Saturday opening of the Dundas Street pool. Completely negotiable, the $200 cheque was written on the surface of an empty paint tin used by the club to refurbish the pool buildings and fences. Here, Belleville Kinnette incoming president Mrs. Marilyn Elsner presents the odd cheque to Robert Thomas, pool committee chairman.

And the Beat Marched On

More than 200 Highland pipers, drummers and dancers took part in the formal Massed Pipes and Drums marchpast led by Drum Major Ken Candler at the second annual Belleville Kinsmen Highland Tattoo at the Belleville Fairgrounds Sunday. Represented here are bands from Belleville, Trenton, Brighton, Ajax, Brockville, London, Kingston, Mississauga, Newmarket, Oshawa, and Port Hope. A crowd of between 1,200 and 1,500 packed the grandstand as displays of pipe efficiency, marching, Scottish dancing and songs were presented.

Awards Top Off Scottish Fete

To the skirl of the pipes and the beat of the snare and bass drum, more than 200 massed pipers, drummers and highland dancers marched onto the field at the Belleville Fairgrounds this Sunday as the Belleville Kinsmen Club presented the second annual Quinte Highland Weekend.

A crowd of between 1,700 and 1,900 jammed the grandstand to witness the colorful event, which saw varieties of tartan too numerous to count.

Topping the marchers was the Ingersoll Pipe Band under Pipe Major Robert Collins and Drum Major Kenneth Candler. In their colorful Royal Scottart tartan, the pipe band was hard - pressed to emerge with the Best Performing Band award.

The Kingston Reb Roy Highland Pipe Band and Scottish Dancers, in MacGregor tartan, under Pipe Major James Sutherland and Drum Major John Neill, received the Best Dressed Band trophy plus the top drum major trophy.

While most onlookers think of pipe bands as an all-male category, the ladies are not left in the background.

In fact, the Kinsmen Balmoral Girls from Oshawa, in Dress Gordon tartan, clearly showed the excellence which brought them the Best Girls' Band award. Under Pipe Major Larry Lemire and Drum Major Sally Little, the tartan ladies were a good match for men's bands.

Topping the field with the top Veterans Band award, were Belleville's own Army, Navy and Airforce, Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201 under Pipe Major Dougal McCamley and Drum Major Kenneth Candler. In their colorful Hunters tartan the band has been featured at many events throughout the Quinte district.

All trophies for the Sunday event were made available by the Belleville Kinsmen Club.

Organizers were a little disappointed at the turnout, which was below that of last year, but "we hope to break even," said William Christie, co-chairman of the highland weekend, which included a parade down Front Street up Bridge Street to the Armories where a Tartan Ball was held Saturday night.

Oil Spill Mopped Up

TRENTON (Staff) — Quick action taken by highway and public utilities authorities prevented any serious threat from 2,000 gallons of used oil spilling from an overturned carrier at the ramp coming off the Wooler Road Interchange yesterday.

Immediately following the incident in the late afternoon, crews started a mopping up operation with bales of hay and sand.

At first it was feared oil trickling into a creek by the side of the road would reach the town's water storage in nearby Trenton Lake and pollute it. Closer investigation, however, revealed the lake was in no danger and it was unlikely much of the runoff could find its way to a natural reservoir at a lower level.

The tanker, driven by Kenneth Farrar, 37, of Scarborough belongs to Quinte Oil Products on the Carrying Place Road.

The driver, who suffered minor cuts and bruises, was treated at the Trenton Memorial hospital and released.

Area Scouts Enjoy Picnic

TWEED (Staff) — More than 200 picnickers were on hand for the first Boy Scout District Council picnic held Saturday at Camp Saganooka, near here.

One of the highlights was an adult free-for-all, funloving baseball game which saw the Grapes down the Oranges 26-16.

Ice cream was provided courtesy of the district council and picnic baskets were packed by the mothers.

Organizers plan to make this picnic an annual event, which they hope will include even more attraction.

armed, which is unusual in Britain—were ordered to mingle with the street crowds.

Soldiers, submachine-guns under their arms, patrolled a racecourse where the Queen was to watch a schoolchildren's display.

The Angry Brigade is an underground anarchist organization with no particular political views except the overthrow of established society.

The brigade claims responsibility for half a dozen harmless bomb attacks in London, including blasts at the homes of a government minister and the head of Scotland Yard.

The Queen's advisers decided to take no chances, although top detectives believed the assassination threat came from a hoaxer rather the Angry Brigade which does not normally give advance warning of its activities.

Four hundred police, many of them armed, were mobilized to protect the Queen and Prince Philip during the ride through York's narrow streets in an open horse drawn carriage.

The Queen was spending six hours in York to take part in the city's 1,900th anniversary celebrations.

Snow Trails To Be Posted

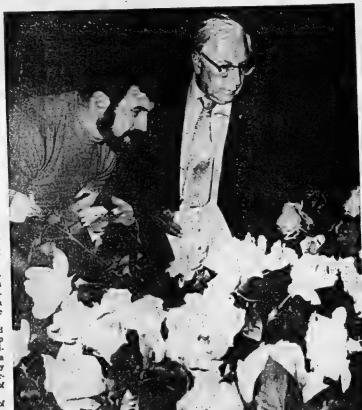
TWEED (Special)— Snowmobile trails in the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Region will be posted with signs advising users that they travel the trails at their own risk.



Notification of the posting will appear three times in local newspapers, members of the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Region decided at their last meeting.

A charge of discrimination was brought by Bruce Hopper in the matter of collection of retail sales tax. He said the tax should be charged on all tourist accommodation, not just on lodges operated under the American plan.

Close to 1,400 visitors passed through the gates at the two - day festival, to view exhibits entered by 120 rose cultivators and 82 African Violet growers.

"This is the highest attendance we've ever had," said Mrs. A. K. Gardiner. "We didn't think we'd get such a good attendance with so many other programs this weekend."

In officially opening the rose festival, Mayor J. Russell Scott told approximately 200 guests "one of the things that counteracts pollution is the growth of flowers."

Newly - elected president of the Ontario Horticulture Association, Phil Dodds of Picton, agreed. "It helps to make the province a little bit better, more beautiful with trees, gardens, and flowers and interest in cleanup programs."

Mr. Dodds, representing his 43,000 - member organization, forecast an increase in members to 50,000 within the next year and announced the 1972 annual convention would be held at Queen's University in Kingston.

Following the opening ceremonies and selection of Sandra Finkle of Belleville as Rose Queen, the exhibits in the school gym were opened to th public.

Earlier Saturday afternoon, judges Mrs. V. Crook of Kingston, Mrs. E. I. Hamilton of Agincourt, Arthur Buckley of Ottawa, K. Gardiner of Brantford, Mrs. L. H. Jacks of Kingston and Mrs. Nellie Didsick of Toronto, selected the winners for both shows.

Topping the entries for the Queen of the Show class, winner of the Corby Trophy, was a peace rose entered by Mrs. W. T. Page of 68 Everett Street.

Deenah Cameron, 20, of RR1 Carrying Place, was selected first princess and Jane Douglas, 18, of 14 Mount Pleasant Road, Belleville, second princess. A total of eight finalists were chosen from 24 area entrants.

Special cash prizes of $500, $200 and $100 were presented to the Queen and her Princesses by Brooke Bond Foods and the girls, plus their escorts, were to be entertained in the Terrace Room, courtesy of Four Seasons Hotel.

Commenting on the awards, Mrs. Doreen Plumridge, said of Brooke Bonds' donation of $1,000, "without them we could not have had the festival."

Phil Dodds, newly - elected president of the Ontario Horticulture Association and retired editor of the Picton Gazette announced the Queen will be invited to the 1972 conference in Kingston.

PM and the Jobs

Jobs for the boys in the mines in Thompson, Manitoba, and for the girls "in service," as working at household help or as a maid, was known in the good old days when young women did that sort of thing.

Prime Minister Trudeau would have our jobless men and women do just that. He told them so as he mingled with the crowds in his latest exercise in participatory democracy, this time in the Toronto area.

Well let's hope there is some substance in what Mr. Trudeau says in this regard. If there are jobs available in the mines in Thompson, it seems strange that in the current jobless situation there has been no rush to fill them.

We salute the young man in the crowd at Bramalea who went after the Prime Minister saying he wanted a job. It was then that Mr. Trudeau mentioned the mines but Dennis Everitt, 22, went further, he gave the P.M. his name, address and occupation on a cigarette carton. Now it may not be his direct responsibility, but Mr. Trudeau, if he is sincere about this, could do worse than try and put the young man in the way of work, other than have him traipse off to the wilds of northern Manitoba that is.

But there are 500 others who were laid off from the same plant with Everitt and basically it is their responsibility to go after whatever jobs there are, applying through Manpower or directly at plants. As Mr. Trudeau told one young worker in the crowd, "you will have to do more than wave a placard. She replied she would work at anything and Mr. Trudeau suggested work as a maid, adding: I'll find you some jobs."

—Probably he was talking of work in the various embassies, and he has a point. If a girl can work as a waitress, and many of them do in the summer, what is to prevent them working as a maid in a household or as a nursemaid, helping to look after children?

The Prime Minister at least had some suggestions, and it is up to people seeking work to exercise initiative, to do something other than just wave a placard, as Mr. Trudeau put it.

The City Scene

Planning director Bert Kenny's recommendations on the location of apartment buildings, that they should be restricted to specific areas, will be greeted with satisfaction. There have been complaints by citizens of late regarding the indiscriminate building of apartment blocks and the report, which planning board members have accepted in principle, is timely. A series of public meetings are now being scheduled, to be followed by a recommendation to city council.

With regard to another aspect of community affairs, there will be sympathy with residents of Victoria Avenue affected by construction of the sidewalk running east on the north side of the street from Farley Avenue to Haig Road. Whatever the long-term benefits for schoolchildren and pedestrians generally, the immediate prospect for residents of their lawns being chopped up and frontages pushed back is not a pleasant one. For them personally, the fact that the front edge of their lawns is city property has turned out to their disadvantage.

A Gallic Affair

Aside from some trouble in the old quarter of Montreal during the St. Jean Baptiste celebrations last week, the traditional June 24 fun went off without serious incident and characterized as ever by typical French-Canadian verve.

Our own Anglo-Saxon traditions are dour by comparison. Even St. Patrick's Day offers nothing to compare with the Gallic flair for fun and full participation by so many. The Quebec winter carnival is another case in point when a whole city celebrates into the night.

Marking the occasion too were bonfires, from Cornwall east virtually all the way along the St. Lawrence to Gaspe, a tradition dating back to France and the Middle Ages. In those days it had the mark of pagan ritual, with a cat being tossed on the flames because it was regarded as an omen of evil. Today it has happier connotations, celebrating the day St. Baptiste was born, six months before the birth of Christ. In Canada the occasion goes back to 1636 and the Jesuit priests.

Pretoria Wants Talks

Black Africa Split on Attitude to South Africa

By STEPHEN SCOTT

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — With the next session of the General Assembly, with its inevitable debates on apartheid, only a couple of months away, African leaders showed considerable disarray recently.

The shortest-ever heads-of-government meeting of the Organization of African Unity at Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, rejected a plan by Ivory Coast for a dialogue with white-ruled South Africa.

But the vote among the 31 delegates at the meeting of the 41-member organization was interesting. The call for a dialogue was rejected 26 to 6 with 5 abstentions.

The French-speaking countries, and those small ones that are enclosed by South African territory, feel that the South African government's offer last year for a dialogue with black Africa should be accepted.

No doubt following the lead of Paris, which has good relations with South Africa, these countries are saying that past policies aimed at ending white-minority rule in Africa have failed and something new must be tried.

The English-speaking African states say this that attempts must be made to put South Africa, Rhodesia and the Portuguese colonialists into a dock first.

It would appear that the situation at the OAU "summit" meeting, which lasted only two days and attracted only 19 heads of government, was different from the solidly hostile Afro-Asian atmosphere created at the Singapore Commonwealth meeting in January when British Prime Minister Heath was under heavy fire over sale of arms to South Africa.

This break in the solid black front, evident last year and stronger this year, is only one apparent change that seems to be appearing in Africa.

Another is Britain's renewed interest in reaching agreement with Rhodesia. Recently Heath sent emissaries to Salisbury to reopen what appeared to be closed discussions with the white-minority government that declared Rhodesia independent of Britain and brought into force an apartheid-style constitution.

Reports indicate that Heath would like to report at least progress toward an agreement by the October meeting of his Conservative party.

Some indications are starting to appear that Heath would settle for a pretty loose formula for the granting of majority rule to the blacks of Rhodesia—say making this a possibility in about 20 years time.

And reports also indicate that Britain would like to get out from under the blockade it is running on behalf of the United Nations and the Commonwealth on shipping of cargoes destined to or from Rhodesia.

These ships operating off the Portuguese colony of Mozambique could well be used elsewhere by the Royal Navy, Heath is reported to feel.

Meanwhile, South Africa, which helped bring about the black African split by offering a dialogue, may take another step following the World Court opinion that it has no right to Namibia—South-West Africa—and must hand it over to the UN.

The country is expected to come under heavy fire at the General Assembly over this. But it will remain obdurate, knowing that nothing short of war can get it out of that rich country.

But to soften the anger, at least to some, it may go ahead with plans to hold a referendum in the area and let the people do what South Africa knows they will do, vote for the status quo.

That kind of vote can be expected because of ballots of the whites of the area combined with those of blacks who really are not aware of what the fuss is about.

All this indicates some angry debates in the assembly.

Nobody has changed from opposition to apartheid, but despite the World Court opinion, which is binding on no country, it would appear that South Africa may be off the hook a bit.

It would appear that additional anger will be turned on Britain, for arms sales to South Africa and over Rhodesia, and on France, also for arms sales.

For South Africa's foes probably feel there is more hope of changing those policies than in moving Pretoria.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Today is June 28, 1971 . . .

The Treaty of Versailles, ending the First World War, was signed 52 years ago today—in 1919—and laid the foundations of the League of Nations with the intent of guaranteeing peace. As a price for diplomatic rehabilitation, Germany accepted full responsibility for the war, surrendered land to France, Belgium and Poland, and promised to pay huge indemnities to the Allies. Continuing resentment of these clauses, planned to prevent Germany from ever again becoming a military giant, contributed directly to Hitler's rise to power only 14 years later.

1931—Archduke Joseph Groesz was sentenced at Budapest to 15 years for plotting to overthrow the Hungarian Communist government.

1944—United States and British occupation forces in Germany began their airlift to blockaded Berlin.

1944—The United States Republican party nominated Thomas Dewey for president.

What's With The Mail In Canada?

Letter to the Clerk and Mail

I thought you might find interesting the following extract from the Pro-Québécois column of the Irish Times of May 28.

"There's something odd, all right, about the postal services from Canada, and some support, perhaps, for Québécois's theory that they are beginning to send the stuff over to us by Indian canoe, instead of by air.

As you'll remember, he noted last week that a letter from Stratford, Ont., posted on Dec. 3 did not arrive in Dublin till the middle of May.

"Since then, five other correspondents have written in, recounting similar experiences. A gleeful letter from Montreal on Dec. 6, a letter from Montreal on Dec. 7, one from Ontario on Dec. 8, one from Calgary on Dec. 9—all arrived here in Ireland on or about May 18. The answer is simple, you have to say: they all went off in the same bag, and the bag got mislaid. But that theory doesn't account for the fact that there's another letter, which at the moment holds the record for delay, that was posted in the town of Vernon on Oct. 8, so it could hardly have gone into the same bag as the others. No, I prefer the Indian canoe explanation."

For the past few weeks the children of Grade One at Queen Mary School have busied their little fingers making a large afghan and were justly proud of their efforts upon completion. Then these small children sold tickets and offered the Afghan for a draw, realizing $45 from their endeavours. This amount was then sent to the British War Victims' Fund in Toronto, as their contribution.

Mosquitoes on Warpath

Ottawa Journal

There is buzzing, biting evidence that this year may be one of the worst for mosquito infestation. In some areas, such as Crystal Beach, people are already complaining.

Because there was no spraying of breeding grounds done anywhere in the province this spring, mosquitoes have had a chance to mature in larger number than usual in the high levels of water left by winter's above average snowfall.

A week or so of temperatures in the 90s could reduce the invasion. Adult mosquitoes dehydrate and die quickly in such heat. But they thrive best when the temperature is in the mid-seventies. By the end of June we should know just how well.

Until last year when regional government took over, mosquito control was the responsibility of the city and the NCC. Regional Government's aerial spraying permit was cancelled last year by the Ontario Water Resources Commission because the OWRC wanted a detailed survey done of mosquito breeding grounds in the 12,000 acres under regional jurisdiction.

The OWRC does not want insecticides sprayed on areas where there are no mosquito breeding grounds — which is reasonable.

But the alternative is a costly, painstaking survey of ponds and swamps where mosquitoes hatch an operation which regional authorities have judged beyond their resources. Thus mosquitoes increase and multiply while people seem doomed to suffer.

Area municipalities are considering "tagging" operations using a chemical spray to kill adult mosquitoes. But it does not have long-lasting effects, and a few hours after fogging, a new crop of mosquitoes can infest the area.

Thus science cannot yet give us acceptable protection against the mosquito bite, beyond a few rub-on lotions.

The 'Peaceniks'—Peace Is Not Really Their Objective

Henry Paolucci, professor of political science at St. John's University, New York, in an article in The Globe and Mail.

To the historically trained ear the most ominous drums of war have always been those pounded in the name of peace. Those drums are rolling today with a mounting intensity unparalleled in U.S. history. They are telling us (in rhythms of Adlai Stevenson's eloquence): "We must abolish war to save our collective skins. For so long as this nuclear death-dance continues, tens of millions - perhaps hundreds of millions - are living on borrowed time." The intention of such talk is peace; but its emotional intensity is unquestionably such stuff as wars are made of. When peace is proclaimed as a sovereign value, when its lovers declare themselves disposed to sacrifice all things else for its attainment - even their pledged national allegiance - we can be sure that ignorant armies, terrible wills and self-righteous banners are about to clash. Peace is, like liberty, one of those Jacobard ideals that look too ways. The Road to Peace remains a peaceful road only so long as no serious obstacles are encountered. According to some wise men, the fiercest wars have been fought to remove manmade obstacles to peace. Hitler was such an obstacle. Yet, what he was ultimately after with his talk of "New Order" was surely an arrangement of enforceable peace - under which the entire world would indeed be living now, had our physicists not outstripped his in that first great nuclear arms race.

Wars result from the desire to impose one's will upon others and to resist being imposed upon. Peace is the condition of having one's willful way, whether actively or passively.

Vying to establish an enforceable world peace today are the Marxist-Leninists, who are as tough as the toughest old Romans, and that motley band of American social scientists, English teachers, journalists, Santa Claus-reading physicists, existentialist philosophers, playwrights film-makers, etc., ably characterized by Joseph Schumpeter as "ethical imperialists." The Marxist-Leninists have an obvious advantage, for they are realists. They can be deterred by a nuclear policy of assured destruction, strictly adhered to by the United States. But, if U.S. policy insists on an enforceable world peace, the tough men of Moscow are not about to let themselves be "Pug washed" into accepting the pet-ulant rule of a Western intelligensia that thinks it can gain the world by a "great act of persuasion" conducted on the pattern of a Harvard seminar on international affairs.

The irony is that, with all their drum-beating for "peace now", the women and children who lead today's peace crusade are making it impossible for serious counsels to be heard in the halls of government.

Our great danger today comes not from U.S. military arrogance, but from the arrogance of our peace-mongering, which intoxicates and must eventually pervade the will to act prudently.

Old Mill Site Unveiling Ceremony

With descendants of the original mill builder taking part in the ceremony,a plaque perpetuating the site of Roblin's Mill was unveiled in brilliant sunshine here on Sunday. Richard Owen Roblin, second from left, from Ramapoe, New Jersey, performed the unveiling as official representative of the Roblin family. Built in Ameliasburg village in 1842 by Owen Roblin the mill was dismantled and moved to the Black Creek conservation authority as a tourist attraction some years ago. About two years ago the 7th Town Historical Society of Ameliasburg moved to have the old mill site recognized. Also shown in the photo are Mrs. R. O. # Hearing Is Called to Discuss Services For Prince Edward PICTON (Staff) — Formation of a county water and sewerage area will be discussed here tomorrow at a public hearing called by the Ontario Water Resources Commission. Included in the proposed designated area are Prince Edward's ten municipalities: Picton, Bloomfield, Wellington, Ameliasburg, Athol, Hallowell, Hillier, North Marysburg, South Marysburg, and Sophiasburg.

It has been suggested water supplies from the proposed OWRC pumping operation in Hillier township could be utilized by areas in the county's western end.

Industrial commissioner William Duggan, who has compiled a master data file for Prince Edward County, will present a brief at Tuesday's hearing in the Parish Hall at 10:30 a.m. The recently completed file includes reference to a 50 - acre tract of serviced land owned by Prince Edward County at the site of the County Home for the Aged. Mr. Duggan has mentioned in his file 40 acres of this property are available at $250 an acre, including services. The land has not been subdivided and there is no access road or services to individual lots.

This rural land parcel is crossed by a railway line and fronted by Highway 49. Less than a mile distant lies the deep water of the Bay of Quinte.

The industrial commissioner's file also describes a 750-acre complex site owned by Loch Sloy Holdings Ltd. of Picton. Industrial land north of Wellington with access to water and hydro and a main road and railway to serve the sites. Approximately 2,000 acres of industrial land in Hillier near hydro and connections and deep water is mentioned. This property, however, has no piped water or sewerage services. Lots available from private owners are noted also. Land use bylaws control the municipalities of Hillier, Ameliasburg and Picton.

Trenton Thinks Again After Tenders Opened

TRENTON (Staff) — Long-delayed construction of the Front Street trunk sanitary sewer has met a new snag.

Two sealed tenders received for the project have come in at amounts ranging from $80,000 to $90,000, above the original estimate for the job of $96,000.

Building of the new sewer — last in a series to feed the east side sewage treatment plant — had been stalled for several weeks while the town sought Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation financing for the project.

Word has been received from Quinte MPP, Dr. R. T. Potter, that CMHC would provide the necessary money. Of the total loan, about $14,000 would be forgivable.

The new setback is being eased with by town engineer, Arthur Campbell, who has begun a survey to see if Trenton's public works department will be able to do the job itself.

"We certainly cannot afford to pay out $170,000 for this job," says Mayor Duncan McDonald, who adds "the only answer seems to be for us to do the work ourselves."

Last fall's Bay Sreet sewer construction was handled by town crews at a considerable saving to taxpayers but the Front Street job is considerably larger.

Sanitary sewage from the area now flows directly into the Trent River at several points. With its completion, virtually all raw sewerage from the town will be funnelled through the treatment plant in Centennial Park.

"It is a matter of equipment and timing." Mr. Campbell said today. No decision has been reached yet.

Trenton is still waiting for Ontario Municipal Board approval of three capital works projects — the Front Street sewer and the rebuilding of Flindall and Dufferin Streets.

The engineer said the Flindall and Dufferin jobs will be handled by regular town crews in any case.

He added if the sewer construction is done by the department of public works, more men and machinery would have to be acquired. The question is how many and how much will be needed.

Lament for a Lab

One reaction to the recent announcement of the closing of the federal department of agriculture's Research Institute here was the lowering to half-staff of the institute's flag. Called a "caretaker's prank" by the acting director, the flag was raised again before a visiting party of Ottawa officials arrived to preside over details of the demise of biological control here. "They would take a dim view of that," said the director.

Sex Partners Disagree Regarding Abortion

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: This has to be the worst yet, I'm 46, separated and pregnant. The man is married and has teen-age children.

While I like him, I do not want him. And I certainly would never want to break up his family. He is a Jehovah's Witness and I am a Catholic, although I am planning to leave the Catholic church.

This has been no long term affair. It only happened the once and why I got pregnant I'll never know. Anyway, he wants me to have an abortion so his family won't find out. I don't want to have an abortion.

He also says he would be de-fellowshipped from the Kingdom Hall.

If I have the abortion no one would ever need to know anything. I don't think I would keep this baby afterwards anyhow. — What's Best?

Dear What's: This is not the kind of a decision I would dream of making for you. So much feeling is involved in aborting a possible child, Religion enters into it, with a good deal of disagreement among the denominations about the principle of preserving life.

Having the baby presents its own complications, but there are empty arms waiting for children to adopt, in most of our cities. Better talk it all over with your own family agency. They will respect your confidence.

Dear Doris: This may be a silly question, but to settle the argument kindly put us straight on what you mean when you wrote: "A schizophrenic imagines that people are watching him when they are not."

Does this simply mean he imagines he is being watched, when there is absolutely no one around? How about when one is among people and occasionally we think or feel someone is watching us, just to find they are not?

Surely this is not schizophrenic. — Schisoid?

Dear Schizoid: If a person sees people when the room is empty, he has made a complete break with reality, which is called a psychosis.

What I meant was the type of symptom a schizophrenic shows in imagining he is being persecuted, looked at with all finitessity and critical eye by the people who are around him. If he goes too far in imagining this — and it is completely unreasonable there is a good chance he is a schizophrenic tendencies.

This should be distinguished from the anxiety of a person within the normal range of rationality who is self-conscious enough to worry about whether people are watching him or not. Their leering looks may still be a product of his imagination without the doctor's classifying him as mentally unbalanced.

We cannot entirely rule out mental telepathy. I dare say, though, the well-adjusted personality seldom experiences such fantasies.

A Splendid Addition to Hamburg File

By MARY MOORE

Canuck Lasagna seems like a nuisance to make at first glance for you use three different utensils before you finally assemble all steps but suddenly all go together and presto! dinner is ready to go in the oven for one hour. This is another addition for your "Hamburg" file.

CANUCK LASAGNA
(Serves 8)

Tomato Meat Sauce:
¼ cup salad oil
1 large onion chopped
1 clove garlic chopped
¼ cup parsley chopped (or bottled flakes)
One 28-oz. can tomatoes
One 6-oz. can tomato paste (or ¾ cup catsup)
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1½ lbs. ground chuck beef

Cheese Sauce:
¼ cup salad oil
1 small onion chopped
2 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
¾ cup shredded cheese (packed)
2 egg yolks beaten
Half of 1 lb. pkge. lasagna noodles (7")
¾ cup shredded cheese (packed — second amount for topping)

To make Tomato Meat Sauce heat oil in large frypan and saute in it the onion, garlic, parsley until limp — not brown. Add tomatoes, tomato paste or catsup, bay leaf, salt, pepper and ground beef. Break up by chopping and stirring and simmer 35 min.

Meanwhile put lasagna noodles on to boil in large amount of water for 15 min.

Next make Cheese Sauce by heating salad oil in medium frypan or pot and in it saute onion until limp. Stir in flour and salt, then milk and cheese until thick. Stir 2 or 3 spoonsful of sauce into beaten yolks and stir them into cheese sauce.

Now to assemble dish you need one greased very large baking dish. (We used one 13 x 8½ x 1¾") or two medium casseroles. Drain the noodles well and arrange in bottom. Cover with Tomato Meat Sauce, Cover that evenly with Cheese Sauce. Cover that with with last amount of cheese all over. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hr.

Women's Institute

Chapman-Tweed WI

The June meeting of Chapman-Tweed Women's Institute was held in the municipal building, Tweed. The President, Mrs. William J. Woods, presided and welcomed the members and guests, especially the guests from Roslin Women's Institute.

The members decided to take part in the canvas for the Arthritis and Rheumatism Association, early this coming fall. Mrs. A. Martin, Curator, will purchase a new book for the Tweedsmuir History.

Mrs. Claude Barnett and Mrs. Aubrey Reid read poems entitled "Little Things" each presenting a different view of our every-day lives. As a diversion, Mrs. Lynn had an activity game.

Mrs. A. Martin then showed slides of the tour of Europe and the British Isles which she and her husband enjoyed last autumn. There were many beautiful and colourful pictures of Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Italy, England and Scotland. While in Germany Mr and Mrs. Martin attended the Passion Play at Oberammagau. This is presented every ten years by the townspeople since the 17th century in thanksgiving to God for being saved from the plague.

Mrs. Martin showed many moving scenes of the play. To close, she showed some views of the Canadian parliament buildings and display in Ottawa, and finally the Martin home, south of Tweed.

The president extended a warm thank you to Mrs. Martin and Convener Mrs. Lynn. A delicious lunch was served by the committee in charge of that project.

The next meeting will be held in September, at the home of Mrs. B. Hunt

Joint Party For Clubs

A joint Kinsmen and Kinette Party was held Saturday, June 19, at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wood. Approximately 45 kinsmen, kinettes and prospective members were in attendance. With a large bonfire, the highlight of the evening, there was dancing, dining and congenial conversation which was enjoyed by all. Kin wife Dianne Carter was the lucky winner of the door prize.

During the evening a presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wood, on behalf of all present, to show their appreciation for being such wonderful hosts.

'Long Hairs' Comment Annoys This Reader

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If one more kid says to me, "Long hair is great. After all, Jesus had long hair," — I will personally kick him in the teeth.

Nobody knows what Jesus looked like. They did not have photographers 2,000 years ago and no artist ever painted a picture of him. The pictures we see hanging in churches and hospitals are based on somebody's imagination.

The best information we have regarding hair styles of that time is from the Bible. Corinthians, Chapter 11, Verse 14: "Does not even nature itself teach you that, if a man have long hair, it is a shame unto him?"

Any kid who wants to wear his hair long ought to be man enough to do it without saying he is imitating Jesus. — I LIKE IT SHORT.

DEAR LIKE IT: I swore I would not print another letter about hair, but yours is out of the ordinary, so I'm making an exception. Thanks for writing, and I'm renewing my resolution.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed two letters in your column from mothers who had lost their babies. They wrote to complain about the bad manners and poor judgment of people who asked fantastic questions and made some very dumb remarks.

I was in a similar situation eight months ago, only my baby lived. Our son was premature. He weighed 3 pounds, 8 ounces. Within two hours after the baby was born two doctors assured us he was perfectly formed and in excellent condition.

I was scarcely back from the delivery room when a friend called to say, "If the baby dies you'll feel like it. Usually premies have something wrong and it's better if they don't live."

Our baby was in an incubator 40 days. I never received one gift or even a card in all that time. Everyone was afraid he might not make it. I was told by "friends" the baby would be "slow, sickly and he might not have teeth."

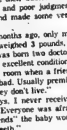
Our son is now 8 months old, weighs 18 pounds and can walk around in his crib, hanging onto the sides. He has six teeth, is a bright, happy child and has never even had diaper rash.

Please print this. A lot of women need educating on the subject of premature babies. — BALTIMORE MOTHER.

• • •

DEAR B: Here's your letter, plus my thanks for helping to educate the women who need it.

• • •



DEARA NN LANDERS: I am 11. I have two sisters — one is 14, the other 17. Seeing as how they are both older than I am you would expect them to be more mature, but they aren't.

Both sisters are in bad with the library. They have lost their cards, lost books and ended up having a hassle with the librarian. They can't take any more books out so they have been borrowing my card. Now I'm in trouble. They have run up fines which I am getting notices about. The last notice sounds as if the library will sue me if I don't pay up. Please tell me what to do. — VICTIM OF SISTERS.

• • •

DEAR VIC: The first thing you should do is see that the fines are paid. Since they are charged against your card, you are responsible. This might require a high-level family meeting, like with parents.

Next, urge your sisters to go to the library and get reinstated as welcome visitors. Inform them they may not use your card in the future — and make it stick.

Lewis Would Meet Needs of Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — If Canada is to remain united a way will have to be found to recognize the "particular needs" of Quebec, says NDP Leader David Lewis.

In a CTV interview taped Friday for viewing Sunday afternoon, Mr. Lewis suggested that Quebec should have jurisdiction in some fields of social security so long as national standards are maintained.

He mentioned family allowances, youth allowances and manpower training allowances —the fields of provincial jurisdiction agreed upon at the recent constitutional conference in Victoria.

Mr. Lewis said the more he watches constitutional discussions "the more I am convinced that if we are to retain Canada as a country, a united country, that we have to find some way of recognizing the particular needs in the province of Quebec."

There was a "pretty well unanimous" determination in Quebec to have jurisdiction in fields that French-speaking Canadians believe attach to the kind of culture they want to develop.

The demands were not made by the Union Nationale or the separatist Parti Quebecois, but by Quebec's Liberal government, "so that there is something really deep there," the NDP leader went on.

"To ignore it seems to me not very sensible and therefore the rest of Canada has to find some way of dealing with this very real thing in Quebec."

Ali Wins Biggest Decision

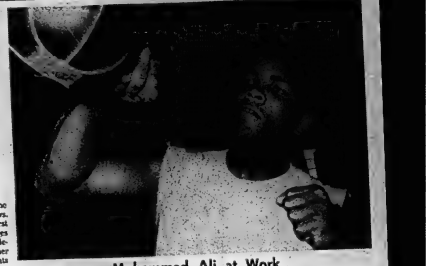
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court reversed today the conviction of former world heavyweight boxing champion Muhammed Ali, who was sentenced to five years imprisonment for evading the United States military draft.

In an 8-to-1 decision, the court said the record shows that Ali's "beliefs are founded on tenets of the Muslim religion as he understands them."



The 29-year-old black boxer, also known as Cassius Clay, was reigning heavyweight champion when he refused to take the traditional step forward at draft induction ceremonies April 28, 1967, in Houston.

The following month he was convicted by an all-white jury of six men and six women.

Ali had contended throughout his long legal battle that he should be draft-exempt on grounds that he is a Black Muslim minister.

In the unsigned decision the court said the government now has fully conceded that Ali's beliefs are based upon "religious training and belief" as set out in previous conscientious-objector cases.

The court said the record shows that the boxer's beliefs "are surely no less religiously based" than those in previous cases.

Record Night

The Quinte Exhibition Raceway's Saturday night harness card really hit high gear this weekend with records being set in attendance and the pari-mutuel handle.

A total of 1,200 spectators paid their way into the Quinte Exhibition grounds for a chance to wager $22,181 at the pari - mutuel betting windows.

Saturday marked the first night of Conditional Races where horses are classed soley on age and winnings rather than being placed into heats by a handi - capper.

(Results on Page 18)

Lindsey Lockyer and Peter DeLong jumped their way to a top fitness awards from the federal government this year through the Fitness and Amateur Sport Directorate. The elementary school pupils took part in the fitness program through their schools this winter.

CFB Shooters Choke Properly

TRENTON — The only time that the term "choke" could be applied to the CFB Trenton skeet team is in reference to their shot pattern.

The five - man air force team came through in the clutch to win their second consecutive Canadian Armed Forces skeet championship this weekend in a pressure-packed team competition.

The home - towners were the last team to shoot and despite the pressure, they managed to pile up 453 out of 500 possible points to edge Moose Jaw by three points. In third place was Portage La Prairie with a total of 447, only six behind the winners.

Each member of the team shot four rounds of 25 to account for the final totals. The top Trenton shooter was Jim Gannon who piled up 96 out of a possible 100 points. Other members of the championship fivesome included Ron Handy, Jack Bell, Keith Stetson and Cec Dominic.

The individual honors went to Warrant Officer Doug Burdett of Rockcliffe with a perfect score of 100. Moose Jaw's Carl Martin recorded three rounds of 25 before slipping to 22 in the final to give him a second - place total of 98.

Doubles plaudits went to Burdett and his wife Mary, the only service woman entered in the competition. Between them they shattered 196 of a possible 200 clay pigeons. Second place in that section went to Martin and Larry Rudosky of Moose Jaw.

A total of 35 marksmen from across Canada took part in the two - day competition which wound up Sunday evening.

Wellesley Sidelined

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders took a severe jolt Sunday when halfback Terry Wellesley was operated on for torn knee ligaments and declared out of action for at least eight weeks.

TERRY WELLESLEY

The Riders were expecting a strong showing from the Tennessee Tech grad in his second year of Canadian Football League play.

Coach Jack Gotta said Wellesley received the injury in scrimmage during the club's pre-season training camp at Carleton University.

It is the second serious injury of the camp with rookie half Brian Jack operated on for a torn achilles tendon last week and out for the season.

Knapp Tops

A rain delay and the subsequent pressure - building wait failed to dampen the spirits of two area golfers as the zone qualifying round for the Ontario Amateur Golf Championships was played at the Bay of Quinte Country Club Sunday.

Scott Knapp and Ron Craig blistered around the 6,839 yard par-71 layout in 72 and-75 respectively. Knapp, from Napanee, and Craig, a Bay of Quinte golfer, won berths for the July 14-18 Amateur.

City Youngsters Among Most Fit

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter
Canadian youth may run to flab, but you can't prove it by the specimens being turned out in Belleville schools.

Two young people have risen to the top of the heap in the Canada Fitness Award program conducted this year in some elementary schools.

Lindsey Lockyer from Sir Winston Churchill School and Peter DeLong from Queen Victoria achieved top honors and have been granted the award of excellence of the Fitness and Amateur Sport Directorate.

The 11-year-olds met standards in six test items set by the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. They were tested on one minute speed sit-ups (50 a minute), standing broad jump, shuttle run, flexed arm hang, 50 yard run and 300 yard run.

The awards were instituted to offer Canadian youth from 7 to 17 an opportunity to participate in a continuing fitness program "so they may achieve a state of well being," says the department of national health and welfare.

"Fitness cannot be bestowed or bought, like honor it must be earned," the department's slogan says.

For training themselves into top fitness under the direction of their schools' physical education teachers, Lindsey and Peter were today awarded certificates.

But they are awaiting with more enthusiasm the fitness and major sport badge will be the visible sign to their contemporaries that they're in top shape.

Square Boxes Latta

To paraphrase Pythagoras, the Square on Place's Concrete is equal to the sum of no hits for Latta.

Larry "Square" Lewis spun a no-hitter for the South Hastings League leaders Saturday night to stop Latta 2-0. It was the second such effort by Place's this season with Garnie Adams silencing the Latta bats in the opening game of the season.

Lewis, who played with Shannonville last season, walked two batters and was victimized by two Place's errors. The righthand hurler struck out four batters in the contest, which was halted by darkness after seven innings.

Latta's only scoring threat came in the fifth inning when a walk and two errors loaded the bases before Lewis could record the third out of the frame.

John Hill started for the losers, getting relief help from Terry McTaggart and Bob Smith. They allowed only three hits, but walked a total of ten batters while striking out four.

Warren Hay provided Lewis with the offensive support he needed by slamming a two-run homer in the second inning. Singles by John Tweedy and Bob Laflamme were the only other safeties in the contest.

In another game played over the weekend, Read's Harold Pascoe proved the experts wrong as he returned to the baseball world from a week's honeymoon and fired a seven-hitter to edge the Reserve 8-3

Pascoe picked up eight strikeouts and failed to walk a man in his nine-inning stint. Steve White blasted a home run and a double and Carm Milligan two base hits to lead the winners at bat.

George Hill went the route for the losers allowing eight hits while blazing third strikes past 13 Read batsmen. R. Maracle cranked two doubles and a single for the losers.

Port Hope Cuts Kinsmen String

Port Hope left the Belleville Kinsmen Juniors with little hope of collecting their fifth straight Intermediate Lakeshore baseball win as they exploded for five runs in the opening frame en route to a 10-2 win.

GLENN CARLETON

Home - town hurler Dave Bemma checked the Kinsmen after a nifty two-hitter, striking out 11 batters and not walking a man.

The only Belleville runs came in the fifth inning when Bill Kirkham tripled and scored on an infield out and in the seventh when Glenn Carleton singled in a run to account for the Kinsmen's only other hit.

Glenn Carleton started on the mound for the losers allowing six runs in two innings before giving way to Terry McTaggart. The Belleville reliever was touched for the remaining four runs before passing the duties to Stan Brooks who fired shutout ball for the final three frames.

Wayne Hagg did much of the winners batting damage with a triple, double and single, while teammate Paul Dodman had a pair of singles.

The Kinsmen were minus the services of slugger Paul Hall and infielders Rick Meagher and Brian Counsins, all of whom were unable to make the trip to Port Hope.

The next Belleville home game will be Wednesday night when they take on Bowmanville in an 8 p.m. contest at the Fairgrounds.

Wilkinson Wins

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former Toronto Argonauts' quarterback Tom Wilkinson piloted British Columbia Lions' black team to a 27-6 victory Sunday over the Western Football Conference club's white team.

Wilkinson completed nine of 11 passes and set up running backs Dave W. Hitfield, Wayne Matheres and Dave Cocoron for touchdowns in the intra-squad game before 9,800 fans.

Birds Learn Hard Way About Yaz' Throwing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

American League runners are learning not to run on Carl Yastrzemski.

Frank Robinon tried and Baltimore paid as Boston Red Sox topped the Orioles 3-1 Sunday for their third straight victory since the East Division leaders.

Yaz cut down Robinson with a perfect throw, bailing Ray Culp out of a fourth-inning jam and the Red Sox right hander took over after that, pitching Boston into second place, one percentage point ahead of Detroit Tigers and five games back of Baltimore.

Detroit lost 3-1 to Cleveland Indians Sunday while Washington Senators swept a doubleheader from New York Yankees 2-1 and 8-0, California Angels took a pair from Chicago White Sox 2-1 and 12-3, Minnesota Twins split with Milwaukee Brewers, winning 2-1 before losing 8-5, and Oakland Athletics split a pair with Kansas City Royals, winning the first 3-0 and dropping the second 6-3.

The Red Sox were leading 2-0 in the fourth when Baltimore nicked Culp for a run on a walk and singles by Frank Robinson and Brooks Robinson. There were two outs when Dave Johnson singled to left and Frank Robinson turned third and headed for the plate.

"I wasn't unhappy at all to see Robinson trying to score," said Culp

"I like to see people challenge Yaz. If you dodge him, he's going to get you an awful lot."

Yastrzemski got Robinson the same way he's gotten several other runners this season and Culp was out of trouble.

Detroit was beaten by Sam McDowell's four-hitter as Cleveland snapped a five-game losing streak.

CARL YASTRZEMSKI

The Indians, who had managed just two runs in 48 innings before Sunday, stretched that dry spell to 51 frames before reaching Mike Kilkenny of Bradford, Ont., for single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Washington got six-hit pitching from Jim Shellenback to complete its sweep against the Yankees. Del Unser's two-run homer gave the Senators the first game.

Jim Kaat's six-hit pitching eased Minnesota past Milwaukee in the first game of their doubleheader. The Brewers earned the split with a six-run sixth inning in the nightcap.

Billy Cowan, playing in place of suspended Alex Johnson, delivered a two-run double that gave California its first game of the doubleheader at Oakland

Lou Piniella accounted for four runs, scoring two and driving in two with a double and a triple, as the Royals earned the split in the nightcap.

Laver's Task Tough

WIMBLEDON, England (Reuter) — Rod Laver of Australia and Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., will be out to qualify for their projected semi-final meeting when the 1971 all-England lawn tennis championships swing into their second week today.

Quarter-final action is scheduled for both singles events today with all the women's semi-finalists and two of the men's to be decided.

Laver, the top-seed and a four-time winner of the men's crown, has the tougher job of the two. He faces Tom Gorman of Seattle, unseeded but the eliminator in the opening round of Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and victor over Laver indoors at the London championships two weeks ago.

Smith, seeded fourth, faces Onny Parun, 24, of New Zealand, the first from his country to get as far as the quarter-finals since Anthony Wilding was a runner-up at Wimbledon in 1914.

Parun followed up victories over Jean-Loup Royer of France, Hans Plotz of West Germany and Pierre Barthes of France with one of the biggest surprises of the week Saturday beating Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 9-8, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Smith had his best victory of the week Saturday when he eliminated 34-year-old Australian Roy Emerson 2-6, 6-1, 6-3, 8-3

The other men's quarter-finals will be played Tuesday and will send third-seeded Ken Rosewall of Australia against Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia against unseeded Colin Dibley, also of Australia.

In other matches Saturday, Rosewall eliminated his doubles partner, Fred Stolle of Australia, 6-4, 7-5, 7-9, 6-4 and Richey beat the promising Jeff Borowiak of Berkeley, Calif., 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 after trailing 3-0 in the third set.

Top-seeded Margaret Court of Australia is the only seeded player remaining in the top half of the women's draw and faces Winnie Shaw of Scotland today.

The winner will play the survivor of a match between two unrated Australians, Kerry Melville and Judy Dalton, who upset Britain's Virginia Wade Saturday 9-8, 6-3.

All four seeds remain at the bottom half of the draw. Nancy Gunter of San Angelo, Texas, No. 6, takes on third-seeded Yvonne Goolagong of Australia and Francoise Durr of France, the seventh seed, plays No. 2 Billie-Jean King of Long Beach, Calif.

In other matches Saturday, Miss Shaw beat Lesley Bowrey of Australia 1-6, 9-7, 6-3, Mrs. Gunter tripped Saigo Yansone of Russia 6-3, 6-2 and Miss Goolagong lost her first set of the tournament but prevailed over Lesley Hunt of Australia 1-6, 6-2, 6-1

Johnson Back On Bench

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Controversial Alex Johnson, the 1970 American League batting champion, was suspended indefinitely without pay Saturday by California Angels "for failure to give his best efforts to the winning of games with which he is concerned."

The announcement was made by the club's home office. The Angles, fighting to stay out of the American League West cellar, lost a 10-inning 4-3 decision to the White Sox in Chicago before the suspension was announced.

If the suspension lasts longer than 10 days, the player automatically has his case reviewed by the commissioner of baseball, Bowie Kuhn.

Johnson, benched numerous times this season by manager Lefty Phillips for lack of hustle, has criticized fellow players for not allowing him to play his game. He, in turn, has been faulted by team-mates for what they call his poor team attitude.

Earlier this month, Johnson accused team-mate Chico Ruiz of pelting him on him in the clubhouse, a charge that was vehemently denied by Ruiz. Commissioner Kuhn, has said he will investigate the incident.

The introverted, often silent 6'ulfielder won the batting crown last year—his first season in the American League—with a .329 average. He beat out Carl Yastrzemski of Boston in one of baseball's closest races.

Carpenter Nails Title

KINGSTON (CP) — Keith Carpenter of Toronto, seeded fourth and fifth in Canada and Ontario respectively, Sunday defeated Davis Cup team-mate Harry Fauquier 11-9 and 6-1 in the men's singles finals of the Eastern Ontario tennis tournament.

Fauquier is sixth seed in Canada and second in the province.

Millar's Jumping Slate Clean

TORONTO (CP) — Torchy Millar Sunday won the $10,000 North American Grand Prix jumping prize and beat by one point Barbara Simpson of Calgary to take first place on Canada's Pan-American equestrian team.

Millar, of Ste. Marguerite Station, Que., managed three clean rounds of the 17-obstacle course at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

His performance on Jean Guy Mathers' Le Dauphin also won him the leading rider award with 98 points from four pre-Pan-American trials, and a place on the team that will compete in August in Colombia.

Millar, 25, was in a three-way jumpoff with Tom Gayford of Gormley, Ont., riding Dreamy Jo and Jim Day of Hornby, Ont., on Scorpio.

Day had three faults when his horse refused one jump, winning second place in the North American, and Gayford came in third with four faults.

Miss Simpson, who had led in points after the first three pre-Pan-American trials, clinched the second team position, with third going to Jim Elder of Aurora, Ont.

Other contenders for positions on the team are Gayford, Ian Millar of Aylmer, Que., and Doug Cudney of King City, Ont.

Final selection for the team will be announced Tuesday after officials determine the soundness of the horses.

Giants Don't Find Dome Waterproof

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It never rains inside the Houston Astrodome, but it generally pours for San Francisco Giants pitchers.

Sunday was no exception as the Giants lost to Houston Astros 5-2, making it 20 setbacks in their last 25 games inside the dome.

"We're kind of jinxed here," said pitcher Jerry Johnson. "Maybe we've got to cut our heads off so we play bad here.

"It's just a psychological thing . . . I can't explain why.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Pittsburgh Pirates edged Philadelphia Phillies 10-9 after dropping the opener 9-4, Montreal Expos trounced New York Mets 12-4, Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed San Diego Padres 7-2, Chicago Cubs downed St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 and Cincinnati Reds held off Atlanta Braves 7-5.

Outfielder Ken Henderson drove in runs with team-mate Johnson's assessment of the San Francisco-Houston situation

"I don't think it's anything psychological. Breaks play a big part in any ball game and I don't think we're getting them."

The Giants jumped off to a 2-0 lead Sunday against rookie Ken Forsch, but the Astros took a 3-2 lead off Steve Stone in the fifth on RBI singles by Bob Watson and Roger Metzger around Doug Rader's sacrifice fly.

The Pirates, meanwhile, blew a five-run lead against the Phillies and then had to come from behind in the ninth before winning their nightcap on Roberto Clemente's pinch homer in the eighth.

Willie Stargell hit his 28th home run in the opener and broke Tony Perez's NL record for most homers through June 30.

Roger Freed's game-tying home run and doubles by Denny Doyle and Willie Montanez keyed a four-run seventh inning that enabled the Phils to win the opener.

The Mets dropped four games behind Pittsburgh in the East when Montreal exploded for seven runs in the first inning against Charlie Williams and Jim Merritt drove in his and the two errors. Ron Fairly and Stan Swanson each drove in three runs as the Expos ended New York's four-game winning streak.

Stewart Stops McLaren Monopoly

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP) — A pre-race strategy of driving slowly to preserve his car paid off Sunday for Jackie Stewart as he swept by an ailing Denis Hulme to win the Canadian-American Challenge Cup race at Le Circuit over the favored McLaren team.

For 51 of the 75 laps it looked like the old Can-Am story with Hulme's McLaren MIP taking the lead from the start and running easily at the head of the pack.

The on lap 52, Stewart's Lola T260 slithered Hulme going into the hairpin turn leading to the start-finish straight and moved ahead.

The 32-year-old Scot extended his lead throughout the late stages of the race and finished 66.8 seconds ahead of Hulme and a lap ahead of Peter Revson, the other Team McLaren driver.

Stewart told reporters following the race he followed a strategy worked out by his team to keep the car running throughout the 198.5-mile event.

"Perhaps I could have led early in the race but we'd decided it was very important to win this one.

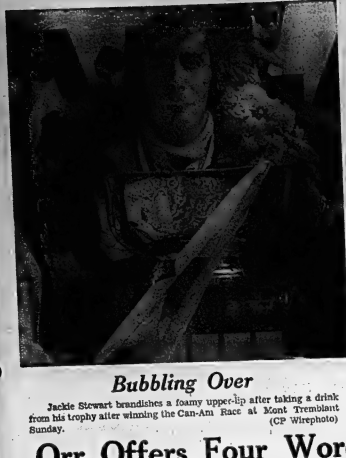
"In the early part of the race I drove as quietly as I could."

It was Stewart's first Can-Am win and his first victory ever in Canada.

His average speed was 106.95 miles an hour, compared with 98.76 miles an hour for the runner-up.

Hulme, leading driver for the McLaren team which has dominated Can-Am racing for the past four years, had trouble maintaining his pace and complained of nausea when the event ended.

"I have never felt as bad in my life," he said after the race.



He and several other drivers cam sick as th rsult of eating tainted food prior to th race.

Although the McLaren team, winner of 36 of 34 Can-Am events since the beginning of the 1967 season, failed to claim their customary first eplace, Hulme was the fastest man around the course on a single lap.

The New Zealander turned a l a p of 1:33.6—equivalent to 101.52 miles an hour—to set a record for Group 7 cars on the 2.65-mile track.

The previous record of 1:33.8 was set in 1969 by Hulme at the wheel of an earlier model McLaren.

Family Tack Works

TORONTO (CP) — In a battle for the breezes Saturday, Dr. Jack Langmaid and daughter Nancy of Oshawa, Ont., tacked into a strong current off their port side to capture two consecutive races and become the first World Albacore sailing champions.

"I can't understand how everyone else didn't see that current," said Langmaid after the presentation of the Governor-General's Trophy.

"The water was sliding up nicely when Nancy saw it. She told me to tack to port and once we got inside the area we literally walked away from Geoffrey Revell of Buffalo, N.Y., who was covering us during the entire race."

Langmaid, runner-up in the North American Albacore earlier in the week, gave credit for their success to his 15-year-old daughter.

"All I did was steer and try to make the boat go faster. Nancy worked the sails and riggings, told me where to tack or jibe, and spotted the current that was the deciding factor in both our races."

Orr Offers Four Words

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Bobby Orr had four little words for Guy Lafleur when the two met during the weekend at the annual National Hockey League Players' Association golf tournament.

"Get a good lawyer," said Orr, the Boston Bruin defence-man considered by many experts the outstanding player in the game, to Lafleur, junior scoring sensation of the Montreal Cup-champion Quebec Remparts.

BOBBY ORR

Lafleur, picked in the recent NHL draft by Montreal Canadiens, scored more than 130 goals with Quebec last season and is negotiating a contract with the Stanley Cup champion Canadiens.

Orr is also negotiating what is believed to be a multi-year contract with the Bruins. Talks have been going on "for quite some time."

Orr knows what it's like to be a high-priced junior. When he signed with Boston six years ago, his lawyer, Alan Eagleson, the NHLPA executive director, negotiated an unheard-of multi-year pact for the former Oshawa General.

Asked what his contract is calling for, he said "I'm asking what I think I'm worth."

Lefleur, the most-talked-about junior since Orr, is one of the most prolific goal-scorers in Canadian junior hockey history.

Orr had to withdraw from participating in the tournament this year because of a death in the family but showed up unexpectedly Sunday to caddy for team-mates Derek Sandison and Ed Johnston, winners of the best-ball play with a score of 125.

Bruins Winners This Time

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Eddie Johnston and Derek Sanderson won the third annual American Airlines National classic golf tournament Sunday, with a best-ball score of 125.

The Boston Bruin stars carded a 64 Sunday to go with Saturday's 61 to win the $5,000 first-prize money. The two immediately turned most of their loot over to the tournament charity, the Rotary Club of Toronto.

Three strokes off the pace was the Chicago Black Hawk pair of Stan Mikita and Jim Pappin while New York Rangers' Brad Park and Dave Balon finished at 129.

Rain rained out Friday's program and the tournament was cut to 36 holes.

Individual honors went to Dale Tallon, Vancouver Canucks' rookie defenceman and Canadian junior golf champion in 1969.

Tallon and veteran Andy Bathgate of Pittsburgh Penguins finished 36 holes tied at 142, but the Nornada, Ont., youth pulled the victory off by parring the first extra hole.

Gary Bergman, Detroit Red Wing defenceman, who was defending the title along with Frank Mahovlich of Montreal Canadiens, a former teammate, got some consolation by winning a car when he landed his tee shot closest to the pin on the 16th hole.

Bucyk Signed

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins have announced the signing of veteran left winger Johnny Bucyk and young defenceman Rick Smith for the 1971-72 National Hockey League season.

The 36-year-old Bucyk is ready for his 19th NHL season and 15th with the Bruins. He enjoyed his finest campaign last season when he scored 51 goals and had 65 assists, becoming one of four Boston players to break the 100-point mark.

Smith, who will be 23 Tuesday, signed his fourth Boston contract before leaving for Canada to enroll at Queen's University to resume his education.

Bucyk and Smith became the fourth and fifth players to join the Bruins' fold. Fred Stanfield, Ted Green and Eddie Westfall are working on multi-year contracts.

Pepin Heads Trade Mission On Week-long Visit to China

HONG KONG (CP) — A 14-member Canadian trade mission, headed by Trade and Commerce Minister Jean-Luc Pepin, left here by train today for Communist China on a week-long visit which could include discussions on an air link between China and Canada.

The mission is the first to go to China since the two countries established diplomatic relations last year.

Keith Gardiner, a spokesman for Pepin, told reporters here that the main left for Canton that the mission "is not a selling mission but an exploratory one to see how trade can be increased."

Pepin hopes to talk with Chinese Foreign Trade Minister Pai Hsiang-kuo and other government leaders in Peking during the six-day visit. The mission also hopes to meet Premier Chou En-lai.

Pepin said the visit "will emphasize Canada's interest in the commercial aspects of Sino-Canadian relations and explore opportunities to advantage all phases of Canadian economic activities in China."

Asked if the mission would discuss air links between the two countries, Gardner said: "It might be discussed. We shall discuss many subjects."

But he said there are no civil aviation officials in the mission, which includes government officials, businessmen and industrialists.

Included in the mission is Senator William C. McNamara, former chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board and a member of the Canadian mission. He said Sunday:

"We hope China will continue to look at Canada as a natural supplier. We know she has some good crops but even though they are buying 1.3 million tons from us, this represents only two to three per cent of their production. It is marginal as far as they are concerned."

The two countries agreed in October on diplomatic relations and Canadian Ambassador Ralph Collins recently arrived in Peking.

Chinese Ambassador Huang Hua is believed to be en route to Ottawa.

The mission plans to return to Hong Kong Sunday and fly home immediately via Tokyo.

Another group of Canadians in Hong Kong expects to enter China in the next couple of days. They are from the University of British Columbia and include students and faculty members.

Cab Drivers Arrested In Dispute at Airport

TORONTO (CP) — Three cab drivers were arrested Sunday at Toronto International Airport, bringing to five the number of Toronto drivers arrested in the last three days.

The three drivers—including a woman—and two others arrested Friday were all charged with obstructing police.

Arrested Sunday were Violet M. Thewson, Robert Milkovich and Lawson Huang. Police from the town of Mississauga said three Toronto taxis were approached by persons wanting to go to a motel in Mississauga. Police said all three cabs at the airport stand refused and when asked to leave by a policeman, refused again.

Mississauga claims a $40 cab licence for all taxis providing service at the airport, since the airport is within the town's jurisdiction.

Bourassa May Attempt To Spell Out His Bid For Provincial 'Primacy'

QUEBEC (CP) — Any suggestions Premier Robert Bourassa makes this week in search of agreement on the Victoria constitutional charter will involve an attempt to spell out the provincial "primacy" the province has asked for in social policy.

The Quebec premier last week rejected the Victoria charter because of imprecision on points of social policy. But he said Friday he will telephone Prime Minister Trudeau this week to talk over ways of renewing discussions on the charter.

The charter proposed to extend to family allowances and manpower-training allowances terminology now applied in the British North America Act to old-age pensions and other allowances.

The terminology involved says federal legislation in such fields must not interfere with the application of similar provincial laws.

The charter introduced a new requirement that the federal government consult the provinces 90 days before legislating in these fields, a requirement that met a Quebec request.

Quebec, however, had gone much farther in a position paper drawn up before the federal-provincial constitutional conference at Victoria two weeks ago.

The paper would have applied the BNA Act terminology on old-age pensions to some social legislation, including unemployment insurance.

But in family allowances, manpower-training allowances and guaranteed income supplements based on age, it held out specific constitutional provisions for guaranteeing "provincial primacy."

Under the Quebec proposal, the federal government could continue to legislate in these fields.

But its legislation would "have effect in the territory of a province only to the extent that the law of the (province's) legislature provides."

And if provincial legislation made a federal law "in whole or in part inapplicable," the province would receive "compensation determined according to the amount which would have been spent" by the federal government had the federal law applied.

This would elevate the "opting out" formula used in establishing the Canada and Quebec pension plans to the level of a constitutional right applying to family allowances, manpower-training allowances and guaranteed income supplements based on age.

Any agreement which would revive the Victoria charter with revisions to satisfy Quebec will have to move to some degree toward this system.

Steam Locomotive Makes Ottawa Run

OTTAWA (CP) — "Blow your whistle, please."

The young boys hanging their plaintive sign from an overpass were among thousands of other people along Canadian National's mainline Saturday cheering a ghost from the golden days of railroading.

The railway's last steam locomotive was making a farewell appearance, shrouding the sun with acrid black smoke in arrogant disrespect for a pollution-conscious age.

The 29-year-old machine is to be officially retired July 4 at Belleville.

Canadian National—whose last regular steam service ended in 1960—refurbished the 95-feet long locomotive for trip and it appeared with its original red and gold CNR emblem.

It's the last of five steamers CN had kept for special excursions.

Cows stampeded and cars raced alongside the track as the Northern type locomotive invaded the diesel's domain for the last time.

The train's passengers—some of whom had come from Los Angeles especially for the trip —included many young children, who had never before known the sights, sounds and smells of railway steam.

Engineer Hughie McKinnon of Montreal, complete with striped suit and red bandana, was riding into the past as he responded to trackside waves with friendly pulls on the whistle cord.

"Not many people bother to wave at a diesel," he noted.

At the other end of the train was another venerable piece of equipment saved from the blowtorch.

An open-platform observation car was hauled out of retirement last year specifically for this final nostalgic display of old-time railroading. The car was the home of King George V during his 1935 royal tour and in 1958 John Diefenbaker used it during his whistle-stop election campaign.

The car's porter, L. K. Robinson, was on both those famous trains Mr. Robinson—whose full name is Lord Kitchener Robinson—is as much a part of traditional railroading as steam and cinders.

After 32 years with Canadian National, he laments the passing of 6218.

Long Point Sanctuary Is Planned

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Free Press says that the federal government, through the Canadian Wildlife Service, is buying more than a square mile of land on Long Point peninsula 30 miles south of Hamford, to create a refuge for ducks, geese and swans.

Douglas Wigle of Waterdown, spokesman for the Big Creek Corporation which has operated a private hunting club on the land, confirmed the sale of the property to the government.

A. G. Loughrey, deputy minister of the department of environment, said it will take two to three years before the Wildlife Service takes over full control.

Long Point is a major flyway for migratory waterfowl and the bay area has long been a favorite spot for hunters.

Brezhnev's Peace Offensive Is Viewed With Suspicion by U.S. Officialdom

MOSCOW (Reuter) — A peace offensive launched by Soviet Communist Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev is being viewed with suspicion by the United States.

During the last three months, Brezhnev has woven an intricate pattern of proposals calling for disarmament, collective security and a general international effort for world peace.

But Secretary of State William P. Rogers has voiced his skepticism of some of the Russian leader's proposals, pointing out that they have been made in political speeches.

Brezhnev first launched his much-publicized peace offensive at the 24th Soviet party congress in March. Then in May, he picked up a NATO suggestion of troop reductions in Europe, presenting it as his own initiative and even harangueing the West for its timidity about coming to the conference table.

In June the 67-year-old party boss made the headlines again with a dramatic proposal to control the movements of the superpowers' naval task forces.

He hinted that he might be prepared to discuss with the U.S. the build-up of Soviet naval power in distant seas in return for some rethinking on the role of the American Sixth and Seventh fleets.

Although there can be no doubt that Russia is seriously ready to talks about arms cuts, Western observers here believe some sober skepticism is in order in assessing Brezhnev's impressive-sounding proposals.

Soviet ambassadors in Washington, Peking, Paris and London have since handed over official statements calling for such a conference.

The proposal is attractive on paper. But the likelihood of persuading China to come to such a conference and the chances for its success in the near future seem slim to most observers here.

At a news conference in Washington on June 15, Rogers noted that Brezhnev had questioned the sincerity of the NATO partners over troop reductions.

He charged in reply that the Russians themselves these days seemed to be making their proposals only in political speeches thus prompting "a little question about their sincerity."

NATO Worried About Malta

BRUSSELS (Reuter) — NATO representatives here may have further informal discussions today on relations with Malta, which have become a growing problem since the election of Dom Mintoff as Maltese prime minister.

The row was begun last week by Mintoff's reported expulsion of Admiral Gino Birindelli, 61, NATO's naval commander in the Mediterranean.

It deepened with the disclosure by the U.S. state department Sunday that Malta has informed the U.S. it does not want to receive visits from U.S. naval ships for the time being "pending revision of general arrangements."

NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio called in the representatives for talks on the subject last week and an alliance spokesman here said he might arrange another meeting some time today.

However, if any consultations took place at alliance headquarters here, they would be informal and would not be in the framework of a meeting of the top-level NATO council, the spokesman stressed.

Officially, NATO still has not commented on the affair but officials privately admit that any reduction in NATO's presence on Malta could have considerable repercussions for the alliance.

Reports of worsening relations between NATO and the new Maltese government come at a time when the Western powers are making considerable efforts to increase their forces in the Mediterranean to counter the growing Soviet presence there.

Besides his reported move against Admiral Birindelli, Mintoff is seeking to renegotiate Malta's defence arrangements with Britain, due for renewal in 1974.

Campers Will Meet

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — An "instant city" for an expected 40,000 campers will spring up here in two weeks.

They will come from across Canada and the United States and some from Britain to attend the conference of the National Campers and Hikers Association.

Campsites for the expected 9,000 families have been staked out in Brant Park, a newly-developed conservation area on the western outskirts of this community of 65,000 people.

"An instant city is the only thing you can call the site," said Clare Hope of Oakville, Ont., the convention's publicity chairman.

The 425-acre site will include a restaurant, supermarket, bank, post office and about 100 exhibits of camping equipment.

The association's annual convention, the first in Canada, officially begins July 12 but the families are expected to start arriving a few days earlier. It ends July 16.

Mr. Hope, who visited the site Sunday, said it will be ready for the crowds.

Two Papers Say CIA Sends Laotian Spies Into China

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two newspapers report that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency is sending Laotian hill tribesmen on spying missions from Laos into Communist China to obtain information on troop movements and political developments.

The Philadelphia Bulletin and the Seattle Times publish a report of the alleged CIA activities in a copyrighted story from Vientiane by Arnold Abrams.

The dispatch, as published in The Bulletin, says qualified sources reported that U.S. officials in Laos discounted any potential threat the operatons pose to slowly-improving relations between Washington and Peking.

"They believe this threat is small, according to reliable sources, because the operations are not commando raids or sabotage efforts and Americans do not participate in them," The Bulletin says.

Native hill tribesmen are of the same ethnic stock found in southern China. "They have been recruited, equipped and trained by the CIA to infiltrate Chinese territory and obtain information on troop movements, political developments and other data," The Bulletin says.

The newspaper says its sources claim such intelligence missions have long been known to Chinese authorities and that several teams have been captured in recent years.

"Consequently," The Bulletin concludes, "American officials reason that Peking will continue to tolerate these territorial incursions as long as they are conducted solely to gather intelligence."

Australia Takes Interest In Secret Pentagon Papers

CANBERRA (Reuter) — Australian foreign affairs sources confirmed today that the government has been in touch with the U.S. government over the publication of the secret Pentagon papers on origins of the Vietnam war.

But the sources refused to comment on a press report that Australia has lodged a strong protest over the disclosure of the documents.

Precisely what has gone between Canberra and Washington is confidential, the sources said.

In Washington, the Australian embassy denied that any official protest has been lodged.

The New York Times articles on the Pentagon papers led to a parliamentary controversy in Australia because of a suggestion that Australian troops were sent to Vietnam without the South Vietnamese government really wanting them.

One of the memoranda published by The Times was a cable from the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, to the state department in April 1965, suggesting that the U.S. should get in touch with various governments, including Australia, and ask that they contribute troops to the war. It should then be suggested that South Vietnam should ask for such troops.

New Delhi Assumes Rule in West Bengal

CALCUTTA, India (Reuter) — West Bengal's 10-party coalition government resigned today, clearing the way for the imposition of direct rule from New Delhi for the third time since 1968.

The chief minister, Ajoy Mukherjee, told reporters he expects a declaration of presidential rule within a day or two.

Mukherjee, who explained Saturday that the state was overwhelmed by the burden of more than five million refugees from East Pakistan, will remain in office until the takeover.

Tradeau and All Ten Premiers Voice Backing for Canada Week

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau and the premiers of all 10 provinces joined Sunday in expressing support for Canada Week, sponsored by the Canada Committee to "promote the benefits of a United Canada."

The annual event, which began Sunday and ends July 4, started with flag-raising ceremonies in most cities and features civic celebrations and ceremonies, planned by both municipalities and the provinces.

A spokesman for the Canada Comittee's Montreal headquarters said that response from across the country on behalf of national unity has been "really great, really diversified."

He said major retail chains and all branches of Canadian banks are featuring window displays.

In a news release, the committee, a non-profit, non-political organization founded in 1964, explained its aims, which are "to dispel indifference and promote understanding among all Canadians."

A telegram received from Prime Minister Trudeau read:

"We (Canadians) have felt the deeply-rooted desire for community of spirit, of values and of ideas. We have sought to understand one another in a climate of tolerance and of mutual respect.

"On the occasion of Canada Week 1971 . . . let us think of those things that unite us and make us happy and proud to be Canadians."

In a letter from Quebec City, Premier Robert Bourassa said:

"In the name of all Quebecers, I associate myself with my colleagues in other provinces to wish the organizers of the Canada Committee every success they merit."

From British Columbia, L. J. Wallace, deputy provincial secretary, announced that Premier W. A. C. Bennett had issued a proclamation respecting Canada week.

From Newfoundland, Premier Joey Smallwood commemorated Canada Week by saying:

"The government and people of Newfoundland and Labrador are pleased to join with the other provinces and the government of Canada in observance of Canada Week."

Alberta Premier Harry Strom said "we have made it a practice . . . not to declare special days." He added, however, that he appreciated the objective of the special week and said "I shall endeavor to talk about the objectives during one of my press conferences."

Hurdle Mark Broken At U.S. Pan-Am Trials

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Two world records tumbled as a young crop of track and field stars gave powerful performances at the United States Amateur Athletic Union's national championships.

Rod Milburn of Southern University who won the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.1, established a world record of 13 seconds flat during the semi-final trials.

John Smith of UCLA, running for the Southern California Striders, snapped the world 440 mark with a time off 44.5.

An American mark and seven meet records also fell during the weekend championships at Hayward Field on the University of Oregon campus.

Sid Sisk of Bowling Green, Ohio, who set a National Collegiate Athletic Association mark of 8:30.9 a week earlier, led two others past the American 3,000-metre steeplechase record, winning in 8:26.4.

Milburn, Smith and Sisk were among those chosen by the AAU Saturday night for the United States team that will meet the Soviet Union and the world all-star team Friday and Saturday in Berkeley, Calif.

Smith and his UCLA teammate, Wayne Collette, who equalled the previous world record of 44.7, set by Curtis Mills in 1960, were selected for the 400 metres, subject to confirmation.

Milburn clipped one-tenth of a second off the world mark first set by Martin Lauer of West Germany in 1958.

The U.S. team will be minus three established stars at the Berkeley meet. They include the Pan American Games at Cali, Colombia, July 21 to Aug. 31.

The U.S. teams will be minus three established stars at the Berkeley meet. They include the Pan American Games at Cali, Colombia, July 21 to Aug. 31.

Patty Loverock of Vancouver pulled an upset over Stephanie Berto of West Vancouver and equalled the native and open records of 11.3 seconds with Miss Berto a second behind.

North American high jump champion Debbie Brill of Hanry, B.C., couldn't come close to her record six feet, one-quarter inch set a year ago, 54.3 in the women's 400 metres.

Carol Martin of Thornhill, Ont., bested the British Columbia open record in Friday's women's discus event by one foot with a throw of 166 feet, seven inches.

Dolan Has Two Reasons For Liking Quebec Open

MONTREAL (CP) — Jay Dolan, winner of the 1970 Quebec Open at Quebec City, captured the 1971 edition at Kenwood Summerlea Golf and Country Club Sunday, firing a final-round, one-under-par 71 for a 54-hole total of 214.

The Leicester, Mass. native began the last 18 holes of the $18,000 tournament one stroke back of the leaders at 143 but battled the 6,886-yard Canadian course to claim the championship and $3,000 first-place money.

His two-under-par final score was one stroke better than runner-up Tom Nettles of San Diego, Calif., and Bob Payne of Mount Vernon, Ill.

Nettles, a former wide receiver with Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League, and a co-leader after 36 holes, was tied for the lead at the 18th hole with Dolan in the clubhouse.

Nettles faced an eight-foot birdie putt on the par-four 17th — the shot which would have put him in the lead—but he lipped the cup and settled for a par.

He then sent a three-par on the treacherous 18th hole to give Dolan the victory.

"My putting was killing me all day," Nettles said after the round. "But that $1,875 second-place cheque eases the pain a bit."

Dolan, a quiet, methodical golfer, played steadily. But he had considerable about the Cascades 18th green.

"It has got to be the lumpiest thing I've ever seen."

"Nearly everybody I heard of was bogeying the damn thing, even the first two shots were all right."

Payne met his downfall on the final hole in the same way Nettles did. He was left with a long putt which lurched toward the cup in haphazard fashion and had to settle for one-over and $1,875.

Nettles and Payne were tied for the lead after 36 holes with Duke Doucet of Windsor, Que. and Lew Taylor of Quebec City but the two Canadians blew to 76 and 79 during Sunday's round to finish at 218 and 221, respectively. Taylor collected $750 for his effort while Doucet picked up $900.

Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont. fired the best round of the 54-hole affair, a 69 Sunday, and won $1,300 for his third-place $217.

He was the best Canadian pro in the event and automatically qualified for this week's Canadian Open at the nearby Richelieu Valley Golf and Country Club.

Another Canadian pro who fared well Sunday was Ben Kerr of Isernore, Ont. He registered a one-under 71 for 218 and picked up $750.

Three strokes back at 220 were four golfers, including Canadians Phil Giroux and John Baldwin.

Toronto's Al Balding, Max Thompson of the host club, Bob Cox Jr., of Richmond, B.C. and Doucet were another shot back at 221 for $280.

May Stays Hot Despite Drizzle

VANCOUVER (CP) — The two-day track and field trials for the Canadian contingent to the Pan American Games at Cali, Colombia, next month produced one Canadian record, a decathlon meet and 200 cold athletes.

Temperatures in the low 50s combined with cold and drizzle Friday and Saturday made the event less than comfortable at Minoru Park in suburban Richmond.

But 19-year-old Penny May of Victoria beat the elements Friday to set a Canadian record in the women's 100-metre hurdles with a time of 13.5 seconds.

The third-year University of Victoria education student shaved half a second off the mark set last year at Edmonton by Gun Glason of Sweden.

Several other national and provincial records were equalled during the trials but one of the more exciting moments was in the women's 100 metres Friday.

Patty Loverock of Vancouver pulled an upset over Stephanie Berto of West Vancouver and equalled the native and open records of 11.3 seconds with Miss Berto a second behind.

North American high jump champion Debbie Brill of Hanry, B.C., couldn't come close to her record six feet, one-quarter inch set a year ago, 54.3 in the women's 400 metres.

Blonde Has More Fun

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Jo Anne Carner wrapped up an easy victory by a seven-stroke margin Sunday to take her first U.S. Women's Open golf championship.

First-place was worth $5,000 to the sixth-ranked blonde from Lake Worth, Fla. She had rounds 70-73-72-73 for a 286 even par total.

Kathy Whitworth, the LPGA leading money-winner, finished second, seven strokes over par at 293. She won $2,500.

Tied for third were the defending champion Donna Caponi, four-time Open winner Mickey Wright and amateur Jane Bastanchury at 299, 11 over par.

Sandra Post Elliott, formerly of Oakville, had a 72 for a total of 304 and won $610. Marlene Stewart Streit of Fonthill, had 77 for a total of 308.

Mitchell Runaway

CLEVELAND (AP) — "There was pressure all the way," Bobby Mitchell said after scoring a seven-stroke triumph in the $150,000 Cleveland Open. his first victory in six years on the pro golf tour.

Mitchell had a final-round 65, six under par on the muggy Beechmont Country Club course, a relatively short 6,643 yards.

His 72-hole total of 282 was a far cry from the 277-under par—on rounds of 66, 64,67,65—and was the second lowest winning total in the last 15 years on the tour.

The Bendale Trophy

Coach Mike Criscione and captain-pitcher Jim Anderson of the North Bendale Peewee team in delight over their "A" Championship victory in the annual Belleville Peewee Softball Tournament. Criscione has led his team to two "A" Championship and one "B" Championship in his three years as coach of the Toronto team. His third-0 victory over Belleville's Rollin's Shell pewees clinched the title for the Bendale squad.

North Bendale Peewees Bat Two-for-three in Tourney

By RANDY DERRY

The annual "Belleville Peewee Softball Tournament held Saturday attracted one new friend for life while an old reliable returned to its favorite hunting grounds.

The North Bendale pewees, defending "B" champions and always a force to reckon with, regained their "A" championship status won in 1969 and lost last year by handing Belleville Rollin's Shell a 7-0 blanking in the final game. Meanwhile a new entry to the Belleville tournament — Aldersvood — whipped Downsview 20-0 to capture the "B" Championship.

In the Championship game between Belleville and North Bendale the Toronto team was not to be denied after facing some stiff competition in the first two rounds. Defeating Port Perry 8-4 and edging Downsview 8-4 in two of the best games, in the tournament set up, the final showdown against Belleville. Belleville had reached the finals by defeating two local teams: Napanee 5-4 in the first round and Stirling 13-8 in the second.

Jim Anderson went the distance for North Bendale despite having pitched both previous games for the Toronto squad. He gave up just seven hits in shutting-out Belleville. Anderson fanned seven batters and received all the support he needed at the plate from Earl Meechenton who punched a homer, double and single. Meechenton later received the Most Valuable Player award for his outstanding fielding and hitting. Belleville's Robert Clarke fired for the losers, yielding 14 hits while fanning three. He also had the big bat for the Rollins, connecting for two singles and a double.

"This is the third time I've been here and this has been the best tournament yet," praised Bendale coach Mike Criscione. "This has always been a terrific tournament and it's about time it got the really good players like it did today. It's great work by the organizers and they always put on a good show."

The winning coach had nothing but praise for his boys: "These are the best ball players I've ever coached. They play as a team, 15 boys who can do the job any time I put them in. They finally played the way I know they can do

In the B Champion ship game, Aldersvood's big pitcher Dave Jackson was just too much for Napanee as he gave up only two hits and struck out 13 batters in the abbreviated five-inning game.

"Most of the guys have been together three or four years and this team itself is pretty well a second-year team," said Aldersvood coach Steve Hutchings. "This is our first year here but we'll be back to stay. We played some real tough teams in the first two rounds. In fact our regular pitcher Fred Paranee lost only his first game all year Jackson pulled through in the next two games though despite just coming back from a sore arm."

Alderwood's two tough games were a 5-3 setback at the hands of Downsview and a 10-3 victory over Port Perry. Napanee had reached the "B" championship by doubling the score on Shannonville 6-3 after their first-round loss to Belleville.

Thornell paced Alderwood at the plate, punching two home runs and a triple. Homers from Manson and Jackson were the other crushing blasts for the winners in their 20-0 victory.

Doug Gaulin and Bill Kimmett split the loss, giving up 12 hits while recording five strikeouts. Singles by Craven and Kimmett were the only Napanee hits off Jackson. Belleville's record at two wins and a loss for the day was mainly due to the strong performance of Robert Chase. He came in to relieve Sharland in the first game with Napanee and recorded five strikeouts, then went the distance against Stirling, fanning eight batters. Bill Forbes was the big batter for Rollins' in the first two games, collecting two singles in the first and a homer in the second.

Highland Soccer Side Eats Crow, Not Haggis

The Bay of Quinte soccer league's Scottish contingent forced the rest of the world to eat haggis last year with a 3-1 win in an exhibition bout.

However, the Highland compatriots were forced to dine on crow Saturday as an all-star contingent of various nationalities stopped the Scots 4-1.

The "world" team mounted a strong offensive in the first half of play to take a commanding 3-1 lead in the game, a regular feature of the Quinte Highland wreckfest.

Phil Harvey opened the scoring for the winners by heading the ball into the net to make it 1-0. Teammate Graham Egerton counted the eventual winner on a free kick that caught the top corner of the Scottish goal.

Peter Hillier converted a goalmouth pass from Alan Brown for the third tally, while Robin Findlay notched the only goal for Scotland when he slammed in a corner kick by teammate John O'Neill.

Scotland was hard - pressed in the gusty going of the second half when Alan Brown upped the count to 4-1 on a cross from Ernie Brown.

The losers rallied in the final stages of the game but missed scoring chances cost them any chance of gaining ground on the all-stars.

Centre - half Graham Egerton and outside right Alan Brown were outstanding for the winners, while centre-half Bob Rutherford came up with a strong performance for Scotland.

Players for the contest came from Belleville United, Parsons and Falcons; Whitley Insurance and Quinte Transport of Trenton as well as the Bat Braves and CFB Trenton.

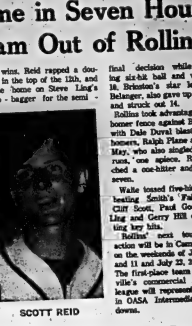
Fourth Game in Seven Hours Takes Steam Out of Rollins

A 218-foot home run fence and four games in seven hours combined to stop Belleville Rollins' Constellation just short of the Easton's Corners Softball tournament title Saturday.

Rollins lost a 4-1 decision to a strong Kemptville squad in the championship game after blanking Brockville 4-0, ousting Smith's Falls 6-3 and slipping Brinston 1-0 in a 13-inning semi-final thriller.



Kemptville broke a 0-0 game in the 6th frame when C. Christie hoisted a homer over the short fence for G. Christie repeated the effort in the 9th and Fobes in the sixth. Rollins finally got to pitching ace Murray Hyndman for a run in the 6th on hits by Ling and Duval. Ted Waite hurled the loss.

Scott Reid pitched tremendous ball in Rollins' 6-0 and 1-0 wins. Reid rapped a double in the top of the 12th, and rode home on Steve Ling's two - bagger for the semi - final decision while tossing six-hit ball and whiffing Brinston's star lefty, J. Belanger, also gave up six hits and struck out 14.

Rollins took advantage of the homer fence against Brockville with Dale Duval blasting two homers, Ralph Plane and Wes May, who also singled in two runs, one apiece. Reid pitched a one-hitter and fanned seven.

Waite tossed five-hit ball in beating Smith's Falls with Cliff Scott, Paul Goodfellow, Ling and Gerry Hill contributing key hits.

Rollins' next tournament action will be in Campbellford on the weekends of July 9, 10 and 11 and July 23, 24 and 25. The first-place team in Belleville's commercial softball league will represent the city in OASA Intermediate play downs.

Three-hitters Work Both Ways

The Belleville Conductors and Brakemen Peewee minor baseball representatives had varying degree of success with three - hitters this week-end.

Saturday the Belleville reps got three - hit hurling from Peter Hall as they turned back Oshawa 4-2. It was a different story the following day however as Whitby stopped the trainmen 4-0 on only three safeties.

Hall rapped a pair of singles to aid his Saturday pitching effort in which he walked only one batter and struck out ten. Mike Burke with a triple and Billy Whalen and Scott Bowers with singles were the other Belleville hitters.

In Sunday's loss Burke, Paul Weeks and Howie Coons were the only local batsmen to collect hits. Clyde Routley took the loss despite a four - hit pitching performance.

Batting was the keynote in a tyke contest Saturday between Towers Food City and Rutherford Peterbilt with the Lift-lock team taking a 15-10 decision.

Marty Henderson contributed a triple and single to the Belleville cause with Bruce Bell, Steve Gilbey, Ken Revoy, Greg McEachern, Dale McTaggart and Paul Marineau adding one hit apiece.

The Legion 99 bantams dropped a doubleheader, Sunday, to Peterborough bowing 2-2 in the first game and 15-3 in the second.

Brian Turner fired six - hit ball for Belleville in the first game; but singles by Greg Cronkright, Turner, Dale Best, Mike McClelland and Greg Bradshaw were the only safeties the Legion could manage off Peterborough pitcher Ron Peters.

When Stars Away Police Must Play

When the all-stars are away, the Police have a pretty rough time. Because the lacrosse peewee all-stars had previous commitments for a Kingston tournament, the Belleville Police Association house league team was forced to fill the breach in an exhibition series with Lakefield Saturday.

The Lakefield visitors spilled the Police peewees 9-1 in the opening contest at Dick Ellis Memorial Rink. Steve Clarkson led the winners with four goals, while Randy Hutchison added a brace to the lone Belleville counter.

The Belleville bantams evened things up with a 6-1 victory in the second game of the afternoon. Rick Barbeau paced the homesters with two goals getting scoring help from John Geen, Scott Manning, Gord Male and Dean Bruce.

In the third encounter, Belleville's midget all-stars came up with a 6-3 win. Dan Nutal fired the winners scoring and Kerry Reid were the big guns for the winners scoring a hat trick each. Shannon replied twice for Lakefield.

Hastings Riders Win Meet

Things were really jumping for the Highlands of Hastings Pony Club this Saturday as it played host to seven other eastern Ontario clubs in a jumping competition.

The Belleville area riders dominated the 16-event competition compiling seven firsts and five seconds for 46 points, while Port Hope's Baltimore Hills Club finished second with 27 points. Oshawa and Peterborough, who were minus some of their top riders because of other competitions throughout the province, failed to make a significant showing.

Hastings took first place in the featured cross country senior jumping event and the senior stadium jumping event while finishing second to Baltimore Hills in the hunt team competition.

The total of 18 Hastings members that competed all managed to come up with good performances against the Toronto Thainder of the 40-rider field.

The next district competition will take place July 24 in Peterborough.

Federal Industrial Relations Code Revisions to Be Listed

OTTAWA (CP) — The long-promised revisions to the federal industrial relations code will be unveiled in the Commons this week.

Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey says the revisions will leave plenty of fighting room for unions and employers to work through to a satisfactory relationship.

"There'll be a minimum of interference in collective bargaining," he promised in an interview.

Just how much room that will leave for the public is not clear. The minister was reluctant to upstage his own legislation with a premature discussion of details.

However one safe prediction is that the bill will reflect Mr. Mackasey's own approach and league plenty of scope for his hand-picked mediators.

The labor minister is a firm believer in the healing powers of hard, fast talk at the bargaining table.

His department has had notable success with the concept of preventive mediation — ongoing prepared to ensure unresolved minor grievances don't clutter proceedings during contract negotiations.

All this suggests the new legislation will be significantly different from recommendations presented in a 1968 report by Dean H. D. Woods of McGill University, Montreal, and three other members of a committee appointed by the government in 1966.

The Woods committee also expressed confidence in the collective bargaining process but, because of concern for the effect of strikes, recommended creation of a public interest disputes commission with enormous powers of intervention.

Mr. Mackasey has made clear there will be no such labor court in his legislation, although admitting it will reflect other Woods committee recommendations.

An indication of how far he intends to go with the committee will be seen in the accommodation in the bill between the individual rights of union members and the disciplinary powers of unions.

The Woods committee recommended a worker should have a right of appeal to an outside body in the event of disciplinary action by a union that might cost him his job.

Mr. Mackasey said the bill will seek a balance between the rights of a worker and a union's need to maintain order in its own ranks.

One area in which Mr. Mackasey appears to be in agreement with the Woods report involves the scope given the Canadian Labor Relations Board.

The committee recommended wide discretionary powers for the board, including the power to recognize regional bargaining units in national industries.

A recommendation that may also have found favor is for extension of the federal labor jurisdiction by agreement in some industries now within provincial authority.

Bigger Role in Science Urged For Provincial Research Units

OTTAWA (CP)-Unique institutions such as the research councils of some of the provinces deserve a bigger place in the national science effort, the Science Council of Canada said today.

This will mean making the best of their strengths—a new ability to serve regional and industrial interests.

It also will mean giving them more federal and provincial government research work and more funds from small industries unable to afford their own research establishments.

The council expresses these views in a dual document, part background study—by science adviser Andrew H. Wilson—and part recommendations from the Science Council.

It is the first time the five-year-old federal agency has directed advice to the provinces. Previous reports were aimed at the federal government, or science and industry in general.

But this report, entitled Research Councils in the Provinces: A Canadian Resource, presses Manitoba to give full effect to its research council by providing it with its own laboratories.

Mr. Wilson, a Scottish-born engineer-economist, finds, and the Science Council concurs, that these provincial institutions in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia are unlike anything elsewhere in the world.

Coupled with this "important factor," is the less-praiseworthy fact that "we have tended to neglect the provinces when thinking of a national science policy."

Though small in size they appear to have become centres of competence which cannot be ignored," the Council said.

They are effective and flexible and closer to industry than the universities.

Most of Pre-holiday Period To Be Spent by MPs on Budget

By DAN TURNER

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons, scheduled to close shop for the summer Wednesday, will spend most of three final days on budget debate.

The government will have only about four hours, grabbed in snatches, during these three days to try to get some of its leftover legislation through.

It will likely have time enough to get approval for setting up a ministry of state for external affairs—Robert Andras will be the new minister—and to get a bill through to give across-the-board raises to federally-appointed judges.

With those exceptions, the three days will be spent in dilatory procedure.

Finance Minister Benson's bill to amend the income tax structure will be given first reading Wednesday.

Three of the six days allotted to budget debate have already been completed.

The session is to start again Sept. 7, and likely will continue until October or November before it is prorogued and another opened.

It is started—unless the government calls an election this fall.

If it doesn't, some time will be spent this fall dealing with bills left on the order paper over the summer.

Three of them are agricultural measures being fought hard by the opposition:

—The farm products marketing bill, designed to create a structure for the formation of national agriculture marketing agencies;

—The prairie grain stabilization bill, which would replace some existing agriculture schemes with a guaranteed income plan for the western grain industry as a whole based on past industry earnings;

—A bill to amend the Canadian Wheat Board Act, which would give the government the prerogative to bring flax, rapeseed and rye under the board's jurisdiction.

Other bills on the order paper would:

—Authorize the government to make a grant to Nova Scotia to try to save Deuterium of Canada Ltd., the trouble-plagued heavy water plant;

—Require weather modification firms to provide the government with information on their activities;

—Amend the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Convention Act;

—Prevent the promotion of cigarette smoking;

—Amend the Northern Canada Power Commission Act.

A motion of note still hanging would have a special joint Senate-Commons committee study replacement of the Public Order Temporary Measures Act which expired April 30.

STOP KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Our feet are overlooked until they begin to ache or become distorted. Unfortunately, they are willing servants that take a lot of punishment. When this becomes too severe, they at last rebel.

I believe that many people who complain of foot discomforts can help themselves by making commonsense choices of footwear. Settling for comfort instead of style.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Some time ago, in your column, you printed a letter from a man who had a mysterious aching in his toes. It seems someone suggested gout, which he doubted. You wrote that an important point in getting at his problem was checking on his shoes.

I had a similar experience. The ends of my toes would throb with pain, and a set of hammer toes developed which might be the envy of any carillon player.

Many people get foot trouble because they're only interested in how their shoes fit their eyes rather than their feet. They're style crazy — or just plain careless when buying shoes.

For example, in some shoes the toes are made shallower than usual for eye - appeal which automatically makes the shoes shorter due to less space at the front. Even if they were longer to allow for this difference, they would still be too short to allow for happy expression of the phalanges in walking.

As if this isn't crippling enough, some shoes have the outer curve sliced off, not allowing for the natural curve of the foot. Result: toes jammed back against the outer joints, creating ugly bulges and bunions as well as causing a spastic turning up of the toes after you have taken off the shoes and are relaxing.

It appears to me that doctors should be the ones to "put their foot down" on shoes so their patients won't be turning up their toes before their time. — Mrs. F., "Flat - Foot Flossie".

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: A dear friend of the family had a diagnosis showing cancer and underwent an operation. The doctor said after the operation that the patient would be lucky to live a month.

He has now lived one year and five months and seems reasonably well, although he gets tired. He has been going to the hospital twice a month for treatments. He is still able to continue his job and works four or five days a week. What do you think?— Mrs. L.

COMMENT: All I can say is what I have said often: Doctors should beware of acting like little gods. No doctor, however brilliant otherwise, is able to set a definite time limit of life for another human being.

He'd be better off believing the aged philosophy, "While there's life there's hope" — rather than telling a patient he has surely been sentenced to death within a month.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I'm heavy in certain places. I'm interested in spot - reducing.

I've been told to take special exercises and follow special diets, but I've gained at least two inches around these spots instead of losing. Do ye have any advice for a spot - reducing? — Miss F.

COMMENT: I pass.

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Lately I've had an insatiable appetite for eating rice. I generally times get up in the middle of the night to raid the refrigerator. Is it possible that I lack vitamins? — Mrs. M.

COMMENT: I doubt it. More likely here may be an iron deficiency. Have your doctor check your red blood cells and hemoglobin. If you are anemic, taking iron medication should decrease or eliminate your craving for rice.

Sydney J. Harris Says

Bacon Denounced Times

If one lacks a little historical perspective, it's hard to judge one's own time. Thinkers, especially, tend to take a severe view of their own age, possibly because their standards are so much higher and their vision so much keener than the generality of people.

Roger Bacon was one of the first "men of science" to come out of the Dark Ages. His life nearly spanned the entire 13th Century — which medievalists have called "the most splendid in the history of Western man." Yet Bacon would have been the last to agree with this verdict.

Although himself a religious person (much of his scientific work was done under the protection of Pope Clement IV) and a member of Franciscan order, Bacon was imprisoned for 15 years, and his works were suppressed — including his demonstration of the "roundness" of the earth — a full three centuries before Magellan proved it to be so.

In the year 1271, Roger Bacon put down his considered opinion of this "splendid era" as the flowering of Western civilization:

"More signs reign in these days than in any past age, — torn by the deceit and fraud of unjust men . . . Pride reigns, envy consumes, burns, gnaws upon all; the whole Curia is disgraced with lechery, and gluttony is lord of all. . . .

"Let us see the prelates, how they run after money, neglect the care of souls, promote their nephews and other carnal friends, and cruelty lawyers who ruin all by their counsel. . . .

"Let us consider the Religious Orders: I exclude none from what I say: see how far they are fallen, one and all, from their right state; and the new Orders (the Friars) are already horribly decayed from their original dignity.

"The whole clergy is intent upon pride, lechery and avarice; and wheresoever studies are gathered together . . . they scandalize the laity with their wars and quarrels and other vices. Princes and barons and knights oppress and circumvent and defraud one another . . . and they are utterly given over to lechery and gluttony, and are more debased than tongue can tell."

Bacon's books were condemned and unread by most scholars. It was not until three-and-a-half centuries later that his advocacy of experiment and quantitative measurement was heard. While his judgment of his own age scarcely differs much from what many think of ours.

Supreme Court May Rule Today on Use of Pentagon Papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon-papers case, an historic battle between the Nixon administration and the press, confronted the United States Supreme Court today on the last scheduled day of its current term.

The court is expected either to announce a ruling or to delay adjournment to decide whether the New York Times and the Washington Post may publish articles based on top-secret defence department documents outlining the history of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The high court heard arguments in the case only last Saturday, leading to speculation that a ruling could be announced today but opinions outlining reasons for the justices' decision could be delayed several days.

At issue, says The Times and The Post, is the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. The justice department contends publication of excerpts from the war study will endanger national security, damage U.S. relations with other countries and prolong the Vietnam war.

The dispute began June 13 when The Times published a story saying the Pentagon study indicated the Johnson administration secretly planned escalation of the war while President Lyndon B. Johnson was campaigning for re-election in 1964.

On June 15 the justice department was granted a district court injunction barring The Times temporarily from continuing the series.

Three days later The Post began its own series based, it said, on the same 47-volume study dating back to the end of the Second World War. Again, the government moved to halt publication, but Judge Gerhard A. Gesell of district court refused the request for a restraining order.

The justice department appealed within the hour. And early on June 19, two judges of the Court of Appeals blocked continuation of The Post series.

Last Wednesday night an appellate court gave The Times the right to publish new stories about the study—provided the court selected the documents from which the articles were prepared.

The Times appealed to the Supreme Court which extended the conditional ban and also applied it to The Post.

The Supreme Court heard the case in an unusual Saturday session.

Four of the nine justices—William O. Douglas, Hugo L. Black, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall — opposed even holding the hearing.

The four were joined by Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White in rejecting the justice department request that the hearing be held in private. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices John M. Harlan and Harry A. Blackmun voted for a closed hearing.

Lawyers for The Post and The Times argued before the Supreme Court that nothing in the Pengagon study, completed in 1967, poses any current threat to national security. They said the study was nothing more than history—although history that could prove embarrassing.

Solicitor-General Erwin N. Griswold argued that publication of stories based on the documents will "affect the security of the United States."

Tomorrow's Garbage Collectors Will Be High School Graduates

PORT ELGIN, Ont. (CP) — The time is coming when garbage collectors will be high school graduates and taxi drivers will have at least one year of university education, Harry Simon, Ontario's regional director for the Canadian Labor Congress, said Sunday.

He told a seminar of officials from provincial labor councils that high school graduates will be forced to turn to menial jobs before 1980 because of the shrinking employment market, and educational institutions now are churning out too many graduates unable to find suitable jobs.

Mr. Simon also predicted that by 1980 organized workers in Canada will double to more than 4.3 million, and there will be more and longer strikes and tougher legislation to curb unions.

"In all my 45 years in the labor movement I do not recall a time when labor was under such vicious attacks and pressure by governments, management and media as we have experienced in recent years," he told the seminar in this Lake Huron resort community, 25 miles southwest of Owen Sound.

He also predicted that by 1980 the 120 national and international unions now in Canada will merge to form about 75, and local labor councils will reorganize to conform with regional government boundaries.

Mr. Simon said by the end of the 1970s most Canadians will have a four-day week and a guaranteed annual wage of $5,000 a family, with retirement at age 55.

He also urged the officials to campaign vigorously for the New Democratic Party in the next provincial election and "let's get rid of the Tories in Ontario and the sooner the better."

To help the NDP financially, the CLC was selling small red buttons reading NDP, for $1 each.

Car Hits Building, Killing Two Women

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two women, killed when their car careened out of control and smashed into an apartment building in Toronto, were among 79 persons who died accidentally across Canada during the weekend.

Helen K. Brown, 55, and Isabel Craig, 54, both of Toronto, died of injuries suffered when their car, out of control on a Toronto street, sped through two stop signs, hit two curbs and struck an apartment building at a speed police estimated was 50 miles an hour.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday night, local times, showed that 50 persons died in traffic accidents, 10 in drownings, three in fires, four in plane crashes and one each when hit by a falling pole, struck by a freight train and run over by a motorboat while swimming.

The 50 traffic deaths on the weekend, and 25 during the week, brought the number of persons killed on Canadian highways since Jan. 1 to at least 1,446.

Ontario's dead included 21 in traffic, three in fires and one by drowning for a total of 25.

Quebec followed with 17 dead, 10 in traffic, six drownings and a swimmer struck by a motor boat.

British Columbia had six traffic deaths and four dead in plane crashes.

In Alberta, six persons died — five in traffic mishaps and one by drowning.

Nova Scotia had four dead in traffic and a drowning.

In Saskatchewan, four persons died, three in traffic and one by drowning.

There were two deaths in Newfoundland, one in traffic and Alma Reid, five, of Bishop's Falls, died Saturday of injuries received Friday night when struck by a utility pole.

Manitoba's only weekend fatality was the person struck by a train.

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island were fatality-free.

The survey does not include industrial deaths, known suicides or slayings.

Stanfield Visits Ethnic Exposition

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Stanfield and his teen-age daughter toured ethnic Toronto for nine hours Saturday in a double-decker London bus.

There was hardly a political comment made all day as the federal Progressive Conservative leader visited the 10 pavilions of Caravan '71, an annual event at which the city's ethnic groups display the culture of their homelands.

It was 17-year-old Mimi Stanfield's first trip to the city, and with her long brown hair and blue bell bottoms she got lots of glances at the various pavilions.

Her father, after enjoying Ukrainian cabbage rolls, Italian spaghetti, and Austrian and German beer, joked at the end of the tour that it was "a great day, except for the shortage of food and drink."

At the Dutch pavilion, he mailed a postcard to Finance Minister Edgar Benson, which will arrive with the proper Dutch postmark. It reads:

"Taxes are falling all over the place here in Holland and unemployment is 3 per cent. Signed Robert Stanfield."

Throughout the day, he signed autographs and Mimi, short for Miriam, signed a few too, mainly for teen-agers and children.

Three Nuns Sentenced At Boston

BOLOGNA, Italy (Reuter) — Three Roman Catholic nuns were sentenced Saturday night to four-month suspended prison terms for inflicting excessive punishments on children at an orphanage.

The nuns, Mother Maria Vitoria Gatto, 44, Sister Anna Maria Estorri, 43, and Sister Giuseppina Pisano, 47, were found guilty on charges of using "abusive means of correction."

During the trial the prosecution said the nuns, members of the Order of Immaculate Mary of Working Missionaries had frequently beaten children in their charge for minor offences. Other children were said to have been shut up in a dark cupboard.

The nuns denied the charges.

Municipal Transport Systems to Get Aid

Ontario to Pay Part of Deficit

Proposed legislation to pay a minimum of 50 per cent of the operating deficit of municipal transportation systems "is geared up to the smaller community to the same extent as it would affect cities such as Toronto," Dr. Richard T. Potter said this morning.

The Quinte MPP, in commenting on legislation given first reading in the Ontario legislation Monday, said "this is not just an answer to the Spadina Expressway problem.

"The decision was made after looking at the 50 municipal transportation systems across the province and it is designed to encourage municipalities to view public transportation as a viable alternative to the private motor vehicle and as a better alternative to spending ever-increasing funds for road improvements."

Mayor J. Russell Scott said this morning "the legislation looks like a fair approach. It is something we have wanted, because after all, how far can we go spending money on roads?

"If we can make it economically feasible to use buses then this will be a great improvement for the community, for it would provide a lessening of the demand for super roads.

"I don't know the details yet, but I hope that included will be some restriction on the fares, so that they can be scaled down to encourage people to use the buses.

"By reason of the grants coming to the municipality it might be necessary to reassess the method of handling public transportation. However, if this is found to be so, I'm sure everyone will be in agreement with a change of this nature if it is going to allow an improvement of the service."

Charles MacNaughton, minister of transportation and communication who introduced the bill, told a news conference that the ground rules upon which the subsidy will be applied still have to be worked out.

The legislation will enable the government to pay a minimum of 50 per cent of the operating deficit of municipal transit systems "at ministerial discretion."

An official of his department said more than 50 transportation systems operate in Ontario, and of these only two or three are breaking even or making a profit.

Mr. MacNaughton said the subsidy on the deficit could run as high as 80 per cent but the subsidy would have to be determined on the frequency, accessibility and quality of service offered.

The subsidy would also be applicable to private transit systems under contract to municipalities.

He estimated the cost of the subsidy would be about $6 or $7 million for the remainder of 1971 after the bill receives royal assent which is expected early next month.

"The province intends to provide an immediate cash flow for local transportation," said Dr. Potter, "and we hope it will stimulate new and objective appraisals of the role public transportation can play in a municipality.

"The legislation will provide assistance for any system of transportation and should prove a tremendous asset to smaller municipalities which are experiencing difficulty in financing transportation systems."

The government bill also proposes to pay 50 per cent of the capital costs of constructing new subway or other rapid-transit lines and additions to existing ones.

Mr. MacNaughton said the province had expected to pay about $8 million for the remainder of the year on costs of the north extension of Toronto's Yonge Street subway.

Under the proposed legislation, provincial participation in the extension is likely to be increased to "$15 million plus" for the rest of the year, the minister said.

He explained that the province now pays about 21 per cent of the capital costs of subway building but the new legislation will expand the areas of subsidy so that the actual amount of subsidy will approach 50 per cent.

Sarnia Tops Ontario With 100-degree Day

TORONTO (CP) — Steadily mounting temperatures may set records in the heat wave which is affecting most of Ontario, a weather office spokesman said today.

Temperatures in the high 80s were forecast today for southwestern Ontario, where Windsor's 99 Monday tied the highest ever temperature for a June day, set on June 28, 1952. Public swimming pools were closed by a strike of city employees.

London had a 97, which broke a record for the day set in 1944.

The Niagara, Hamilton and Toronto areas were expected to reach 90 today and 80s were forecast for the rest of central and northern Ontario.

The heat blankets the northeastern United States and most of southwestern and northern Ontario. No relief is expected until at least Thursday.

Sarnia, with a high of 102.4 degrees, was the province's hottest spot Monday but temperatures were as high as 93 as far north as Kapuskasing.

Road Grant Changes May Save City $40,000

Legislation introduced yesterday in the provincial parliament regarding road subsidies "could save a municipality such as Belleville up to $40,000 a year," said Mayor J. Russell Scott this morning.

The legislation, which dealt with subsidies to municipalities for transportation systems also would provide for changes in the volving grants for road construction.

The government proposes to make two advance payments for road construction, each based on 30 per cent of subsidies in previous years.

The percentage will be made April 1 and July 1. Previously, only one payment of 35 per cent was made in May and the remainder made at the end of the year.

"If we take this year's budget as an example," said Dr. Scott, "without going back and looking up the figures, it is conceivable we could save about half a year's interest on about $800,000. We are maybe talking about $40,000. It might mean a little extra work to get caught up but it would pay us to do so.

Bid to Withdraw Troops Tangles New Draft Bill

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Supporters of the Nixon administration faced a race against time today in a bid to salvage the new military draft bill before existing legislation expires at midnight Wednesday night.

The obstacle is an amendment which the Senate wants inserted fixing a timetable for the withdrawal of United States troops from Vietnam.

The amendment was rejected by the House of Representatives Monday and the bill was sent to a joint congressional conference committee, which has to reconcile differences between the legislation as it emerged from the House and from the Senate.

If, as appears probable, the conference committee cannot produce a compromise acceptable to Congress by Wednesday night, the present draft law will expire without the planned renewing legislation to give the president draft authority for two more years.

Defence department chiefs and other administration officials said there is enough manpower currently available to keep the military establishment up to its requirements for a month or two. Neither they nor their congressional supporters fear that the draft authority will go too long without being renewed.

Senate supporters of the amendment have threatened to filibuster the conference committee's compromise if it does not include the timetable clause.

Reputed Mafia Boss Shot Leading Italian Civil Rights Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Underworld figures who had been reported feuding with reputed Mafia boss Joseph A. Colombo Sr. have been questioned by police about the shooting of Colombo at an Italian-American Unity Day rally he was preparing to lead. Colombo remained in critical condition in a hospital today.

The gunman who fired three bullets into Colombo's head and neck Monday was shot to death moments later. Chief of Detectives Albert Seedman said the assault on Colombo was planned, possibly by rival mobsters.

The assailant was identified as Jerome A. Johnson, 35, of New Brunswick, N.J., who posed as a free-lance photographer in order to get near Colombo. Seedman said police were convinced that one of Colombo's bodyguards shot Johnson. A woman seen with Johnson was being sought.

Joseph and Albert Gallo, two of the underworld leaders questioned by police, were reported to have recently renewed with Colombo a feud dating back to decade when they fought over opposite sides in a gang war that took about 20 lives.

Joseph Gallo is reported to have augmented his faction recently with blacks brought in as associate members of his organization.associate members of ization associate.

Carlo Gambino, 72-year-old reputed boss of bosses in the New York underworld, was also questioned by police. Gambino, once a patron of Colombo, is reported to have grown uneasy over public attention focused on organized crime by Colombo's Italian-American Civil Rights League.

Gambino is reported to have backed the Gallos in an alleged feud over "territory."

Colombo, 65, founder of the league, had asserted publicly he had nothing to do with the underworld and has led rallies and demonstrations by league members who said use of the words "Mafia" and "Cosa Nostra" unfairly associated Italian-Americans with organized crime.

Colombo was reported still in a coma today with his blood pressure and breathing back to normal. Surgeons estimated his chance of survival "less than 50-50" but said it was "a miracle he is still alive."

In five hours of brain surgery, two bullets were removed, one from the mid-brain and the other from the back of the neck. A third slug, in the left jaw, was not considered critical and was left in.

The burst of gunfire took place within 100 feet of the gaily-decorated statue of Christopher Columbus where a crowd that eventually numbered at least 15,000 was gathering for the second annual rally, sponsored by the league and other groups.

Witnesses said a young black man with a camera snapped pictures of Colombo in an area restricted to reporters with passes until Colombo said "All right, that's it. No more pictures." The man then moved behind Colombo, pulled a gun and fired, witnesses said.

"He fired three times with an automatic pistol," said James Delmonico, a free-lance photographer, "Colombo fell.

"There were two more shots, I think. They crowded around the guy with the gun. Colombo had blood all over his head. The black man looked like he got his three or four times."

Door-to-door Canvas Abandoned by UCS

Door - to - door canvassing for the United Appeal is a thing of the past, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of 1971 appeal organizers.

The emphasis for this year's campaign, with a goal of $145,000, is to be "Give Where You Work," with payroll deductions a major approach for the fund-raising program.

Funds raised during last year's campaign amounted to $139,267.53, some $5,000 short of the $138,800 goal. However, a supplementary spring campaign, not operated this year, raised more than $5,000 in 1970.

People who are not working or who are retired will be able to leave their contributions with area banks, set up as depots, or at the United Community Service offices on John Street.

Isidore Cooperman, UCS executive director, said companies will receive official recognition in the form of citations, based on a percentage of employees donating to the appeal.

"We want to put everyone on the spot," said Mr. Cooperman, when cabinet meeting, H. R. Hennessey explained the work canvass would eliminate the "I gave at work" and vice versa approach used when canvassers attempt to collect contributions.

Squads of organizers will personally approach commercial, industrial, financial, educational, professional, public service and special names divisions in an attempt to gain maximum contributions.

At present, 37 companies and agencies have signed up for payroll deductions and 17 companies have agreed to in-plant canvassing programs.

Previous problems with obtaining contributions from the Canadian Forces . . . down by almost half in the 1970 appeal . . . have led to an amalgamation into the public service division of the appeal.

Cabinet member Douglas Wilson noted that "the man assigned by the base was away more than at home and there was some reluctance by the base to be identified separately because it upset their image."

He also suggested an "aggressive campaign for the memorial" may have influenced many contributors.

Teacher-teacher Jamaica-bound

A Belleville elementary school teacher will be off to the Caribbean after school ends on a four-week teaching assignment for the Canadian Teachers' Federation.

Donald Lockyer of Queen Victoria School will take part in a pilot project designed to provide an increased number of teachers for junior high schools in Jamaica.

Mr. Lockyer is no stranger to teaching in foreign lands. With his family he spent 1963 to 1967 in Nigeria, instructing at a teacher-training school.

He will be teaching diagnostic and remedial techniques as leader of a Canadian team going to Excelsior High School in Kingston, Jamaica. His work, supported by the Canadian Teachers' Federation, the Jamaican Teachers' Federation and the Jamaican Ministry of Education, will involve an in-service summer course for students in the last two years of secondary school in Kingston who are being given some teacher training along with their regular academic courses.

The object is to stretch students into teaching and strengthen Jamaican teachers' professional and academic standards.

The Jamaican venture is part of Project Overseas, the Canadian Teachers' Federation program to aid developing countries.

Canadian teachers recruited through the project help teachers in other countries upgrade their academic and professional qualification, improve their professional organization and promote understanding and goodwill.

Teams are going out this year under CTF sponsorship to Africa, Asia and the Caribbean.

Son of Mr. Lockyer's duties will be to involve his Jamaican students in discussion and workshop sessions a technique for which Canadian teachers have developed a world-wide reputation for excellence.

Break-ins Produce No Loot

A thief or thieves took to the honest profession of glazing last night with a twist.

Instead of mounting glass, they removed putty from a window at Woodland Cleaners at the corner of Farley and Dundas Streets to gain entry to the premises.

In the same vicinity, a window was broken and wound open at Harry J. Clarke Public School.

In Sidney Township, the municipal offices were broken into and extensive damage done to the walk-in safe downstairs.

"We don't keep a lot of money here," said Reeve Jack Bush, "but it looks like they were trying to get into the vault."

The dial on the surface was broken and the reeve said it might take several hundred dollars to fix.

In all three overnight incidents, nothing was reported missing.

Auction Fails To Sell House

An instance of one that failed when it was tried here for the first time concerns an effort to dispose of real estate by auction.

The property advertised for sale was the Charles Young homestead, an original United Empire Loyalist homestead on the northern limits of the village. It has a three-acre park-like setting including barn buildings and 80 acres of land.

On the day of the sale, June 12, the owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke, received three bids than they expected and the highest, of $35,000 did not interest them. Now the conventional sale signs are back in place.

The last of the Young family, a spinster named Matie Young, lived in the house until two years ago when she died in her 90s.

The original building, erected about 1832, has been remodelled mainly on the inside.

The mistrial was ordered because the medical report on Ian Rutherford's condition had not been made available to the defence.

Quinte and minister without portfolio, said "it is hoped that the details are made available much earlier it might make the work available earlier in the year. Municipalities might be able to get their application and plans in earlier."

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell was not so optimistic that the change in the funding would create earlier starts in the year on city projects.

"The intention of the legislation is to get a quicker flow of money into the municipalities to cut down interest charges. Up until now we have had 25 per cent of last year's subsidies in the spring and then had to make an interim claim in September.

"I don't know of any job we might have handed up if the cash flow had of been earlier. Councils are still faced with the budget decisions in the spring which to a large extent still hings around the audit and the funds required by school boards.

"Whether we can advance any decision making to provide a benefit. I don't know."

Municipal councils also will no longer have to submit bylaws altering the salaries or allowances for road superintendents for provincial approval.

The legislation also provides that streets can be closed for up to 72 hours for such things as public celebrations provided the minister is satisfied there is a suitable detour.

The government also plans to extend the 50-per-cent subsidy for works on adjacent streets to facilitate the construction of pedestrian malls.

Rezoning Application To Be Reconsidered

TRENTON (Staff)—Jerome Shibley, one of the backers of the proposed Sidney Street shopping plaza for which council refused to grant a necessary zoning change, is bidding to have the decision reconsidered.

In a letter read to council Monday night, Mr. Shibley asks council to look again at its February rejection in the light of "a number of developments" which he feels prompt such action.

He says that the adjacent Brett Park subdivision is now complete, affording a timely opportunity "to ensure that the site is developed in conformity with the surrounding residential area." He adds completion of the housing district eliminates the possibility that the five - store shopping centre might be extended to become something larger.

New subdivisions, he maintains, indicate continued growth in Trenton and approval of the Ark Construction condominium town house development will increase the number of residents in the immediate vicinity of the neighborhood plaza.

Mr. Shibley cautions that Quinte Mall will draw heavily on Trenton trade and centres like the one he proposes are allowed here. He says all 40 families now in Park Favor the plaza being built near their homes and local merchants have shown interest in leasing space.

He adds that Sidney Homes, the development company, is "ready, willing and able to comply with stipulations set by the planning board and such reasonable requests as council may make."

Council decided to reconsider the application for rezoning, with Mayor Duncan McDonald suggesting that he present council with a petition from residents in the immediate area of the plaza who favor his proposal.

Planning board had conditionally approved the rezoning that would allow the mall to shopping centre during the winter but council rejected it.

Late Taxpayers Will Pay More

TRENTON (Staff) — An incentive that may have prompted Trentonians to fall into arrears with their taxes was removed by council here last night as the interest rate charged against overdue taxes was raised from 8 to 12 per cent.

Basis for the decision to increase the delinquency penalty was the belief that some taxpayers were holding back in their payments "because interest rates charged for taxes in arrears are less than those charged by lending institutions."

The result was that the citizen or corporation had access to funds at 4 per cent annually — cheaper than it could be obtained elsewhere.

Before approving the substantial increase in the charge, council examined sheets of tax rolls to see exactly who the delinquents were, attempting at the same time to judge whether these parties could afford to pay up.

Mayor Duncan McDonald has suggested the review of those concerned to ensure that the increase would not be inflicting an added burden primarily on individuals who could not pay.

"What we should find out is how many are just taking advantage of low interest rates and how many are involved in hardship . . . we may just be involved with a lot of people who cannot afford to pay their taxes," he said.

Councillors perused the lists of those who had contributed to the total of $78,177 in 1970 tax arrears and decided that the new one per cent a month penalty should be implemented.

According to a statement prepared by clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry at the time the new 1971 town budget was unveiled June 15, largest factor in the massive arrears' total is the unpaid taxation from three large industries given tax advantages by Trenton but stripped later of these benefits by order of the Ontario Municipal Board.

Cancer Director

H. W.. Rowlands, newly-elected executive director of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, as the Tweedsmuir Hotel in Tweed, last night congratulated guests from the Belleville and District Unit on surpassing their 1971 campaign goal by almost $1,000. The unit raised $20,234.

Cancer Society Tops Campaign Objective

TWEED (Staff) — The Canadian Cancer Society, Belleville and District Unit, at its eighth annual meeting here last night, announced it has surpassed its 1971 campaign goal by almost $1,000.

A total of $20,234 was raised, not including memorial gifts of between $4,000 and $5,000, with branch units in Point Anne, Thurlow Township, Deseronto, Madoc, Marmora, Stirling, Belleville and Tweed.

"This is a tribute to all of you and to all who are not here," Leslie Lennox, president of the unit, told the chapter representatives of the Tweedsmuir Hotel.

In offering his congratulations, he commented "there must be 500 to 600 people who donate time and effort to the campaign."

Mrs. Christine Logan, in tendering her report on the Services to Patients program, told the members 130 women volunteers had prepared a total of 6,800 dressings since September, had provided home nursing and special medications to 41 patients and transportation for 50 trips to treatment centres in Kingston.

H. W. Rowlands, newly-elected executive director of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, last night's guest speaker, complimented Mrs. Logan and her group of their program.

"Service to Patients makes you appreciate what you are doing and so does the committee, the Cancer Society has prepared a new film and slide presentation to be released to school systems in North America and as far away as Australia and Europe."

Asked to comment on U.S. President Nixon's recent announcement that $100 million would be set aside for the fight against cancer, Mr. Rowlands suggested it was "probably not as significant as it sounds. He's promised $100 million, but we haven't seen it yet.

"There are not enough people who have the necessary training," to take advantage of these funds, he said.

"Even if the money is used to train people to do research it won't bring quick results."

Mr. Rowlands told the dinner - guests he had consulted with several cancer society and research heads across North America on this subject.

Developers to Pay All Service Costs

TRENTON (Staff) — Mayor Duncan McDonald took the position at council here Monday that, if Dufferin Developments has acquired land at its western limits, Trenton does not have to foot half the bill of servicing this adjacent property.

As part of the subdividers' agreement between the town and Dufferin, the town corporation agreed to spend $12,500 or 50 per cent of the cost of running a water main throught the 300-home subdivision to service land to the west.

The cost sharing is based on extending services up to the boundaries of new areas — not to help pay for mains without them.

The mayor said "if Dufferin has bought it, the land would be within the subdivision . . . I do not think we have to extend services within a subdivision."

He stated later that this Tripp Boulevard main should qualify for 50-50 cost sharing only when the land it services belongs to others. If Dufferin now holds the land, he feels, the town is, in effect, helping to defray costs of services within a subdivision.

Councillor Ted Parker told council he understood Dufferin was trying to acquire the land in question but did not know if it had changed hands yet.

The larger controversy of whether the town should continue to extend services on a 50-50 basis to subdivisions in the future ended last night with adoption of a new standard form of subdividers' agreement requiring a developer to pay 100 per cent of the cost.

However, the new pact form only involves the dealings of the town and developer, not the Public Utilities Commission. The PUC is preparing its own agreement standards.

Trenton to Check Sewer Infiltration

TRENTON (Staff) — If one of the leading factors behind plans for construction of a $2.8-million addition to Trenton's sewage treatment plant can be eliminated, it would mean a considerable saving to taxpayers.

At an Ontario Water Resources Commission hearing in the Community Gardens May 26, engineers present were in agreement that one of the big problems complicating the town's sewage system is a large amount of ground water seeping into the sewers. Council, meeting here last night, took the first step in trying to check this so-called "infiltration."

By the council decision, the firm of Gore and Storrie, Trenton's sewer consultants, will be hired to investigate the source of this water with town engineer, Arthur Campbell.

According to the committee of the whole report on the question, "it is a matter of concern because it could necessitate the construction of a plant in excess of normal requirements and at considerably more cost."

In opting for the search, council does so in the face of serious doubts by a number of engineers as to whether it can possibly be successful.

Len Pitura, assistant director of project development for OWRC, told the May hearing a search for sewer defects would be very costly and may involve installation of television cameras in the sewers. He doubts that it could be successful in any case.

The capacity of the present treatment plant is one million gallons a day but between January and July 1969 alone, the average daily flow was 2.18 million gallons a day, according to John Argo, a Gore and Storrie consultant.

The average taxpayer here pays $17 annually for sewage treatment service. If the plant is expanded as planned by OWRC to a 2.5 million gallon daily capacity, this amount would climb to more than $42 a year.

Treasurer Candidates Interviewed

TRENTON (Staff) — Clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry reported to council here last night that the town is managing and not failing behind in the conduct of its financial affairs.

Councillor Pete Aziz had inquired about the state of municipal administration in the absence of a town treasurer. Peter De Groot had resigned in April as treasurer of the town corporation.

Mr. Larry said that Mr. De Groot is still consulted when needed.

Council had been prepared last night to hire a new treasurer at an annual salary of $12,500 but the individual concerned declined the job at the last minute.

The clerk-comptroller said he would be interviewing another candidate for the senior municipal post today.

Family Fun

Back to its usual somnolent state today is Mountain View airport. The antique aircraft had begun to depart late afternoon Sunday and by 5.30 p.m. the concession stands were closing shop while only a handful of spectators remained to watch the dwindling activity of a few flying club planes.

Even earlier, at the height of the day, there was about the crowd an air of suspended animation, almost listlessness. If the trusty ancients of the airways, and that throaty old show - off of a helicopter, attracted occasional attention, it was also a day for people to see and be seen by each other.

With the bulk of the crowd gone there remained, appropriately enough, a couple of vintage cars and by contrast a group of motorcyclists preparing to leave on their British, Japanese and German mounts — quite an international array of machines which makes one wonder why we do not produce such vehicles in Canada? Even the pallos on their Harley - Davidsons ride American. The German bikes incidentally — there were two of them — were quietly humming, shaft - drive machines of a type seldom seen in this country but popular and widely respected in Europe.

Some other, more inconsequential, impressions of an interesting weekend: the tinkling music from a refreshment tent, strains which seemed rather out of place amid the roar of engines, like the insipid stuff one hears in the supermarket, and that familiar, universal Canadian complaint, from some woman out of sight but within hearing distance, and apropos presumably nothing in particular: "Isn't it awful . . . !"

Over by the hangars a lone airman — we have always wondered just what they do in that isolated, lonely spot, walked from one building to another, unlocked a door in the corner and vanished into a capacious interior amid the ghosts of flying machines that have had their day. And a young couple, with their small boy, wandered about behind the fence in what we thought was off - limits terrain, later to squeeze back onto the public side and no one there to say boo.

So it was far from being an awful weekend, aside from Friday's rain. And there was that Highland gathering in town too. Fun for all the family as they say. The organizers of both are to be complimented, and we hope they will be back again.

Dead-Pan Comic Stanfield Socks It to the Government

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — That not only was a slammer-hammer of a speech with which Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield pounded Prime Minister Trudeau the other night.

It was funny when he softened his way, improvising asides here in between the hard lines of the choreographed text.

He opened, off the top of his head and away from his text which just sat there, in a paper lump, on the podium.

State Secretary Gerard Pelletier's controversial $94,700,000 "Opportunities for Youth" summer job program provided the lead-off.

Plenty of scope in that with that $7,500 of federal — your tax — funds having been approved then suspended for a youth camp named "Northern Wilderness" near Prince George, B.C., whose young American operators pleaded guilty to possession and implied suspicion of cultivation of marijuana plants.

It fitted neatly with another project at the other side of the country, at Sherbrooke, Quebec, called, by the State Secretary's Department itself, "Freak-out" and getting, Mr. Pelletier has announced, $8,300 of federal money for, as the official program announcement describes it, "six students to organize a drop-in centre 'for drug dropouts, where they may be helped to return them, again, the departmental phrase for 'bad trips'."

How come, asked Robert Stanfield, deadpan, dropping that one eye-lid like comedian Myron Cohen, that the "with it" Opportunities for Youth program planners had overlooked that "tremendous performance" on the lawns of the $68,000,000 National Arts Centre, here in the Capital the other night.

Or, if it could not qualify as a project on the basis of mass participation, he grinned, "where was the Canada Council — surely it had to be their bag."

The "tremendous performance" to which he was making wry reference had been staged by a couple of hippies, male and female, doing their sexual thing, in the nude, right there on the Arts Centre lawns across Confederation Square.

It was well-staged, in the bright late spring moonlight and in one way, well-timed, catching the eye of the Arts Centre crowds as they streamed out of the Arts Centre's Immense Opera House after the curtain had come down on "Swan Lake."

In another way, the timing was a bit off, for it caught the eye, too, of the Ottawa police who banded up the two stairwise hippies, popped them into the paddy wagon for a ride to the city cells and a post-performance, morning-after court appearance with $50 fines.

But Bob Stanfield made it sound laughable, laughs, of course, being at Government expense.

Then he went into his verbal punch-up of Pierre Trudeau and Company, getting by far his best belts yet.

It was just possible, because he warmed up slowly, that Bob Stanfield could not have got rocking along in such free and easy laugh-loaded style if he had not been fed a lead-in line by that great old political straight-man, George Hees.

It was all by sort of slap-happy happenstance.

Nobody had thought in advance about who would introduce Bob Stanfield to this $50 a-head fund-raising dinner in Ottawa's gleaming new SkyLine Hotel, and they were still frenzying and fiddling about it five minutes before the chairman, after killing as much time as he could get away with, simply had to get on with the business.

The very man. Would he introduce the leader, a harried emissary from the platform whispered as Hees ambled, late, to his table?

Without a note and what could only be a few seconds' thought, he was off and joking.

He was introducing Bob Stanfield who, he said, sometimes might look and sound like he was in mourning, actually underneath that sombre breast beat the happy heart of "The Bob Kerr of the Canadian political scene, hard at work bringing back vaudeville to the stage of the House of Commons."

Conferring imaginary "academy awards," George Hees saluted State Secretary Pelletier as qualifying for the "special defects" Oscar for his Opportunities for Youth program — a good feed-in line, as it turned out for Bob (Hope) Stanfield.

And for Prime Minister Trudeau there was the award "for the most time spent off the parliamentary set and on location."

Then Stanfield went on, presented with a flourish by straight-man Hees.

"It was nice to be known as the new Bob Hope," said Stanfield, looking as sad as a Basset hound, "especially since there have been some people who for years have been calling me hope-less.

"If I am the new Bob Hope," he said sorrowfully, "the old Bob Hope must have been Penance Minister Benson because he never knew when he is losing funny when it most of the time.

"When I intend being funny," he went on, seeming close to tears and making it all the more hilarious, "I really mean to be."

And so it was on with the show — and a smash it was, too.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 29, 1971 . . .

Eight Canadian Jesuit martyrs were canonized in Rome 41 years ago today — in 1930. The first saints of North America were the 17th century Jesuit fathers Jean de Brebeuf, Isaac Jogues, Rene Goupil and John de Lalande. All met their deaths at the hands of hostile Indians during their efforts to bring Christianity to Canada in the early days of the French occupancy.

1959—180 persons died in Columbia River floods.

1954—The Potomac Charter was promulgated.

1927—France formally transferred the ownership of Vimy Ridge to Canada.

1925—Canada House opened at London to house Canada's only top-ranking diplomat at that time.

1916—Sir Roger Casement was sentenced to be hanged.

1911 — Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands was born.

1776—Patrick Henry became governor of Virginia.

1734—The Battle of Parma was fought.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 29, 1951

Bill Campbell was the choice of the Bakelite Company's Oldtimers Association for its president during the coming year.

Mr. Campbell, elected at the annual meeting of the association held in the Queen's Hotel, succeeds former president W. L. Anderson.

Dr. Alf Wilkes of the Dominion Entomological Laboratories here has been named secretary of the Rotary Club. Rotarian L. Dickey is the new treasurer.

Rotarians, the Rev. Duncan McTavish and Ken Griffiths were guests of the Trenton Rotary Club at an international meeting held in Alexandria Bay New York. Rotarian McTavish was the guest speaker.

30 YEARS AGO

June 29, 1941

We received a letter from Troop Sergt. Major Jack Lavery, of the 6th Field Regt. RCA now stationed in England, the other day requesting that copies of The Ontario Intelligencers be forwarded to his unit which has several Belleville boys as members. This corner always welcomes news from overseas, and any request forwarded in us by our fighting boys from Belleville will receive prompt attention regardless as to the request.

Orland Pinkston is in Toronto attending a postgraduate course conducted by the Canadian School of Embalming held in Banting Institute.

40 YEARS AGO

June 29, 1931

H. J. Clarke, BA Public School Inspector of this city, recently was presented with a handsome gold headed ebony cane, suitably engraved, by the public school teachers of the town of Trenton as a token of their appreciation of his services as inspector of their schools during the past 24 years.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sword of Toronto spent yesterday here with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Ridley of Montreal are spending a few days in town.

Mrs. J. H. Martin of Detroit is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. M. Tufts of Cedar St.

50 YEARS AGO

June 29, 1921

George H. Campbell of this city, son of the late Fire Chief W. H. Campbell, is the possessor of a book which contains interesting information with regard to yachting on the Bay of Quinte back in the year 1881. At that time the Belleville Yacht Club consisted of 19 sailing yachts ranging from two tons to 84 tons, the largest having a length of 62 feet and 10 inches.

Pancho's Example

Still soldiering on in his early forties — he was U.S. singles champion in 1948 and 1949 — tennis ace Pancho Gonzales nevertheless was out of contention early at Wimbledon this year. He was eliminated from the prestigious British event by Pierre Barthes of France.

Gonzales may be a little slower around the court these days, but his continued presence, along with such other veterans as Australia's Roy Emerson (Wimbledon champion in 1964 and 1965), not to mention four - time winner (beginning in 1961) and tournament favorite Rod Laver of Australia is indicative of the top degree of fitness a man can attain in tennis.

At a rather less proficient but nonetheless enthusiastic level, a friend who is in his 45th year tells he has had his first game in eight years at Zwick's Island the other day. With golf his main relaxation these days he still hankered for another day on the courts. He had given up smoking a couple of years ago, but still wondered about the physical demands of tennis at this stage of life. He was pleasantly surprised, managing two sets quite handily and with some degree at least of the old talent.

There must be a lot of us who do too much sitting around and overeating who could, with care — and we emphasize that point — improve our physical condition, with a little jogging, tennis, walking, bicycling or whatever. But again, don't overdo it. A little at a time is enough.

Malta Gets Nasty

What a prospect: the Soviet navy using startegic Malta as a base for their Mediterranean operations. It has not come to that yet, but it might if the new socialist premier of that island continues the way he is going. Already there is word he has abolished the Governor - General's post and that of the NATO representative on the island. Inviting the Russians could be the next move. Some think it is a ploy to obtain more money from Britain. Blackmail could be another word for it. Britain has enough problems as it is without this new crisis.

Reading Matter: A Matter of Selection

The Globe and Mail Magazine and paperback distributors offer a package service. They not only supply publications, they set up displays and, in the case of paperback books, choose the titles. In fact, many distributors go beyond merely offering these services; they insist on providing them as a condition of supply.

So when you browse through the paperbacks on the rack at the corner store, what you're flipping through is not the store owner's choice of books; it's the distributor's. This is itself need not be particularly disconcerting. Distributors are often in a better position to gauge the public interest in a book.

It's when selection becomes arbitrarily limited that concern arises. When distribution control falls into a few hands, the public can be manipulated rather than served. It can fail prey to an exploitive form of censorship.

The worst threat of all would be to have that kind of control exist in foreign hands. Yet we are told this is exactly what is about to happen.

The interim report of the Ontario Royal Commission on Book Publishing says that U.S. distributors are rapidly buying up the remaining independent firms in Ontario. The commission's background files show that of 19 distributing companies in Ontario most of the important ones are U.S. - owned or controlled and the Pierce News Co. of St. Louis, Mo., already a major force in the province and Canada, is one company or where any one non - Canadian or non - residents own more than a 25 per cent interest in the company or where any one non - Canadian or non - residents has more than a 10 per cent interest. The legislation is not restrictive.

To the Ontario Government's credit, it has acted quickly and decisively. It received the interim report last Thursday; on Monday Financial and Commercial Affairs Minister Arthur Wishart introduced legislation that thereafter will require at least 75 per cent Canadian ownership in distribution companies.

Distributors will be licensed, and no licence will be issued to persons where a group of non - Canadians or non - residents own more than a 25 per cent interest in the company or where any one non - Canadian or non - resident has more than a 10 per cent interest. The legislation is not restrictive.

Mr. Wishart has promised that he will look into the monopolistic aspects of the present distribution system. If he finds that control is concentrated in too few hands, the Government would be fully justified in requiring those in control to give up some of their holdings.

The Case of the Missing Bicycle

Editor,
The Intelligencer

A few weeks ago I was fortunate enough to find a bicycle destined for the dump, in front of a man's house. It was only a frame, two wheels and a chain. My wife and I decided that a small quality of money would turn this wreck into something usable; consequently we took it to a repair shop and had them put on put a three-speed wheel on the back, a new front wheel, stick shift conaul, head light, handle bars and seat.

On Friday last we proudly picked up our renovated bicycle from the repair shop at a cost of $50.

On the following Saturday, I drove to work on the bicycle and parked it behind the hotel where I work at 3 p.m. At 5.30 that same day I accepted an invitation to a church social on Palmer Rd. Upon my return I found the bicycle missing. Needless to say, I informed the police immediately. Fortunately, there was a lady who saw the man take the bicycle and she gave a full description of this individual to the police. At 1.55 a.m. Sunday, after I had finished work, I called the police and asked if they had heard or seen or found any indication as to where my bicycle was.

The police seemed not at all, or very little concerned with my plight. Each day since then I've checked with the police station with regard to this matter and their response is always the same, "If we hear anything, sir, we'll let you know."

They do not seem to realize that this bicycle is the only means of transportation for me and my wife. I can go to and from work, she can go shopping, or we can just plain joyride.

If one of their patrol cars or someone else's car had been stolen, it is almost certain they would have been found within 24 hours or less.

It seems the only way I am able to shake their lackadaisy and apathy is by a public appeal for action via your newspaper.

WAYNE McKINNON,
218 George Street.

Police Challenged

Judge Takes Dim View

The Globe and Mail

Vancouver and Toronto have been the common law wives of officials with a lust for expressways; they have police turned zealots in their campaigns to protect citizens from dirty books.

Toronto has seen large stocks of books impounded and clerks led away, some of them in chains, to be later convicted and three months in jail.

In Vancouver last week, store owner Derek Judd complained to Provincial Court Judge Lorne Bewley that Vancouver police were trying to force him out of business. Judge Bewley let it be known what he thought of the way police had been handling things when it came to granting bail at the request of Mr. Judd's lawyer.

"If you're asking for the amount of bail in relation to what I think of this whole process and what I think this case warrants, I will set the bail at 10 cents," he said.

U.S. Intelligence Termed Responsible For Unfounded Optimism Over Vietnam

BOSTON (AP) — The Christian Science Monitor publishes today what it said are excerpts from previous unpublished Pentagon papers tagging United States intelligence in Vietnam with a "principal responsibility" for the unfounded optimism of U.S. policy.

The newspaper also reports that "for a crucial 21 months spanning the Kennedy and Johnson administrations the United States laid plans to pull almost all American troops out of South Vietnam over a five-year period —while being sucked inexorably deeper and deeper into the war instead."

The phased-withdrawal program was dropped in March, 1964—"overtaken by the rush of events, including South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem's assassination, Lyndon B. Johnson's accession to the American presidency, and a steadily worsening military situation in Vietnam itself—as well as weaknesses in U.S. planning," in the words of the Pentagon study tracing U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The papers said the phased-withdrawal plan originally was to reduce U.S. military personnel engaged in advising, training and support efforts to a mere 1,500 in fiscal 1966 from a high point of 12,000 men in fiscal 1964. After several revisions, the plan called for a scaling down to 2,610 in fiscal 1969 from 15,215 in fiscal 1965.

The Monitor quotes from a summary and analysis in the papers of developments from 1962 to 1964, in which defense department analysts found the phased-withdrawal program "proceeded from some basic unrealities."

"First, only the most Micawberesque predictions," the summary said, "could have led decision-makers in Washington to believe that the fight against the guerrillas would have turned the corner by fiscal 1965."

"Other nations' experience in internal warfare pointed plainly in the other direction. With more propitious circumstances, e.g. insulation from sanctuaries, the Philippine and Malayan insurgencies each took the better part of a dozen years to bring to an end."

The analysts are quoted as suggesting the political situation in South Vietnam itself "should have prompted more realistic contingency plans against failure of the Vietnamese, in order to give the U.S. some options.

"The intelligence and reporting systems for Vietnam during this period must bear a principal responsibility for the unfounded optimism of U.S. policy," the summary is quoted as saying. "Through some measure caveats, the picture was repeatedly painted in terms of progress and success."

The Monitor says the documents said some senior U.S. officials were misled by American intelligence reporting from the field, which "relying heavily on Vietnamese information—was poor and overly optimistic."

The Vietnam situation was not accurately assessed, the paper quotes the analysts as saying. Until Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara visited Vietnam and reported in December, 1963, to President Johnson.

The Monitor thus joined 17 other newspapers across the U.S., beginning with the New York Times, in printing excerpts from the top secret study commissioned by McNamara to investigate the origins of American involvement in the Vietnam war.

In an editorial, The Monitor says it is "satisfied that the publication of this material at this time is a constructive act which will help the American people and their government to a better knowledge of what went wrong and hence on to changes in the policy-making process in Washington, which clearly needs improving."

"Before publishing we have carefully examined all of the material in our possession to make sure there is no breach of national security and no danger to the welfare of any American or allied forces in Vietnam," the editorial says. "We are satisfied that this material is of historical interest only, that not a word of it will be of any danger in the security and welfare of the United States."

Ellsberg Surrenders

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, alleged source of the published Pentagon Papers, centre, is surrounded by newsmen and onlookers as he arrives to surrender to the U.S. Attorney in Boston Monday morning. # Supreme Court Prepares Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court continued work today on the government's suit to suppress reports of the Pentagon papers, with a decision due any time.

Pending a ruling, the Washington Post and the New York Times remained under orders—which they say have no precedent in U.S. history—not to publish stories on parts of the 47-volume secret study the government says are sensitive.

The court apparently voted on the case during the weekend after hearing arguments in a rare Saturday session. One court official was overheard to say the justices have made their decision and are writing opinions.

A spokesman said he expects a decision by the end of the week, possibly today.

Many had expected the court's ruling Monday, the last scheduled working day before summer recess. But the ruling did not come and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said the court would continue to sit pending further orders, presumably on the Pentagon-papers case.

The government contends further publication of the papers will harm U.S. relations with other countries, endanger U.S. soldiers in Indochina, postpone release of U.S. prisoners of war and delay the end of the Indochina fighting.

The newspapers say the constitution's guarantee of a free press gives them the right to tell Americans about such matters and that the papers are stamped secret not for military reasons but to avoid embarrassing bureaucrats.

Meanwhile, The Christian Science Monitor has joined the list of newspapers publishing articles based on the study.

And Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admitted first leaking the papers to the press, has been indicted by a federal grand jury.

In Boston, Ellsberg surrendered to federal authorities before a cheering crowd, declaring: "I am prepared to face all consequences."

Ellsberg can choose to stand trial in either Boston or Los Angeles. He was released on a $50,000 bail by U.S. Magistrate Peter Princi in Boston, who denied the government's request for $100,000 bail and set a hearing for July 15.

To the best recollection of the Justice department, Ellsberg is the first person ever to be charged with violating the Espionage Act by leaking government secrets to a newspaper.

Air Transport Parley Will Study Proposals

MONTREAL (CP) — About 200 proposals on air fares are due for negotiation at a month-long conference of the International Air Transport Association opening here today.

Negotiators represent some 65 airlines involved in transporting passengers across the North Atlantic.

H. Don Reynolds, chairman of the IATA traffic conference, avoided any detailed discussion on fare demands favored by some airlines at a pre-conference news briefing.

He shrugged off reports that the future of IATA was at stake because of cut-rate North American charter fare proposals favored by Pan American Airways, Air Canada, British Oversees Airways Corp., and Trans World Airlines.

He said the advance-purchase, round-trip plan those and other airlines were believed to support was nothing new.

"I can assure you, the advance purchase plan we are speaking of is not so widely advertised elsewhere in the world," he said, adding that it "has been on the agenda of our fare conferences many times before and under many different names."

He also dismissed suggestions that IATA was guilty of "fixing" air fares at its annual fares conferences.

Each airline had one vote at such conferences, he said, and a dissenting vote by any airline on a fare proposal was enough to throw the proposal open to further discussion.

IATA was only the forum through which they negotiated the fares "which are subject to approval by such bodies as the Civil Aeronautics Board in the U.S. and Air transport commission in Canada."

Mr. Reynolds acknowledged that the current conference will be "one of the most difficult IATA has faced in recent years."

Meantime, a U.S.-based action group denounced the conference as "undemocratic" because it is to be closed to the press and public following today's session. . . .

Borowski Expects He Will Be Jailed

WINNIPEG (CP) — Illiways Minister Joe Borowski, ordered to go back to Court of Queen's Bench Wednesday for failing to apply with terms of a contempt-of-court conviction, packed his personal belonging Monday.

Mr. Borowski, standing in his office surrounded by wooden packing cases, told reporters he will comply with a notice of motion served on him Monday ordering him to appear in court at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

He said he assumed he will receive a one-year jail term.

"I have no reason to hope it will be anything but that."

The 60-day deadline for him to apologize to Dauphin Magistrate F. M. Manwaring expired Saturday.

Mr. Borowski was found in contempt two months ago for critical remarks about the magistrate who was hearing a case against him. Mr. Justice Israel Niikkman of Court of Queen's Bench suspended sentence for 60 days on condition he apologize.

Co-ops Say Benson Plan Will Hurt Them

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister E. J. Benson's proposals to revise the Income Tax Act will force co-operatives to abandon their basic nature, the Co-operative Union of Canada said Monday.

The central body representing many farm and retail co-ops in Canada said tax law should not interfere in the relations between co-operative organizations and their members, but should be in keeping with the nature of those relations.

Under existing tax law, new co-operatives are exempt from taxes for three years. Co-ops are permitted to pay out the profits of their operations to their member-patrons on the basis of each member's patronage, within generous limits.

The three-year tax holiday is to be withdrawn under Mr. Benson's new tax plan. Patronage dividends would be allowed as a pre-tax business expense only to the extent they did not reduce taxable income below five per cent of the capital employed by the co-operative.

The union said its objections to Mr. Benson's earlier white paper proposals, in briefs to the Commons and Senate, have been totally disregarded in the draft legislation tabled by Mr. Benson with his budget on June 18.

The basic nature of co-operatives is to distribute surplus earnings to their members in proportion to the business they have done with their co-op, rather than in relation to capital investment, the union said in a statement.

It would be impractical for most co-ops to distribute their surplus earnings in the way proposed by the new tax law, the union added.

Women's Study Guild Enjoys Views of Mexico

Following the annual potluck supper the members and guests of the Women's Study Guild were visually transported to Mexico before their program.

Mrs. C. H. Hegewald shared the experiences of a recent trip there via a combination of colorful slides and vivid description. Many areas of Mexico are covered with volcanic ash, three to four inches deep which is filled with minerals and is very productive. Some well constructed pyramids have been built one over another with tourists still gaining entrance from the outer one and climbing to the peak of the inner pyramid. The colorful Maguey cactus produces the Tequila beverage by a unique method of bleeding the cactus daily, thereby producing a very potent drink. The root of the Yucca cactus is an excellent cleaning agent but the Mexican women prefer to use soap for laundry as it lit is status symbol. The same can be said for the use of white bread when available rather than the tastier Tortilla.

The worship service was given by Mrs. R. Ellis who stressed the need to understand people in order to discern judgement.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president Mrs. J. Buchanan and the new Executive elected. They are president, Miss O. Elson; vice - president, Mrs. L. Fortin; secretary, Mrs. Sherry; treasurer, Mrs. H. Wren.

Mrs. G. Wylie was the hostess for this pleasant evening which brought to a close another successful and gratifying year. Meetings will resume in September.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

BY MARY BRYSON

Babies really don't need shoes, and even the toddler should have the softest shoes obtainable as long as he is walking on soft carpeting. Thicker soles are needed to protect little feet when the child is big enough to walk on paved surfaces. It's wise to encourage a child to go barefooted indoors and outdoors, too, where it's safe underfoot. CHECK on shoes frequently to be sure they're no long enough and wide enough.

Ann Landers

'Other Woman' Sent Letter of Appreciation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Usually the letters you print about "Other Woman" are broadsides of anger, hate and bitterness. This one will be different.

DEAR OTHER WOMAN: Thank you from the bottom of my grateful heart for coming along while I was still young enough to make a new life for myself. Another five years and it might have been too late. You see, I was getting pretty worn out, carrying that jerk on my back — covering up for his loads of quacies, trying to make the 18-karat phony look real. It was a hard job, dear — slapping on the flattery, keeping his sagging ego bolstered, telling his boss, his friends, and his relatives what a wonderful man he was.

ANN LANDERS

Thanks to you, I unwound from the heel and am now married to a man who appreciates me and lets me know it. If you hadn't come along, dear, I might still be kidding myself that I had something worth hanging onto. — VICTORIOUS.

DEAR VICKIE: Here's your letter and I am omitting the name of your city. Let 'er guess.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In our city it is not uncommon for teen-agers who don't get along with their folks to move in with a friend whose parents have "broad-minded." The moved-out-on parents have a choice of going along with the setup (hoping all the while that their teen will eventually come home) or they can go to the authorities and insist that the teen be dealt with as a runaway or an incorrigible and forced to come home.

We have such a situation in our family and no one seems to know what is best. The friend's parents believe they are being humanitarians by offering the "misunderstood" kid a place to live. The moved-out-on parents think these so-called "humanitarians" are encouraging the teen to defy parental authority.

Nobody enjoys this situation more than the teen who is having a ball with his new-found freedom. Please give us your views. — IMPARTIAL SO FAR.

DEAR IM: When a teen leaves home it almost never works out well to call the law and have the kid dragged home. The best approach is for the moved-out-on parents to contact the "humanitarians," offer financial reimbursement, and try to keep communications open with the teen in the hope that he will return on his own.

Council Asked

TORONTO (CP) — Women's liberation found its way into Toronto city hall recently through a written demand that municipal politicians back the women's demand to drop abortion laws from the Criminal Code. Alderman John Sewell asked that a letter from the Toronto Women's Caucus be read to council members. The letter requested that aldermen who are appointed to boards of Toronto hospitals use pressure to ensure that more women who need abortions can get them legally.

Successful Living

A New Type of Day Care Centre for Aged

By DORIS CLARK

When I was visiting in Regina I talked with the director of a new kind of day care centre — new to me, anyway.

This is a spot where an old erly member of a household may be brought each day for care and companionship — rather than be left at home alone while all the younger people are out at school or work.

So it goes like this: Mr. and Mrs. Brown get the children off to school, get themselves off to work, and take with them Mrs. B.'s mother, Mrs. Gray. On their way they drop Mrs. Gray off at the centre, which is housed in a senior citizen's residence.

Mrs. Gray is in capable hands. In congenial surroundings she visits with contemporaries, shares their hobbies — be they sewing, knitting, painting or whatever. Plays euchre or bridge with them.

If she needs medications, shots, pills she gets them according to her doctor's instructions. Physiotherapy she can have too. She may have a tub bath. She is given a hot noon meal.

When the Browns pick her up they detect a new light in her eye, a new interest in living, through the stimulation of happy companionship all day long.

* * *

Dear Doris: Re: Frustrated sorry for those grandparents and the grandchildren. They'll never know how very special and wonderful loving and being loved can be! The grandparents are busy relishing the children when they could be enjoying them.

I am one of the fortunate ones. I had the most wonderful grandmother a person could ever be blessed with!

She is gone now, and I am married, hoping for a family soon — and I regret that my children will not have her to teach them, as she taught me, all the things that will be with me every day of my life. She brought so much love and laughter into our lives — and these things remain forever!

It is wise to remember, all you grandparents, that within the heart of each small child love becomes immortality. — Missing Nana

Dear Missing: Thank you. I hope someone will clip your letter from this column and leave it lying around where it will do the most good.

Hot Lemon Sauce Adds to Apple Pudding

By MARY MOORE

The batter rises and the apples go steadily down in this perverse cottage pudding. Believe it or not I pared and cored and sliced eight medium apples and they three-quarters filled a round 9 x 2" baking dish to 1¾" depth. I had to get the batter on top of all those apples. I did but it filled it to the brim. When it was baked and served the apples were about ¾" thick and the batter had followed it down and rose to the brim. The batter was what I was pleased with for I started putting the first two ingredients into the beater bowl, put it at "low" setting, and then kept adding the rest as I measured. By the time the vanilla was added the batter was ready.

APPLE COTTAGE PUDDING
(Serves 7 or 8)

Bottom Layer:
8 medium apples, pared, cored and sliced
¼ cup hot water
¼ cup sugar

Batter:
1-3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 medium-sized eggs
1¼ cups sifted bread flour
2 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2-3 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla

Slice apples into large baking dish. Pour boiling water evenly over. Sprinkle with the ¼ cup sugar. Put in oven at 375 deg. Fahr. to heat through while you make the batter.

Into beater bowl measure the shortening and sugar and start beaters on "low". Add eggs and as you measure remaining ingredients add them. When you add the flour, baking powder and salt the mixture will be very thick so quickly add the milk and vanilla and beat for 1 min., stopping the beaters once to wipe down sides with rubber scraper. Cover hot apples with batter and return dish to oven and bake 1 hr. at 375 deg. Fahr.

Serve with hot Lemon Nutmeg Sauce made by mixing together dry 1 tbsps. corn starch, 1 cup light brown sugar, ½ tsp. salt, and ½ tsp. nutmeg. Stir in 2 cups boiling water until thick. Add 2 tbsps. lemon juice and 1 tbsp. butter or margarine and stir until blended.

Heavy Water May Be Lacking for Pickering Nuclear Station

TORONTO (CP) — There may not be enough heavy water to supply the third and fourth units of the nuclear power station at Pickering, Ont., when they are due to come into production, Energy Minister George Kerr said Monday.

He told Opposition Leader Robert Nixon in the Ontario legislature that the heavy water shortage has been caused by shutdowns at the deuterium plant at Port Hawkesbury, N.S.

The minister said there was a world shortage of deuterium and it could "possibly delay" implementation of the third and fourth units at the station due to come on line late this year or next spring.

In other business:

—Legislation to increase pensions to widows and dependents of workers killed on the job was introduced by Labor Minister Gordon Carton;

—Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough said a study is under way on the possibility of moving some government departments outo f Metropolitan Toronto;

—Premier William Davis said any foreign investment review board should be national in character, not just provincial;

—Attorney-General Allan Lawrence said the provincial government will ask promoters of a July 1 rock festival in Mulmur Township in Dufferin County to pay police expenses;

—Energy and Resources Minister George Kerr said the Ontario government may sue the city of Cleveland if it can be shown that the leakage of sewage into Lake Erie on the week-end was not an accident;

—Mr. McKeough said he plans a two-week tour of the province this summer to meet with municipal officials and "hopefully make some sense" out of the government's policy on regional government councils;

—Mr. Kerr said a pump failure caused heavy rain runoff to overflow an Algonquin Park sewage lagoon into Canoe Lake.

Turner Tries to Protect Privacy

OTTAWA (CP) — A government bill to restrict wiretapping and other mechanical snooping to the police is aimed at protecting "a new style of individual or human right-the right to privacy," says Justice Minister John Turner.

He introduced a bill in the Commons Monday that would ban wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping for the first time, and provide a penalty of up to five years.

Only the police could listen in on private conversations in the course of investigation of indictable offences. The bill, an amendment to the Criminal Code, would permit police interception of conversations in three cases.

—Police could apply for authorization from a superior court judge, who would need to be satisfied that other investigation methods had failed or would likely fail, or that urgency makes other methods impractical. The authorization would last up to 30 days and would be renewable.

—Officials designated by the provincial attorney-general could permit an emergency wire-tap in suspected cases of organized criminal conspiracy. But that permit would have to be followed by authorization by a judge within 36 hours.

—The federal solicitor-general could initiate wiretapping or eavesdropping "if he is satisfied by evidence on oath" that it is needed to deter or prevent espionage, sabotage or any other subversive activity.

The bill would allow a person who suffers an illegal wiretap by federal officials to collect damages and punitive damages up to $5,000.

Mr. Turner told reporters he has an undertaking from the provinces that they would introduce legislation permitting victims of illegal wiretaps to collect damages from private citizens guilty of the offence.

Victoria Charter Deadline Extended

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Manitoba joined the provinces which have accepted proposals for constitutional amendments and which have expressed interest in reopening discussions with Quebec about sections of the Victoria charter which that province has rejected.

Premier Ed Schreyer said Monday there are other sections, too, which his province would like to renegotiate if talks are resumed.

In a second development Monday—which was to have been the deadline for federal and provincial governments to accept or reject the charter prepared at the Victoria constitutional conference earlier this month—the incoming government of Saskatchewan was told Ottawa will permit an extension so the new cabinet can discuss the charter.

Premier-elect Allan Blakeney said he will seek a cabinet decision by about the middle of July.

In Winnipeg Premier Schreyer told the legislature he has advised Ottawa that the Manitoba government agrees to recommend the charter to the legislative assembly "in the event that this becomes a practical exercise."

It will not be practical unless talks with Quebec can be resumed. Prime Minister Trudeau and the premiers agreed at Victoria that the charter must be accepted by all governments or be dropped as the means to constitutional reform. Several premiers said at the time that if it was rejected, constitutional discussions would end for some time to come.

Mr. Schreyer said that if the charter is renegotiated, Manitoba will want renewed consideration of sections dealing with the Supreme Court and political rights.

Turner to Study Ruling Against Egg Control

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister John Turner promised Monday to study a Supreme Court of Canada judgment dealing with interprovincial trade and decide later what Ottawa should do about provincial legislation restricting trade among provinces in agricultural products.

In an unanimous opinion, the nine high court justices said proposed Manitoba legislation to restrict or control the import of eggs from outside the province was unconstitutional.

Only the federal government could regulate interprovincial trade, said the Supreme Court.

Manitoba put the question before the Supreme Court in a thinly disguised attack on Fedco, the Quebec egg marketing board which is credited with starting the chicken-and-egg war among the provinces.

To get a quick decision from the high court on the Quebec board, Manitoba drew up legislation which would give its provincial board the same powers as Fedco.

After the Manitoba court of appeal ruled the legislation unconstitutional, the question was put to the Supreme Court.

"While we lost the case, it was really our position that we should lose it," said Manitoba Agriculture Minister Sam Uskiw.

"It's my hope this now the powers that be in Ottawa will take cognizance of interference in interprovincial trade, to the point where they will act very quickly if such interference takes place in future," he added.

But a spokesmen for the Quebec board said he sees no reason for the board to stop operating. It was acting legally, he contended.

James McGrath (PC—St. John's East) called the decision a blow for federalism. He said the Newfoundland egg marketing board comes under the ruling and "it follows that the Newfoundland board has no legal right to restrict or in any way impede the trade in eggs between Newfoundland and the mainland Canada."

Mr. Justice Roland Martland, writing for six members of the court, said that the Manitoba plan, in his opinion, "not only affects interprovincial trade in eggs, but that it aims at the regulation of such trade."

"It is an essential part of this scheme, the purpose of which is to obtain for Manitoba producers the most advantageous marketing conditions for eggs, specifically to control and regulate the sale in Manitoba of imported eggs.

"It is designed to restrict or limit the free flow of trade between provinces as such.

"Because of that, it constitutes an invasion of the exclusive legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada over the matter of the regulation of trade and commerce."

Five Share in Treasure

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada, in a unanimous judgment Monday, upheld an appeal by five Cape Bretoners and gave them a 25-per-cent share in treasure taken from the 1725 French ship Le Chameau.

An unofficial estimate places the worth of gold and silver coins taken in 1965 from the wreck off Louisbourg, N.S., at up to $400,000. The Supreme Court judgment also orders Alex Storm of Louisbourg, who gets 75 per cent of the treasure, to give the five others an accounting of it.

Kitchener Will Lose Old Farmers' Market

KITCHENER (CP) — After a stormy five-hour debate Monday city council voted 8-1 in favor of a $15 million development plan for the downtown area which would eliminate both the city hall and the old farmers' market.

About 175 spectators uttered jeers and catcalls during the discussion despite repeated warnings from Mayor Sid MacLennan that he would adjourn the meeting if order was not maintained.

The development plan, announced last Friday, is the largest in Kitchener's history. It will include a four-storey department store adjacent to the present city hall, a two-storey shopping plaza on the city hall site, a six-storey parking garage and a 12-storey office block in which the city will lease office space.

The farmers will be relocated on the first floor of the garage. Construction is expected to start early in 1972 and the developers, T. Eaton Co. Ltd. of Toronto and Oxley Investments Ltd. of Edmonton, estimate work will take two years to complete.

Saduel Bergstein said his father will be uprooted from the clothing store he has occupied for more than 40 years by the scheme. He said he thought the city hall site worth much more than the $1 million offered by the developers.

Robert Schmalz, the architect who designed the city hall, said that it was built for about $450,000 but it would be worth $2 million today.

Morley Rosenberg, lone dissenter among the aldermen, accused the council of ramming down the throats of people a project which they did not have time to discuss.

Death Penalties Upset By U.S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court overturned 39 death sentences Monday and agreed for the first time to consider whether capital punishment is cruel and unusual and therefore unconstitutional.

Among those benefiting from the wholesale reversals was Richard F. Speck, convicted of murdering eight young student nurses in 1966 in their southside Chicago apartment.

The court remanded to the Tennessee Supreme Court the electric-chair penalties of five Negro youths convicted of rape in Memphis in the biggest group death sentencing in recent history.

The court took six new capital cases for hearing in its next term beginning in October, setting the stage for a showdown on the death issue.

In four of these, the high court stipulated that its hearing would be limited to the question:

"Does the imposition and carrying out the death penalty in this case constitute cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments?" of the U.S. Constitution.

In a decision May 3, the court upheld the procedures through which the death penalty is set in the 36 states still using capital punishment, but-the theory of execution has not been tested for constitutionality.

"The court's action has renewed our hope that the barbarous tradition of legally sanctioned executions will soon be brought to an end in the United States," said Jack Greenberg, director-counsel for the legal defense fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Trains Urged Ahead Of Planes

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers says the government should "get back down to earth" and ask money slated for the development of short-take-off-and-landing aircraft into inter-city railway service instead.

In a statement today, the brotherhood released a June 25 letter to Transport Minister Don Jamieson reiterating opposition to the development of the air service between Montreal and Ottawa.

The brotherhood referred to a statement by Mr. Jamieson in the Commons last Tuesday in which he said the parent companies of the firms building the aircraft "don't give a hoot" about the development.

Work on the project is being carried out by Canadair Ltd., of Montreal, a subsidiary of General Dynamics of New York, and de Havilland Aircraft of Toronto, a company controlled by the Hawker-Siddeley group of England, the brotherhood says.

"It is public knowledge that General Dynamics supplies much of the strategic material used by the United States armed forces in Vietnam, while Hawker-Siddeley has a well-known past history of questionable business dealings in Canada —especially regarding the firm's operation of the Dosco Steel Mill in Cape Breton," the letter to Mr. Jamieson says.

"And these are the companies holding the destiny of the Canadian aircraft industry in their hands." If the government really wants to improve inter-city transportation it should "get back down to earth and lend support to the development of a viable inter-city rapid railway service."

The government has spent about 200 million toward development of the aircraft by the two firms, Mr. Jamieson said in the Commons in question whether the government should go on supporting the development when the parent firms did not care about them.

Gandhi Rejects War Call

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi rejected demands from some of her Congress party members in Parliament today that India go to war with Pakistan.

"Do not talk loosely of war or similar adventurist policies," Mrs. Gandhi told a party caucus.

The meeting was closed to the press, but several members told reporters she reacted strongly to a suggestion from Y. S. Mahajan that West Pakistan forces "should be thrown out by military methods" from East Pakistan to enable democracy to be restored and a popular government under Sheik Mujibur Rahman to be formed."

Mrs. Gandhi replied that the situation in East Pakistan "is a problem for the 75 million people of the area to decide themselves."

She said President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan's speech Monday night which ruled out any political compromise with Sheik Mujib, "vindicated India's stand that the military rulers in Pakistan are isolated from the people . . . ."

The speech "betrayed the failure of the military regime to install a puppet government" in East Pakistan.

Government sources said India's policy toward the crisis in East Pakistan could probably "stiffen" because of Yahya's speech which was considered unconciliatory toward the East Pakistanis and hostile toward India.

Mrs. Gandhi's government took over the administration of West Bengal state today for the third time in three years, enabling New Delhi to deal directly with the influx of millions of East Pakistani refugees into the region. The leftist coalition state government headed by Ajoy Mukherji resigned Friday.

President's rule also is in force in three of the other 16 states because of unstable political conditions.

"I definitely am coming out ahead price-wise and quality wise too at Loblaws—I sincerely believe that" says Mrs. Reed who buys food for four. "I come to Loblaws primarily because I notice a definite cut in the prices of the vegetables and the meat . . . and the quality here is ideal as far as I'm concerned. As to how much I save in dollars per week, I'm not mathematically minded—but I do know I'm saving money with these new prices particularly, as I say, in the meat department and in the fruit and vegetable department . . . Loblaws prices have definitely come down."

School Has New Name

Actinolite Public School's name will be changed to Bridgewater School July 1. It will be used in the future as a school for trainable retarded children.

During earlier debates on the name change, Pinecrest was suggested.

But county board trustees decided this might lead to confusion with Pinecrest Memorial School in Bloomfield.

Furthermore, administrators reminded the board, "the word 'pine' is used fairly liberally by local businesses in naming their establishments (stores, hotels, motels, cottages) reflecting the name of the tourist region."

Bridgewater was chosen because it is the original name of the hamlet, later rechristened Actinolite.

Official Opening Set for Bayside

Although the building is only about one-quarter completed, an official opening date has been chosen for Bayside Secondary School.

County board of education trustees decided last night to set up a committee of trustees, representatives of the administration and school staff to plan for an opening ceremony on the Tuesday of Education Week, in March, 1972.

The March opening date was chosen because the architect is expected to be "reasonably clement", and the school personnel "should have organized well in hand by that time".

Target date for completion of the school is Jan. 1, 1972, when students will move in.

Tied in Stitches, Not Knots

All in fun yesterday, summer playground staff kept themselves highly amused as they got tangled up in arms and legs during training sessions at the Ben Bleecker Hall. The leaders, ranging in age from 16 to 19, were put through their paces to face some of the problems they will encounter when they man 20 city playgrounds from July 5 to Aug. 20.

Playground Leaders Training For Summer

Motorists passing Ben Bleecker Hall yesterday may very well have had reason to stop as more than 20 young people cavorted on the lawns in a manner similar to kindergarten - age children.

But no need to worry, the young people were playground leaders with the 1971 Recreation Department summer program.

Training sessions for yesterday and today included group discussions with experienced leaders, explanations of arts and crafts, track and field programs and the active period of games and frolicking which the 24 leaders will initiate for the children who will spend much of their summer at the city playgrounds.

The more experienced leaders put the new leaders through a series of activity periods with the staff playing the role of children. Problems and situations were introduced to give the new staff a chance to experience, what they will face with the younger set.

"It's a lot of fun, but there's a purpose behind it," explained Pauline Pallaca, East Hill head supervisor, as Janice Ethier, West Hill head supervisor put the leaders through their paces.

During the summer, the leaders will be on hand at the parks and school playgrounds, armed with arts and crafts supplies and a backlog of games and events. Special activities such as track meets, swimming days, bowling, Theatre Guild presentations, a penny carnival, arts and crafts displays and a joint playground program will combine playgrounds throughout the season.

And for supervising the youngsters, the leaders will receive a scaled pay starting at $40 per week up to $59, for more experienced help. Salaries and program funds come from the recreation department annual budget, but supervision of the staff will be handled chiefly by Robert Cretney, Miss Pallaca and Miss Ethier.

"We have a real fine staff," said Cliff Belch of the recreation department.

"They never cease to amaze me and they give more than is expected of them."

This "very capable" staff, ranging in age from 16 to 19 years, are all high school students and the supervisors all attend university.

For the older youngsters in the community, between 12 and 16, a staff of three community school leaders will run Queen Alexandra School, Hillcrest and Queen Mary.

Linda Summers explained their basic function will be to co-ordinate programs such as archery, gymnastics, sports such as basketball, volleyball and floor hockey.

"In fact, anything we can run inside," she said.

"This program is more popular for older ones and everybody who doesn't have a job or, on playgrounds is welcome."

Miss Summers, a university student in recreation programming, also said ceramic and other arts activities will be scheduled but another person besides Dianna Gerow and Larry Carr-Brabst will operate this.

Registration for the summer calendar will commence July 2 and the program will run from July 5 to Aug. 20.

Dumping Habits Hard to Break

TRENTON (Staff) — Trenton residents may have access to the Aitken's Road disposal site now but some still prefer dumping their trash at an old sanitary landfill in Centennial Park.

The town is preparing to clean up this former dump area permanently in order to turn it over for parkland use but trash keeps being dumped on there.

Acting on a report on the situation from Arthur Campbell, the town engineer, council here last night passed a bylaw to prohibit such dumping. The landfill staff been closed June 1 on orders from the department of energy and resource management.

Although all councillors agreed action should be taken to end dumping at Centennial Park, agreement was not reached on a request from Councillor Ted Parker that "all - encompassing" restrictions be imposed to stop this activity at other points in the town.

More comprehensive legislation will follow at a later date.

Councillor George Brown concurred that widespread garbage - control measures are requires, saying he felt it would be "a good idea to include all town-owned land."

Councillor Parker recalled he had brought in to council's attention at an earlier date that trash was being found along Couch Crescent. He also mentioned that the end of Gearin Street just beyond the town limits has become another favorite dumping ground.

He said he did not object to the bylaw to stop further use of the landfill site but felt it left the way open for individuals to move along from there and dump "with impunity".

The new bylaw provides a maximum fine on conviction of $100 for a first offence, $300 for a second.

Education Board Prepares For Building Boom

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

Hastings county board of education will take a hard look this summer at secondary school accommodation in Belleville. But from the way enrolments are shaping up it appears that two new high schools will be necessary by 1974 or shortly afterwards.

"I'm laying odds we're going to have to build a new one," Eric Runacres in a discussion of the shortage of secondary school accommodation in east Belleville.

The board had already learned that a new secondary school would be needed in Stirling. It proposed to seek approval in 1972 for the building to be constructed on the recently purchased site where a senior elementary school will soon go up.

Mention of the proposed new schools came in a report from the building committee asking for studies of several old properties. The committee wanted the older schools surveyed by architects to determine if they could be renovated economically to bring them up to modern standards.

The study of Moira Secondary and, BCI will be deferred until a review has been made of secondary school accommodation requirements in Belleville and the surrounding area.

Trustees balked at paying an architectural firm $200 a day to make studies of the schools. They were told the cost of the study would be applied to architects' fees for renovations when they are carried out.

"Perhaps we should decide what population each school should have before calling in an architect," suggested James Clarke.

He added that perhaps a new school should be built to relieve overcrowding at BCI and Moira. After this, architects could be asked to determine the most efficient way to use space freed in the old buildings.

Trustees did approve an architect's study of one of Belleville's four oldest schools. Queen Mary, Queen Alexandra, Queen Victoria and King George were all built within four years of each other, starting about 1914, and all were constructed according to a standard plan.

The antiques received unexpected praise from associate superintendent Frank Tate, who said that the board is getting more space "for less money in these schools than you'd ever get in new schools".

Queen Mary, he said, has the best kindergarten accommodation he has seen in the county.

He urged the board to have architects prepare renovation plans for the old schools so that they can be updated and preserved.

When the trustees agreed to a study of one of the old schools, Mr. Tate suggested that Queen Alexandra on Ann St. be selected.

Tweed - Hungerford Senior School will be the subject of a study. The board agreed with Macdonald Smith that "there is no doubt something has to be done about Tweed-Hungerford". It was formerly the high school in the village, taken over by the board as an elementary school last fall.

School will be surveyed to prepare a plan for its new use for trainable retarded children.

The board accepted architects for the proposed senior elementary school at Stirling, the senior elementary school at Frankford and the William R. Kirk school for the retarded, to be constructed on an as yet undetermined site.

The board also considered re - to the auditorium at Trenton High School expected to cost $23,014.

A decision on these renovations and on repairs to external walls was deferred until a further report is brought in on budget reallocations to pay for the work.

Water Skiing Course Starts Second Year

PICTON (Staff) — A program to instruct sports enthusiasts in the fundamentals and techniques of water skiing enters its second season this summer, promoted by Prince Edward Yacht Club.

The Sail and Ski Club, co-sponsored by PEYC, the Youth and Recreation Branch of Ontario and the department of education under the Youth in Action program, is open to all interested county persons. Instruction for junior club members between the ages of 11 and 21 is provided by PEYC steward, Wally Goodwin and Jamie Dolliver, a student at Trinity College School, Port Hope. Senior members are taught by Dr. Karl Euler, past commodore of PEYC.

Instruction courses are seven weeks long and cost $5 for junior members and $15 for seniors. Skiers can pay $1 a week instead of a flat fee for the complete series of lessons.

To encourage participation in summer activities of the Sail and Ski Club, registration forms were distributed among all school students. Skiers in the club's senior division are not required to be members of PEYC to be eligible for enrolment. Young club members will receive water ski instruction from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. from a teacher present at PEYC Monday through Friday. Senior skiers will participate in evening lessons. It is expected the Sail and Ski Club will operate at least two water ski shows this summer.

Streets Close For Lagoon

TRENTON (Staff) — Council took initial steps here last night to close off a number of streets that were never opened in the first place.

The streets — with such names as Agnes, Elizabeth, Sophia and Louise — are road allowances east of Marmora Street above the CPR tracks where Domtar Packaging is preparing to build a 25-million - gallon holding lagoon.

Domtar called tenders for the 700-foot-square tank June 8 as part of its new pollution abatement program. Iearlier announced that the roadways should be officially closed.

In order to achieve this, the closure proposal must first be advertised publicly for four weeks after which council must pass a covering bylaw. Council has now authorized advertisement of the town's intention to close the streets.

Extra OPP, Just in Case

MADOC — At least 50 provincial police officers will be on hand in Madoc Township this weekend in case any youths arrive for a rock festival which has been re-scheduled to Aug. 6-8.

D. E. Wellesley, district provincial police superintendent in Belleville, said today an additional 30 men from surrounding detachments will bolster the regular force, but "don't expect any trouble".

The festival was originally planned for the Dominion Day weekend at the 200-acre farm operated by James Quinlin, 65 - and his sons Leon, 27 and James Jr., 23.

However, township residents objected and on June 9 township council was granted an Ontario Supreme Court injunction banning the festival that weekend.

The Quinlins, organizers and promoters of the event, then rescheduled it for Aug. 6-8, noting that the court injunction banned the festival only on the July dates.

Superintendent Wellesley said police will spot - check cars to determine whether anyone is heading for the Quinlan farm, about 10 miles north of here.

A Tent For Circus

With the help of Whalen Real Estate, a temperary tent hostel began taking shape this morning as all hands leaned to to erect the 20- by 50-foot tent. Located at the junction of Highways 14 and 401 on the newly acquired land for park use by the city, the tent will house about 60 transient youths. Water will be hosed in and hydro poles have been placed for lighting. Circus, a group sponsored by the Opportunities for Youth Program, will maintain the tent during the summer.

Stars Scrum Tonight

MONTREAL' (CP) — George Springate, Montreal Alouettes' place-kicking politician, estimates some 25,000 fans will be on hand for tonight's second annual Canadian Football League all-star game.

Springate, Liberal member for the Montreal-Ste. Anne riding in the Quebec national assembly and a field goal specialist with the Grey Cup champions, made the estimate at a Monday night dinner attended by nearly 1,000 fans.

Last year, the all-stars defeated the then Grey Cup champion Ottawa Rough Riders, 35-14, in the nation's capital. That contest earned $20,000 for the CFL Players' Association pension fund and Springate hopes to top that mark by a considerable sum tonight.

The cream of the other CFL teams, under head coach Jim Duncan of Calgary Stampeders, hope to make it two in a row this year. A victory would be revenge of sorts for Duncan, who lost the national championship last fall when Sam Etcheverry's Alouettes beat the Western Football Conference champions in the Grey Cup game.

Both coaches expressed confidence in their sides at the $15-a-plate dinner and took turns needling one another.

The game will be carried on the national television network of CTV and starts at 8 p.m. EDT. The Montreal area will be blacked out on television coverage.

Springate, chief organizer for the Montreal end of the operation, tempered his optimism on the attendance with a "depending on the weather of course."

And the weather forecast appeared to be the only possible fly in the ointment. The overnight area forecast called for a hot and humid day today with the possibility of intermittent thunder storms by game time.

While the weather forecast was uncertain, Montreal quarterback Sonny Wade was more decisive. Wade predicted the Als will have a few surprises for the all-stars, quarterbacked by Ron Lancaster, the perennial all-star from Saskatchewan Roughriders.

"We've had a better camp this year than last," Wade said. "The offence seemed to go better right from the start.

"Last year we weren't sure at this stage and the defence was away ahead of our offence," he added. "But it has gone better so far this year, but of course we miss Peter (Dalla Riva)."

Tight end Dalla Riva was at the dinner with his leg in a cast following a ligament operation last week.

The half-time show will feature a foot race to determine the fastest man in the CFL.

Meri Code of Montreal, flanker Hugh Oldham of Ottawa, halfback Bill Symons of Toronto Argonauts and defensive halfback Garney Henley of Hamilton Tiger-Cats are the entrants from the east.

Winner or Loser?

Despite appearances, Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., is actually exhibiting relief. She tosses her racquet into the air and clasped her head after scoring the the winning point over Francoise Durr of France during women's singles match at Wimbledon. She won, 2-6, 6-2, and 6-2 to become the only U.S. woman to reach the women's singles semi-finals. (AP Wirephoto)

Gorman Sifts Out Top Seed

LONDON (AP) — Rod Laver, once the unbeatable king of tennis, is out of Wimbledon, thanks to the American firm of Gorman and Ralston, Inc.

Tom Gorman, of Seattle, Wash., was the man who drummed Laver out of the all-England lawn tennis championships Monday, with a 9-7, 8-6, 6-3 victory in the quarter-finals.

Dennis Ralston, the U.S. Davis Cup coach from Bakersfield, Calif., was the man who advised him how to do it.

Ralston and Ed Turville of St. Petersburgh, Fla., non-playing captain of the U.S. team, have Gorman and Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., safely in the semi-finals and Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., playing Australia's Ken Rosewall today for a semi-finals place.

Before facing Laver, Gorman had a 30-minute conference with Ralston on Laver's possible weaknesses.

"Dennis is one of the best students of other players in the world today," Gorman said.

"He and I decided that if there was a way to beat Laver, we would plan the right tactics for it. And it worked."

Gorman won the first point or two in almost every service game, and said this was the secret of his victory.

"I guess this is fundamental to any match," Gorman said, "but Dennis told me it's particularly important against Laver."

"If you go down 0-30 you can see his confidence going way up.

"And you have to keep the ball low. If you hit volleys at Laver, the ball just comes back at you.

"If you keep the ball low to his feet the onus is on him to make the shot. I set out to do this as much as possible.

Laver saved ten set points altogether—six in the first set and four in the second. The pressure was on him all the time.

Stan Smith defeated Orcy Parun of New Zealand 8-6, 6-3, 6-4 and will meet Gorman in the semi-finals Thursday.

In the remaining quarter-finals today, two Australians, defending champion John Newcombe and Colin Dibley, face each other.

In the women's singles, attention is focussed on Evonne Goolagong, the 19-year-old Australian girl who has gone through to the semi-finals with the coolness of a veteran.

She will meet Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., Wednesday. Mrs. King defeated Francoise Durr of France 2-6, 6-2, 6-2 Monday.

Margaret Court of Australia, the top seed, beat Winnie Shaw of Scotland 8-2, 6-1, Monday, and will meet Judy Dalton, who outlasted Kerry Melville 8-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Hill Raises Ante Against PGA

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Dave Hill, who has filed suit charging that the Professional Golfers Association is a monopoly, has increased the amount of his suit to $1 million.

Hill originally filed a suit asking $1 million damages May 28 when the PGA required him to pay a $500 fine before being allowed to play in the Danny Thomas Memphis Classic. Hill was defending champion of the event.

He charged that the PGA and its tournament players division have violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Act and had "created and maintained a virtual monopoly of professional golf in restraint of interstate commerce . . . and by reason of such monopoly, are in a position to deprive any golfer, including the plaintiff, from earning a livelihood in his chosen profession."

Last Before They Even Start

EDMONTON (CP) — A special category has been created for a New York entry in the British Columbia Centennial car rally — "unclassified but on route."

It contains Jonathan R. Freed and Thomas P. Salat Jr., both of Roslyn, N.Y., have clinched last place in the 4,800-mile rally from Ottawa to Victoria.

The total got that way when the Dodge lost a wheel on the sixth lap of a 10-lap speed test Monday. And as the wheel was repaired someone lost count of their laps. The team completed one more than required — more penalty points.

As of Monday night, nine cars had dropped from the 37-car starting roster.

First place was held on a six-point margin by a husband-and-wife team, Bruce and Betty Schmidt of Tavistock, Ont., in a Fiat. They had lost 352 points, compared with 358 by Hayden Gozzard and David Grundy of London, Ont., in a Renault.

Jack Nicklaus, who was idle last week, remained in second place with $161,213. Gary Player, who also passed up Cleveland, ranks third with $119,165.

AURORA, Ont. (CP) — Leo Cahill, coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference, made the first cuts of his 74-player roster Monday and sent five rookies back to their home towns.

"Defensive back Frank Shooter will return to Bramalea Satellites, but we think he's a good prospect," said Cahill. "He's young enough for junior ball and we want him back next year."

Also cut were Glen Lewis, a defensive end and tackle from the University of Houston, John Krawciyk, a safety, formerly of McMaster University in Hamilton; Bob Palcic, a linebacker from the University of Dayton and Bill Tays, a 200-pound tackle, also of Dayton.

Fire Caught In Time

The Firemen cooled a last-inning rally by the CN Yardmen Monday night to edge the CN Trainmen 8-5. The win combined with Sunday night's 13-3 victory over Brooks Bond pushed the Firemen into a second-place tie with the Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Trainmen.

It was the eighth win in a row for the Firemen and has carried them from eighth place to a share of second.

The CN had scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh and had the bases loaded with only one out before the Firemen doused the rally by getting the next two batters. Perry Soule was the winner for the Firemen giving up nine hits while fanning eight batters. Jack O'Neil punched four singles to pace the winners at bat.

Union Carbide squelched any March hopes for rising in the standings when they tripped the Mariners 6-2. A four-run fifth inning clinched the victory for the league leaders.

Ken Osborne went the distance for U.C. firing a four-hitter an fanning five batters. Jack Hughes' triple was the longest hit ball of the night with Gary Little and Osborne adding a single and double.

Deloro Stellile jumped into a fourth-place tie with AOCD behind the one-hit pitching of Dave Horwood as they stamped the Post Office 9-3. Long ball support came in the form of home runs by Craig Lane and Casselman.

A 15-strikeout performance by Sonny Holoway paced Mead Johnson to a 7-2 victory over VL Card Construction. Holoway gave up five hits and only four walks in his seven inning work-out. Triples by Gary Genereaux and Ron Redner broke the game open for Mead's.

Women's League Seeks Help From Cuties

When in dire need of money, and banks and loan companies are out of the question there is only one logical solution besides a long walk off a short pier — call the California Cuties!

The Belleville Ladies Softball League has found themselves in such a position with more funds desperately needed, but league president Pat Robson has found a way she hopes will bring extra cash into the coffers.

The California Cuties, a "women's" softball team, although a chromosome test would dispute this, has announced they will be in town Wednesday night for a 7 p.m. benefit game against the leagues four teams.

"We're running at a loss right now at the Alemite so we hope this exhibition game will attract a lot of people," commented Pat. "We've played exhibition games before and they have drawn well but they were against other women's teams in the area so a game like this should really get the people."

Each team in the four-team league will play two innings against the Cuties — female-impersonating softballers who specialize in antics which rival those of the Harlem Globetrotters in basketball. The money will go towards the annual year - end banquet, trophies, plus the always present demand for playing equipment.

The all-distance for league games is down from last year but it's still early and maybe this game will start them coming. I think a lot of people would be surprised if they came out and saw a game for it's a good calibre of ball not just a bunch of women out chasing a ball around the field" adds Pat.

The California Cutie game won't be the only added attraction in this year's Ladies League schedule. Other exhibition games are planned with teams in area leagues and the Cosy Grill team from this year's loop will be entering the Provincial Women's Softball Union playdowns at Port Colbourne for the first time.

But for the present, the emphasis is on the Cuties and

The Royal Bank used a consistent attack, scoring in all but the first inning to defeat the Bank of Nova Scotia 19-13 in Girl's Financial Softball league play Monday.

This California blonde has no time for laying on the beach and soaking up the sun because her time is spent travelling as part of the Cuties. Game time is 7 p.m.

Wellesley Out Entire Season

OTTAWA (CP-Staff) — Torn knee ligaments will sideline running back Terry Wellesley for most, if not all the football season, Ottawa Rough Rider coach Jack Gotta said Monday.

Earlier, it was thought the Belleville native would be out of action for eight weeks recovering from a weekend operation to correct ligament and cartilage damage.

Wellesley, who was being touted by Gotta to fill retired Ron Stewart's starting halfback role, suffered the knee injury in a Saturday practice.

"This really shakes us," Gotta said. "In the Canadian Football League, you have to have 11 Canadians who can start, and when you lose a starter, it hurts."

Last year, in his rookie CFL season, Wellesley scored three touchdowns in one game for the Riders, and ground out 225 yards while seeing spot action in the backfield.

New Name Breaks Jinx

A change of names was all Team No. 4 needed as they welcomed their new CN Yardmen partners with a 9-5 victory over Dairy Queen. It was the first ladies' softball league win of the season for the girls.

Sue Morton picked up the win while Marianne Sills took the loss. K. Little had two triples and Deb Whalen two singles to pace the winners at the plate. Beth Palmer had two singles and a double in a losing effort.

Ellis Battery Provides One-two Punch

The Ellis Juniors battery looked after much of the batting as the Printers handed Quinte Hotel a 4-1 Commercial Softball League loss Monday.

Junior pitcher Ted Waite handcuffed the league cellar-dwellers on two hits to spark the winner's defensive efforts while catcher Peter Stalikovich provided the bulk of the offensive fireworks.

The rookie receiver blasted a solo homer to left field in the third inning to give the Printers a 1-0 lead and then scored the winning tally in the sixth frame after Quinte had knotted the score.

Harold Workhoven's single followed by an RBI - double by losing hurler Pat Scollard accounted for the only run for the hapless Hotelmen who now have one win to show for 11 starts.

A single by John Sutherland in the seventh frame closed home the final two Ellis tallies to provide Waite with insurance markers.

The winning hurler gave up only two hits, walking three batters and setting six down on strikes. Scollard went 6 1-3 innings for Quinte before giving way to Bob Swan. Between them they issued five hits and two walks, striking out four batters in the process.

Stalikoveck had a homer and double for Richard Ellis with single hits going to Sutherland, John Campbell and Brian Garlepy.

3 Commercial Teams In OASA Playdowns

Belleville will have a full softball contingent taking the Ontario Amateur Softball Association play-down trail in August this year.

Minor softball will be represented by the SAOO squirts and Doug Rollins Shell peewees both of whom are expected to start their playdown series the first week in August.

Entries from the Commercial League will begin OASA play in the middle of the month.

The Intermediate "A" division will feature a dogfight between the top teams in the Commercial League for the right to represent Belleville. Rollins, the current league leaders, and Point Anne, only two points behind will battle for a berth in the "A" playdowns.

Junior "A" will be represented by the Ellis Juniors, while Quinte Hotel is slated to see Intermediate "AA" action.

He Lends Helping Foot

The road from Kingston to Belleville may be long, but Jim Brennen can be almost certain that he won't mind the winds and turns nearly as much this year as he did in 1964.

Seven years ago Brennen made a charity walk from Kingston to Belleville on crutches as a result of a broken foot suffered two days before he was slated to undertake the hike.

Despite the severe handicap he completed the junket to raise almost $600 for the Canadian Army. This year he'll be walking in conjunction with the Ontario Motorcycle Championship Races from which some proceeds go to combat muscular dystrophy.

Jim first was bit with the hiking bug in 1963. "A couple of people had tried to walk from Belleville to Kingston and didn't make it so I thought that I'd try it the other way, and I finished the walk," he explains. "The next year I decided to repeat the walk, only this time for charity."

The only training that he undergoes before his journeys is occasionally walking home to Belleville from his job at the Glen Miller Paper Mill.

Between the Belleville Fire Department, joint sponsors of the motorcycle races and Brennen himself they have already managed to raise close to $400 in pledges for a per-mile basis.

Brennen will depart from the Kingston fire hall at 8 p.m. Saturday night, which he feels will give him plenty of time to reach the Belleville Fairgrounds before Sunday's 1.30 p.m. starting time of the Ontario championships.

Wading Right In

While Jim Brennen will have undoubtedly earned the position of honorary fireman when he completes a Kingston to Belleville charity hike this Sunday, it's doubtful if he plans to retain Jack Matthews' hip waders as part of his walking gear. The Belleville resident will be making the walk in conjunction with this Sunday's Ontario Championship Motorcycle Races. Proceeds from both the hike and the races will go to benefit the muscular dystrophy work, a pet project of the Belleville Fire Department. Matthews and his fellow firemen have already helped raise $400 in pledges for the walk.

Parsons Prove Versatility

Billy Lucas and Tony Goncalves proved last night that sometimes your best offence can be your goaltender, as Parsons blanked Warkworth Initiates 4-0 in a Bay of Quinte Soccer contest.

Playing without the services of their regular goalie, Parsons inserted Goncalves in net for the first half. Lucas and Kevin Kirby counted goals while Goncalves held the defensive fort to give the Belleville team a 2-0 lead.

John O'Neill and Stuart Milton counted the final goals for the winners who moved into a first place tie with Belleville United in the league standings.

Rowing Plot Formed in Pub

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) A publican of hard-drinking Londoners were plotting today to grab the Grand Challenge Cup—prized the rowing world's most-prized possession at Henley Royal Regatta—and end British dominance in the sport.

The plot was hatched in a pub on the banks of the Thames River here Saturday, the first day of the regatta, which has been dominated by British crews for more than a century.

American and European crews have been scooping up the cup. Henley's top award for heavyweight eights, and most of the other priceless trophies with almost monotonous regularity.

"This year the Grand is not for export," Lou Barry growled into his pint of ale. Barry is chief coach of Tideway Scullers, a crew made up of London dockers, office workers and businessmen headquartered in a London riverside pub.

The scullers have often promised to be Britain's best crew, but have always failed at Henley when the chips were down. They have frequently had to put up with barbs from rivals that they should spend more time rowing and less time drinking.

Suddenly the scullers are no longer regarded as a joke.

They have emerged this year as the mavericks of British rowing. They have trained alone and ignored the country's rowing selectors who recently called on them to enter national trials.

The trials are to select British crews for other international events. But Henley is special and all the scullers had to do was show up for qualifying rounds here.

"It would have been foolhardy for me to break preparations," Barry said. "The Grand Challenge Cup is the one we want to win. We are prepared to be judged on how well we do here."

The scullers should feel at home at Henley. They have set up temporary headquarters in a local pub and many of their supporters travel down each day to have a drink and discuss strategy for competitions which start here Wednesday.

Tigers Lack Finishing Touch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

the Detroit-Baltimore baseball game Monday night had almost everything—Al Kaline's five hits, a pine tar bust and the drama of a ninth-inning rally.

But there was no ending. A Baltimore city curfew ended the game after 13 innings with the teams deadlocked 4-4.

The game will resume at the start of the 14th tonight before the regularly-scheduled contest.

In games that ended, Boston Red Sox walloped Washington Senators 10-4, Oakland Athletics tripped Minnesota Twins 6-4, Kansas City Royals blanked California Angels 2-0, Milwaukee Brewers beat Chicago White Sox 7-4 and Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from New York Yankees 3-0 and 5-2.

The Detroit-Baltimore affair was great while it lasted, even when the Tigers and Mickey Lolich appeared en route to an easy victory with a 4-0 lead built on two-run homers by Bill Freehan and Kaline.

First, there was Kaline, the aging great who put on a hitting show with his homer, a single and a double, before adding a single and a double in extra innings

AL KALINE

Then there was the search for the missing pine tar. The Orioles claimed that Lolich was using pine tar, which is illegal, on pitcher, his hands, his cap, his clothing. But came up empty-handed.

Lolich breezed into the ninth with a two-hitter before the Orioles broke loose with two walks and a double to load the bases and Frank Robinson's long fly for one run.

Then up stepped Brooks Robinson with two out, hit the count and brought the partisan crowd to its feet with a tying blast over the left field wall.

Lolich settled down and stopped the Orioles the rest of the way, but it was too late, just after midnight. No inning can start after 11:59 p.m. EDT in Baltimore.

Doug Griffin hit his first major league homer for Boston in the third, but later injured his back. His replacement, John Kennedy, tied the game in the seventh with his first homer of the season and squeezed in the second run in a decisive seven-run eighth.

Oakland—remained 11 games ahead in the West as Chuck Dobson kept his record perfect at 6-0 with relief help in the final three innings. The Athletics survived two-run homers by Rich Reese and Tony Oliva to win their 11th game in 14 tries.

Pirates' Give More Than Take

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pittsburgh Pirates, leaders in the National League's East Division, have surrendered 35 runs in the last five games, an average of seven a game.

But the lively Pittsburgh bats have produced 50 runs over the same span—10 runs a game.

The Pirates had their hot bats working again Monday night—all except the hottest one which belongs to Willie Stargell, the major league leader with 28 homers and 79 runs batted in. Stargell was hitless but the other Bucs collected 15 hits and ripped St. Louis Cardinals 11-5.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York Mets trimmed Philadelphia Phillies 3-1, Los Angeles Dodgers downed Chicago Cubs 6-4, San Diego Padres slugged San Francisco Giants 6-2, Cincinnati Reds swept a doubleheader from Montreal Expos 4-3 and 5-4 and Houston Astros took a pair from Atlanta Braves 6-5 and 6-4.

The Pirates got started fast against St. Louis, bunching five runs in the first inning, three of them on Manny Sanguillen's bases-loaded triple. That was Sanguillen's only hit and every other Pittsburgh batter except Stargell had at least two with Jose Pagan collecting three.

Joe Torre had three hits, including his 11th homer, for St. Louis, increasing his National League leading batting average to .373

The victory kept Pittsburgh four games ahead of New York in the East Division. The Mets whipped Philadelphia, spoiling

WILLIE STARGELL

Rick Wise's first start since last week's no-hitter.

Tommie Agee led off with a single in the first inning against Wise. Agee has four hits, including a homer, but it was Ken Boswell's two-run single in the eighth inning that sank the Phillies.

Cedeno's hitting rallied Houston from a 3-0 deficit after the Astros had held off a late Atlanta rally to take the opener behind Don Wilson.

Don Gullett won his ninth for the Reds, who took a pair from Montreal. Gullett got late help from Clay Carroll to nail down the first game win with George Foster and Lee May contributing home runs.

May also homered in the nightcap and the Reds completed their sweep, scoring the winning run on Johnny Bench's ninth-inning single. May opened the decisive ninth with a single and then pinch runner Buddy Bradford stole second and reached third when Ron Hunt let the catcher's throw get past him for an error. Then Bench's hit won it.

Willie Crawford and Wes Parker drove in two runs apiece as Los Angeles downed Chicago and chopped a game off San Francisco's West Division lead. The Dodgers, who have won 13 of their last 18, now trail the Giants by 5½ games.

Meanwhile, San Diego knocked off San Francisco with Clay Kirby beating Juan Marichal. Dave Campbell doubled home three unearned runs as the Padres rallied for four runs in the fifth inning. Ed Spiezio homered for San Diego.

Cesar Cedeno ripped three hits and drove in three runs in the second game as Houston came from behind to beat Atlanta and complete a sweep of their doubleheader.

IDEAL NO LONGER

MONTREAL (CP) — Sociologist Jacques Langlois says men in the 30 - year - old age bracket regard virginity as an ideal for unmarried women. Their female counterparts consider it slightly less important for men. But both sexes in the 15-25 group are rebelling against "social conformity and hypocrisy" and "for a good number of young people, virginity is no longer an ideal."

Faulty Landing Gear Delays Polar Flight

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Hobbled by malfunctioning landing gear, British aviatrix Sheila Scott landed here Monday night more than three hours behind schedule on her solo flight over the north pole.

"I had very little gas, possibly three gallons left," Miss Scott said after landing.

A section of the landing gear which would no retract slowed Miss Scott's flight from Greenland, where she was forced to put down last Thursday after earlier landing gear problems.

A spokesman for the Naval Arctic Research Laboratory here said the plane would not be ready for takeoff this morning. He said the landing gear was dripping hydraulic fluid.

Miss Scott, who holds 88 world flying records, is trying to add another to her collection with the first flight over the pole from equator to equator. She departed from Nairobi, Africa, June 1.

Greater Flexibility In Welfare Possible

THUNDER BAY (CP) — The provincial government is considering giving municipal officials greater flexibility to deal with welfare cases, Premier William Davis said today.

"We are taking a look at suggestions," Mr. Davis said at a breakfast with municipal officials.

Municipal politicians throughout the province have complained that they don't have enough discretion to accept or reject welfare applications and that the restrictions have placed a burden on local taxpayers.

The government recently took one step toward greater flexibility when it allowed municipalities more leeway to reject teenaged welfare applicants who voluntarily leave home.

The premier also said that the present 60-per-cent target of education costs to be paid by the province could go higher.

"We never detremind in government that we couldn't go beyond the 60 per cent."

Mr. Davis predicted that municipal education taxes would go down again next year as the government picked up a bigger slice of the education costs.

Mr. Davis said gradual progress toward the 60 per cent figure would be completed in 1972. The province now pays 53 per cent of total elementary and secondary school costs.

But he told his audience, which included 12 young demonstrators from a local Roman Catholic high school, that the issue of extending government grants for separate schools was "not a question of equalization . . . its more complicated than that."

Two-million-dollar Combine Fines Proposed

OTTAWA (CP) — A new competitor bill that would hit restrictive trade agreements and abuse of corporate monopoly power with fines up to $2 million was given first reading in the Commons today.

The bill would replace the Combines Investigation Act and introduces new or extended competition rules, including services as well as commodities, that would touch everything from bank service charges to hockey, baseball and other sports contracts.

It would rely more heavily on civil than criminal law to cope with trade practices other than a number, ranging from mis leading advertising to pyramid selling, that would be subject to outright prohibition.

A competition practices tribunal would be established to handle the civil law provisions. The seven-member tribunal would:

—Be able to approve, modify or dissolve mergers. All domestic mergers with total assets or sales of more than $5 million, and all international mergers regardless of size, would have to register in advance with the tribunal.

—Deal with specialization agreements, export agreements, franchising agreements, price discrimination, promotional allowances, exclusive dealing, with tying arrangements, and refusal to deal—with power to order behavior.

—Give advance rulings where sought on the acceptability of mergers and trade practices. These would be binding on the tribunal.

Family Allowance Overhaul Revised

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has revised its proposed overhaul of the family allowance system by announcing plans to pump an additional $150 million into the project and to scrap the proposed $10,000 cutoff.

Health Minister John Munro announced in the Commons that the government's original proposals, issued in a white paper last December, have been overhauled after lengthy negotiations with its provinces and submissions from other interested groups.

As a result, the new proposed family income security plan will cost about $800 million a year instead of the earlier proposed $650 million.

The new program will cover youths aged 16 and 17, thus replacing the present youth allowances program.

While the original white paper proposals called for a single benefit rate of $16 a month, Mr. Munro said it now is proposed to have two rates "with perhaps a $5 differential between their monthly benefits."

He said this could mean that benefits for children up to the age of 12 could be "slightly below" $16 and for those from 12 to 17, slightly above $16.

The government does not plan to proceed with plans to cut off family allowances when income reach $10,000. Instead, said the minister, there will be a "threshold level" below which full benefits will be paid and above which benefits will be reduced.

Various threshold levels have been considered and he said the $4,500 proposed last December "seems to be the most satisfactory level." This would be adjusted periodically and he proposed that it be raised by $300 "for each extra child in a family."

The white paper proposed that benefits be reduced by $1 a month per child for each additional $500 of income. Mr. Munro said the $500 "steps" could create a certain disincentive, and it was planned to "smooth out" this scheme with more frequent adjustments "such as 30 cents or more for each extra $100 of income, or even a few cents for each extra $18."

It was also decided that benefits should not be treated as taxable income.

English Labels Bring Fines

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — A Sherbrooke philosophy student, who says he is tired of "eating in English," took three Ontario food companies to court and had them fined $200 each Monday for labelling their products in English only.

The fines were imposed on Georgs Weston Ltd. and Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. of Toronto and Libby, McNeill and Libby of Chatham. The offending products were animal crackers, sausages and dill pickles. - Daniel Berthold, a University of Sherbrooke student, based his action on a Quebec law adopted four years ago and believed to have been invoked for the first time. He says he plans further actions.

He complained later about the fact "that the action had to be taken by a citizen like myself, and not the government that enacted the law." The law says French must be used on labels of food products and "no inscription in another language shall take precedence over the inscription in French."

Plane's Prove Three Heads Better Than Two

Three heads are better than two and Plane's Concrete Ladpoles proved it as they edged Bob's Sports 7-6 in Belleville Minor Baseball action Monday night.

Tony Parks, Brian Crookright and Steve Goulaly all took a turn on the Plane's mound which paid off in the victory. They combined for 12 strikeouts and allowed only four hits. Parks and Gulan added the big hits to their pitching duties as Parks connected for a homer and single and Goulah for a solo homer.

Kevin Jones and Steve Moliaski took the loss for Bob's. They fanned 16 batters and were touched for nine hits. Charlie Doran with a homer and double was the best at the plate for the losers.

In another tadpole game Calabrese shut Motorland — Chrysler 11-4 behind the two - hit pitching of Mike Leger and Loch Crawford. The winning duo fanned 19 batters in chalking up the win. Leger had a homer, double and single to aid his own cause.

David Malkawa and Tim Turner took the loss for Motorland giving up eight hits while striking out 14 Calabrese batsmen. The pitching staff were the hitting stiffs too, as both pitchers had singles for the losers' only hits.

Ten was top and bottom in the tyke division when Hopkin's Wreckers dented the CNR Yardmen 10-8 and Alhambra 180 crushed Deseronto 16-10.

Willie Gagne and Tom Masterson combined for a five-hitter in picking up the Hopkins victory. The pair fanned seven batters. M. Henderson and J. Calnan took the loss although they giving up three hits on the Yardman mound.

Mark Crawford, Dale McTaggart and Ken Kevoy fanned 15 Deseronto players in leading Alhambra to their win. McTaggart came up with five singles and a double for a six-hit performance at the plate. E. Harrow and R. Rendell were the losing pitchers for Deseronto.

A sparkling one - hitter by Clyde Routley and Howie Coons highlighted Monday's only peewee game as Farrell Motors bombed Fitzgibbon Construction 27-11. Coons and Goodfellow's single was the only hit off the Farrell duet. Garry Bidout and Larry Dickie were tagged with the loss.

In the only one - pitcher performance, Bruce MacDonald of Vader's Datsun bantams hurled four - hit and beat Mel' Barriages 19-3. MacDonald added a double and single to aid his hero status in the game. Mike McClelland and John Mitnes were hit 13 times to taking the loss for Barriage's.

Gee Whiz !

Gib Waite Trailer Sales were carrying their own weight in Belleville Minor Softball Association action last night posting a 41-17 win over A and W Tykes.

David Gee was the big blaster for Gib Waite powering a homer and three doubles. Greg Horwood and Billy Hull each connected for two homers and a double in a losing effort.

Kinsmen Bobcats chawed their claws to Malcolm Brothers with a 22-21 win as Toni Millar collected a homer and Robi Duvall a triple and single for the winners.

In the third encounter of the evening, the Kinsmen Hawks were edged by Harbor Marine 16-15. Gord Laidlaw, Steve Bennett and Rory MacLeod homered for Harbor Marine, while Steve Lowry had a circuit clout for the Kinsmen.

Mountain View Deserves Oscar

There's nothing more dramatic than a ninth - inning rally to win a ball game and since that's the case Mountain View deserves an Oscar. Behind 15-7 going in the bottom of the seventh, they pushed nine runs across to nip Foley's 16-15 in a single Prince Edward North Shore Softball game Monday night.

Foley's themselves had staged somewhat of a comeback by scoring 11 runs in the fourth and sixth innings to erase a 6-1 Mountain View lead after three innings.

Gary Eardley and Earl Colquhoun pitched the win for Mountain View giving up 11 hits between them and fanning five. Ed Callow and Rod Wyatt each had three safeties for the winners.

Ray Allen and Everett Doxtator were tagged with the loss allowing 14 hits and seven walks. They struck out three Mountain View batters. George Foote was the only batter for Foley's to trice hit Mountain pitching.

A five-run outburst in the top of the seventh was too little and too late for Belleville as Hillier whipped them 12-5.

Jim Bell fired six-hit ball for the winners fanning 13 batters and not walking a man. Paul Pettingill and Bell each hit safely three times for Hillier.

Ken Kerik and Jim McKay took the loss for Belleville, giving up 14 hits, with McKay striking two hits in a losing cause.

Next league action is Wednesday night when the two top teams in the league — Hillier and Fairview Orchards — meet to decide first place.

Six Supreme

BRIGHTON — Wayne Foster continued to pitch a "no-hit" Six at the Brighton Speedway Saturday, driving his six - cylinder machine to the second Super Feature victory in as many weeks.

Foster out-raced Sam Dingman and Doug Davis Iq, win the featured event over the field of 47 competitors who began the night's card of races.

The big field of sixes saw no less than four re-starts because of pileups before Russell Trotman was able to race away from the pack to take the checkered flag in the six-cylinder feature.

Earl Gregory flashed out of the pack in the early going to grab an eight-cylinder feature lead which he never relinquished.

Ron Mercer, the top point man for the season, failed to record any points allowing Jim Wood to move into first place in the driver's standings.

Peewees Squeak

The Police Association peewees squeaked out a 3-2 victory over Quota in Belleville Minor Soccer Association play last night.

Mark Bathall, Wally Inwood and Scott Summers scored for the Police with John Nicholson and Jeff Buchanan replying for the losers.

In the other peewee encounter it's Mens Chair Bracket Co-Ed Tri-Birds, 3-0. Dave McBride counted twice for the winners with Danny Duffy getting the other goal and Gary Haggerty recording the shutout.

Canucks Wrecked

Bob's Auto performed a wrecking job on the Station Street Canucks Monday night coming up with a 10-3 bantam win in minor soccer action.

Ralph Kellars and Sterling Wilson showed the way with three goals apiece for Bob's. Other goal - getters were Roger Sprague and Rick Barbeau, each with a pair.

Manley Wannamaker and Mike Crawford were the Station Street scorers.

David Lewis and Paul Hellyer Both Assault Federal Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democrat Leader David Lewis and former Liberal cabinet minister Paul Hellyer lambasted the government's budget Monday as a perpetuation of an unfair tax system and a new instance of economic mismanagement.

Speaking in the fourth of six days of Commons debate on the June 18 budget, which continues today, Mr. Lewis said the more one studies the proposals "the more it becomes clear that the Canadian people may be the victims of a major tax."

The budget "does not reform the system . . . the inequities, injustices, loopholes and special privileges which have existed in the tax system until now will continue existing."

Mr. Hellyer, former transport minister now sitting as an Independent Liberal, said the budget speech failed to say how we got into the mess of unemployment.

"How did it tell us how to get out of it. These are omissions of staggering proportions."

The Commons defeated 107 to 78 a Conservative non-confidence motion accusing the government of not providing sufficient tax reductions to expand the economy and eliminate poverty.

The Liberals united against the three opposition parties to turn down the motion.

Standing in the 264-seat Commons: Liberal 151, Conservative 72, New Democrat 24, Social Credit 13, Independent 2, Independent Liberal 1, vacant 1.

Mr. Hellyer (Toronto Trinity) said government economic policies are tearing the country apart.

"That is evident everywhere except among the naive, the deluded and the complacent.

"That's the cabinet," interjected Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre).

All regions are suffering the government's unemployment policies, the former minister said. They were suffering "the consequences of economic mismanagement which can only be described as inhumane and unintelligent."

Liberal E. B. Osler (Winnipeg South Centre) noted that Mr. Hellyer, as a minister, fought the 1968 general election on the issue of inflation and how to beat it.

"To my knowledge he never opened his mouth in caucus against the methods being used to fight inflation."

Mr. Lewis said that while there were some welcome changes in the budget—new and bigger personal exemptions, for example—it would not shift the tax burden to those best able to pay or introduce equity into the system.

Over all, Mr. Lewis said, "all that the minister of finance has done is this: He has stopped robbing the poor."

Finance Minister E. J. Benson had said more than four million taxpayers would enjoy lower taxes under the proposals.

But many if not most of those reductions would come with removal of the three-per-cent surtax on personal and corporate income taxes July 1.

That surtax was temporary anyway. Renewed last December after a year, it was to have died next December.

Continued concessions to resource industries—many U.S.-owned—and a new capital gains tax that would apply to only half of a person's gains would simply prolong inequities, Mr. Lewis said.

While wage and salary earners would be allowed to deduct up to $150 a year for business expenses, corporations would face no such ceiling.

He said removal of federal estate and gift taxes would begin an absolutely outrageous system by which the rich could hand over large estates without paying taxes.

Earlier in the Commons, Justice Minister John Turner introduced a bill to outlaw wiretapping and other mechanical snooping by all but police.

Police would have to get special permission from a superior court judge to wiretap, except in emergency surveillance of organized crime or in a case of national security.

Also introduced in the House was a bill to put rye, flax and rapeseed under the control of the Canadian wheat board if a farmers' plebiscite approved the changes. They would join wheat, barley and oats.

Another bill was introduced that would offer more protection for workers affected by technical change, prevent harassment of union mavericks and limit picket rights.

Also in the Commons, Robert Andras outlined plans for the proposed new ministry of state for urban affairs.

He has served as minister responsible for housing, and is scheduled to take over the new ministry, to be created under authority of the recently-passed government reorganization bill.

Liberal Whip Lloyd Francis (Ottawa West), in the budget debate, agreed with critics that, "by looking back, we know what might have been done a little better" in maintaining employment while controlling inflation.

"It is clear that we cannot as a nation set goals substantially below those of our major trading partners in terms of price stability."

Prime Minister Trudeau has described one of the goals of the government's new stabilization as bettering the inflation rates of export customers, thereby maintaining or improving markets.

But, Mr. Francis said, that better record had led to pressure on the Canadian dollar, which led the government to float the dollar, letting it reach a higher value in terms of U.S. dollars.

That, in turn, had cut into exports and employment in export industries.

For June 30

Your birthday today: Widen your range and vision, see the positive possibilities, find ways of helping your community and look toward them. There are many opportunities to achieve sounder bases for your personal and career endeavors, provided you take the welfare of all into account. Today's natives find promises more easily made than kept, frequently extend to all full responses only under extreme challenge.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your helpful ideas tend to land you in strange situations, odd places. Be nonchalant; go on as if you were familiar with what you are doing.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): A change of circumstances is normal. Be alert for a bargain or a short cut in your favorite projects.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Keep activities within your normal range and habits; avoid undue haste and overpromises. You'll be in the mood for creative evening.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Surprise, discrepancy are the most likely features in events and news, particularly from distant places or about people you have missed seeing recently. Almost anything passes for a while in present conditions.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Be aware of what your partner up to, as your ideas of what should be done are almost certainly different from the girth of circumstances.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Review your possessions and activities; think how to protect and improve matters. Legal issues become complex and be good a single mind's range.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Do whatever is rational to bring notice to you and your work. State your potentials and skills without boasting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Short cuts turn out too short for real use. Know your limits; put in full efficiency for thorough achievement while the going is good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Think first whether it is really your business or not. Then if your interests are at stake, pitch in and take control regardless of the opinions of friends or relatives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Paying attention to others and their schemes before you take action saves you quite a lot of inconvenience. Give people time to think for themselves.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Theories and systems face revision to allow for exceptions, unusual circumstances. Some long standing ideas are incomplete or inapplicable; think and learn from current situations.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Impulsive moves proceed spontaneously all about you; they include reactions of your own emotional nature. Being discreet is essential, no matter what it seems open to public view.

STOP KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: When is the best time to be vaccinated against German measles? Suppose a woman is already pregnant? Is it safe? How can the patient be sure she hasn't already had it at some time in her life? Some cases are so mild that there is hardly a rash. — Mrs. Y.

• • •

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I've just been vaccinated against German measles. My doctor said, "Just be sure you don't get pregnant before three months." I didn't ask him why. Will you explain? — Mrs. C.

• • •

COMMENT: We call German measles rubella. It is a mild disease, in both children and adults. A little rash, a few glands enlarged in the neck or behind the ears, and some fever. But as many mothers know by now, what a "devil" it can be if contracted by a woman early in her pregnancy. The unborn child catches the brunt of its devilry.

It causes many deaths before birth and many premature births. But its most lasting and horrible effects are the birth defects it may cause in infants. Mental retardation, eye trouble such as cataracts, deafness and heart damage are outstanding examples of such complications.

And the earlier the mother is exposed in pregnancy the greater the chance of trouble in the infant. Greater the first month, a little less during the second month and even less during the third. In the later months of pregnancy there is much less likelihood of trouble.

What I have been saying will make many young mothers apprehensive, but it is better that they know, than blissfully go along in ignorance and innocently harm their babies.

• • •

In reply to your questions, Mrs. Y and Mrs. C.: The best time to be vaccinated against rubella is during childbirth. During pregnancy? Never!

There's a way to learn whether or not a woman has had rubella in the past. It's called an H-I test (hemagglutination inhibition), which determines if there are rubella antibodies in the blood. When these are present it is good evidence that she has had the disease in the past and does not need to be vaccinated.

But suppose she hasn't had rubella? Then vaccination should be performed only if there is definite evidence that she isn't pregnant at the time (by taking pregnancy tests). And if she isn't pregnant and is given the vaccine, she should be warned to take every precaution not to become pregnant within the next three months. The vaccine may harm the unborn child.

Keeping these few factors in mind, I think that most women can feel they have taken an important step in protecting the health of their babies by having a rubella vaccination. (While we're on this subject, another worthwhile resolution for a woman to make is not to take any medicines at all during the first few months of pregnancy without her doctor's permission.)

• • •

For Mrs. Y: I suppose that the term "congenital heart failure" means the patient has congenital heart disease (trouble in the heart before birth) and that the heart muscle has weakened, causing it to fail in efforts to do its required job. Many such cases are helped by operation to "close a hole" or repair the valves or arteries.

Dogs have obesity problems too. The following letter shows this:

• • •

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I hope you know a little about veterinary medicine. My dog is going to be three in a month. She is too fat. Is there a diet? Should she exercise more? I'd hate to see her get a heart murmur.

There's a dog down the street which is tied up and eats snacks all the time, but she has a good figure. That's what my dog wants. (Signed, Dog Lover)

COMMENT: See if you can talk your dog into going to a veterinarian I love dogs, too, but don't know how to manage their diets.

Rubella Vaccine Not for Pregnant

Sydney J. Harris Says

New Mentality Evident

Several readers have written asking why I have not mentioned Charles Reich's book, "The Greening of America," in the column, and wanting to know if I agree or disagree with its theme — namely that there is a "new" work all over the world today.

It would be impossible to disagree with that thesis, although I do not necessarily agree with some of the author's conclusions and extrapolations from it. And although Mr. Reich is the most popular promoter of the "new consciousness," he is by no means the first to find it.

A good year before his first article appeared in "The New Yorker" magazine, I had read a paperback book by John Charles Cooper, called "The New Mentality" (Westminster $2.65). The preface of Mr. Cooper's book begins with the very sentence: "A new form of consciousness is stirring within us."

Working for several years on a grant from the Lutheran Church in "Research and Creativity," Mr. Cooper, who chairs the Department of Philosophy at Eastern Kentucky University, anticipated much of Mr Reich's thesis (although using a Christian, rather than a purely humanistic, base of values.)

Before a word of Reich's was in print, Mr. Cooper informed us that "the bearers of the old mentality and the bearers of a new inhabit two different worlds. If we are to inhabit any world at all for long, we had best learn to understand each other."

"The New Mentality" also anticipates "The Greening of America" in its recognition that "the revolt of the post-modern man represents a change from quantity to quality, for it has ushered in a new mentality that does not transgress moral codes but demands a new morality . . ."

And this change, he goes on, is primarily a revolution of attitudes rather than actions, "from a concern for principles and institutions to a concern for persons and one's relationships to persons." One of the major elements in the "new" Reich labeled Consciousness III) is not "revival" as such, but "the vanguard of a better form of humanity."

Personally, I found Mr. Reich's thesis somewhat naive in its old-fashioned simplistic humanism; a kind of Norman Vincent Pealeism turned inside out. Whereas, in "The New Mentality," Mr. Cooper, puts down deeper existential roots, and sinks his teeth more firmly into the freshly religious implications of this "new" consciousness. I guess I didn't read that Eastern Kentucky professor recommend "The Greening of America" because I thought it merely deserved precedence over Yale this time.

Three Cosmonauts Dead on Arrival

Cause Is Not Known

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The tragic deaths today of Russia's three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts underscores once again that manned space flight is risky, that men die in its pursuit just as they did in the early days of aviation.

They die despite the most strenuous safety measures, the double and triple redundancy built in to try to ensure the integrity of the hardware. But space is still a new frontier with many unknowns.

The cause of the cosmonauts' deaths is not known. The Soviet news agency Tass said only that Georgy Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volnov and Viktor Patsayev were found dead in their capsule after landing in the Soviet Union following their record 24-day flight, most of it spent in the Salute space laboratory.

There could have been a failure in the life support system. Or maybe the sudden return to earth's gravity after a long period of weightlessness affected the spacemen in an adverse way.

There will be a long investigation—as there were after earlier space tragedies in both the United States and Soviet programs.

Craft Landed Softly

MOSCOW (CP) — The three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts died today as their space ship brought them back to earth from the world's first manned orbital space laboratory and a record of nearly 24 days in space.

An official announcement said the three spacemen—Lt.-Col. Georgy Dobrovolsky, flight engineer Vladislav Volkov and test engineer Viktor Patsayev—completed their flight program Tuesday and communicated with ground control on the way down. Soyuz 11 made a smooth landing where it was supposed to, the announcement said, but the rescue crew that opened the hatch found the men dead.

The announcement published by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the cause of the deaths is being investigated.

It could have been a failure in one of the craft's life support systems or possibly an as yet unknown effect of return to earth after such a prolonged flight in space.

Experts at the U.S. space centre in Houston, Tex., speculated today that it might have been a failure in the craft's protective heat shield, but they added that it was impossible to be sure without further details.

It was the second Soviet space flight to end in disaster. The first Soyuz spaceship crashed on April 24, 1967, after tangling in its parachute straps, killing cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov was killed. No U.S. spacemen have been killed in flight, but three astronauts—Lt.-Col. Virgil I. Grissom, Lt.-Col. Edward H. White II and Lt.-Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee—died Jan. 27, 1967, in a fire aboard Apollo 1 during a test on the launching pad.

All three cosmonauts were married. Dobrovolsky, the flight commander who was 43, and Patsayev, 37, each had two children, while Volkov, 35, had one son.

Soyuz 11 carried them into space at 7:55 a.m. on Sunday,

George Stephenson (left) audio-visual teacher at Warkworth, who is working closely with Loyalist personnel, explains a point.

Suffocation Likely Cause Of Death

BOCHUM, Germany (AP) — The Bochum Observatory said today the three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts probably suffocated when their landing module's oxygen system was knocked out during re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

Heinz Kaminski, director of the observatory, said there also was the remote possibility that the cosmonauts, weakened by "3 days in orbit, died as a result of abnormal physical strains in the re-entry phase.

Fee Increase Resisted

Belleville Boy Scouts Quit United Services

By IAN ROBERTSON
Staff Reporter

The Boy Scouts of Canada, Belleville District Council, have pulled out of the United Community Services agency and have claimed they were "forced" into a position which made it impossible to continue their association with UCS.

They resisted an increase in the dues for the boys locally by 110 per cent," stated Jas A. Rollins, president of the Belleville District Council of Boy Scouts.

"As far as we know, we are the only participating agency that is forced into that 110 per cent increase in dues is ridiculous," he charged.

Robert J. Ord, president of the United Community Services, this morning told The Intelligencer "we had felt the membership fees they were charging were unrealistically low."

However, he also stated "we certainly didn't give them an ultimatum. We thought this was negotiable and we were given to understand that they were in accord with our suggestions."

Mr. Rollins voiced the opinion that "we would have no cubs and scouts, probably, if fees had been increased.

Although funds for local cub packs and scout troops are raised by, auxiliaries, the district council depends on funds from the fall apple day and membership in the United Community Services to be "used for administration, but mainly for leader training and boy training."

Mr. Rollins this morning said the "UCS demanded we only use them (funds from apple day) for capital expenditures.

"Once we're out of the UCS, these funds go to wherever we want to direct them."

In the fall, between Oct. 5 and Oct. 30, the scouts plan to hold an extended door - to - door canvass of the residential district, to allow the boys to visit as many homes as possible. The Friday and Saturday night street canvass will be conducted as usual.

The scouting council president again suggested these funds would be the only source of revenue to continue with their administration work, the running of Camp Saganaska, and subsidizing of boys and leaders who wish to travel to Jamborees and training sessions.

A scouting spokesman yesterday noted that plans to send area scouts to a jamboree near Osaka, Japan in 1972, had been "wiped out of the budget."

Mr. Rollins claimed UCS executive director Isidore Cooperman stated "if we increased dues that they (UCS) would subsidize boys who couldn't pay."

Mr. Rollins said the scouts, as a member agency, were required to submit a budget a year ahead of their requirements so that UCS could establish a basis for campaign goals.

"We decided to pull out in January, or we would have been in for another year," he asserted.

From correspondence which began in mid-1970, records show a registration fee of $3.25 per boy is charged by the scouts, and Mr. Cooperman claims Mr. Rollins informed him "that 1970 total costs per boy per year is $6.76."

On Aug. 20, 1970, an approved recommendation by the budget committee of the UCS reads "that we ask the Belleville District Council of the Boy Scouts to increase their registration fee to $7 to cover the actual cost and that the United Appeal subsidize the Boy Scouts only for those boys whose families cannot afford to pay full or part of the registration."

On Sept. 18, Mr. Rollins wrote Mr. Cooperman, "Your suggestion regarding increasing the registration per boy has been approved in principle, however, as you can realize, it is practically impossible to implement this for the 1970-71 registrations as they have already started and fire supposed to be completed no later than Oct. 31, 1970."

Senator Reveals Pentagon Secrets By Reading Them at Public Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Mike Gravel has released a major share of the 1,000-secret Pentagon study on origins of the Vietnam war, saying there is no justification for keeping it from the American people.

In the latest and weirdest turn in the developing account of the Pentagon study, the 41-year-old Alaska Democrat stunned the capital late Tuesday when he suddenly convened a one-man hearing of his subcommittee on public buildings and grounds to read documents the government says will endanger national security if made public.

At 9:40 p.m. he began what turned into an emotional reading of Volume One of the study, dealing with the role of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration in Vietnam, by saying:

"I have read these documents and I am convinced I am in no way jeopardizing this nation's security." The freshman senator spoke to about 50 spectators, reporters and congressional aides.

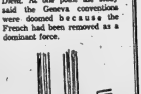
Gravel said he had intended to read the Pentagon papers to the full Senate, but had been prevented by procedural objections from Assistant Senate Republican Leader Robert Griffin.

At first, Gravel said he would read to reporters the entire study—a 30-hour task.

But when he stopped he hadn't even finished the first volume. So he provided copies to some news agencies.

"I obtained the study last Thursday," Gravel told reporters during a break in the reading, "and have spent much of my time getting acquainted with their contents."

"I have read these documents and I am in no way jeopardizing this nation's security."



He said the study came to him without any classification markings—and from a private individual, not from the copies President Nixon ordered sent to Congress.

The whole issue of the Pentagon study bloomed June 13 when the New York Times published the first of three stories based on the documents, and dealing with decisions made during the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The Justice department, charging public disclosure of the study's contents endangers national security and violates secret documents laws, obtained a federal court order prohibiting The Times from publishing the final two instalments of a five-part series.

But the Washington Post, the Boston Globe, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and several other papers, joined in with versions of their own. The Post, "The Globe and The Post-Dispatch all were enjoined and await a Supreme Court ruling on whether this first instance of federally imposed restraint prior to publication is justified by the claimed threat of national security.

The upshot of what Gravel read was that the United States had "shouldered out" the French from Indochina in the first half of the 1950s and backed the wrong man in South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem. At one point the study said the Geneva conventions were doomed because the French had been removed as a dominant force.

Borowski Has to Pay, Can't Choose Jail Term

WINNIPEG (CP) — Highways Minister Joe Borowski today was fined $1,000 for contempt of court. Mr. Justice Israel Nitikman gave no option of a jail term, and said a receiver will be appointed if necessary to attach the sum from the minister's assets.

Mr. Justice Nitikman said it was clear the minister had hoped for a prison term, "no doubt for the purpose of maintaining your posture as a hero and a martyr."

Imprisonment obviously would not be a deterrent "but would delight you."

At one stage in the judgment Mr. Borowski rose and asked the judge to stop imputing motives for his actions. He was told to sit down, and he did.

The judge also ordered the minister to pay $100 court costs as a "partial reimbursement for the great waste of public time and money."

Mr. Borowski, 37, made no comment after the judgment and said he would be reporting to cabinet. He had expressed confidence prior to today's court session that he would be going to jail, and said he would resign his cabinet post as soon as that happened.

Boy Scouts Quit UCS

In response to this letter, Mr. Cooperman asked Mr. Rollins for "an indication as to the deadline given to your special committee which is preparing the new formula".

A letter from Mr. Rollins dated Oct. 19 stated "this committee is in report to the general meeting in January, 1971."

On Jan. 20, a letter from Mr. Rollins was received by Mr. Cooperman, notifying the UCS "that the Belleville District Council, Boy Scouts of Canada withdraw as a participating agency of the United Community Services of Belleville and District, Inc. for the year 1971."

Mr. Ord felt this sudden reverse, which he says came without "any notice," was brought about by "interference from district headquarters probably prompted from some thought of ramifications in other communities."

"It appeared they had received instructions from their district headquarters. They felt this would be a dangerous precedent and other communities would wish to negotiate as we were doing," said Mr. Ord this morning.

A letter from John C. Pettifer, provincial field executive in Port Hope, received by Mr. Rollins suggests the Belleville Scouts proceed with caution in their negotiations with the UCS.

It reads:

It reads in part:

A check of the registration fees paid in 76 districts across Ontario indicated that the highest amount paid in any District is $6.00 per boy and $3.35 per leader in the Georgetown and Peel areas. Districts in the local United Appeals all charge $3.25, except where a few cents are added for use by the Group. In all Districts where the District is in the Appeal, Apple Day is allowed, although the proceeds go either to the Group or into the camp account . . . as has been the case in Belleville.

"In so far as Mr. Cooperman personally indicated that any change in the appeal policies would not be implemented for at least a year, the recent letter from the chairman of the agency review board 'demanding' a revised budget based on the revised registration fee (a figure and a decision that cannot be reached until sometime in the new year) would appear to be out of order at this time. His final line almost appears to be a form of intimidation, and this should be resisted as strongly as possible.

"In the light of our enquiries with other appeals, and with the corresponding funds and councils of Canada office, it would certainly appear as though the policies presently being formulated by the Belleville Appeal are extremes and not consistent with present practices.

"Raising the registration fees to $7.00 will give Belleville the dubious honor of charging the highest registration fee for Scouting in Ontario, and this in an area not noted for its influence."

A letter from Mr. Rollins also claimed Mr. Cooperman said "you should charge each parent at least $10 to cover district council operations." They (UCS) in 1971 will only subsidize for the parents who cannot afford the $10."

Mr. Cooperman emphatically denies having made this statement. "I never said that and yet they keep repeating that."

Asked to comment on Mr. Cooperman's statement, Mr. Rollins replied: "We have about 50 to 60 people who attended the meeting. The minutes of the meeting were taken down and can be verified verbally.

"The minutes are on file," he claimed.

M r. Ord felt negotiations had been moving ahead favorably and he says "we have done our best to work out the situation.

"We regret their decision."

Soyuz

ated orbited the earth in it for nearly 23 days in what appeared to be a highly successful advance toward the permanent manned space station which is the goal of the current Soviet space program.

Daily telecasts from space showed the cosmonauts in obvious high spirits and enthusiastic about the capabilities of the Soyuz station. By noon Tuesday they had made 358 orbits of the earth and Moscow reported "all commands feel fine." Last Thursday they broke the space endurance record of 17 days 18 hours and 59 minutes set last June by the two-man crew of Soyuz 9.

Tass said the men completed their flight program in "in full" on Tuesday and were "directed to make a landing." The news agency gave this account of the fatal descent:

"The cosmonauts transferred the materials of scientific research and the logs to the transportation spaceship Soyuz 11 for return to earth.

"After completing the transition operation, the cosmonauts took their seats in the Soyuz 11 ship, checked the onboard systems and prepared the ship for undocking from the Salyut station.

"At 9:28 p.m. Moscow time (6:28 p.m. EDT) the Soyuz 11 spaceship and the Salute orbital station separated and continued the flight separately. The crew of the Soyuz 11 spaceship reported to earth the undocking operation passed without a hitch and all the systems were functioning normally.

"In order to carry out the descent to earth, on June 30, at 1:35 a.m., after about 24 hours and 11 spaceship, its braking engine was fired and functioned throughout the estimate time.

"At the end of the operation of the braking engine, communication with the crew ceased. According to the program, after aerodynamic braking in the atmosphere, the parachute system was put in action, and before landing the soft-landing engine was fired. The flight of the descending apparatus ended in a smooth landing in the pre-set area.

"Landing simultaneously with the ship, a helicopter-borne recovery group, after opening the hatch, found the crew of the Soyuz 11 spaceship . . . in their seats, without any sign of life. The causes of the crew's death are being investigated."

The site of the landing was not disclosed, but presumably it was in the steppes of eastern Kazakhstan, where the last several Soyuz ships have landed.

DAVID A. MURRAY, M.D., has announced the opening of his office at 208 Dundas St. East in Belleville for general practice. Dr. Murray was graduated in 1969 from Queen's University and interned at St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton. Last year Dr. Murray was medical resident affiliated with McMaster University in Hamilton. He is married to the former Elizabeth Rendell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rend.ll, Belleville, and has one son.

Tweed Crews on Call

TWEED (Special) — Today it is only a matter of hours to move fire crews by air to Ontario.

Each year a training program s commenced early in the spring and continued through the summer season in the Tweed Forest District. Training varies from intensive advanced type of instruction for experienced firefighters, to shorter courses for Fire Wardens and continued training through the summer for crews who work as a team. These 5-man crews are commonly referred to as Unit Fire Crews.

Last week the trained fire crews paid off when four of the Tweed District Crews were sent to northeastern and northwestern Ontario to work on major fires. Fifteen crews from the southern Ontario forest districts were sent to the north.

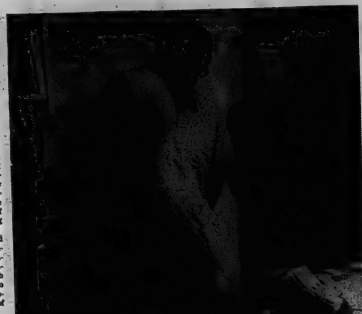
Speaker Urges Graduates To Accept Responsibility

PICTON (Staff) — "It's bad to make small things great; worse to make great things small." With the theme "Don't Make Mokehills out of Mountains, Picton businessman Jesse Mason addressed 60 members of the graduating class of Sophiasburg Central School last night.

Mr. Mason reminded graduating grade eight students that the "mountain" called social responsibility can be reduced to a crumbling molehill if citizens shift the responsibility of society's needs to the government, service clubs or the benevolent society. He warned that benefits such as medicare, unemployment insurance, and the social welfare system can tempt persons to ignore personal responsibilities to society. He noted individuals who constantly complain of small issues, magnifying them out of perspective are annoying. More annoying and more dangerous, however, are the citizens who shrink from involvement and responsibilities.



"Now the danger I warn you of is not the danger of neglecting your responsibility — to be lazy and indifferent to exercise franchise—I don't suggest you would neglect this privilege that is ours in a democratic society. But what I do fear is that increasingly the people of our generation will fulfil our political responsibility poorly."

Mr. Mason criticised society's protesters who become rampaging students overturning cars and setting them afire. "Here are the people who would claim they are concerned about the political picture and want to do something. Tell me which is worse, to sit idly by, indifferent ad careless to what is happening or, under the guise of protesting, to break into offices, stone police and burn cars? Tragically, it would seem to me either way, the mountain of political responsibility is being reduced to a mere molehill."

The speaker added the world needs more and better producers, not more irate protesters. He stressed the importance of a world filled with young men and women who will build and establish toward the democratic way of life.

Spiritual responsibility is also a "mountain" to the young student facing adulthood. Mr. Mason noted the mountain of spiritual experience and responsibility can be most rewarding for those willing to climb it.

Mr. Mason closed his address by urging students to become involved in community life and to reject indifference, "in our world today there is no room for phonies or hypocrites for, you see, they contribute nothing but confusion and conflict. They go through life settling for a poor second best. I have no idea where you will be living in five years or in 15 years but wherever it is, if you don't want it to be labelled a little Peyton Place, then you must be courageous enough to honestly take a good hard look at your own life and your contribution to the lives of those around you."

Firehall Site Gift

AMELIASBURG (Staff) — Land for the township's second firehall is costing taxpayers here only a nominal $1 transfer fee due to the generosity of landowner Jack Hazard of Carrying Place.

Mr. Hazard, in correspondence received by the township clerk, agreed to make the gift of a parcel with 100 feet frontage and 200 feet deep at the corner of county roads 2 and 3A adjoining the Bob Hanthorn property at Carrying Place. Access to the creek into the Bay of Quinte on the north side is included.

The municipality showed interest in acquiring a site opposite the new location until the Hazard proposal arrived. Council had authorized spending $2,000 to purchase the first property it viewed as adequate for the purpose.

Erection of the second firehall will proceed as soon as the township has clear title to the land, township clerk William Nightingale reported today. Cost of the new building is in the neighborhood of $15,000.

The new hall provides fire protection for Carrying Place village and properties within a five mile radius of it. The services of the Trenton fire department will be continued during the construction period and time it takes to hook up the alert system with the main firehall at Rossmore. At first one of the township's two tankers will be stationed at the Carrying Place facility.

Drug Abuse

Ideally, there should be no need for so-called "holding units" in hospitals for the care of people requiring treatment for drug abuse. But it seems that drug abusers are the alcoholics of yesterday and hospitals somehow must meet the situation.

Treatment for those who seek it is a community need. Thus the suggestion from Dr. Robert Briggs of Queen's University at a panel discussion in Belleville, that hospitals should incorporate "holding units" into their emergency departments.

The results of a survey of 1,000 students in four city high schools are lamentable, indicating among other things that 50 per cent of those who have tried drugs are still using them.

And what about Dr. Briggs' statement about society being in the midst of a chemical revolution, that drugs are here to stay and "I hope we can learn to use them constructively, not destructively?"

What is constructive about marijuana, hashish, LSD and the other stuff now available. Only recently a Scots-born 16-year-old died in Ottawa from an overdose of LSD. He lingered on a few days after suffering cardiac arrest but his mind was gone anyway. How many other human vegetables are languishing in psychiatric hospitals in Canada, their minds and bodies ruined by drug usage?

Dr. Briggs evidently sees nothing constructive in drugs either, for later in the report of the discussion he was quoted as saying that drug use interferes with young peoples' ability to "put into action what they want to do."

Drugs, he said, should not be freely available, because people under their influence are a menace to others when driving cars and in similar situations. A menace we might add, to themselves.

Agreed. Somehow those on drugs, including a growing number of adults said to be using them, must be made to realize the dangers they are creating for themselves and for others.

Consider once again marijuana which some irresponsibles want to see legalized, regarding it as relatively harmless. Here is an extract on the subject from the Encyclopedia Britannica:

"Improper use of marijuana is a serious medical and social problem in various countries. Many emotionally unstable persons known to be associated with major crimes prove to be marijuana users. Marijuana intoxication may be accompanied by such physical and psychotic manifestations as thirst, hunger, craving for sweet foods, nausea, dizziness, abdominal pains, drowsiness, irritability, delusions of grandeur or persecution, uncontrollable hilarity, talkativeness, apprehension, mental confusion, prostration, depression, inarticulate speech and delirium.

"Mental dullness," the encyclopedia continues, "ordinarily increases with continued use of marijuana, and psychoses may develop. Some persons have suffered very disagreeable effects a short time after smoking one marijuana cigarette.

"Addiction to heroin or morphine is a common sequel to use of marijuana, especially among young people."

Letters in Dr. Steincrohn's column in this newspaper have confirmed such symptoms, but never in such detail as this. Drug use is a continuing menace to society and it should be countered in every way possible.

Teens' Canoe Saga

"Bureaucracy rules the waves," was the heading under a Peterborough Examiner picture last week which told of the saga of Sue Sisson, of Belleville, and two companion 17-year-olds from Peterborough.

The girls had set out in two canoes from Buckhorn Lake, with the Peterborough lift lock their final destination, and had fibated through four locks and over five lakes when they discovered they were not so away from it all that they could escape the long arm of authority. At lock 26 they were halted for want of registration numbers ,but soon were paddling on again, their canoes properly identified and other bogies such as a violent electric storm behind them.

We wonder if the girls have read Jerome K. Jerome's classic, Three Men in a Boat. The locale, the River Thames, and the era may have been different, and the circumstances too, but as a trio who seem to enjoy the lakes and the outdoors they would find it enjoyable reading.

The Mechanics of Japanese Industrial Progress

Letter to The Globe and Mail

The journalistic reveries of Richard J. Needham have such an innocent air about them, that one hesitates to interrupt them with references to often unfeeling reality, but his latest effusion about the lack of patriotic feeling of Canadians on matters economic, and the consequent disarray at the hands of the Japanese deserve rebuttal. He says that Canadian workers are demanding extortionate wage increases which are driving up the cost of living, which is in depressing contrast to the Japanese workers, who, in their patriotic fervor, would never think of asking for overly high wage increases.

This ignores the fact that at 1.9 per cent, the increase in the Canadian cost of living was the lowest recorded among Western industrial nations last year. It further ignores the significant fact that last year the average Japanese industrial wage rose by 18 per cent, which is around three times the increase in the average Canadian industrial wage. Mr. Needham is guilty of the error of assuming that the success of Japan in the past few years is attributable to her adherence to his own values. This is doubtful, given his bias in favor of a nineteenth century liberalism, which is far removed from Japanese experience and philosophy.

Japan, unlike Canada, is a net creditor nation, being owed much more than she owes and with no major industry in alien hands. This has permitted the Japanese to develop their own technology, and to export their manufactured goods at w 111, without restrictions from foreign head offices concerned about domestic production.

The Japanese have strict control over foreign expenditure through such means as import quotas, foreign exchange controls and an undervalued currency. This has left Japan free to expand its domestic economy as rapidly as its capacities would allow, without fear that expansion would create balances of payments deficits. It has also left Japan free to develop secondary industry in systematic expansionary programs which are not disrupted by imports.

The Japanese permit concentration of industry with the result that Japanese firms dispose of the resources required for long-term new capacity and the development of new products and technology. The Japanese have large scale government intervention to manage their economy without liberals condemning such action either as a threat to free enterprise or collusion by government in big business enterprise. The Japanese National Over-all Development Council, and the Ministry of International Trade and Industry draw up detailed plans for all industries in consultation with businessmen, and business and industry work together to achieve the plans.

The results of the Japanese economic philosophy are apparent to all. Between 1950 and 1968, Japanese steel output rose from 22 million tons to 67 million tons, and the current five-year plan provides for Japan to raise steel output from 67 million tons in 1968 to 130 million tons in 1972. In contrast, the Americans in 1968 produced 120.9 million tons and the Russians produced 106.3 million tons. Japan in 1939 produced 78,000 automobiles and this year will produce over 4 million, with exports to Canada alone being greater than total output in 1959.

Canada can learn more from Japan than from any other nation in the formulation of economic policy than is dreamed about in the philosophy of Richard J. Needham.

School Vacation Hazards

Rescuer Breaks Fall Of Boy From Rooftop

Letter to The Hamilton Spectator,

The editorial postscript of June 19 about the probability of child accidents now that schools are more or less empty caught my attention.

I would like to relate an incident that happened in the early part of the month.

On my way home from work at about 5:30 p.m. I observed a boy of about 12 years of age dangling by his fingertips from the roof of a church at Hunter and Main Streets. I swung my car into the parking lot behind the church to assist the boy who appeared to be in difficulty.

The lad said he could not get down and was going to release his grip as he could not hold on any longer. I asked a neighborhood boy to get a ladder and encouraged the lad to hold his grip.

The boy was shouting for his mother to help him in his desperation and said he had to let go immediately. I braced myself on the ground below and told him I would catch him. With that he let go. I observed his feet pass my eyes and grabbed him around the waist and saw his toes just touch the pavement.

Mr. Editor, with the schools about to close for the summer, would you please spearhead an admonition of safety with the assistance of teachers and the police.

Youngsters have very little fear but under certain conditions they freeze in a tight situation. Several boys were on the roof but this one could not make it down on his own.

I was fortunate to escape with a wrenched back but obtained a lot of personal gratification to see the lad walk around with me about the parking lot.

Herb Lyons,
Hamilton.

The Psychology of Hitchhiking

Some Kids Are on the Immature Side

Martin Dorrell in The Globe . . . . . Mail

A large number of hitchers are sprawled on the walls. Others are spending the day inside the Cold Duck hostel administration house.

And I'm thinking about some of the hitchers, mostly around 16-17 years of age, who appear to becomplete nihilists. It would be nice to think that everyone on the road was learning something. It would also be unrealistic. There is a sizeable minority of young hitchers who equate absence of thought with being cool.

I've seen cases where a pot face officer smiles and says hello to a hitcher and the kid complains later of being "hassled by the pigs." To these people, all police are "pigs." To these drugs are good. A motorist who gives them a ride is more than a "straight dude," he's a sucker.

They arrive in a city like Calgary - - the first time in their lives they have seen it - and they sit for 12 or 14 hours on the mall or inside the hostel. They talk about the cultural wasteland they say they are running from and at the same time are in the process of creating a way of life as barren as the one they left.

They talk of revolution when their largest single revolutionary act is panhandling 25 cents from a little old lady.

These hitchers are a minority and are quite young. Perhaps they are growing up.

Does U.S. Have Designs on Canada?

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

In the article about the United States takeover of Canada in the next 10 years by John Sawatsky of The Examiner, USA referring to Gablinger, resources expert and adviser to President Nixon.

I think if this article is legitimate, we should stop referring to the country to the south of us as a friendly neighbor and recognize the fact that she is a hungry monster.

If it seems we have been warned of what will come to pass, it is not sit around and let it happen.

As it would seem that the "Commonwealth of Nations" is a thing of the past and we are apparently helpless against such action as referred to this arrogant Gablinger, would it not be a good idea to be on much friendlier relations with some other "great" power as a deterrent to such arrogance.

If this Gablinger could see past the end of his nose and was a "wiser" man as adviser to such a high station as the President of the United States of America, he would realize that the world environment will not stand this population explosion and may not stand the present density of population. Therefore he should be using his influence in population controls, not only in his own country but in all countries of the world.

It is a known fact that the USA is by far the worst offender in pollution of the world's atmosphere, what will it be like by the year 2000?

And last but not least, about this protection bit. Is there anyone so short that they don't remember the first two years of the second world war when the United States sat back and reaped the profits while Britain and the rest of the Commonwealth stood the brunt of Hitler's ambitions? Had it not been for Pearl Harbor to wake them up there, they might not be a United States of America today.

JOHN G PARSONS, Sr.
PICTON

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I feel compelled to write because of the article regarding American take-over of Canada printed in The Intelligencer on June 14.

I fully agree with your editorial on the same page, especially the sentence, "let the two countries work something out on a co-operative basis, while continuing to respect each other's sovereignty."

I have written letters to President Nixon's office and Prime Minister Trudeau's office regarding this subject, which originated in The Examiner, a U.S. publication.

The article was enough to raise the bristles on the neck of any true Canadian. To economically influence our country is one thing but to become part of the United States flag is an entirely different matter.

We should all pay close attention to how our ministers in Ottawa are handling this delicate matter and if we are not happy with the situation, write to them about it.

There are many friendships between Canadians and Americans but we must retain our Canadian identity. . . .

NEILSON WILLIAM PENN

Mr. Trudeau and His 'Travelling Circus'

Ottawa Journal

"Those who travel heedlessly from place to place, observing only their distance from each other, and slavishly refer to their accommodation at the inn at night, set out as fools and will certainly return as." — Lord Chesterfield

Sententious, perhaps but not without some relation to Prime Minister Trudeau and his Cabinet who are trekking back out to British Columbia to try with Premier Bennett on July 1 for the third celebration of his province's centenary.

What fiscal hats "Wacky" Bennett cast over the Prime Minister to send him hurtling back to BC, alone with his civil servants, almost before the Jet-Star and the 707 have cooled down from their last trip?

Bennett has an unerring touch of the flamboyant. Who else would have invited the First Ministers to the BC legislature for the first session of the constitutional conference to open ears with the names of each leader printed in block letters on the doors? Well that was nothing was a plug for those donating the cars.)

Everyone knows that Bennett is a super-salesman. Selling social Credit proves that. He brought out the Queen and commandeered the Victoria constitutional meeting. But that social credit, national Prime Minister could be talked into an anti-climactic return trip to take part in a vague program on a day when most Canadians are taking on holiday suggests unearthly powers of persuasion. Truedeau wouldn't be half as much for a single Liberal Premier!

It makes the Cabinet look like a travelling circus.

Abbey Dawn's Lure

Letter to The Kingston Whig Standard

So, the Cataraqui Region Conservation Authority is not interested in Abbey Dawn.

Far more beautiful than the much-publicized areas west of Kingston, a high look-out with magnificent views across the river to mountains in the United States, and possible walking trails within the reach of those who cannot spare the time to walk along the Rideau to Ottawa: naturally all this will be ignored.

Why does almost every worthwhile project in the Kingston area need a major battle? (e.g. The Grand Theatre).

We are a tourist centre - or are we?

Water, Sewerage System Debate

OWRC Hears Conflicting Views On Prince Edward Board

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Formation of a water and sewerage area advisory board for Prince Edward County would boost an industrial development program promoted by county council, industrial commissioner William Duggan, yesterday addressing a public hearing called here by the Ontario Water Resources Commission, said modern industry locates or relocates in areas where services are available.

He noted water and sewerage facilities are available only in Picton, which has no industrial land within its boundaries. Although Wellington offers a piped water supply, it is not adequate for industrial use.

Mr. Duggan stressed that development planning and water service planning both must be considered on a county-wide basis and carried out together. County council has generally agreed an area utility board would assist in this respect and requested a public hearing with the OWRC last March.

The industrial commissioner, speaking for county council, outlined several major reasons for the request of an area board to visiting commissioners representing the OWRC.

Since Prince Edward is a single entity, economically, politically and physically it was agreed an area advisory board should be organized to cover the whole county.

Mr. Duggan explained the county, in effect, operates as a regional area with a county planning board, a county health department, a county board of education and other county committees. It would seem unwise to include certain areas of Prince Edward in an outside area advisory board since this does not follow present planning which deals with the county as a single entity.

The industrial commissioner referred specifically to Wellington village and the townships of Hillier and Ameliasburg, municipalities now involved in the Belleville - Trenton area board. He said it was not suggested they should be excluded from an area board but that they should form part of a county board whose boundaries coincide with planning and political ones.

Water supply of dubious quality in some areas of the county indicates piped, treated water from an alternative source will be needed to replace wells. Sewage disposal and the cost of its provision would present "a very real problem" for individual villages or municipalities.

The industrial commissioner's brief stated there is possibly an official plan unless it recognizes the importance of water and sewage disposal facilities. A planning board, therefore, must be able to work with an area water board which covers the same territory and has the official sanction, guidance and help of the OWRC.

The brief also warned against "the vicious circle of no facilities because the area can't afford them, leading to no development because there are no facilities leading back to no facilities."

Mr. Duggan said a county water board could assist in researching alternative sources of supply and providing basic cost and engineering studies where water supply is becoming inadequate or unsafe. The cost factor must be considered and an advisory board would provide a useful medium for approaches based on necessity rather than ability to pay.

"It is obviously inequitable that some rural areas should be able to look forward to comparatively low cost water supplies simply because they are near Belleville or Trenton. It is appreciated that the pipeline across the county will be largely paid for by the consumer demand in these two large centres but that is an accident of geography. Wellington, Bloomfield and other areas should not be penalized by the high cost of OWRC water simply because a branch pipe line has no such large urban centre to help finance it."

Town solicitor and former PUC chairman Jack Ward said it is the PUC's opinion the request for an advisory board is "premature" at this time. He also expressed concern for the degree of control which would be established by the OWRC in the event such a board is formed.

Mr. Ward asserted he was not suspicious of the OWRC's motives but questioned if removal of the "local effort" aspect could lessen the involvement of residents in local affairs. "The position of the PUC is that the requirement for water services in Prince Edward County now is not sufficient to warrant the establishment of the type of board suggested," said Mr. Ward.

Area Water Supply Facilities Commissioner G. H. Kaye told the hearing, water in Picton Bay will continue to be an adequate source of supply in the forseeable future. He noted Wellington village is in immediate need of increased water supply and is now negotiating with the OWRC toward a solution. Bloomfield Village residents have an adequate supply of ground water as do ratepayers in Ameliasburg, Hillier, Hallowell, Sophiasburg, Athol, South Marysburg, and North Marysburg.

Industrial Water and Sewerage Facilities Commissioner G. Macey told the meeting, Prince Edward's canning industry would not find it economical to treat wastes in municipal plants. He said because of the short five to 14 week canning season, the wastes are disposed of through spray irrigation or broad irrigation. Similar methods are used in whey disposal. He said area sewerage facilities would be "of very little benefit to Prince Edward Industries."

Prince Edward County's ten municipalities were fully represented by their officials at yesterday's hearing, including warden Allan Anderson and Picton mayor Margaret Ackerman.

Several members of county council spoke briefly concerning the proposed area advisory board and Picton's town solicitor Jack Ward raised the question of costs. Mr Ward said there had been statements made that rent deals in townships crossed by the pipeline would not be required to pay for it. He added he found this statement puzzling and suggested if the pipeline is to be constructed across the county all communities would contribute directly or indirectly to its cost.

A. B. Patterson, Area Projects Co-ordinator, division of project development, explained direct beneficiaries must pay their costs. If a pipeline crosses a municipality and its residents take no water, there is no direct benefit and, therefore, no charge. He said the OWRC establishes its rates after discussion with the municipalities involved and they must be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board. He observed because a home owner does not hook on to the pipeline he is not automatically relieved of any cost. He could be a ratepayer in an area where there has been a small tax raise to pay for the pipeline or where there is a surcharge on sewage disposal costs.

County Princesses Picked Last Night

Dairy Princesses for both Hastings and Prince Edward counties were chosen last night in front of a near capacity crowd at the band shell at Zwick's Island.

Barbara Alexander, 17-year-old Hillier resident and student at Picton High School, was picked as the choice of Prince Edward County while Susan Ray, 19 - year - old Roslin resident, was chosen for Hastings County. Susan is a student at Quinte Secondary School.

Runnerup from Prince Edward County was Deborah Grimmon of RR 2, Milford.

Each of the contestants needed certain prerequisites including living on a dairy farm and a knowledge of their county and the dairy industry located there.

Aside from this, each contestant had to be able to milk a cow.

While the girls were giving this demonstration, Ontario Dairy Princess Dianne Gunning gave a commentary on the action. Miss Gunning also told the crowd of the many duties of the chosen princess and what they could expect in the final competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition later in the year.

For the two winning contestants, the numerous prizes included cash prizes from the two county milk committees, watches from the Bank of Montreal, silver trays from the Royal Bank of Canada, an automatic hair setter from CJBQ, co - sponsors of the event, and a sampling of products from the Diversey Corporation.

The cows used in the milking demonstration were supplied by area farmers and the milking equipment was donated by Fred Myatt, sales representative of Surge Products. Mr. Myatt accepted a rental fee for the equipment and in turn awarded it to the three contestants.

To round out the evening, the Mike Graham Show entertained the audience who were later invited to the Belleville armories.

Judges for the event were Wally Cavanaugh and Gary Murphy, both of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board and Dick Hurst of the Diversey Corporation.

House External Affairs Committee Hits Emphasis on Growth

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons external affairs committee Tuesday attacked the major tenets of Canadian foreign policy, as outlined in a white paper unveiled just one year ago.

In a report tabled in the House by vice-chairman Georges Lachance (L—Montreal Lafontaine), the committee denounced what it called the paper's over-emphasis on national interest and questioned its "new and vigorous insistence" on linking foreign policy with domestic policy.

The all-party committee, most of whose members are Liberals, repeatedly expressed concern in its 57-page report about the emphasis given by the government to Canadian economic growth as a theme of foreign policy.

Economic growth should not be downgraded, it said. At the same time, peace and security should have been accorded a higher priority than they appeared to get.

"Had this been done, the relative importance attached to economic growth might have attracted less criticism."

The report turns a critical focus on the notion that, as expressed in the white paper, external activities should serve the same objectives as national policies, that "foreign policy is the extension abroad of national policies."

This idea is not new, it notes. "What is new .... is the emphatic assertion the principle has been given and the elaborate framework into which it has been set, which links foreign and domestic policies more formally, more consciously and more insistently than ever previously."

It quotes the remark of a retired Canadian diplomat, at one of a series of public hearings held by the committee on the white paper, that there was a "underlying selfishness" in the government's approach. Other witnesses however, particularly from the business community, had applauded the emphasis on national interest.

While considering a re-statement of the importance of national objectives timely, the committee said it was anxious lest "a too-intensive pre-occupation with domestic interests" blind Canada to opportunities for action abroad.

The committee's deliberations through the fall and winter, and the report published Tuesday, were concerned chiefly with Volume 1 of the six-volume white paper made public June 23, 1970, by External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp.

Volume 1 contains a rationale and general statement of principles underlying Canadian foreign policy. The other five volumes are concerned with specific areas of policy: Europe, Latin America, the Pacific, international development, and the United Nations.

Children Best Teachers Says British Expert

EDMONTON (CP) — A British education expert wants to shove teachers into the background and replace them with children.

To back his idea, he allows his pupils to make their own educational films for presentation in the schools.

"In getting a point across to a young child, another child is one of the best communicators and one of the best teachers," Leslie Ryder of London's Educational Authority said Tuesday.

"Research is showing that the best learning situation is three children of mixed abilities with materials and the teacher just hovering there ready to inject other materials," he said in an interview at the Canadian Educational Communications Conference.

Even young children taken on field trips from their school are given movie and still cameras and allowed to make presentations for other classes, he said. Often what fascinates a child might have gone unnoticed by the adult teachers.

"The whole move . . . is not only to use these aids as resources which the children can learn from, but also to learn by using them to create material that other children can use."

Mr. Ryder warned that merely having modern technological aids is not enough. For example, he described a television program set up to teach mathematics, using a highly qualified professor.

The program was a failure because it was authoritarian, had only one-way communication and there was loss of individualism, he said.

Expedition To Explore Nahanni

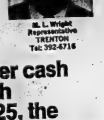
By JIM OSBORNE



EDMONTON (CP) — A military expedition led by a member of the British aristocracy leaves today on a four-month, 1,200-mile journey through the legendary Headless Valley of the Northwest Territories, en route to a late- October arrival in Vancouver.

Capt. Sir Randolph T. W. Fiennes of the Royal Scots Greys heads a 18-member group, including his recent bride, through some of the most remote and tale-shrouded territory left in Canada, on a military-scientific-adventure trip on a route marked previously by the discoveries of headless corpses.

Sir Randolph, whose ancestry traces directly back to Charlemagne, will spend most of the journey with the "river party" on its treacherous route down the rapids-studded Nahanni River Valley, where the deaths of at least 13 prospectors have been ascribed to the vagaries of quick-riches and the rugged, seldom-travelled wilderness.

Legends of nine-foot natives and copious gold deposits have been discounted by a number of recent private and government-sponsored treks into this wilderness, 700 miles northwest of Edmonton. But many of the discoveries of headless corpses remain largely unsolved, for motive and cause of death.

The Nahanni River Valley, which prospectors since 1901 have referred to as Headless or Deadmen's Valley, contains the spectacular 316-foot Virginia Falls. Observers have called the area the potential heart of the most resplendent national park in Canada.

JOHN BRADSHAW

Known to millions of Canadian gardening enthusiasts through his newspaper columns, radio programs and TV appearances, John Bradshaw has for many years been a frequent visitor to Holland. He has won many North American awards for his writings in the horticultural field.

"Tulips that will knock your eye out!"

"I promise you that, next Spring, you will have a show of tulips that will turn your neighbours green with envy—if you can order your bulbs by July 8.

"The reason you must order so early—several weeks ahead of the usual time—is a unique arrangement with Vanhof & Blokker, the famous Dutch bulb growers. They have agreed to provide you with a special selection from their 1971 crop. Each bulb chosen for you from the crop will be individually graded to-measure '12 cm up'—at least 4¾" in circumference. Because bulb size is the most important factor in getting good results, this is the strongest possible guarantee of superb tulip blooms. Yet the prices are about the same as you pay for ordinary, ungraded bulbs.

"Don't miss this exclusive offer. Choose from the four beautiful varieties shown below. And be sure your order is in by July 8!"

John Bradshaw

A. CANADIAN CENTENNIAL
The bulb-growers of Holland invited me in the Spring of 1965 to choose a tulip to commemorate Canada's Centennial. I chose this bright red Darwin Hybrid out of dozens of candidates. Blooms are on 24-inch stems; blooms in early May.

B. PRESIDENT KENNEDY
A fabulous new Darwin Hybrid, producing huge lemon-yellow blooms, with a most attractive red flecking and shining golden interior. Grows 28 inches high, blooms in early May.

C. PRINCESS IRENE
A new salmon-orange Single Early tulip that will last longer in bloom than almost any other tulip. It's short and stocky, growing 12 inches high. Blooms in early May.

D. TORONTO
A fine salmon-red Greigii tulip, one of the new group of "bouquet" tulips producing four or five flower heads per bulb. Grows 10 inches high, blooms in early May.

Planting instructions are included in each shipment.

Sydney Harris Says

Fancies and Facts:

We think of the American Indian as freely and happily "riding the plains" before the arrival of the white man; but in fact, there were no horses anywhere in North America until Spanish settlers brought them over in 1519; and the Indians had never seen, much less ridden, a horse.

We imagine that there is less illiteracy in the world today than ever before; but the contrary is true — there are some 800 million illiterates in the world today, or 40 per cent of the total adult population, and the number increases by five million every year.

We conceive of a "decibel" as a unit of sound, as a "volt" is a unit of electromotive force but decibels are not proper units of anything; if you double six volts you get 12, but if you double the sound intensity of 80 decibels, you don't get 160, but only 83.

We correctly assess the Japanese as an extremely "courteous" people, but such consideration doesn't reflect itself when they get behind the wheel of an automobile; for, in terms of miles driven, the Japanese have an auto fatality rate four times that of the U.S. with only a tenth as many vehicles.

We fondly imagine that the prosperous decade of the '60s diminished the ranks of the poor; but in 1960, New York City had only four per cent of its population on relief, while by 1970 the relief rolls had increased nearly four times, to 15 per cent — a startling 1.1 million persons (and this while the city's total population was shrinking).

We learn in the early grades that an ancient Greek, Thales of Miletus, knew how to electrify amber, and that Ben Franklin long ago discovered the electric charge in lightning — but no one is yet able to state what electricity "is," even though we can perform the most astonishing feats with it.

We pride ourselves on the enormous "aid" the U.S. has provided to under-developed countries; but in the last two years, the percentage of the military expenditures (with the U.S. leading all the rest) has been equivalent to the total income of the poorer half of the world's population.

We tend to look with some disdain upon people who Americanize their foreign-sounding names; not knowing that the royal house of Great Britain did the same thing in 1917, changing its family name from "Saxe-Coburg-Gotha" to "Windsor"; and also the royal family of "Mountbatten" (which includes Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth) was named "Battenburg" well into the 20th Century.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID W. CHAPMAN

Chapman – Gilpin

The recent wedding ceremony was solemnized in Trinity United Church, Verona, Ontario, when Bonnie Jean Gilpin daughter of Mrs. Geraldine Gilpin of Verona, became the bride of David William Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Chapman of Belleville. Rev. N. E. Scharberhorn of Harrowsmith officiated and wedding music was rendered by Miss Ruth Reynolds of Verona.

Gordon Baker of Oshawa gave his cousin in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of pure silk organza over taffeta with a semi - full skirt, accented with an empire waist and the bodice featuring a scooped neckline and long sleeves enhanced with guipure lace motifs and outlined with a fine lace edging. A cathedral train extended from large bow at waistline. A tiara headdress of matching lace was encrusted with tiny seed pearls and caught to a three veil extending to the shoulders.

Mrs. Janice White of Kingston as matron of honor wore a floor - length gown of pink nylon over taffeta with a plain bodice and floral printed skirt. She wore a matching floral headpiece. Miss Sally Johnston of Sprucville and Miss Sandra Harrington, Trenton as bridesmaids were gowned identically to the matron of honor.

Harvey Reid, Belleville attended the bridegroom and Gordon Chapman of Sudbury and Rodney Law of Belleville were the ushers.

BAKER — WEESE

The marriage of Joleen Margaret Weese, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John P. Weese and of Keith Orion Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Baker was solemnized on June 26 at Frankford United Church. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. P. Weese the bride's father, who was assisted by Rev. Helen Stover. Organ music was provided by Mrs. L. MacDiarmid of Toronto who also accompanied the soloist Miss Mary Wason.

The bride was attired in a long - sleeved empire style floor length gown of taffeta with a sheer overlay. The gown and train were trimmed with lace while a wedding ring headdress composed of pearls held in place a waist length tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and feathered white 'mums in a crescent shape.

The maid of honor Miss Myrna Baker, the bridegroom's sister and Miss Mary Wason were dressed identically to the maid of honor but in seafoam blue.

The flower girls Miss Barbara Lynn Sherk and Miss Judie Lyn Felchak were dressed identically to the maid of honor and carried baskets of white 'mums.

The best man was Wallace Smith and the ushers were Gary Greenman and Howard Stover.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Rose Lawry hall followed by a garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Felchak. The bride's mother wore a matching coat and dress ensemble of navy and turquoise floral print with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a brown and white floral dress featuring a dropped waist. She had a corsage of talisman roses.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH PAYNE

Payne – LaRue

On June 19, Carol Anne LaRue, daughter of Mrs. Freda LaRue and the late Martin LaRue, was united in marriage to Kenneth Walter Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bussey at Tabernacle United Church. Rev. Leslie Dean conducted the ceremony while Clifford Trimpler provided organ music for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her brother Bruce LaRue, the bride wore an A-line gown of polyester crepe over nylon taffeta featuring an empire waistline. The neckline was rounded in front and curved in a low scoop at the back. The gown had long lily point sleeves which were trimmed with guipure lace as were the neckline, bodice, front of the skirt and attached cathedral train. A two-tier veil of silk illusion flowed from a face-framing guipure lace headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and aurora borealis. She carried a cascade bouquet of white miniature carnations and daisies.

The maid of honor Miss Deborah Platt wore a sleeveless floor length gown of floral polyester crepe in muted shades of blue, green and pink styled with an empire waist and a scoop neckline. She carried a nosegay of colonial white, pink and mauve daisies.

The bridesmaids Miss Karen Boyle and Miss Cindy Donaldson were dressed identically to the maid of honor. All the bridal attendants wore pearl choker necklaces and earrings which were a gift from the bride. They also wore flowers fashioned from the same material as their gowns in their hair.

The best man was William Payne, the bridegroom's brother while the ushers were Stanley Gallinger and Ronald Whyte.

The reception was held at the auditorium of the Tabernacle United Church. The bride's mother wore a dress of turquoise lace over taffeta with a matching coat, beige accessories and a corsage of soft pink 'mums. A gold and pearl hair ornament completed the ensemble.

The bridegroom's mother was in a floral pink sheer polyester dress and coat ensemble with white accessories and a headpiece of white 'mums. She carried a purse corsage of white ice 'mums sprayed azalea pink.

For the wedding trip to points North, the bride donned a two-piece butterscup yellow crimplene tunic style pant suit with white accessories. A patterned pink and yellow silk scarf and a corsage of white 'mums and pink sweetheart roses completed the outfit. Upon return the newly married couple will live in Sudbury.

BONTER — LOVELESS

MARMORA—Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, was the scene of a double-ring wedding ceremony recently when Mary Elizabeth Loveless, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd St. Loveless was united in marriage to Kenneth Gordon Bonter, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bonter. Rev. Father T. G. Sowden officiated.

The bride wore a floor-length white gown over satin dress, trimmed with pink embroidered effect, lace down the front and enhanced by a high collar and long sleeves. Her headdress was a pillbox style hat with a shoulder veil, and floor-length train attached to it. She carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses.

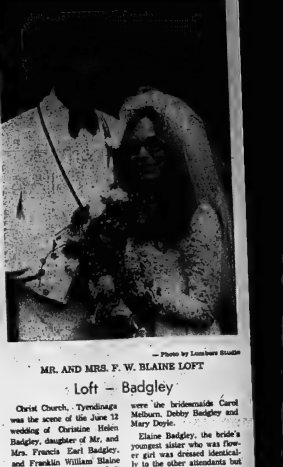
The matron of honor, Mrs. Ted Bonter, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, wore a floor-length gown of gold mirror and carried a bouquet of off white daisies.

The bridesmaids were Miss Calla Murray, friend of the bride and Ruth Bonter, sister of the bridegroom, wearing identical floor-length gowns of green sateen and carrying bouquets of white daisies.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Joanna Loveless, sister of the bride, who wore a floor-length gown of green sateen and carried a basket of white daisies also.

The ring-bearer was Andy Bonter, nephew of the bridegroom.

The best man was Ted Bonter, brother of the bridegroom and the ushers were Dave Loveless and Robert Bonter.



The reception was held in Sacred Heart parish hall with the bride's mother receiving the guests in a pink polyester crepe dress and matching coat, beige accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a lilac polyester peau gulled dress and matching coat and accessories and a white orchid corsage.

A dance followed the reception.

The bride chose as her going away outfit a turquoise and white chiffon hot pant dress with an accordion pleat skirt with beige accessories, white accessories and white orchid corsage.

The bride and bridegroom will reside at Crowe Lake following a honeymoon trip to Painsville, Ohio.

Recognition Week Is To Honor Community

At a meeting of the Central Volunteer Bureau Board of Directors, it was decided, to program a special 'Community Volunteer Recognition Week' early in September. When the Bureau was incorporated, and constituted a charitable organization, one of its many functions proposed was to bring the community to a halt at one time through volunteer service to the attention of the public

Accordingly a planning committee was appointed to organize the 'Recognition Week', with invitations open to all community organizations depending on the services of volunteers, to give them an opportunity to demonstrate their volunteer services through displays, and other special events to be planned. The committee consists of Mrs. Kay Mandeville, chairman; Mrs. Dorothy MacKinnon, secretary-treasurer, Maurice Stotesbury, and Mrs. Ruth Burrows.

The executive director of the Bureau, Mrs. Ruth Burrows, reported supervision of services by several projects directed by the Volunteer Bureau — a third nursery is planned for a day nursery for pre - school physically handicapped children; — an additional half - day weekly is being given by volunteers to teach English to New Canadians; — two new locations are to be available in the fall to expand a pre-school enrichment program for four-year olds, servicing six groups and approximately 75 children.

Meals on Wheels luncheon club for the elderly will continue throughout the summer, with the same drivers needed to provide this service.

Women's Institutes

LONSDALE WI

The final meeting of the season of the Lonsdale WI was held at the Inn! ute hall on June 15 with 11 members and one guest present. The president, Mrs. Jack Stafford conducted the meeting. The secretary-treasurer's report was given by Mrs. L. McGuiness. The usual business of the business was discussed.

The Institute has planned the program based on the theme "safety of children in the home". Her reading referred to every day dangers and poisons; bottles in the kitchen cupboard. She warned her audience never to leave a child alone and always to be suspicious when a child is unusually quiet as mere quiet might make a difference between life and death when a child is accidentally swallowed some poison.

To add a bit of spice to the meeting a reading was given on "how to cook a husband" and also one on a "love cake for a mother" which were greatly enjoyed by all.

At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by the lunch committee. The next meeting will be on September 21.

Scheduled Volunteers

Urgent needs for volunteers, apart from drivers, for a busier for one of the largest agencies in the area, a chairman for the Christmas Sharing Program which will get into the planning stages early in the fall, and volunteers interested in assisting in the Hastings County Museum for the summer. Furniture and appliances are in great demand by the Furniture Exchange, and all contributions will be welcomed by the Volunteer Bureau.

Mrs. Burrows attended the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies annual meeting in Toronto as a guest panelist on a panel, representing volunteer co-ordinators in Ontario. She reported to the Board that literature on the Belleville volunteer programs for children was read with much interest and several delegates expressed a desire to start similar programs.

To concluded her report by describing a request, from Loyalist College Psychology and Sociology Departments, that the Volunteer Bureau take students for two half - days weekly next year for field work in their College courses. This request met with approval by the Board.

Chairman Maurice Stotesbury adjourned the Board meetings until the fall, with the promise that the Board would be kept informed as to the progress of the Planning Committee for Volunteer Recognition Week.

Successful Living

This Father Lays Down the Law

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: My father met the guy who was taking me out, then told me I couldn't go out with him any more. The family reputation isn't the best but this guy is really different from any of his relatives.

My father also told me if I go out with him behind his back and he finds out, I won't be able to ever go out again. I like this guy very much, in fact I think I love him.

What am I going to do? I can't keep on sneaking out because it will get to my parents. I am 16 and I feel I am old enough to choose my friends as long as they are decent.

He wants to talk to my parents but I am scared to let him. — Scared

Dear Scared: What parent can ever follow through on a threat to never let you go out with a boy again? Here we have arbitrary rules, unreasonable threats and a completely authoritarian situation — a perfect set-up for a great big generation gap.

Take courage in hand and as a first step tell your parents you would like to work out a few dating rules with them. Remind them that you are trying to grow up to be a responsible person. And don't sneak out.

* * *

Dear Doris: Kindly send me the information about...where to send used postage stamps, old greeting cards, trinkets, etc.

Would it be acceptable to include this information in a booklet the Winnipeg Pollution Pirates propose to put out? In it we hope to supply information on places to send all sorts of salvage. — Let's Fight Pollution.

Dear Let's: Fight Pollution. Yes, let's. But first get the consent of the organizations whose names will be printed in your booklet. At least two of them are off this continent (Upper Burma and India) and should be contacted by air mail. I'm sending their addresses.

* * *

Dear Doris: At 14, I needed a friend badly. Please tell Longing For My Teacher that I hope she does find her but also that not all the people here are so cold. This I found out through a very understanding friend.

Also, if LFMT lives nearby I'd be very happy to be her friend if not, I'd be just as glad to correspond. I'm 16 now. — A Friend.

Dear Friend: As it happens LFMT lives several hundred miles from you. Your message will warm her heart.

Ann Landers

Great Importance Attached to College

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter is for all parents who attach a great deal of importance to certain colleges. My brother did — and it nearly ruined his youngest boy's life.

I hope this story will open the eyes of other parents and deter them from making the same mistake.

My brother went to Princeton—as Father and Grandfather did before him. Two of our uncles also went to Princeton. When my brother's oldest boy graduated from high school, he went to Princeton, naturally. Two years later the younger boy, Jamie, applied to Princeton. He had excellent grades and was highly recommended by his principal but for some reason he was not accepted.

ANN LANDERS

I have never felt so sorry for anyone in my life. That poor kid was made to feel that he had let the entire family down. The sad part of it was that his parents didn't do one thing to lift his spirits. They treated him as if he'd done some terrible thing.

Instead of accepting the decision, my brother got on the phone and started calling everyone he knew who might "help." He wrote letters, sent telegrams — it was shameful. In the meantime, the boy was getting sicker and sicker over the "disgrace" he had brought on the family. Finally he had to be hospitalized.

It is now two months later and Jamie is much better — and preparing to go to Notre Dame, his second choice. But the damage done by his family will leave a permanent scar on that boy.

I hope you will print this letter for all parents to see. — AUNT BETTY.

DEAR AUNT BETTY: Thanks for writing. Not all boys belong at Princeton — or at Notre Dame, either. Some students do better at smaller less prestigious schools, where the competition isn't so severe. Thanks for saying something that needed to be said.

FOOD CITY THINKS YOU SHOULD BE AWARE!

Oranges come in a wide range of sizes. The sizes above are actual sizes of Sunkist oranges. The size of citrus indicates the number of oranges in a carton. For example a carton of 88's hold 88 oranges. A carton of 138's hold 138 oranges. Therefore the larger the number, the smaller the fruit. And remember, for maximum freshness purchase citrus as need requires. Watch Food City ads for more information on food facts you should know.

A Patriotic Dessert

Make a flag-waving chocolate cake for Dominion Day. Mary Moore gives the one-bowl recipe and for glamor's sake adds the popular recipe for white whipped frosting.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Chocolate Cake A Favorite

By MARY MOORE

When I ask my grandchildren (and their parents) what they would like me to make, as one may say about, "Chocolate Cake!"

So for Dominion Day we selected what seems to be a universal favorite and frosted it with the White Whipped Frosting that you love so much and stuck some little silk flags around the sides.

I should add that this is one of those stream-lined cake that even your sub - teeners could make.

DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE WITH WHITE WHIPPED FROSTING

1 1-3 cups sugar
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose (9" layer cake or 9" square)
⅓ cup cocoa
½ tsp. baking powder
1¼ tsps. baking soda
⅔ tsp., salt
½ cup soft shortening (room temperature)
¾ cup cold water
¾ tsp. vanilla
2 eggs

Put your sifter over your mixing bowl and sift together the sifted flour, sugar, cocoa, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Add the soft shortening. In the measuring cup add the vanilla to the water. Add a little more than half of this liquid to the ingredients in bowl. Now beat this until smooth. If in electric beater, beat for 2 min. If by hand, 100 strokes. Now add the eggs and remaining liquid and beat 2 min. longer or 100 more strokes. Turn into two 8"layer cake tins or one 9" square pan lined on bottom with buttered wax paper. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 25-30 min for layers; about 35 min. for square. Cool on cake racks sides and top with

WHITE WHIPPED FROSTING

Cook until thick, stirring constantly, 1 cup milk mixed with 2 tbsps. corn starch. Let cool Beat in mixer 1 cup granulated sugar ½ lb. soft butter (do not substitute) and 1 tsp. vanilla or alifood or mint or rum extract. Beat until snowy white — 5 - 10 min. Fold in cooled milk mixture and beat 15 min., or until like whipped cream.

If you do follow my idea of decorating the cake with little silk Canadian flags, when you cut and serve it, stick a flag in the top of each serving. The children will love it.

Mr. Wilkes added that the people of Hastings County are very proud to have Miss Diane Gunning of Tweed as dairy princess for Ontario this year.

Club leader, Everett Barrons, gave a brief outline of the club's activities, reporting that the club had made a good showing at local fairs and at the Ottawa Fair.

Past president of the Marmora Agricultural Society, William Doyle, said he was pleased to see that the club was growing every year and congratulated Ray Pender on the work he is doing with the 4-H clubs in Hastings County.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

BY MARY BRYSON

Not many parents really like long hair on their sons or shoes without socks. Perhaps teen-agers are trying to say, "We're a new generation, so we want something different." The way-out dress may be part of the transition from docile childhood to independent adulthood. You don't have to agree with all your teen-ager's ideas and feelings, but accept as many as you can without arguing or trying to change them. BE on his side while you give him time to establish his own identity.

Performer Strangely Separate

By MICHAEL BENNETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Van Morrison, poet and singer of songs, was one of a cast of thousands in the early 1960s when anyone who could sing the Queen's English was part of Britain's export boom.

He was Irish and leader of a group called Them, but unlike the mimics who crossed the Atlantic in the Beatles' wake, he's outlived G-l-o-r-i-a, a genuine, certified, gold-plated single gathering dust on the wall of a record company.

The raw, rock 'n' roll days at the Marlime Hotel in Belfast were his reality, effusing in the lyrics of an opera, part of which became Astral Weeks, one of the most poignant albums of the last decade.

Yet Van, the person, is strangely separate from the performer.

His stage presence has been called "a visual cold shower" —no surly, sexual pop star, just the movements of a man feeling his music, living his life.

Waiting to catch a plane, he was ill at ease and suspicious of strangers, especially those carrying tape recorders—a headliner with the humility of a bit player.

"I think things are getting better," he said, smiling at a newspaper clipping because, this time, he hasn't been punched, bored, stapled and pigeonholed in print by some critic conducting an autopsy on his performance.

"It seems things are starting to open up. People are starting to be truthful with one another about the whole thing."

A refreshing statement from a man who, a few years ago, was so fed up with people sticking microphones in his face and asking, "What's your favorite color?" or "What kind of girls do you like?" that he stopped giving interviews.

"A lot of times, I feel the cat was right there, he was right with it and he knew what was happening," said Van.

"Other times, people just turn themselves off and see it from a long way off. They put a barrier between themselves and the music, and they write about it like that."

The almost maniacal obsession to identify and label an artist and his work isn't restricted to the media. At a reception for him in Los Angeles, producer Phil Spector came up to Van and asked him: "What's the true meaning of Blue Money?" one of the cuts off his latest album.

"You heard about that? It was sick.

"I saw a program on TV last night about (Isaac) Newton and these two guys were dissecting him, piece by piece.

"All his ideas. And what do they know? Newton just did what he did."

Van, the performer, has avoided becoming a captive of his audience, forced to recite his compositions line for line, note for note as they apear p on the records.

"I seldom play the same thing twice," he said.

"If I do, I usually ask myself why. Before they come to a concert, most of the audience have a set thing about the performer from radio and record exposure.

"They expect a certain thing and when they don't get exactly what they expect, it throws them off balance."

In other words, that thin plane of plastic on the turntable is really an artificial representation of the artist, at the mercy of an engineer and a vast array of gadgets.

"I don't think you can generalize about what the public sees and what you're doing," said Van.

"The public doesn't see you all the time so they've just got to go on what they can get.

"Perhaps the truest way you can come to any real recording is doing it live. You know, just go into the studio, do the songs without any over-dubbed and get it within the first two or three takes.

"When you record something and mix it, then it becomes something else—a production. Making a record isn't a big part of my life."

Stop Killing Yourself

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Why does one never read anything about whiplash injuries. Since I am going through such an injury, I am watching and looking for any help.

I was stopped at a red light when a boy ran into me from the rear. At present we have paid all of the bills ourselves (there was no insurance), which is one of the hardships in addition to my pain. On top of that, no doctor really wants to treat me because it is such a difficult thing to cure.

Anxiety plays a big part. I am anxious because I am sick with no obvious signs of illness, and I am sick because I am anxious. For four months I have tried desperately to fight this illness, and for four months my body has fought back.

Medication refuses to help me get of pain; it only helps me live with it. What is the answer and why do people avoid discussing it? — Mrs. F.

• • •

COMMENT: I have discussed it here quite often. But as often happens, people may not be especially interested in a specific medical problem unless it affects them (or being) personally. You raise so many questions I can't possibly answer them all here.

I differ with you when you say that "no doctor" really wants to treat whiplash. Any self-respecting orthopedist realizes that such sudden neck injuries can be painful and chronic, lasting for months.

It is for this reason that they advise a host of remedial procedures: bed rest, traction, cervical immobilization ("collar"), wet heat, dry heat, shortwave diathermy, ultrasonic applications, hot packs, massage, nerve blocks, special exercises, or actual operation to relieve nerve pressure and treat injuries to the bony structure of the neck.

And last but not least, as you say, anxiety plays a big part. The good doctor needs to assure and reassure his nervous and uncomfortable patient. Sometimes the anxiety is so bad that a psychiatrist is called in to help.

• • •

What I have been trying to say, Mrs F., is that there is much to be done. First, find a physician who is interested. Secondly, do all you can to cooperate.

Meanwhile, I'll recommend again a book on the subject which is quite helpful to laymen. It is "Traumatic Cervical Syndrome and Whiplash," by Drs. Charles W. Goff, John O. Alden and John H. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia Pa.

If you can get a copy it will completely explain the problems of whiplash and how you solve your own difficulties.

• • •

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Does it matter if one uses the sun lamp to a great extent? I use it every other night for two or three minutes. Will it damage my eyes? I don't like to use sunglasses because I'm always left with a white area around the eyes. — Mr. S.

COMMENT: A sun lamp can be helpful, but it may be harmful. For example, it may cause skin burns if improperly used, and it may cause eye damage when eyes are unprotected by sunglasses.

It may seem like being too careful about a simple procedure, but I believe no patient should use a sun lamp without first getting instructions in its use from a physician.

• • •

For Miss S: Many doctors agree with your own that first cousins who intend to marry should get the advice of a geneticist.

DREAM HOLIDAY

ROCHESTER, England (CP) — Geoff and Pat Key dropped a bottle with a message into the sea on a cruise from Australia. But only when a Fijian hotel owner replied a year later offering them a Pacific cruise on his luxury yacht, the young Kent couple had to refuse. "We'd have to win the football pools to get to Fiji and take up the offer," Pat said.

Library Corner

By O.D.

The reference department keeps you informed on many subjects not only through books but with pamphlet material. Some of the recent additions to the files include a few which may be of value for your summer planning.

Ontario Campsites — An information booklet to help plan your camping holiday. The location of campsites and the extent of facilities available both are detailed. For those who enjoy canoeing with their holiday, there are pamphlets to show where it can be done. Canoe Routes in Quetico Park; Canoe Routes in North Georgian Bay, maps of Algonquin Park, also include canoe routes there.

For your other camping and holidaying interests, there are are such publications as the lands and forests department's limits and seasons.

Of special interest to fishermen is The Fisheries of Lake Simcoe. This tells the story of the lake and its use by the Indian, the early European traveler, settler, fisherman, and sportsman. These historical details provide a base for perspective on present management and use of a popular lake.

For recognition of some of the creatures your children haul out of lakes and ponds, read Ontario Turtles — an excellent study of the various types of turtles found in our province — their range and feeding habits and their adaptability as pets.

As you do your portaging, camping, fishing, perhaps you'll need to refer to another small pamphlet: Poison Ivy. Here is how to recognize it and how to control it. Here too, its toxic effects are described, how these happen and how to avoid the poisoning.

And for those of us who will stay at home and tend our farm or garden, the pamphlet file includes how to look after livestock on small farms — rabbits, geese, goats and bees. Gardening advice includes growing everything from Hedges to Roses to potatoes.

For many other subjects, the pamphlet material in the files of the reference department may provide just the piece of information you need. Try them.

Questions And Answers

By The Ontario Motor League

QUESTION: Can you give us any details about Riding Mountain National Park in Manitoba and how best to get there?

ANSWER: On the plateau of Riding Mountain, 2,460 feet above sea level, the park lies 125 miles north of the United States border and 165 miles northwest of Winnipeg. The 1,150 - square mile area is blanketed with forest interrupted only by lakes.

On the rim of Cedar Lake is the resort town of Wasagaming, an ideal vacation spot. The varied recreational activities are designed to please visitors of any age. The town's an excellent beach; for fishermen, boats and motors are available. A launch takes visitors for a trip on the lake, which is so clear the bubbles can be seen rising from underwater springs.

A riding stable furnishes the means to enjoy scenic bridle trails. These paths present changing vistas ranging from deep forest to open rolling meadows. The stable features organized breakfast rides and moonlight rides, with a stop for ham and eggs or a wiener roast. Eight clay tennis courts, indoor and lawn bowling and an 18-hole golf course are added attractions.

Visitors are invited to participate in a program which includes such activities as nature walks, car-caravan and nature talks. A museum in the Interpretative Centre at Wasagaming, contains exhibits on natural and human history of the area. Open May 15 to Sept. 15, daily 10 to 8.

During the summer season hotels and bungalow cabins provide accommodations.

Camping and trailer areas are available at Wasbagaming Moon Lake and Lakes Katherine and Audy.

Best way of reaching the park area is by Trans-Canada Highway to Portage la Prairie, Man., and Highway 4 to Neepawa, and north on Highway 5 from there, or by Trans-Canada Highway to Brandon, Man., and north from there on Highway 10.

'Political Gamemanship' Charged to Lawrence

Dr. Glenn Sawyer, in an editorial in the Ontario Medical Review, was commenting on questions the minister put to an OMA meeting here in May.

White Paper Called Screen

OTTAWA (CP) — Was the government's white paper on taxation a successful exercise in participatory democracy, or was it "the biggest smokescreen in history?"

The answer depends on the MP to whom you listen.

Tuesday, in the fifth day of the six-day Commons budget debate, Transport Minister Don Jamieson and several other Liberal MPs put forward the participatory democracy view, while Craig Stewart (PC—Marquette) saw the smokescreen.

Under the 1969 white paper, said Mr. Stewart, Finance Minister E. J. Benson was "telling everybody he is going to take the shirt off their backs," and then in the budget's tax proposals "he is only going to take half the shirt."

Today the Commons is to conclude the budget debate and adjourn until Sept. 7.

In other business Tuesday, Corporate Affairs Minister Ron Basford introduced a bill to establish tighter control on business mergers. A competitive practices tribunal would also be set up to oversee trade practices and curb monopolistic action.

Health Minister John Munro announced that revised government plans to change the family allowance system would extend that system to include youth allowances.

The original plans called for family allowances to be cut off when family income reached $10,000 a year, but that proposal met heavy criticism.

Mr. Munro said Tuesday the $10,000 cutoff would be replaced with a gradual reduction in allowances starting at $4,500, with the number of children in a family being taken into account.

In the budget debate, Mr. Jamieson said legislators are "not repositories of all wisdom and knowledge" and should listen to the public when considering complex issues.

This had been done with the white paper, he said. The government's current tax proposals were not a retreat from the white paper proposals, but were evidence that the government considered public representations.

But he called for more government assistance to citizens' groups to ensure powerful organizations did not dominate public debates.

Rod L. Whiting (L—Halton) said Liberal MPs who described the white paper as a vehicle for participatory democracy "have been proven prophets indeed and our honor and faith in the government have been vindicated."

But Martial Asselin (PC—Charlevoix) said Prime Minister Trudeau is too stubborn and arrogant to take opposition advice.

Mr. Asselin said tax cuts in the budget are welcome but do not go far enough.

Alf Gleave (NDP—Saskatoon-Biggar) said the capital gains tax proposed in the budget would hurt farmers who trade in old machinery for new equipment.

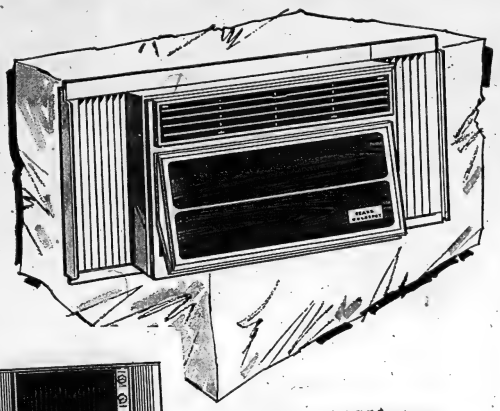
He also criticized the proposed increase to five per cent from three in the tax on capital used by co-operatives. That would cause a severe dislocation in the allocation of savings and investments by co-ops.

Hugh Faulkner (L—Peterborough) took issue with Mr. Stewart's smokescreen allegation:

"It is perfectly clear that the process of tax reform and the process of discussion about tax reform was a genuine process because the budget we are debating now reflects very much the input of the people across this country."

Mr. Faulkner said the increased tax exemptions—to $1,500 from $1,000 for a single person and to $2,850 from $2,000 for a couple—are "probably the most fair and equitable way to ease the burden on the low-income groups."

Albert Cadieu (PC—Meadow Lake) said the government should help farmers instead of radicals, hooks, hippies, creeps, weirdos, freaks and revolutionaries.



Henri Latulippe (SC—Compton) said proposed tax relief is an illusion. While the three-per-cent surtax would be removed, a capital gains tax would be introduced.

The budget would not foster economic growth. Taxes, interest and the public debt would remain.

There is no better way to shed the cares and tensions of modern living than to get out to the shore of a nearby lake and just listen to the gentle wavelets. ## Bay of Quinte Ideal Location For Pleasure Sailing, Regatta

Sailing enthusiasts in the area have learned of the Bay of Quinte's unique advantages giving it a possible chance of becoming one of the popular regatta spots in Canada. The bay lends itself to the enjoyment of summer which could entice sailors from across the country.

Although the bay has sporadically been the scene of regattas over the past 100 years, the increase in sailing in recent years has drawn new attention to Quinte waters.

Reasons for the bay popularity include temperature, winds and resources — both human and physical.

The bay is protected by its surrounding shores from the strong winds common to Lake Ontario, making it ideal for the small centreboard craft gaining popularity among North American sailors.

With berthing space for large keel boats in short supply, more sailors are turning to "dry sailing" — keeping their boats on land during the week and hauling them by trailer to launching ramps for weekend sailing. These smaller boats need more protected waters than the Great Lakes offer.

But high protecting shorelines shut off winds — except on the Bay of Quinte. The long stretch of Belleville Reach lies along an east-west axis — in the path of prevailing westerly winds.

Another factor ensures enough wind for sailing on the bay almost every day of the season. The wagon load mass of Prince Edward county meeting the cool water of the bay creates thermal winds to ruffle the waters every afternoon.

"The unusual thermal wind situation off Prince Edward is a big factor in the bay's favor as a site for scheduled racing competition," said BQYC's past Commodore Richard Bird. "We can assure competitors of enough wind to keep their events moving anytime during the season."

Water temperature in the bay comes as a pleasant surprise to visiting yachtsmen.

Centreboard craft capable routinely in competition and the water in Lake Ontario at this time of year is so cold a man can stand immersion for only 10 to 15 minutes. No such risks exist in the Bay of Quinte's warm waters to create uneasiness in minds of racing committee members.

Variability of the winds on the bay drew favorable comments from the Albacore skippers. During their three days here they experienced heavy, moderate and light winds, giving every skipper and crew a chance to display their skills.

Facilities already exist around the bay to handle the needs of local and visiting yachtsmen, especially the smallboat owners. Marinas, a boat yard for repairs and a

Play It Safe On Your Boat

By STAN DAVIES

The National Fire Prevention Association of the U.S. after years of making surveys and studies of boat fires and explosions has summed up its findings in one of the understatements of all time.

The association says: "There are few other uses of petroleum fuels by the public in which the fire and explosion hazards parallel those possible in boats."

Here are five rules for handling gasoline on a boat suggested by the association:

1. Put portable tanks ashore for filling. Use approved safety containers for any extra fuel carried. Never store spare fuel in living or engine compartments.

2. Avoid static sparks by keeping nozzle in contact with fill pipe during refueling.

3. Enforce a strict "No Smoking" rule during refueling operations. Extinguish all open flames. Keep fuel away from ignition sources. Wipe up any spilled fuel immediately.

4. Keep bilges clean of fuel and oil. Don't allow rags, especially oily ones, to accumulate. Keep matches away from children. Be a "good housekeeper."

5. Use only marine-approved stoves. Don't use portable LP or gasoline stoves. Avoid portable heaters of all types on board.

Quinte Area Fishing Haven

By ERIC EMERSON
Staff Reporter

For local anglers, and visitors from as far away as the central United States, Hastings County's more than 2,600 bodies of water provide a focal point in the search for "the one that got away."

Hunting the waters of the Belleville-Tweed area is an assortment of game fish that offer almost any angler the choice of his fresh water favorite, including the various species of trout, large and smallmouth bass, pike, pickerel, muskellunge and panfish.

The muskellunge, heavyweight champion of the local fish fraternity, has reared its ugly head, with reports of several medium - sized muskies landed in Beaver Creek.

Pickerel have been supplying the bulk of the action in the Bay of Quinte area with reports of excellent catches in the Moira River and at the mouth of the Trent.

Those taken in the Moira have been hooked almost exclusively on minnows, while ignoring the artificial bait offerings. West and East Lakes have had fair catches of both pickerel and pike.

With bass season opening this weekend, fishermen will get a chance to test their skills on the scrappy, high-jumpers.

Areas around West Lake and Hay Bay are already booked solidly for the summer months, with about 50 per cent of the visitors hailing from the U.S.

Despite the lack of precipitation, waters in the area are still at high levels in many areas, thanks to the construction of beaver dams, which

"How this $5.88 wheel alignment could save you forty dollars — or more."

"Let's start at the beginning.
"Why do all cars need a periodic wheel alignment?
"As time goes by, the front wheels go out of true. They may toe-in. Or toe-out. Or they may slope in or slope out. (That's called camber and caster.) This happens when you hit potholes or curbs. But it also results from normal vibration.
"Why is this a problem?
"Because when front wheels are out of alignment, your car won't handle properly. Which can be a safety hazard. You can damage various mechanical components. And most of all, you can wear out your tires too fast. Far too fast. You will develop bald spots and scrapes on tires that are otherwise in pretty good shape. A tire that should go 25,000 miles could need replacing at 5,000.
"So this $5.88 could save you the price of a new set of tires. Which is a pretty good investment in any language.
"Since proper alignment is so important, you wouldn't want to trust the job to just anyone. It makes sense to see the Riding System specialists. With the trained technicians. And the right equipment. At Firestone.

Rigid Controls of Franchising Businesses Are Recommended

By RON SUDLOW

TORONTO (CP) — A special government committee report on franchises, referral and pyramid selling practices tabled in the Ontario legislature Tuesday recommended rigid government controls.

Arthur Wishart, minister of financial and consumer affairs, said outside the house that "no doubt, we will take some action" on the lengthy document.

The report was sharply critical of all three merchandising methods.

Mr. Wishart said in an interview that consumer protection legislation introduced this session has limited some of the evils of the three selling practices, but agreed the government will have to go farther to meet all of the recommendations in the report.

"Some of them will be difficult to administer. I don't know how far we can feasibly incorporate them into our legislation."

The minister said the report fell short of abolishing pyramid and referral selling but predicted that if strict controls were enforced in the field they "would fairly well disappear."

He said the study was limited because of "our knowledge of what was going on, complaints that were coming in and various raw deals."

The committee was headed by Toronto lawyer S. G. Grange. Other members were Mrs. J. R. A. Turner of the Consumers Association of Canada and Toronto businessman Watson W. Evans.

Among their recommendations were calls for licensing of companies and salesmen engaged in referral selling. They also proposed that a registrar be appointed to supervise franchise operations and multi-level or pyramid selling practices.

The committee defined referral selling as a system in which the seller enlists the aid of the buyer in effecting further sales of the product and promises to reward the purchaser for that assistance.

"There were many instances of salesmen actually assuring the purchaser that the referral system would pay completely for the article purchased, and obtaining the purchaser's signature to a contract which in the usual form negated any association or dependence of the referral system upon the contract of sale," the report said.

It argued that principle sellers were irresponsible after hearing complaints that "the promises of payments for successful referrals are not honored."

The report added that the seller "has no enforceable responsibility to follow up referrals or even to maintain warranties and repairs. . . ."

Rather than abolish this practice, the committee suggested a regulation saying a contract be not binding if the seller agrees to give discounts or premiums to the purchaser for services in furthering sales.

Another regulation would allow the purchaser to rescind the contract and receive any monies paid by him if he returns the goods.

Other referral sales recommendations included making the original distributor responsible for the actions of his salesmen and having his contract form approved by a registrar. Salesmen should also be bonded.

The committee defined pyramid selling as a system of marketing where the public is recruited to different levels of distribution, depending on the amount of their investment.

The committee said perils in this form of merchandising include valueless distributorships, "even in the hands of dedicated salesmen," and that there "appears to be little concern with the ability of the investor to market" products.

The committee recommended that legislation dealing with pyramid selling be enacted much in the same manner that it recommended to deal with referral selling schemes.

The legislation would be similar to securities and company legislation and would require filing of prospectuses. Another requirement would permit the investor to return the product within six months and receive in return "at least 75 per cent" of his original investment.

In other business:

—Stephen Lewis, leader of the New Democratic Party, said the insurance industry will receive between $5 million and $10 million in additional premium income because the government has moved to no-fault death and disability provisions in auto insurance.

—George Ben (L—Toronto Humber) said the provincial government should force railways into providing better passenger services through high taxes.

—Eddie Sargent (L—Grey Bruce) failed to get an answer when asked whether Premier William Davis or any cabinet ministers will be using government aircraft during the next election campaign.

—Education Minister Robert Welch said a committee appointed by the provincial government to examine the cost of elementary and secondary school education may take up to 18 months to report.

—Provincial Treasurer Darcy McKeough told a committee studying his $30.5 million estimates for 1971-72 that he has suggested in a letter to Finance Minister Benson the Bank of Canada hould back provincial borrowing on the money market.

—James Bullbrook (L—Sarnia) told the same committee the Ontario government, by closing its eyes to off-track betting shops, is losing potential tax revenue, ruining the racing industry and missing a chance to deal a blow to organized crime.

Union Carbide Move Protested

TORONTO (CP) — Allan Grossman, minister of trade and development, was asked Tuesday to intervene with Union Carbide Co. of Welland over its threat to close the Welland plant because of expenses involved in installing anti-pollution equipment.

Stephen Lewis, leader of the New Democratic Party, said the company has threatened to move its plant to Beauharnois, Que., or to import products now made in Welland.

He said the company has received more than $200,000 in forgivable loans in other plants in the province and asked if Mr. Grossman would countenance them "packing up and closing down."

Mr. Grossman said he was sure his officials had told or would tell the company that loans are available for anti-pollution equipment.

Bourassa to Contact Trudeau

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa said Tuesday he will "probably" contact Prime Minister Trudeau soon about renewing discussions on constitutional reform.

Mr. Bourassa said in an interview he had been putting off getting in touch with the prime minister while formulating an approach to reopen the discussions that ended suddenly last week with Quebec's rejection of the Victoria charter agreement.

"I haven't been able to communicate with him this week because I was waiting for some documents I needed so we can have pertinent discussions.

"I'll probably contact him this week and we'll probably meet within a few weeks," Mr. Bourassa said.

Jobs Possible Without Undue Rise in Prices

OTTAWA (CP) — Economic history shows that unemployment in Canada can be brought below six per cent of the labor force without undue inflation developing again, Finance Minister Edgar Benson said Tuesday.

He told the Senate finance committee he was not alarmed by the past year's rapid—and still growing—increase in the money supply in Canada, disagreeing with an earlier witness who said it was inflationary.

Dr. Arthur Okun, a former chairman of the U.S. Council of Economic Advisers, told the committee earlier that six-per-cent unemployment, followed by an expansion of the money supply, was bound to be inflationary.

Canada's unemployment topped eight per cent last winter, but declined to 6.1 per cent in May, and Mr. Benson repeated Tuesday he expects it to continue on a downward trend.

The money supply—currency in circulation and chartered bank deposits—totalled $34,670 million in mid-June, up more than 17 per cent in 12 months.

Senator John Nichol (L—British Columbia) said the money supply increased in May alone at an annual rate of 27 per cent, and asked how Mr. Benson felt about it.

The finance minister said that day-to-day management of the money supply is the responsibility of the Bank of Canada, but he and the government "at the highest level" took responsibility for the over-all trend. The prime minister and cabinet discussed it, and if the government wanted it changed, he could direct the Bank of Canada to change its policy.

But since he has been minister of finance, Mr. Benson said, he has not had to give any directives to Louis Rasminsky, governor of the central bank.

Expansion of the money supply contributes to a lowering of interest rates and makes credit more easily available.

"What would you do as an alternative?" Mr. Benson asked. "If you try to expand the economy through fiscal measures, more government spending and lower taxes, resulting in a bigger deficit, that means an expansion of the money supply, too.

"The two things can't be treated as independent factors. In my mind, they are inseparable."

In a written submission to the committee, which he did not read and confessed was written for him by a finance department economic adviser, Mr. Benson said he could not agree with the idea of full-employment budgeting, employed by the Nixon administration in Washington.

"It's pie in the sky," he told the committee verbally. "It's not realistic."

Full-employment budgeting would have the government set its spending and tax rates at levels that would balance if the country attained full employment. The idea is that by budgeting in this way, the government encourages trends towards full employment.

THE PICK OF Punch

"Come on out, Butch — we know you're in there!"

Economic Advisory Board Unwanted

OTTAWA (CP) — Simon Reisman, deputy finance minister and thereby top permanent official in charge of Canada's economic policy, told a Senate inquiry Tuesday that the present system of policy-making is good and improving.

Specifically, he rejected proposals for setting up an alternative body to the finance department that would advise the cabinet directly on managing the economy.

At another point, in reply to a point-blank question, Mr. Reisman conceded that economic performance in the last year has been inadequate.

"Was it a good performance," persisted Senator David Croll (L—Ontario).

"It was not good enough—I'll put it that way," Mr. Riesman replied.

But he suggested later that the senators should not propose a reorganization that would include establishment of a new advisory body within the governmental system on the pattern of the Council of Economic Advisers in the United States.

While advocating the idea of a new organization outside government to second guess economic programs, the cigar-chewing deputy minister made clear that he did not consider the Economic Council of Canada the right body to do the job.

He said the semi-independent council, set up eight years ago to offer public advice on long-range policy, needs to be shaken up on the grounds that it is ineffectual and repetitive.

He proposed establishment of a new institution working at arms length from the government to analyse economic policies and assess their effectiveness.

Mr. Riesman, 52, and a federal public servant for 25 years, was the wind-up witness of almost 40 experts who have testified before a special inquiry of the Senate national finance committe since last month.

It Is Tourist Time... Again

That great North American institution is upon us again, swelling the Quinte district population over twice its normal level, congesting the major highways of the area, bringing wealth, prosperity, and frivolous courage to the region and returning citizens to the cities with colds, poison ivy and poverty. Yes, the summer camper bath returned.

Each year the six major parks of the Quinte area are faced with thousands of campers vieing for a site in the woods so as to escape the sweltering heat and confusion of city life.

The 500 campsites at Presqu'ile are filled virtually all the time. Also provided is an interpretive program for an eager audience. "We have two hiking trails about a mile long, a museum and an outdoor theatre where films, slides, and lectures are presented to the campers to inform and entertain them," says Ken Moore, park superintendent.

Maintenance of a mile-and-a-half beach, the trailer dumping station, the outdoor laundromats plus the water patrols and park patrols keep the 22-member summer staff busy the entire camping season.

The Toronto - Oshawa area seems to supply the major portion of the campers at Presqu'ile but the solitude, the rugged outdoors and excellent facilities attract a large number of American visitors. They made up 22 per cent of last year's total.

The main factor influencing summer camping is the weather and E. Grace of Bon Echo Park, Cloyne, aptly diagnoses the situation: This year the weather has been excellent, so I expect at least a five per cent increase in attendance."

Five per cent more people will keep park superintendent W. J. Miller and his 26 staff members busy maintaining the 400 campsites, 80 outdoor relief sets, plus the four comfort stations, which provide hot and cold water for the campers.

"We draw from pretty well all over, but Toronto and Oshawa seem to be the main areas where the campers come from. We also provide eight group sites and therefore we have had girl guide groups and boy scout packs along with other organizations using these facilities."

Prince Edward County park attractions are North Beach, Lake - on - the - Mountain, the Sand Banks and the big attraction, the Outlet. This year an estimated 500,000 persons will use the facilities.

"We have 462 campsites at the Outlet with overflow sites at the Sand Banks. We provide hot water in the camping areas, three comfort centres, and of course outside privies plus supplying fuel wood and tested drinking water," rattles off B. Thompson of the lands and forest department.

Sunday in the Park

A band concert, be it rock and roll, rhythm and blues or the old favorites, is a pleasant and entertaining place to be on a Sunday evening. All summer long, free concerts are performed at Zwick's Island on the shores of the Bay of Quinte at Belleville.

Picnic Paradise

Weekend family outings to the shores of a lake or river are a pleasant way to change the day-to-day pattern of your life. The Quinte region, with its abundance of handy picnic locations, is ideally situated to provide this change of scene. There is plenty of recreation for the children and relaxation for their parents.

Great Spot for Summer Fun

sailmaker's establishment ring Belleville harbor - a combination found in few other centres. And Victoria Park with the Yacht Club at its tip offers space for the dry sailors to park their trailers and beach their boats.

New launching ramps built by the club last year for the Albacore championships will remain for use by the junior sailors of the club and, hopefully, future regatta participants.

Most important of all is the concentration of knowledgeable people in the Quinte district, on hand to assist with large-scale events. They include the 100 sailing members of BQYC, the power squadron and the Sea Cadets, all of whom contributed to the success of the last regatta.

Vital to competitive sailing is a well - laid out course and officials to man it.

With proven ability to lay courses, start races and even conduct the after-race protest meetings, Belleville yachtsmen are gaining a reputation as good hosts for a racing meet.

Don't Believe Old Saw About Fishing in Heat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Contrary to popular belief, fish, including pickerel, can be caught in good numbers during the heat of the day such as experienced in Ontario this week.

Most anglers have success catching panfish and bass but most complain that finding a pickerel is impossible.

Not so.

Experienced anglers, in the last few years, have found that you can bump a worm or minnow slowly along the bottom of a lake or river and get success.

This method is becoming more and more successful.

The department of lands and forests reports unusually good fishing throughout the province this week.

The department was especially happy of the pickerel catches as fish in the 19-pound all waters.

category were reported in several areas.

Report from the department's Tweed district:

Six and one - quarter pound bass taken in Weslemkoon Lake. Speckled trout fair in streams of Bancroft division. Pike good in Ottawa River and Centennial Lake of Decro division. bass and panfish good in

Choice of Lakes Plentiful

have helped maintain the water level.

While an excessively dry summer would not hinder the immediate fishing prospects, it could have an adverse effect on future angling. If water levels drop too far, the spawn of species like lake trout could be left high and dry.

Lake trout fishing which has been generally good throughout the spring months is beginning to slow down, as the fish move to deeper water to maintain the 50 - 55 degree temperatures which they require.

Top fishing spots in the Tweed area this year include Egan Creek, near Bancroft, for brook trout, Weslemkoon, Big Clear and L'Amable lakes for lakers and St. George lake, which has been a top pickerel spot.

The advent of snowmobiles for winter angling has greatly increased the pressure on the existing supplies of fish available.

Officials of the department of lands and forests are combatting this angling pressure in a number of ways including helicopter stocking and the issuing of catch reports for further research.

About 60,000 fish have been stocked by helicopter this year and officials are evaluating the success of the operation. The main advantage is that it allows the fish to be deposited in the exact spot required.

The fishing public is asked to aid the department by turning in catch reports, which are available from rod fillers, conservation groups and the department of lands and forests.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For July 1

Your birthday today: Material concerns take up more time and energy than you find convenient for the first half of the year ahead but should be attended steadily while the path is clear. Later you will need freedom for speculative ventures unrelated to immediate gain. Emotional expression is more honest, particularly where you're catching up with belated or neglected moves.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your month gets off to an uncertain start in midweek. Avoid improbable enterprises; common sense is a very good guide once you stop to think.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Temper, temperament, and temperature conspire to produce strange results. Your feelings for others run strong, could lead you into more than you expected to deal with.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Your personal touch is a critical factor. Take time to choose and follow up your selections directly. When evening comes seek a break from thought and labor.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Others involved themselves in your projects — fine, up to a point, but make sure you really have sure knowledge of what they do on your behalf.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Your patience may be thin but is needed more than usual. Use what you have in verifying information, uncovering discrepancies or catching up on neglected chores.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Early hours bring you marked advantage; make your point promptly and get out of the way so others can regroup and take your progress into account.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Early hours continue yesterday's better attractions just enough to conclude with favorable understandings. Move vigorously and decisively.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Side issues are irrelevant but tempting. Financial gains depend on alertness, ability to come to terms quickly in good perspective. Then get your mind off business.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Being yourself is a fine art as pretenses fail, those of others as well as yours. Leave the issues of the day unresolved; give your unconscious a chance to digest recent experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): You have very few choices and no notable extra space or time for changing anything. Gather facts, seek deeper understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): The early hours are best spent in persistent diligence, slacking off a bit at a time as the day wears on. Trivial details of incomplete projects accumulate for evening review.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Let intuition lead you through a long day and complex twilight of discordant views, competition between various ideas and activities.

For July 2

Your birthday today: Your world widens this year and you count grow in harmony with it. Your talents and skills find better markets, higher demand. Old habits are easier to leave behind once you see them in true perspective. Today's natives select interesting projects and recall the United details long after, making a hobby of nostalgia. Their emotional setting provokes impulsive action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Analyze yesterday's ideas, then keep your main attention on present reality and definite progress. Winding up the week is complicated.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Sometimes the best you can do is just stay busy. News, perhaps a gift, calls a movement or surprise, and you never quite return to previous opinions on a small but significant matter.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Impulse may lead you into being technically at fault; if you still want to go ahead after thinking twice, expect to take the responsibilities.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Expert advice assumes fresh meaning as you realize subtle nuances of current circumstances. More depends on your attitude than on what you say.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Emotional tensions rise; the eventual outcome is probably favorable. Find reserve energy to keep routines going.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): The story between the lines is more important than the one on the surface. Watch what people do rather than listen to what they say.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): You have plenty to offer, but if you don't find a graceful way of expressing it, a chance for family and neighborhood co-operation passes unused.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Group activity proceeds with renewed vigor. Plunge right in with your share of current projects, settle for what is available here and now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Everybody has a different theory about what to side or in conflict with groups. When you can't control a situation, get into it a bit deeper, find how it works, then try again.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): You'll be satisfied with your persistent diligence when this uphill day is over. Don't be surprised if nobody speaks in support of your activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Issues you have been escaping for a long time float up to a visible surface. Say what you want, once and for all.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Take the time to work things out properly. In a week or two a change of tempo and direction will prevent going back to fill in neglected details.

Montreal Customs Embargo Plane Parts for Pakistan

MONTREAL (CP) — A shipment of spare aircraft parts consigned to the Pakistan Air Force in Karachi was being held under embargo here today after Canada Customs officials blocked its loading aboard the Pakistani freighter Padma.

Customs spokesman said 46 crates of F-86 Sabre fighter-jet parts destined for the war-torn country from a Moncton, N.B., shipper were held following an indefinite suspension of the export permit by the federal department of industry, trade and commerce.

The move was in line with Canada's ban on all arms shipments to Pakistan, imposed in March when civil war broke out in the country.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp told the Commons Tuesday that instructions had been issued that no Canadian military hardware was to be loaded aboard the Padma, the centre of controversy over reports that it is carrying a U.S. arms consignment.

The shipment blocked by customs later originated from Manchime Aircraft Overhaul and Repair Ltd. of Moncton.

David McEwan, president of the company, said in a telephone interview that he had been informed from Ottawa that an indefinite suspension had been put on the shipment export permit.

He said the consignment was filling "part of a bunch of contracts going back at least five years."

The parts were to be used on F-86 Sabres purchased by Pakistan from Germany "six or seven years ago," he said.

The Padma left New York last week amid reports that she was carrying military goods in violation of a U.S. embargo on arms to Pakistan.

McTaggart Starts Rollins' Ball Rolling

Wayne McTaggart started the ball rolling for Rollins Construction in Tuesday night's Commercial League opening game at the Alamein and after that the Builders never looked back.

McTaggart's home run to deep centre field in the fourth inning broke the scoring ice for Rollins and broke the back of Point Anne. Five more runs followed in the fifth and sixth for the Construction men as they defeated their nearest rivals 6-3 to open a four-point edge on top of the five-team standings.

Wayne McConnell stopped the Cementmen on three hits. He struck out five and walked the same number. Dale Airey's two-run triple highlighted a three-run fifth for the winners. Paul Goodfellow contributed two singles.

Don Holeway toed the rubber for the losers, giving up six hits and three free passes. He struck out five batters. Bruce Steele's triple, Vern Whalen's double and Larry Mavety's single were the only hits off McConnell.

A new record of sorts was set as the season reached its half-way mark. Quinte Hotel was the recipient of an 8-2 setback at the hands of Howard and Roberts Printing, assuring them of the least ever win in half a season — one.

Harold Werkhoven gave Quinte an early 1-0 lead in the second frame, racing home on Bob Swan's single. The lead was soon lost however when five singles produced three runs for the Printers in the bottom of the second. A double by Ken Genereaux and singles from Rod Ridley and Dary Gow chased across two more runs in the fourth for the winners.

Swan again was the only threat at the plate, connecting for a home run in the top of the fifth, but two errors and singles again from Ridley and Gow produced three more runs in the sixth for Howard and Roberts sealing the victory.

Bob Ethier fired four-hit ball in picking up the win. He fanned seven and walked only one. Gow was the most consistent batter for the winners, supplying four of Howard and Roberts 11 singles. Ken Genereaux' double was the only extra base hit for the fourth-place Printers.

Swan was touched for 12 hits while being tagged with the loss. Quinte's eleventh in 12 games. He struck out nine men and didn't walk a batter. Lyle Thompson and Wayne Woods had singles to go along with Swan's homer and single.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1971

Riders Revive War of 1812

By ERIC EMERSON
Staff Sportswriter

While Canada and the United States have enjoyed peaceful relations since the War of 1812 a battle appears to be shaping up between riders from the two countries at the Ontario Dirt Track Motorcycle Championships this Sunday.

Hamilton's Maurice "Mo" Fraser who captured both the 250 and 750 cc events at last year's Ontarios will be looking to avenge the losses that he suffered in June's Muscular Dystrophy Benefit competition.

The Canadian dirt track champion of 1970 could place no better than fourth in the June races. Fraser, who was competing for the first time on a 600 cc Yamaha at the Muscular Dystrophy races hopes to have everything in top order for a successful provincial title defence.

One of the top Americans that Fraser will be taking aim on is Fred Newton of Pontiac, Michigan. Newton guided his Harley-Davidson sprint to an early victory in the 250 cc expert class in June.

Another Michigan rider, Cliff "Corky" Keener of Flint will be looking to move up a notch to the winners' circle in either the 550 or 750 expert races. Keener, who finished second in both classes of the June Fairground races, is the current U.S. dirt track champion in the half-mile 250cc class.

Waterdown's Doug Sehl, who might have had his loyalties torn between factions, had that problem solved for him last week in a Troy, Ohio race.

Winner of the 750 cc expert class here in June, he suffered a broken arm during the course of race which will shelve him for a number of weeks.

The Canadian native has been competing on the U.S. circuit for most of the summer and is a Triumph teammate of Ted Newton. His victory over Newton in the benefit races had marked the first time that he had defeated the Pontiac rider.

Members of the Belleville Fire Department and Piston Pushers Motorcycle Club, joint sponsors of the races, are hoping for an improvement in the 1,200 fans who turned out for the first race of the season. Proceeds from the event will be split between the muscular dystrophy campaign and under - privileged children. Starting time will be 1:30 p.m. at the Quinte Exhibition Raceway.

Cutting Corners

Motorcycle racing fans can look forward to action such as this when the Ontario Dirt Track Championships return to Belleville this Sunday. The line-up for the races will include top Canadian rider Maurice Fraser, along with a number of first-rate Americans. Proceeds from the races, which get under way at 1:30 p.m., will be split between muscular dystrophy and underprivileged children.

Big Kids on Lakeshore Block Nearly Tripped

KINGSTON — The "big kids" on the Lakeshore Intermediate baseball block came close to stubbing their toes against the two-hit pitching of Garnie Adams last night.

An unearned run in the 10th inning, however, enabled the Kingston seniors to pull out a 3-2 victory over the Belleville Kinsmen Juniors in a game played in the limestone city.

A solo homer by Charlie Perter was the only hit the home team could manage off Adams in the regulation nine innings as the clubs battled to a 2-2 deadlock. Kingston's other tally came on two errors, a stolen base and a passed ball.

Meanwhile, Belleville managed to scrape together five hits off starter Rick Love and reliever Keith Weese but could also manage only two tallies.

GARNIE ADAMS

Steve Moore and Brian Cousins singled to start a third-inning rally which resulted in both Kinsmen runs. Former Belleville Senior Assistant Gary Goyer was ejected in the third inning for rough play.

Adams worked out of trouble in the sixth inning when a pair of free passes and an intentional walk to Foster filled the bases with only one out. The fireballing righthander then struck out the next two batters to end the inning.

The winning run scored in the 10th frame when Weese singled, moved to second on a balk and came home on a passed ball.

Adams walked eight batters and struck out 11 during the course of his two-hit performance. Winning pitcher Weese and starter Love allowed four free passes along with five hits.

STEVE MOORE

The Belleville hits, all singles, went to Moore, Cousin Bill Kirkham, Fred Chapman and Ed Christopher.

The Kinsmen whose Lakeshore record is now 4-4, face Bowmanville Intermediates tonight in an 8 p.m. contest at the Belleville fairgrounds.

Sixes Wild In Bank League

Judy Irving's sixth hit of the game drove in the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning as the Toronto-Dominion Bank edged the Royal Bank 24-23 in Girls Financial League Softball.

Seniors Pitch Tightest Battles

Tight pitching battles marked the two senior age divisions of the Belleville Minor Baseball schedule Tuesday night when the CN Yardmen nipped Deserotto 3-2 in midget action and the Tyendinaga All - Stars edged Trenton 4-3 in bantam.

Dale Tummon and Ron McTaggart relinquished Deserotto on six hits, fanning five batters and walking six. Tummon, poled a triple and Allan Weese had a double for the winners.

G. Brant allowed only four hits in a losing effort. He fanned seven batters and walked five.

In the bantam game, J. Morris and R. Barbersnick collared Trenton on just three hits. The duo combined for four strikeouts and only two walks. M. Lalder had the only extra base hit for the winners, a double.

J. Baker was the loser for Trenton being touched for six hits. Lake, McLean, and Deacon each had singles for the losers.

In a peewee division game at Deserotto, Foster's Thurlow Peewees dropped a 7-1 decision to the Deserotto Legion. D. Punchard and K. Bakker fired the win while B. Masterson and R. Adams were tagged with the loss.

G. Brant connected for a double to pace Deserotto's four - hit attack while singles by Sandy Waterson and Adams were only hits Thurlow could muster.

Leave it to the tykes to have a slugfest. Tee-ball at Harvey's Garage Pennington's 13 in the highest scoring game of the night. Peter Morris and Ray Randall were the winners for Deserotto, fanning 13. Cory Vick, Rick Sill and Randall each hit for a double and two singles to lead the winners.

Terry Kingsman and Mark Pearson hurled in defeat for Harvey's Garage.

Western Tire Rolling Along

Western Tire peewees got good mileage from the three-hit pitching of Tom Sharland and Bob Chase to hang a 13-2 loss on the SACO squirt all-stars in Belleville Minor Softball action last night.

Chase also provided the winners offensive power with two home runs, a double and a single. Darrell Coleman, Bob Hedge and Tim Soule collected the only SACO safeties.

Midas Muffler rode the power hitting of Sean McKinney and John Heidstra to a 13-7 decision over Conley's Grocery peewees. McKinney slammed two homers and a double with Heidstra adding a pair of base-clearing hits and a single.

Paul McAlpine with a bo-ANAF Vets trounced Woodland Cloisters 14-5. Perry Cornell was outstanding at shortstop for the winners while Mike Cornell and Bob Martin provided the offensive punch and J. Risser contributed nine - strikeout pitching to the ANAF effort.

Richard Ellis romped to a 25-6 verdict over Wm. Belch and Son in another peewee division match. Kelly Mason's trick led the way with a home run, two triples, a double and, single with Bill Forbes picking up two homers a double and a base knock.

Other big Richard Ellis guns were John Jianopoulos powering a homer, a double and three singles, and Brian Trest with three doubles and a single. Top hitter for Wm. Belch was Terry Crossen with a home run.

In another confrist, the three singles paced the losers at the plate.

In an exhibition game at the CNR, Golden Mile Restaurant served Towers Food City an 8-3 defeat. Brian Loveless, Jeff Weed and Simon Barrett all pitched in for the victory, Revoy and McTaggart were the losing pair for Towers.

All-Star Game Costly for Als

MONTREAL (CP) — Offensive floundering and an injury to a key Canadian have forced coach Sam Etcheverry to reappraise his Montreal Alouettes following Tuesday night's 30-13 loss at the hands of the Canadian Football League All-Stars.

The defending Grey Cup champions gave up four interceptions and gained only 44 yards on the ground as the All-Stars staggered them with a well-balanced offence and a stalwart defensive effort.

As well as being disappointed with the Alouettes' performance, Etcheverry faces the prospect of offensive guard Pierre Desjardins being lost to the team for a lengthy period.

Desjardins was helped from the field late in the fourth quarter with an injury to his right knee and Etcheverry said "it could be serious."

"Now we've lost two Canadians, both possible first-stringers," he told reporters. Tight end Peter Dalla Riva will be out of action for at least another month following knee surgery early in training camp.

The Montreal coach was surprised and disappointed with his team's effort against the select squad chosen from the other eight CFL teams.

Led by the quarterbacking of Saskatchewan Roughrider Ron Lancaster and Ottawa Rough Rider Gary Wood, the All-Stars seemed to have little trouble handling the Alouettes throughout the game played before a disappointing crowd of fewer than 19,000 fans.

Toronto Argonaut Bill Symons, voted the game's most valuable player, led the All-Stars' offensive charge with touchdowns scored by Tommy Joe Coffey of Hamilton Tiger Cats, Hugh McKenzie of Calgary Stampeders and Wood.

Saskatchewan placekicker Jack Abendschan converted all three majors and added two field goals and three singles.

The Alouettes were able to come up with only one touchdown by quarterback Sonny Wade, a pair of field goals by George Springate and his convert of Wade's major.

Wade gave up four interceptions and, along with Tony Pasander who spelled him at quarterback, was unable to get Montreal rolling with any consistency.

The inability of the Alouettes to capitalize on often-rehearsed plays will lead to more experimentation, Etcheverry said.

Edmonton Eskimo John Wyatt grabbed the first score of the game when he intercepted a Wade pass on the All-Star 35-yard line and returned it 51 yards. Three plays later Lancaster hit Coffey on a 17-yard touchdown pass.

A 21-yard single by Abendschan on a wide field goal attempt gave the All-Stars an 8-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Springate's 25-yard field goal early in the second quarter put Montreal on the scoreboard but three plays later Wood lugged the ball into the end zone on a 47-yard run. Abendschan and Springate exchanged 28- and 17-yard field goals respectively and the Saskatchewan kicker added a single to give the All-Stars a 20-6 lead at the half.

Calgary Stampeder Larry Robinson picked off another Wade pass on the second play of the third quarter to set up a two-yard touchdown run by McKinnis. A 54-yard pass to wide receiver Tom Pullen from Wade put the ball on the All-Star five-yard line where Wade carried it in for a Montreal touchdown.

The final scoring play of the game came late in the third quarter when Abendschan booted a field goal from 23 yards out to give the All-Stars a 30-13 margin.

The All-Stars came up with a net offence of 357 yards, 182 of them on the ground with Symons churning out 52 yards on 15 carries.

Montreal had a net offence of 226 yards, only 44 yards from ground plays.

The All-Stars picked up 18 first downs, compared with 15 for the Alouettes.

Jim Duncan, the Calgary coach who handled the winners, said the All-Stars surprised him with the aggressive way they played.

For Duncan there was a measure of revenge in the victory. In the final game Duncan coached last season, Etcheverry's Alouettes beat the Stampeders in the Grey Cup game in Toronto.

Cahill Taking Time

AURORA, Ont. (CP) — Leo Cahill, coach of Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Football conference, isn't rushing into any trade talks despite the antics of Mel Profit and Dave Raimey who wore adhesive B.C. stickers on their helmets during Tuesday's practice.

"There is no thought on our part to trade Raimey or Profit," the coach said Tuesday. "Their situation is the same as any other player here. It would take a good package to get either one of them."

Jim Young of British Columbia Lions said in Montreal Monday that he heard a trade was under way with Raimey and Profit heading the list.

Cahill was mercilessly in Wednesday's practice as temperatures soared to 100 degrees in the Toronto area.

"This is what training camp is all about," he said.

"You have to get tough at this stage. Mental and physical problems set in if you ease up, and the players will expect you to ease up when things get tough during the season."

The Argos play their first exhibition game on July 9 against the Grey Cup champion Montreal Alouettes, and have an intrasquad game Thursday with rival quarterbacks Greg Barton and Joe Theisman match wits and kickers Tom Johnson and Zeno Andrusyshyn battle for the sole kicker position.

However, the fun may continues to make its rounds at training camp with Mike Eben, Tommy Bland, George Wells, Bob Hudspeth, Ed Williams and Henry Hill sidelined with inflamed bursitis.

Tennis Prodigy Faces Test

LONDON (CP) — Evonne Goolagong, the 19-year-old Australian tennis prodigy, faces Pandora's most consistent adversary, American Billie Jean King, on centre court today for a place in the women's final.

The young Australian is attempting to become the first teen-ager to win the all-England lawn tennis championships since the brilliant Brazilian Maria Bueno triumphed in 1959.

At her best, Miss Goolagong could give Mrs. King a tough fight.

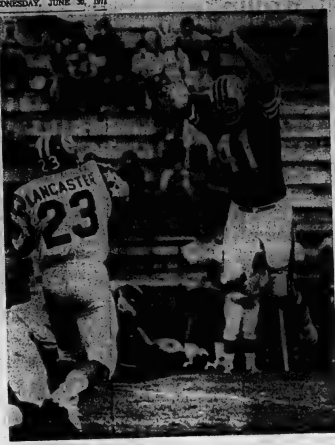
The men's singles, meanwhile, have developed into a straight fight between Australia and the United States.

The semi-final line up on Thursday will be Stan Smith of the U.S. vs. Tom Gorman of the U.S.; Ken Rosewall of Australia vs. John Newcombe of Australia.



Rosewall, the 36-year-old professional who has won every title in the game except the Wimbledon crown, kept alive his chances Tuesday by beating American Cliff Richey in a classic, five-set centre-court duel.

Rosewall won 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, in a match which will rank as one of the finest in Wimbledon's 94-year history.

Rosewall and Richey were knotted at the end of four sets when Rosewall broke back with immaculate ground strokes, delicate touches and near-perfect volleys.

In sharp contrast, the other semi-final in which Newcombe, the defending champion, beat unseeded Colin Dibley, of Australia, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, was disappointing and one-sided.

Jane O'Hara of Toronto, the sole surviving Canadian player and 8rd seed Rosie Casals partner, John Bartlett of Australia, were inched out in the third round by Ronald Dell of the U.S. and Swedish No. 2 Ingrid Bentzer 3-6, 6-1, 9-7.

Last-ditch Leap

Montreal Alouettes' Mike Widger grimaces with the effort of leaping for a pass during first-quarter action in the Montreal Alouettes-CFL All-Star game in Montreal Tuesday. Homing in on the play is all-star Ron Lancaster (23) of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Predicts Trevino in A Breeze

MONTREAL (CP) — The more wind there is during the four-day Canadian open golf tournament, the greater the chances are that U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino will walk off with the $30,000 first prize, a Canadian regular on the U.S. golf tour said Tuesday.

Will Homenuik of Winnipeg, winner of almost $20,000 on the professional tour so far this year, called Trevino "the master of the wind" and said gusty conditions at the Richelieu Valley course would be to his advantage.

"He hits the low ball," Homenuik said." All those Texans are wind players but no one does it better than he does and nobody will come close to him on this course if it's blowing.

"Without the wind this is a different course," he said following a windy practice round Tuesday." That's the way it was on Monday and I was hitting a six-iron in places where I had to go down to a three-iron today.

"So watch Trevino."

South African Gary Player got in 18 holes of practice Tuesday and reiterated his claim that there is too much sand in the traps.

"If you go into those bunkers, I don't care how good a sand player you are, you aren't going to play a good sand shot," Player said.

An official of the Royal Canadian Golf Association said wheelbarrows of sand were removed from the traps after Player's initial complaint but nothing further will be done.

The tournament, with a field of 21 Canadians and 128 professionals from the U.S. gets under way Thursday.

Not Even Courts Argue With Umpires

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge Jacob Grumet ruled Tuesday that although baseball "umpires have been known on occasion to make bad decisions," the judiciary will not interfere with them provided the decisions are honest and rendered in good faith.

The matter came up when three Mets patrons sued for return of their ticket money because, they charged, the Shea Stadium opener on April 8 should have been called off because of inclement weather.

In angry language, the three paying customers charged that the Metropolitan Baseball Club, Inc., the Mets, "wantonly and with mercenary intent disregarded its duty and permitted the game to be played under conditions which made it impossible for any spectator to witness it without jeopardizing his health, well-being and safety."

It rained and snowed and the winds blew in gale force, the irate plaintiffs charged.

A club official said the rain stopped at 2:15 p.m. and that shortly thereafter "the crowds . . . cheered as the ground crew removed the tarpaulin."

The game was played for 6½ innings, said because official under the rules before it was terminated by the umpires "in deteriorating weather."

"While it may be that the decision of the management and the umpires was not a correct one, that is not for the court to say," the judge said. "That is beyond its jurisdiction and ability."

Twins Lucky On Third Try

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Given a third chance against this season's pitching sensation, Minnesota Twins beat Oakland Athletics and Vida Blue 5-3, Tuesday night, all but ruining Blue's chances of widning 20 games before the All Star game.

In other American League games, Detroit Tigers beat Baltimore Orioles 9-4 in 13 innings in the completion of their Monday night suspended game and then Baltimore walloped the Tigers 15-6 in the regular contest. Boston Red Sox tripped Washington Senators 6-2, Milwaukee Brewers dipped Chicago White Sox 5-2, New York Yankees blasted Cleveland Indians 9-2 in the afternoon and Kansas City Royals nudged California Angels 2-1.

Blue, 16-3, had allowed the Twins only three runs and 12 hits and struck out 22 in beating them twice this season, the second time on national television last Monday when rookie burler Ray Corbin took the 3-2 loss.

But the Twins weren't about to give in, and neither was young Corbin, 5-5.

They spotted the Athletics' Dave Duncan's two-run homer in the second and then came from behind to end Blue's seven-game winning streak with his first loss since May 28 and his first ever in the Oakland Coliseum after 10 victories.

And with only time for three more starts Blue, 16-3, won't be winning 20 games by All Star time July 13—unless he works on short rest or relieves.

Leo Cardenas followed a walk to Steve Braun with only the sixth homer off Blue this season in the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie.

VIDA BLUE

Detroit won the suspended game with two out in the 15th when Mickey Stanley broke the deadlock with a single, and the Tigers added four more on a bases loaded walk and singles by Norm Cash and Tony Taylor.

Brooks Robinson had capped a four-run ninth inning for Baltimore with a three-run homer with two out that sent the game into extra innings Monday night.

Phillie Fans Pleasant Surprise to Seaver

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A long, lusty "booooo" is the trademark of the Philadelphia fan. Phillie fans boo so much there have been times the Liberty Bell and Star Spangled Banner were considered in danger sect.

But they pulled a switch Tuesday night and cheered—Tom Seaver of New York Mets, whose 3-0 13-strikeout shutout of the Phillies foclided the 1,000th strikeout of his career.

Seaver's four-hitter enabled the Mets to chop one game off Pittsburgh's National League East lead as the Pirates bowed to St. Louis Cardinals and Reggie Cleveland 8-3. Elsewhere, Cincinnati Reds bombed Montreal Expos 14-0, Chicago Cubs nipped Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2, Atlanta Braves edged Houston Dodgers 5-4 and San Francisco Giants downed San Diego Padres 6-4.

When Seaver fanned Willie Montanez leading off the seventh inning for his 1,000th career strikeout, scoreboard flashed the news to fans in Veteran's Stadium. The crowd of 22,037 gave Seaver a standing ovation that the right-hander admitted was "a bit of a surprise."

Seaver responded by fanning the next two batters as well as two more in the eighth to equal his career total to 1,001.

The Mets supplied Seaver with home runs by Jerry Grote, Cleon Jones and Ed Kranepool to account for all of their runs.

Meanwhile, the Cardinals gave the Mets a lift by knocking off the Pirates.

Lou Brock and Joe Torre smacked St. Louis homers and pitcher Cleveland, from Swift Current, Sask., drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double to pace a seven-run third inning that put the Cards in control.

Tigers Try to Calm Kilkenny

DETROIT (CP) — Mike Kilkenny won't know when his next starting assignment is until he gets to baseballpark on the day of the game.

That's Detroit Tiger manager Billy Martin's antidote to a bad bit of pitching nerves that appeared to be holding back the major-league career of the Canadian-born lefthander.

Martin's approach has been paying off in some solid pitching performances by Kilkenny in June, although he has only one win to his credit.

He picked up that one win pitching against the heavy-hitting Minnesota Twins with only a few minutes notice. He beat the Twins 4-1 on a six-hitter.

"He told me just before batting practice," Kilkenny said after the game, "It works.

"I do worry about it :I think about it. I don't keep right if I know I'm pitching the next day.

"I wouldn't stay up all night. But I wouldn't be sleeping either. Even tonight, I'll be awake half the night although I won. I think about pitches I might have thrown to certain hitters instead of what I did throw."

Martin's approach hasn't always worked for Kilkenny—mostly because the Tigers have sometimes been reluctant to give him runs. He has only one win to show for five pitching decisions.

He lost a heart-breaking 2 1 decision to New York Yankees in late May and on Sunday, his most recent start, lost 1 1 to Cleveland when the Tigers could muster only four hits off the Indians' Sam McDowell.

Worrying and physical ailments caused the Windsor, Ont., resident get off to a rocky start this spring.

Lockhart Stages One-man Thurlow Show

It was a one-man show in Tuesday night's Thurlow-Sidney League Softball game between Glen Miller and Dickens Voyageur Restaurant as Dickens' hurler Norm Lockhart provided most of his teams hitting as well as fitting seven-hit ball in their 16-9 victory over Glen Miller.

Lockhart knocked in five runs with his two hits and hurled seven-hit ball over the five innings he worked. He fanned five batters and walked six. Ray Sine relieved in the sixth and pitched no-hit ball over the remainder of the game. Bill Cole had three hits for the winners and scored four of Dickens' runs. Don Bowery and Glen Wilman each had two hits in victory.

R. Hill and R. Peterson were the losers for Glen Miller fanning five and walking nine batters. Les McGeachy provided the big blast for the losers, slamming a first-inning home run.

Dairy Queen Treat Themselves

Dairy Queen novices treated themselves to a 4-0 Belleville Minor Lacrosse win over Golden Mile last night.

Steven Riddell, Jimmy Belch, John Belanger and Bob Isaac each counted a goal for the winners.

In midget play, Marv's Esso edged Sun Luck Gardens with a 7-6 goal by Glen Sine accounting for the difference in scoring. Rod Mallory counted a hat trick for the winners with Kerry Reid matching the three-goal effort for Sun Luck.

Belleville Auto Dealers' midgets rolled over the bantam all-stars by a 7-3 count. Steve Cowan came up with a four-goal performance for the winners with Andy Ricketts rounding out the scoring. Roger Chapman, John Geen and Gord Male scored for the bantams.

Weaker Sex?

Whoever said women were the weaker sex hadn't seen a Belleville Girls' Minor Softball game or he would have had second thoughts about the extent of their power. The girls flexed their muscles in Tuesday night's league action as the hitters took precedence.

The senior division saw the highest scores of the night as the Elks Sweethearts charmed AVCO Finance 25-4 and Mel Food Service 48-15.

The junior girls had the closer of the games but still pushed a number of runs across the plate. Lucas Spur stung Tots 'n' Teens 22-12. Yardmen's Benefit Fund bested the Red Barn 25-11, Turcotte Heating melted the Dairy Queen 26-16 and Quinte Food Market toned out Clayton's TV 14-13.

Falcons Flap Out Flame

The Falcon bantams flapped out the Olympics' flame last night with a 5-0 victory in Belleville Minor Soccer Association play.

Bob Vanderwater paced the winners with three goals with Keith Perry and Tom Barrigage notching two apiece.

In a peewee contest Lino's Pizza smothered Brown's Olympics 6-1. Andy Lupenette led the way with a pair of markers followed by Gary Fredericks, Paul D'Anno, Alan Johnson and Bobby Goodfellow with one goal each.

Caught Short

Belleville's Junior Lacrosse team found out the importance of having their regulars on hand for the games when a shortage of playing personnel resulted in a 4-1 setback against Tweed Tuesday night and a 6-5 loss to Picton on Monday night.

Neil Goyer was forced to don the goalie equipment Tuesday against Tweed as regular goalie Paul Muldoon was unable to make the game. Harold Brant and Steve Marncle tallied for the Belleville Squad.

Dan Payne fired three goals for Belleville Monday night against Picton with Greg Scarlett and Joe Clarke adding singles.
